Nazi Officials, Blomberg Said Jailed

Former War Chief Rumored For Hohenzollerns

LONDON, Nov. 14—(CP)— A Reuters news agency dispatch from Copenhagen tonight said Field Marshal Werner Von Blomberg, former German War Minister, and a number of high Nazis had been arrested.

Von Blomberg resigned from the German cabinet in February, 1938, when his marriage a month earlier to his secretary, 30 years his junior met with the disapproval of his fellow officers in the army.

Last month reports were current that he and other officers supposedly partial to a Hohenzollern restoration had been arrested and interned in Landberg fortress. These were subsequently officially denied in Berlin.

Missed the Border.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 14.— (CP-Havas).—Two Netherlands soldiers who accidently crossed the German frontier near Eibergen, Gelderland province, have been arrested and interned by German frontier guards, it was disclosed to-day. The two Dutch soldiers, who were riding motorcycles, passed over the border without being aware of it when they took a short cut across a field last Saturday.

New Nazi Society.

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 14. — (AP).—Six persons charged with orioritarian Democracy" informed sourcitarian Democracy," informed sources said today, are being held by Swiss federal police. Six others were arrested and released.

The society, these sources said, was a successor to the old Nazi style Volksbund disbanded by government order last year.

Ocean No Barrier To Attack Claims Manion

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP)—Canada is at war to protect human liberties and to assist in preventing Nazi domination overwhelm'ng civilization, Conservative Leader Manion said here.

In a speech last night on "Why we are at war," carried over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation national network, he said that all that Canada and the other democracies prize in civil and religious freedom is threatened by the ambition of Hitler to dominate the world.

"Unless the democratic nations of the world succeed at the present time in stopping the advance of international gangsterism, the danger is that our whole civilization will be overwhelmed, engulfing at the same time the religious beliefs of us all," Dr. Manion declared.

"The reason Britain and France declared war on Germany was because they realized, after repeated and sincere attempts to avoid war, that Hitler had become obsessed with a determination not only to dominate Europe but to dominate the world."

U.S. To Be "Watchdog"

TOKYO, Nov. 14 — (AP). — The belief was prevalent in official Japanese circles to-day that in reducing garrisons in North China, Great Britain and France previously had obtained a United States pledge to protect the Allies' Chinese interests with American troops. Japanese newspapers welcomed the British action as a step toward "recognition of realities in China," but criticized placing any "watchdog" responsibility on the United States.

Run Rabbit Run

London, Nov. 14 (CP Cable)

THE Ministry of Information today issued the following item, cautioning editors it was not an official communique:—

"Run, rabbit, run!

"As already stated, there were no casualties during the air raid on the Shetlands yesterday. However, the corpse of one rabbit was subsequently discovered in a bomb crater."

Expect Russians To Continue Massing Troops

MOSCOW, Nov. 14. —(AP).—Soviet Russia hoping the economic strain of counter-mobilization may bring Finland to terms probably will continue massing troops along the Finnish border, diplomatic observers said today.

(Finland has been preparing for five weeks against a showdown with Russia, and approximately 300,000 of the 3,067,000 population has been mobilized for defence).

Belief was held here that the Finnish diplomatic mission, which departed for Helsingfors last night after resisting Soviet demands for certain territorial concessions, would not return.

The Finns, silent and serious as they boarded a train, indicated resumption of the negotiations was up to their Government. The delegation is due in Helsingfors tomorrow.

Only one minor Soviet official — an assistant chief of Protocal in the Commissariat of Foreign Affairs — accompanied the Finnish mission to the station. The Ministers of Norway, Sweden and Denmark were present to say goodbye.

No Direct Contact.

The delegation, which twice before during the month-long negotiations returned to Helsingfors, had had only indirect contact with the Kremlin for the past five days.

Russia's principal demands on Finland, as disclosed by Premier Vyacheslaff Molotoff, have been for a naval base on the northern coast of the Gulf of Finland, concessions on Finland's arctic coast and a strip of Finnish territory north of Leningrad. In return, Russia offered Finland a piece of lake-studded Soviet Karelia.

Shortly after the Finnish delegation's departure, a Russian broadcast criticized Finland for failure to advise the Soviet in advance of meteorological conditions blamed for floods rising in Northern Russia.

The broadcast said the Neva river, which flows through Leningrad, was flooding "because of winds from Finland."

Empire Pilots Will Use T.C.A. Fields

Planned As Nucleus For Training; Surveying Others

OTTAWA, Nov. 14. —(CP). —Use of some Trans-Canada Air Lines' landing fields as a nucleus for the Empire Air training scheme has been decided upon by the conference here between delegates of Britain, Canada Australia and New Zealand.

Formal announcement last night that T. C. A. airports would be the basis for the vast scheme of flying facilities necessary to train up to 25,000 fighting pilots a year for the Empire's Air Force confirmed earlier reports that the National Air Line would play a vital part in the training scheme.

T. C. A. has built up a string of completely equipped, modern flying fields at major cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific and along the Trans-Continental route emergency landing fields are located every 50 or 100 miles.

It is not considered likely that all big urban airports will be used extensively for training Empire pilots but many of the smaller fields at which transport planes are not landing several times a day will be utilized fully.

The conference also has decided that other fields will be constructed and it was announced that reconnaisance and surveying parties have been at work mapping out points at which additional fields will be established. Construction of the majority of the new airports probably will start in the spring but work on some will get under way this Fall and carry on during the winter.

More Staff Added.

The need for speed has led to an increase in the field staff and the Dominion Government has accepted the offer of the Ontario Government to place at its disposal a number of aircraft and experienced pilots for work in the emergency. Ontario Government surveyors are also assisting in laying the ground work for the scheme.

The Empire Air Training Conference delegates meet daily in technical discussions of the problems and the last delegate arrived here last night from England. He is Air Chief Marshall Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, a member of the British Air Mission, headed by Lord Riverdale.

He told newspapermen that he considered the scheme one of the biggest developments since the start of the war.

Ireland Objects To Inclusion In War Zone That Bars Her Ports To U.S. Ships; Germany Orders Warships Let Flint Alone

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP). — Controversy over shipping restrictions in the United States Neutrality Law was stirred anew today by Irish objections to being included in the war zone and by a proposal to prevent transfer of United States vessels to foreign flags.

At the same time, another maritime problem—the case of the City of Flint—appeared nearer solution when the German government ordered its warships not to interfere with the United States freighter on her way home.

The action was taken, the State Department was informed yesterday, with the understanding that the ship, captured by Germany as a contraband carrier and later ordered released by Norway, had landed its cargo at Bergen, Norway.

Claim Roosevelt Act An Injury

The Irish complaint was made to the State Department yesterday by the Minister from Eire, Robert Brennan. He told Adolf Berle, assistant Secretary of State, that Eire had been injured by President Roosevelt's action in putting her in a "combat zone" from which ships of United States registry are barred.

Brennan said Eire is neutral and will remain so; that she needs American products—particularly cattle feed, fertilizers and wheat, and that the De Valera government does not believe United States ships would be endangered by visiting her ports. Berle told him that the matter would receive study. Under the law, President Roosevelt may redefine the combat zone at any time.

The proposal to prevent changing registry of American ships so that they could continue service to European ports came from Senator Mead (Dem., New York). In a telegram to Chairman Bailey (Dem., North Carolina) of the Senate Commerce Committee, Mead suggested that the committee, of which he is a member, prepare legislation to prevent transfers and also:

1. Provide subsidies to encourage the operation of temporary and emergency ship lines in "legal" waters.
2. Provide adequate care for seamen furloughed by curtailment of shipping due to the Neutrality Law.

U.S. Lines Would Transfer Eight Ships

The United States lines wants to transfer eight of its ships to Panamanian registry in order to escape the Neutrality Law and carry on its transatlantic business. President Roosevelt has asked the maritime commission to withhold approval until the question has been studied thoroughly.

Sub Crews Balk At Attacks From Surface

LONDON, Nov. 14 —(CP). — U-boat attacks have declined sharply in the last month, despite the earlier Nazi threat to sink defensively armed vessels on sight.

The Berlin correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune said submarine crews at Hamburg had refused to go on raiding trips unless they were released from necessity of coming to the surface before attacking. According to this report the British aerial anti-submarine patrol is so effective that U-boats are attacked almost as soon as they show themselves.

For this reason, the correspondend said, U-boat attacks had been transferred to such comparatively unpatrolled areas as the coast of Spain. Even there, however, they have to deal with convoying naval units.

The latest losses at sea lifted the toll to 120 vessels and the total known tonnage destroyed to 489,117. Great Britain has lost 65 ships, Germany 14, France seven, and neutral countries 34.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Nov. 14—(AP)—Burglars who broke into Virgil Messmore's house weren't satisfied with searching the place. Before leaving, they let in a flock of chickens. When Messmore and his wife returned home, they found chickens perched on the furniture in every room.

Suspects Russia Involved In Athenia Case

BOSTON, Nov. 14 (AP) — The suggestion that Russia might have been involved in the sinking of the Athenia and the recent apparent attempt to assassinate Hitler has been advanced by Rev. Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, S.J. regent of Georgetown University's Foreign Service School.

He noted, in an address last night before the Foreign Commerce Club of Boston, that the United States government still is investigating the sinking of the Montreal-bound British ship, with its loss of American and Canadian lives, and that it has not accused Germany of firing the torpedo.

"The conviction was voiced in Washington that the sinking of the Athenia was due neither to an English nor a German submarine, but to a Russian craft," Dr. Walsh said. "That horror could have brought no profit to Germany, rather a universal revulsion and the loss of the little support she still retains among neutrals. It is unthinkable that England should have deliberately massacred her own nationals as well as Americans."

Asserting that Soviet Russia never has abandoned its "dreams of world revolution," Dr. Walsh said that nation could have profited if the Athenia incident caused the United States to become entangled.

Drew Asks Probe Of Red Activity

STRATFORD, Ont., Nov. 14 — (CP).—Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, urged in an address to the Stratford Board of Trade last night that the Canadian government order an inquiry into Communist activity, similar to that of the Dies committee on un-American activities in the United States.

Col. Drew pointed out that confessed Communists had testified before the Dies committee and claimed that Canadian Communist activity was financed from Russia.

"There are less Communists in Russia today than in any other country in the world," he maintained.

The Conservative leader said he was in favor of organized labor but opposed to Communist organizations and agitators. Every organizer in the congress of industrial organizations, he declared, is a Communist.

Still Speedy?

POLICE may have trouble catching up with Boston's horse thief. Joseph E. Solomon of Chelsea complained someone took his junk wagon and horse while he was inside a building negotiating a deal. The animal, Solomon lamented, formerly was a race horse.

Winnipeg Reds Under Fire

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14 — (CP). — Communist members of Winnipeg City Council were criticized at last night's Council meeting by Alderman C. E. Simonite, speaking on a motion by Alderman M. J. Forkin, Communist, to instruct City Department heads to boycott Estevan coal until the strike in that Saskatchewan field is settled.

Mayor John Queen ruled out of order Mr. Simonite's motion: "That this Council go on record as being opposed to dealing with any resolution presented by aldermen who are representatives of the Communist Party until they tell us where they stand in regard to the Russian Government's invasion of Poland."

The Mayor said the Simonite motion would "contradict democracy" although "I'd be just as happy as you if the Communist alderman would get up and repudiate Russia and re-state the ideals of democracy they claimed they supported three months ago."

Before his boycott motion was defeated nine to eight, Ald. Forkin voiced a claim that the Canadian Federation of Labor in the Estevan field is a "company union" and that 504 of 826 miners had voted for the United Mine Workers of America as their bargaining agency. The strike is for union recognition.

At this point, Ald. Simonite rose waving a booklet which he said was a Communist anti-war pamphlet. Claiming the Forkin motion lacked sincerity, he attacked Communism as having "led us to believe they would lay down their lives to sweep Hitlerism off the face of the earth" and then profited by the Polish invasion.

Alderman Jacob Penner and Andrew Bilecki, both elected as Communists replied. Addressing Mayor Queen, Ald. Penner said: "You said you would be glad if we repudiated Russia. The Communist Party does not receive instructions from the Comintern. We shape our own policies with regard for the realities in Canada. We are affiliated with the Comintern but not controlled by it."

Retiring As Chief

OTAWA, Nov. 14—(CP). — Dr. Donald M. Robertson is retiring as superintendtn of the Ottawa Civic Hospital, a postion he has occupied since it's establishment 15 years ago. Prior to that he was superintendent for 21 years of the Ottawa Protestant General Hospital.

Britain Feeds Her Bren Gun Makers on Milk One Plant Guzzling 500 Quarts A Day As Peak Production Draws Rapidly Near

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Nov. 14—(CP Cable).—Milk-fed British workmen are turning out trim Bren guns as fast as is humanly possible and the peak of production has not yet been reached.

The intricate manufacturing process involved in turning out the light machine-guns for the British troops was explained to newspapermen at a huge arms plant here.

Workmen take milk-drinking seriously at the vast factory. They guzzle more than 500 quarts daily. A plant official said they started the practice in line with the Health Ministry's fitness campaign and few influenza casualties have been reported in the last year, although he did not ascribe this entirely to the milk regiment.

Bren gun production has been standardized according to manufacture plans outlined in an arms manual. Canada has had copies of the manual for a long time, the official said, and Canadian technicians have been at the plant. A former employee is aiding Canadian production.

Gun-making requires the greatest skill and precision. The gun has 172 parts and 3,174 manufacturing operations are involved. The process was demonstrated from the time a 46-pound chunk of steel left the forge until the steel became a gun-body weighing less than seven pounds.

Every gun is tested thoroughly at proof butts, in which ears take plenty of punishment from the constant din. On one special butt one gun always is "given the works" and blazes away until it breaks down. This is to test it for wear and tear.

The plant makes butts from walnut for the guns and also manufactures Vickers guns and service pistols, and repairs rifles. Some machines in the wood-working section are veterans. One has been there for 85 years doing its bit to help Britain fight her wars.

Many workers are veterans and the factory now is feeling the benefit of having had highly skilled craftsmen for generations. This correspondent met one man who had been there since 1914. His father, a veteran of 50 years of gun making, was in another section of the plant. Nearby was a man who had been 40 years in the trade.

Small Nations Take Heart Bullies Meet Opposition

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—(AP).—The many small countries of Europe, taking courage from each other, are sticking out their chests. Bent on maintaining their neutrality, they are showing a sturdy determination not to knuckle under further in the matter of their independence and territorial integrity.

The Finns' daring rejection of Russian territorial demands, the vigorous preparations of Holland and Belgium to defend their neutrality against aggression if necessary, the reported new Balkan agreement tending towards defensive co-operation under Italian sponsorship—all these developments mark a hardening of the political temper of the Continent.

It is significant, as showing the trend of affairs, that in all instances this attitude is the outgrowth of fancied or real dangers emanating from Germany, Comrade Russia, or both. The Anglo-French allies haven't inspired fear among the lesser states.

Thus a large number of little nations in Southeastern and Western Europe, while not openly hostile to Germany, are decidedly on the defensive against the Reich.

So delicate has become the position of some of these small states that it wouldn't take much bullyig to set them to using the arms which they have ready at hand. And there is indication of a growing tendency among them to support each other.

UK Destroyer Strikes Mine, Sinks

1 Killed, 6 Missing, Tugs Save 70 Sub Bags Trawler

By PAT USSHER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Nov. 14 — (CP Cable). —The Admiralty to-day announced a British destroyer struck a German mine and sank. One of the crew was listed as dead and six were missing.

The announcement did not disclose when or where the accident happened and did not give the name of the destroyer. More than 70 of the crew were picked up and landed, 15 of whom were injured.

The destroyer was the fifth British naval vessel lost in the war. The others were the aircraft carrier Courageous, 515 dead, the battleship Royal Oak, 810 dead, the submarine Oxley, 53 dead, and the auxillary vessel Northern Rover, 27 dead.

Tugs Fail to Save Craft.

After the destroyer hit the enemy mine, tugs hurried to the scene and one took the destroyer in tow, but the vessel soon sank, stern first.

Most of the survivors were covered with oil.

More than 70 of the destroyer's crew were known to have been picked up and landed by tugs and drifters which hurried to the scene after the explosion.

(British destroyers normally have complements ranging from 98 to more than 200 officers and men. The navy has nearly 200 destroyers, which average 1,000 tons in displacement. In the last war the average loss of destroyers was slightly more than one a month.)

Before the admiralty made its announcement, it was learned more than a score of survivors of a sea disaster were recovering in a marine hospital after being landed at an English port yesterday.

Before the Admiralty announcement it was learned more than a score of survivors from a sea tragedy had landed at an English port yesterday and were recovering in a marine hospital. This indicated the destroyed was sunk yesterday or the night before.

The fatality announced by the Admiralty was W. G. Brown, boatswain.

The injured included three officers and 12 men. The officers were listed as Midshipman C. L. Boyne.

Parked At Last

Boston, Nov. 14 (AP)

LIKE a motorist parking his car in a cramped space, Dr. Thomas Poulter drove the United States Antarctic expedition's immense snowmobile aboard the motorship North Star today in preparation for the departure of ship this afternoon for the south polar region.

A platform had been laid upon upright oil drums stored on the forward deck of the North Star and, when the tide had raised the platform to a position level with the army base dock, the huge snow-cruiser was edged carefully aboard, backed off to improve its position, and driven on again. A navy tug braced the 1,450-ton North Star against the dock.

When finally parked, the great vehicle's forward end protruded about two feet over the port rail, with its wheels 10 feet from the edge of the deck.

Germany Lists Allies' Armed Ships

BERLIN, Nov. 14 — (AP). — All Berlin newspapers to-day published lists of British and French passenger ships and freighters which they claimed have been armed against submarines.

Included in the list was the Queen Mary, which has been tied up in New York Harbor since the beginning of the war.

Twenty-nine British ships and five French were listed, including the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia. Also listed were the Mauretania, the Georgic, and the Aquitania.

The general comment was that a German submarine commander would be foolhardy to expose himself to destruction. Foreign readers of the newspaper lists drew the conclusion that the Germans implied that henceforth armed merchantmen would be subject to submarine attacks without warning.

There was no official comment, but informed quarters gave the impression that Germany was warning travellers and shippers that it would be hazardous to use the vessels listed.

While authorities were silent, the prominent display of the lists led to the assumption that major sea action is in the offing.

Field-Marshal Wilhelm Goering's newspaper, National Zeitung of Essen, in commenting, said armed merchantment must be regarded as pirate ships.

ChurchDamaged In Mystery Fire

LEASIDE, Ont., Nov. 14—(CP).—Officials of the Ontario Fire Marshal's department are probing a mysterious fire at the Roman Catholic Church in this Toronto suburb early today. The church was built nine months ago at a cost of $22,000.

A blaze in the roof at the rear of the church, destroyed the sanctuary and did considerable damage to church candlesticks and other sacred objects in the room.

The blaze, discovered by a woman resident living near the church, also destroyed a section of the church school rooms, and as a result more than 80 pupils were given a holiday from school today.

Father F. M. Caulfield, priest of the parish, estimated the damage to the sacred articles at about $50. He declined to estimate the damage to the church, but said that with the help of a few carpenters he could hold service by Sunday.

Chief Constable Bruce said he was of the opinion a large man had entered the church. He pointed to a pool of red ink near a teacher's desk in one of the classrooms, in which was left the print of a large shoe. Chief Bruce also expressed an opinion that the fire might have started in two places since a confessional booth next to the sanctu-

The mercury fell to 21 at Toronto. The drop in temperature covered roofs and grass with a mantle of frost.

Netherlands, Belgian Plan Refused

Peace Impossible Says Ribbentrop Blaming U.K., France

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—(AP).—Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop to-day informed the Belgian and Netherlands envoys that Germany's reply to the joint mediation offer from the lowland nations would be a polite "no."

The formal reply to the offer made Nov. 7 by the Queen of the Netherlands and King of the Belgians will be sent to-night to The Hague and Brussels with instructions to German envoys that it be presented to-morrow, informed sources said.

The note was said to be only a page and a half in length and was drafted by Von Ribbentrop, who informed the two small nations of its contents to-day.

Von Ribbentrop was said to have stated Germany's reply was based on answers already received by the two sovereigns from Great Britain and France which he said rendered peace impossible at this time.

The French reply, delivered Sunday, declared it was up to Germany to repair "the injustices which force has imposed on Austria, Czech-Slovakia and Poland" before peace could be discussed.

Cat's Eyes Sight Possible In Blackout

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP) — With the war in its 11th week and a good proportion of the population in bandage and sticking-plaster as a result of collisions in the black-out, W. E. Hardy, optical expert, comes forward with scientific suggestions for the development of "cat's eyes."

You can teach yourself to see in the blackout in 20 minutes, says Mr. Hardy.

Canadians, far from the threat of aerial attack, might care for the lesson just in case the city electric power fails.

First, do not expect to develop "blackout" eyesight immediately on leaving a brightly-lit home or office. It takes 20 minutes for the human eye to get properly accustomed to complete darkness, according to Mr. Hardy.

"While the eyes are being conditioned to darkness no light of any kind should be used, even a single flash of a torch will spoil everything, making it necessary to start the conditioning all over again," he says.

Point two: Never look directly at what you want to see in the darkness. "If you hear a person approaching, direct your glance a little to the right or left of where you think he is and you will see him more clearly than if you stare straight at him. This is because of outer portions of the Retina are more sensitive to dim light than the central portion.

Mr. Hardy did not advise citizens as to what they should do during that first 20 minutes.

Australia's New Air Chief Takes Oath In Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP)—Hon. J. V. Fairbairn former Australian controller of civil aviation, who is in Ottawa in connection with empire air training plans, today was sworn in at Government House here as minister of state for air as a result of the reshuffle of the Australian government.

It is believed to be the first time in history a minister of one dominion has taken the oath of office while in another dominion. A cable from the governor general of Australia to the governor general of Canada yesterday requested that Mr. Fairbairn be sworn in. He was already a privy councillor in Australia.

The oath was administered by Sir Lyman Duff, chief justice of Canada in the presence of Lord Tweedsmuir. Mr. Fairbairn arrived in Ottawa in Oct. 31, and has since been engaged with British, Canadian and New Zealand air officials in mapping a plan by which aviators from the sister dominions and the United Kingdom may receive their advanced training in Canada.

The changes in the Australian cabinet were announced by Prime Minister Robert Menzies on Nov. 11.

Mr. Fairbairn said the swearing in ceremony here was a striking proof of the unity of the commonwealth of nations under one crown, when the minister of one dominion could take the oath of office in a sister dominion half way around the world.

When he arrived here as head of the Australian air mission two weeks ago Mr. Fairbairn was, and had been for some years, minister for civil aviation, assistant defence minister and vice-president of the executive council.

Sea Control Rankles Rome Press

Resent References To Tie With U.K. In Mediterranean

ROME, Nov. 14 (AP)—Virginio Gayda, Italy's leading editorial writer, says it ill behooves Great Britain to speak of the "historic association" of Britain, France and Italy in the Mediterranean while Britain controls the sea's two gateways—Gibraltar and the Suez Canal.

"All that exists and is happening in the Mediterranean today tends to place Italy in the position of a minority and a menace," he wrote in today's Il Giornale d'Italia.

"It is not with these facts that one can speak of historic association. Such associations on the contrary suppose a parity of positions and rights. It would therefore be fitting for the democratic allies not to occupy themselves for the moment with Mediterranean problems, Italian positions and interests."

The editorial was in response to a Sunday night speech at London by the First Lord of the Admiralty, Winston Churchill, who said that "Italy, which we feared had become separated from its historic association with England and France in the Mediterranean—an association which will become still more fruitful—has adopted the wise policy of peace."

Tornado Timber Contract Let

BOSTON, Nov. 14—(AP)—A $14,400,000 contract for the purchase of 600,000,000 board feet of New England hurricane-felled timber, believed to be the largest transaction of its kind in United States history, was made operative today by the North-Eastern Timber Salvage Administration.

Leslie S. Bean, Director of the salvage administration, said the purchase was made by a newly-formed co-operative of wholesalers in a contract signed last Friday in Washington. Timber owners would receive $24 a thousand feet. Bean added, "considerably higher" than the price they normally received.

The contract is effective for 4½ years and provides for payments of $800,000 each quarter, allowing dealers a 20 per cent return on their investment. Profits in excess of that amount must be split between the co-operative, known as the North-Eastern Timber and Marketing Association. The latter's share must be distributed among the original timber owners.

ing boats and scored a "probable hit on an English cruiser" in a raid on the Shetland Islands.

A British report said the Shetland Islands suffered no damage except a few shattered windows.

At the same time authorized sources indicated a sink-on-sight Nazi sea campaign was in the making, involving submarine attacks without warning.

"Despite unfavorable weather, a German flying squadron undertook an attack on the Shetland Islands. In the encounter two flying boats were destroyed. A probable hit on an English cruiser could not with certainty be observed. All of our own planes returned unharmed."

German sources, in commenting on the published list of armed Allied merchant vessels, said each submarine commander would be guided by circumstances whether or not to sink a ship on the list without warning.

Rock Schoolhouse.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(CP).—Four German airplanes which raided the Shetland Islands yesterday dropped 500-pound bombs a quarter mile from a schoolhouse filled with children, the Information Ministry revealed to-day.

A total of at least 12 of the big missiles were dropped at various points. One seven-pound shrapnel fragment struck a small house.

Four of the bombs fell into the sea and exploded harmlessly. Four others fell close together on the shore, and another four about half a mile inland at the summit of a small hill.

According to one eye-witness, the missiles dropped into the water were torpedoes such as are carried by some types of planes for attacks against vessels at sea.

98 Enter Fight In N.B. Election

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Nov. 14—(CP).—Pre-election fervor increased hourly in New Brunswick today as 98 candidates for Provincial Legislature seats prepared to go before the people next Monday.

There are 17 constituencies and 48 seats, for each of which Liberal and Conservatives have been nominated. Only nominees outside the two major parties are one for the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in Saint John and an Independent Liberal in Madawaska.

In Kent County, Premier Dysart's home constituency, spirited debate marked a joint nomination meeting yesterday. There were no speeches in Carlton County, where Conservative Leader F. C. Squires holds forth.

Mr. Dysart told the Kent County meeting that this was the sixth occasion he was seeking election, and added, "On all those occasions we have been able to do the boys of the Opposition up." He expressed confidence that he would be able to do it again on November 20.

The Liberal leader charged that Opposition candidates throughout the length and breadth of the province were giving the electors "misstatements of facts."

Mr. Dysart said that his government had opened up the South American potato market, where farmers are selling their product "at a much better price than in 1935, when potatoes in some sections sold at 10 cents a barrel or three barrels for a packet of cigarettes."

CLARION BANDED.

Exchange Firm Beats Ban On Reich Parcels

New York's Burghers Sending Food Through Deal With Friendly Neutrals

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—(CP)—The Burghers of Yorkville, New York's German section, are able to send food and money to families and friends in Germany despite the fact that United States postal and express services will not accept packages for delivery in the Reich.

It is done through a novel service called the Express Exchange Company. The money Germans deposit in the New York office is used to buy food and foreign exchange in neutral European countries near Germany for shipment into the Reich.

The service also may be used by friends of Allied War prisoners if they know their addresses in Germany, H. Entrup, manager of the service, said today.

Special "combination" packages suggested by the service cost $5 and contain one pound of coffee, tea or cocoa, one pound of butter, one pound of fat, one pound of cheese, oatmeal, soap, dried beef, condensed milk and spices.

Upon delivery in Germany the consignee signs a receipt and this is returned to the consignor.

Modern Romeo Uses Writ

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—(AP). — "Juliet's Balcony" was a guarded apartment on the swank East side and "Romeo's Ladder" was a legal document today.

The Lowthers, socially distinguished, and the Herricks, ditto, found themselves involved in a streamlined version of Shakespeare's tale.

Handsome George Lowther 3rd, Yale '31, often described as "the most eligible bachelor in town," started the modern Montague-Capulet difficulty by charging in Supreme Court that his Juliet was held prisoner in her own home.

Lowther obtained from Justice Isidor Wasservogel a writ of habeas corpos calling for the presence of Miss Eileen in court Wednesday, asserting she wanted to marry him, but that he was denied access to her at her home.

The writ was directed against her parents, Walter R. Herrick, former Park Commissioner and head of an old New York society family, and his wife, Douglas.

George banged on the Herrick door for ten minutes yesterday as private detectives paced to and fro, apparently bored.

With this parting shot he left: "She's being unlawfully detained! I'm going to be back in a few hours with a writ forcing them to let me see her."

Herrick admitted reporters to tell them: "Eileen has been made highly nervous by this threat of court

Investigators, while unable to determine the cause of the blaze, were inclined to believe a lighted candle might have started the fire.

Paris Guns Drive Nazi Scouts Off

PARIS, Nov. 14 — (AP).—News of activity on the western front was summed up by the War Ministry to-day in a two-word communique, "Quiet night."

Paris, meanwhile, remained quiet following air raid alarms yesterday on the approach of German scouting planes, which were driven off by anti-aircraft fire. Three persons, one of whom was a three-year-old boy, were injured by falling shell fragments.

Premier Daladier, accompanied by Air Minister Guy Lachambre and General Joseph Vuillemin, Chief of Staff of the Air Forces, was reported to have made a tour of air bases during which decorations were awarded to a number of fliers.

The squadron which last Thursday shot down nine German planes, though the French machines were outnumbered 27 to nine, was among the units visited.

The Reich air arm yesterday sent other reconnaissance expeditions over the French lines in Lorraine. They were immediately framed in white shell bursts from anti-aircraft batteries and beat a hurried retreat over Belgian soil. In view of the extremely foggy day, it was not believed they succeeded in making any important observations.

Churchill Promises To Billet Fish

LONDON, Nov. 14 — (CP Cable). —Should London be bombed severely, Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, may have 10,000 tropical fish on his hands. He has offered to billet that number of pets belonging to a London fish expert, Stanley Plater. Plater said to-day that in the event of air raids the fish would be taken to Mr. Churchill's country home in Chartwell, Kent, where the statesman has seven lakes full of all kinds of fish.

Tweedsmuir's Son Shifts To Hussars

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 14—(CP).—District military authorities revealed today that Second Lieut. the Hon. Francis Alastair Buchan, son of Lord Tweedsmuir, has been attached to the First Hussars, London, and that he visited the city last week-end. Later, he left for Camp Borden to attend the Canadian Fighting Vehicle Schools, where other officers of the Hussars are studying tank warfare.

Lieut. Buchan gained his commission in the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, of Ottawa, and it is understood that his transfer to the Hussars resulted from his request that he be allowed to join a unit already mobilized for active service.

Ottawa Adopting New Possibility On War Publicity

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP) — The government is considering adopting a new policy to provide better facilities for informing the public about Canada's part in the war.

After receiving numerous suggestions that Canadians be given more details about the war effort, the sub-committee of the cabinet on public information this week will decide the course of action likely to be adopted by the administration.

Two alternatives appear possible: 1. To have one man or a group of men supervise all government war publicity; 2. To develop the publicity machinery now existing, which consists of each department operating through its own channels by the medium of publicity or press liaison men.

It is probable that Postmaster-General Power will take over the chairmanship of the cabinet sub-committee on public information from Labor Minister McLarty, who has held it since the cabinet shuffle six weeks ago along ith his new portfolio.

Government officials consider Mr. Power would be in a better position to deal with the situation than Mr. McLarty now that he holds the postmaster general post, previously held by the Windsor, Ont., minister.

Before he relinquishes the job, however, Mr. McLarty will confer with other committee members and work out proposals which will smooth the way for his colleague when he takes over the position and virtually becomes minister of public information.

The sub-committee's aim in this week's discussions, it is understood, will be primarily to formulate some policy to avoid uncertainty as to which departments should give out information and to prevent undue restrictions being placed on publicity relating to the war.

Claim RC Church Enemy Of U.S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church is characterized by Earl Browder, secretary to the American Communist Party, as among "powerful forces at work in our country to undermine and destroy the great American traditions to which our people owe their greatness."

In a speech at a Communist rally in Madison Square Garden last night, Browder assailed the recent encyclical of Pope Pius XII, asserting it contained a "direct attack upon a fundamental American principle, the separation of church and state, which may have a deleterious effect upon American public life if it is followed up with practical efforts and proposals."

"There are growing signs that the Catholic church hierarchy are not content to influence the lives of their own flock," he said. "But have the ambition to determine more and more the laws and administration of the states and the nation in line with their professed creeds."

The Communist leader told his audience that Europe will "inevitably turn to the Communists" if the "imperialist war is carried on to its logical conclusion."

"We demand the stopping of this war," he said. 'We warn that the peoples who suffer from this war will not be patient, but will prepare to take the decision into their own hands, if the present 'statesmen' do not stop the war."

She discussed the responsibility of the Hindu religion for untouchability and outlined the work of Dr. Ambedkar, himself an untouchable, who through the kindness of an Indian prince attended the Universities of Edinburgh, London, Columbia and Bonn. He returned to his own land and did excellent work among the untouchables.

The worship period was conducted by Mrs. W. Head, Mrs. W. Foley and Miss Helen Henry. Mrs. H. V. Dobson played a piano solo. A report on Stewardship of ones responsibility, occupancy and accountability was given by Mrs. F. Leslie. GLOVE FOR EVERY HOUR

By ALICE ALDEN

WE COULD fill columns with glove news this season. Take our word that most of the season's handwear is several inches longer than heretofore, that supple fabric is frequently combined with sturdy leather, for a better fit, and that there's a glove for every hour of the clock — from angora mitts to sequin-streaked doeskins. The capeskin-backed gloves, toned to the striped suit, ABOVE, are stitched to the cuff and, in this picture, worn with a tucked felt hat, just to give you inspiration. For the dinner hour we suggest the velvet-backed gloves, at LEFT, palmed in wool to match the sheer wool dress. Again the hat is in sympathy, being a Spanish number veiled in velvet dots.

Old Boys' Annual Trek Event At Lakefield School

The Old Boys of Lakefield Preparatory School held an interesting annual homecoming during the week-end, marked by the arrival of twenty Old Boys, and twenty-five visitors and friends, mostly from Toronto. The observance of the two-minute silence; a rugby match between the Old Boys and the first team, in which the first team won, was an event of the afternoon. In the evening a delightful dance for 130 guests was held. On Sunday there was a formal service of remembrance in the chapel.

After a chilly but exciting afternoon watching the keenly contested battle between the boys past and present, the guests gathered in the hall, which was effectively decorated with cedar and spruce boughs, streamers and balloons. There was an early party for the younger students, and then an orchestra played gay dance music for the senior boys, Old Boys and their friends. At midnight an enjoyable supper party was held in the dining room, with Miss O. M. Perry, Mrs. H. M. Eisdell and Mrs. H. F. Ketchum as hostesses.

FASHIONS

The young man of your family will feel just too important for words in this mannish suit. Mother will enjoy making it herself as much as she will seeing him wear it. The easy to sew lines are cut on the English school boy style that is so smart for little gentlemen. The trousers have plenty of pockets to delight a boy. One of father's suits, the one he no longer wears, makes an ideal Sunday best attire for your young son. An Eton cap is included in the pattern, just to complete the snappy outfit. The collarless jacket has very few seams to sew and will be finished in no time at all.

Style No. 2935 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 54-inch material for suit and cap.

Dr. Dorothy Turville Recalls Experiences at Stockholm Convention

Dr. Dorothy Turville, membership secretary of the Canadian Federation of University Women, and Dean of Women at Western University, London, Ont., brought fraternal greetings from the London Club to club members at a meeting Monday evening in the Green Room of the Y. W. C. A.

Some of her experiences at the International Convention of University Women this summer in Stockholm, Sweden, were recalled by Dr. Turville, who believes that "Our greatest service as university women will be to continue our usual routine, perhaps using our club activities as a recreation from other more strenuous duties, and at all time trying to preserve for our country the good side of university work, to advance the science of learning and give to our respective communities calm leadership."

To have attended a gathering of 543 mere women does not sound particularly soul-stirring, perhaps, the speaker remarked, but when these women represent 25 nations, and when the meeting place was Stockholm, one of the most beautiful cities in the world, the experience takes on a more breath-taking aspect. She drew a delightful picture of the city, which is built on seven islands, and spoke of the royal note that was accentuated in the minds of the delegates by the presence of the Crown Princess of Sweden at the formal opening.

The main problem of the Federation at the moment, Dr. Turville explained, is that of the Refugees, which does not seem to touch us over here so vitally as it perhaps should. It was at the Council meeting of 1938 that the officers were empowered to set up a special committee for the Emergency Assistance of University women in distress as a result of recent political upheavals, and of allocating grants towards training or temporary assistance. The work of the committee is a most heart-breaking one, as there are hundreds of applicants, and so little can be done.

The French Association, through its Toulouse branch, the speaker said has also been very active in aiding Spanish refugees who fled across the border to them. A plan for arranging for visiting scholars, without the idea of exchange, is being proposed by the Committee on Exchanges as a means for international co-operation.

The scheme is the same as the Hospitality Fellowship which the Canadian Federation of University Women awarded for one year with such unexpected results. The committee for the Award of International Fellowships has a more difficult task than ever before, owing to the increased number of applicants, and regulations governing their choice have been made more rigorous.

Other standing committees are carrying on investigations into various fields, she continued, mentioning the Economic Status of University Women; the Teaching of Geography, the provision of Vocational Guidance in schools and the inclusion of the Women's Movement in history text-books. "One of the evident results of our internationalism," Dr. Turville said, "is the maintenance of club-houses by the various nationals. Ther are three in Canada, Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg."

An outline of the interesting addresses heard, the hours of sightseeing, and the memorable parties were also delightfully recalled by the speaker.

Miss Mabel Weddell was heard in a grcup of charming French songs with Gwen Craw at the piano.

During a brief business meeting a discussion was held on the formation of Associate memberships, and arrangements were made for the annual banquet in January. Mrs. H. M. Foster was convener of the tea which was served after the meeting.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, November 15.

A fairly active and progressive day is presaged by the prevailing astral influences, although social, intellectual, or sentimental affiliations may claim paramount attention. Application and industry may attract recognition and support from employers, superiors or those in authority. Make changes and launch new projects with precaution. In romantic or sentimental activities there may be opposition or lack of support from elders.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a fairly progressive and interesting year, with social, romantic or cultural engagements claiming the attention. In this there may be disapproval of elders, but in business and other matters the support and encouragement of superiors, employers or those in authority are assured. Be prudent in making changes or undertaking journeys.

A child born on this day may be versatile, clever, original and ingenious with many cultural, artistic and social talents. It should enjoy a successful and happy life.

....Among the beauty sacrifices British women have to make due to the outbreak of war is the abandoning of mascara—the heat inside the mask, it is explained, will cause mascara to run, leading to smarting of the eyes, and tears, which is turn produces an urgent desire to remove the mask with dangerous results if gas is present.

....A law forbidding women to carry lipstick, powder and paraphernalia of a similar type in gas masks lest it endanger the mask's efficiency has also been passed.

Make Your Talk Top-Grade

"I never want to go inside that club again! How catty those women were, pretending they didn't know what I meant when I called Tom's formal clothes his soup-and-fish."

The woman whose speech bristles with crude slang is sure to feel uncomfortable with people whose talk is charming and correct.

They can't conceal their amazement at such remarks as "That KID bit the old man on the BEAN with his slingshot." CHILD and HEAD are the words more cultured speakers would use, as she could easily find out.

Errors in English provoke amused comments, too. Wrong to say "Mary wanted to borrow a hat OFF me, but I wasn't TO home." Correct is "Mary wanted to borrow a hat FROM me, but I wasn't AT home."

And do you risk boring by calling everything you like "fine," everything you don't like "terrible"? Are you vocabulary-poor?

From our 32-page booklet learn how to build a large, vivid vocabulary, give zest to your talk. Lists common errors, correct forms, slang phrases to avoid. Gives right meanings of words often misused, pronunciation tips.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR VOCABULARY to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Can He Be Right?

Premier Dirk Jan De Geer of the Netherlands made a radio address and the world was waiting to hear what he had to say. There have been reports—many of them—within recent days telling that German forces were concentrating along the border, and it was feared an attempt was to be made to break through there.

There have been reports of Holland considering opening up some of her dike system in order to prevent invasion.

There was the united appeal by Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and Leopold of Belgium, an appeal made to Britain, France and Germany, asking for efforts to reach peace, and there was the added report that this appeal was made in order that Belgium and Holland might be made more safe from invasion.

After the address of the Dutch Premier the world must be having a difficult time trying to make out what he said and why he said it. He stated blandly there was nothing about which to grow excited; there was nothing in sight which he could really term dangerous. The strengthening of the lines along the border and the bringing into effect of mobilization had been attended to merely as routine in case anything did happen.

There is no straight line running through the Premier's address which coincides with the reported trend of events along the German border, and Holland's eastern boundary is entirely Germanic in its character.

We only hope that the Premier has the proper outlook; it would be splendid for the world and splendid for Holland if there were not a thing to make that little nation uneasy. But the truth is Holland has been uneasy and is uneasy today. The Dutch Premier left many questions, the answers to which the world would be glad to secure. If he is right then a large assembly of people must be wrong.

Italy Has a King

King Victor Emmanuel III. of Italy came upon his 70th birthday and he attracted more world-attention than on his 69th or any previous similar celebration. The world seems to have discovered that Italy has a King. For years Benito Mussolini has held the attention of Italy and the attention of the world, and the belief has grown there was nothing much left for the King to do but sit in his house or appear occasionally to let it be known he was still on the national payroll.

It's much different now, and the difference has come because the world sought an explanation of why Italy did not declare war when Germany started her latest conquest. There have been explanations offered; at first Italy was standing to one side until called upon; Italy was to remain neutral in order that she could send supplies to her axis neighbor, Germany; Italy was to remain in readiness to strike in the Mediterranean.

Today the explaining has turned toward the King, and writers are declaring Emmanuel was in the background even when Mussolini marched on Rome in 1922. The premier at that time, Signor Luigi Facta, was on the way out and there was danger of civil war as extreme socialism was sweeping the country. We are informed the King was a keen enough politician to see that there was safety in Mussolini. He went to Rome as a republican, but he remained as a monarchist.

We have long been familiar with pictures of Mussolini and the army, and one could not be blamed for having come to the conclusion that the thing belonged to Benito Mussolini. Here again popular belief may have been much in error. The commander-in-chief, Pietro Badoglio, is referred to as "the King's man," and the same can be said of Crown Prince Umberto and Marshal Graziani, who are next in rank.

From other reports we learn that things are not going well in Italy under Mussolini. Emigrants can no longer leave to seek a living elsewhere; Italians living abroad have felt depression and they send little money home. Italy has fought two wars in three years and her resources are at low ebb. Germans coming to Italy can bring only a limited amount of money and tourist trade has been cut off by fear of war.

The alliance with Germany was not popular in Italy. That is spoken of openly today. At the close of the previous war Italy found a condition of which she approved. There was a weakened Austria at the other side of the Brenner Pass, and if that had been made to order on specifications supplied by Italy it could not have been better. That all went out the back door when Germany moved in and took possession of Austria. The weak Austria which could cause no trouble on that frontier had been supplanted by a strong Germany, and Italy did not like it. It meant something not far removed from German domination. Mussolini was outwardly satisfied but Italian military leaders were not. They knew what it meant.

Italy's part in the Spanish war has brought nothing but expense and loss of life to their country. She got nothing at all out of it. There is hardship in Italy today; food is scarce and the quality is inferior, and Mussolini is hard pressed for explanation or remedy. Back of all this are the words of King Victor Emmanuel which appeared in the world press on October 18 of this year: "As long as I am head of the House of Savoy, Italy will not take up arms against France." It is perhaps advisable to allow a certain amount of discount on all that is written today regarding Europe, but it appears to be much plainer than it did a year ago that Italy has a King.

Mr. Hepburn Declines

Premier Hepburn has advised the London, Ont., Railway Commission he does not desire to have the station at the Royal Air Force Training school near St. Thomas named after him. The Commission presides over the business and general health of the electric line which operates between London and Port Stanley.

There are so few of us who ever reach the point where anything is honored by our name that there is no general principle upon which to judge Mr. Hepburn's point of view. He prefers that the place where the electric trains pause shall continue to be known merely as "Stop 16."

In the environs of Versailles, a short way out from Paris, John D. Rockefeller at one time spent a good deal of money fixing things, so there is a street named after him. But having a street named in one's honor is different to a railway stop. One might miss the train there, or have to wait some day when the thing was late, and unpleasant memories would become associated with the thing. Bad for political reasons.

It would be nicer to have one's name associated with something where it would be necessary to lay a corner stone and have a few ceremonies and speeches, and where some dignitary lifted a little silver trowel and said a few kind and fitting words. There the name would be chiselled in stone where it would remain, but on a railway stop it would be painted with the swish of a brush and then become the victim of cold winds and the blistering effect of summer heat. So Mr. Hepburn is probably correct in suggesting that "Stop 16" shall remain just that.

It Seems Stupid

Pretty near anything and everything is allowed on the highways. There was a 27-ton snow cruiser built for an Antarctic expedition, and it was necessary to get the monster to Boston so it could be placed on board ship. The cruiser which runs on wheels was built in Chicago and then placed on the highways for the 1,000-mile trip to Boston.

Reports from the cultured city of Boston say there has been the greatest tie-up of traffic in the history of the state, in which at least 70,000 cars were involved.

This 27-ton snow cruiser has a top speed of ten miles an hour and it is so wide that it cannot be passed by a car wishing to go on, and cars coming in the opposite direction are no better off.

Autos crawling along the main road behind this monster at ten miles an hour extended at times from 15 to 20 miles. It never seems to occur to people to put a thing like that on a train and ship it by rail.

Drove Into a Ditch

Three men from Windsor had been hunting ducks in Dover township, not a great distance from Chatham. When they were through and ready to drive home the light was probably none too good and the driver of the car went through a guard rail and into a ditch where there was water—three feet of it.

The passengers were trapped and could not open the door, and there they sat until an obliging young farmer found them. He waded in and released the trio. One of them, the driver of the car, died a short time afterward in hospital at Chatham, and it is reported that exposure brought on a heart condition which continued to increase in severity.

Possibly it may have been necessary to have a ditch along the road at that particular spot, but car drivers have no doubt wondered often enough just why there are such large and deep ditches along the side of so many of our roads. Perhaps one should not look at them or pay heed to them at all, but they always do seem to have a malicious or sinister look about them, as though they were present just waiting for something to happen. They look too much like traps to make the going comfortable or entirely pleasant.

Most of them were put in years ago as the easiest and least expensive method of securing drainage. They were in existence before we had automobiles on the roads. By whose authority those traps remain we do not know.

Several years ago there was a sudden determination to fill in the ditches, and although the motive seemed right it unfortunately came a short time before an election was due. It was looked upon as a measure to secure votes and on that score it was a dud. Even so we can think of no good reason whatever for leaving so many of those gaping open ditches alongside roads where traffic moves.

When Men Boast

How often the name of God has been dragged in to fortify human ambition is not known. Without having that information one can with safety and assurance state the number of occasions has been too many and the claims of men too great.

It would be difficult to find anything which could overshadow the overblown attitude adopted by the then ruler of Russia when Finland was swept up to become Russian territory.

That was in 1808 before which time it was doubtful whether Finland was a province of Sweden or a part of Russia. Then when Alexander the First, Emperor of Russia, was proclaimed Grand Duke of Finland, he used this method of proclamation:

"We, Alexander, by the Grace of God, Emperor and Autocrat of all the Russians, and Grand Duke of Finland, proclaim that the will of the Almighty has given into our possession the Grand Duchy of Finland..."

It may be that section of the Mosaic code which says "thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain" was written to have application to such empty boasting.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Not so far to Christmas, so the husband need experience no alarm when he hears the little lady refer to him as "dear."

Two purses were snatched by a thief in Windsor, and in one $100 was taken and in the other $190. Possibly people in that far corner of the province do not trust the banks.

Doctor in Rochester says there is such a thing as being too clean and scrubbing too much. Pshaw! We knew all about that years ago when the tub used to be pulled up in front of the kitchen range on Saturday night.

There was a strange display of neutrality during the South African war when Wilhelm Hohenzollern, then kaiser of Germany, telegraphed to Oom Paul Krueger his best wishes for the successful defence of his realm.

Rev. Norman Rawson says he drove a team of mules for nine months in France and never swore at them. Whether a team of mules respond to a bit of profanity is one point which Mr. Rawson left in doubt.

We wonder what Mr. Hepburn would have said a few years ago when he was leading the Liberal Opposition in Ontario if the municipalities had decided there must not be a provincial election for another two or three years.

The new Godbout government in Quebec says it will be possible to dispense with the services of 1,500 people appointed to office by Duplessis. And no doubt there will be another 1,500 people who will be anxiously expecting to find themselves appointed.

KNOWLEDGE

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My nieces and my nephews come, they poke at me a lot of fun, my errors plainly state; they laugh when I pronounce some words, they say I mutilate my verbs, and I am out-of-date.

¶ They study Latin now at school, according to some newfangled rule, and it has changed a lot; so different does it sound today, to what they said was proper way, when I was going to school.

¶ And when I speak of Cicero, their laughter starts to rise and grow, embarrassed I confess; because when I pronounce that name, I always do it just the same, and start it with an S.

¶ And then they hasten on to say, it should begin like with a K, they call it Kikero; and then they start to laugh with glee, how strange the teaching used to be, in days of long ago.

¶ And then I argue long with them, about the ways of teaching men, we cover quite a range; they never asked poor Cicero, about the way his name should go, before they made the change.

¶ For Cicero's been gone for years, his new name never hits his ears, or brings a spell of fright; perhaps if they could ask the man, just what he thought about the plan—he might say I was right.

The Jews Move Once More Into Land Of Poles

IN THE TUMULT of news from Europe there has been probably little inclination to follow the course of the Jews. Once again many of them are on the move, and the Germans have ordered thousands of them into Poland. The New York Herald Tribune, going into the past history of Jewish migrations, presents a careful study this way:

Germany's proposed expulsion to Poland of all the Jews in the Greater Reich is almost as surprising as the repatriation of the old communities of Germans in the Baltic. Some important sections of "Mein Kampf" will have to be deleted from the next edition. For, instead of taking up the work of the Teutonic Knights where they dropped it six centuries ago, and clearing the Slavic Ostmark for an expanse of German population eastward, which Hitler used to think was the Reich's destiny, he is pulling in the old outposts of empire and peopling conquered territories which Germany needs so badly with the one tribe that he so passionately detests. Maybe he thinks that the Jews will make a poor country prosperous enough to be worth looting when the Germans need it and are ready to push them on again. Or maybe it's just his fondness for historical precedent; for it was the vicious anti-Semitism of medieval Europe which drove great bodies of German Jews into Poland about the time that America was discovered, and resulted in the development there of many thriving communities in what was then wilderness.

THE MAD FURY of persecution and butchery that fell on the Jews in Germany during the first crusade had burned itself out when the old Christian taboo on "usury," which had given the Jews a monopoly on banking for Church and State, was tacitly abolished, and the rulers and aristocrats of one country after another decided that since they no longer needed the Jews, there was no reason to protect them against prejudice and mob violence. They were expelled from England in 1290, from France for the second time in 1306, and from Spain, after a century of persecution, in 1492. Then it was Germany's turn again; and while greater numbers of refugees from Spain and southern Europe generally found handy sanctuary in all the Moslem countries, the northern Jews discovered Poland, and Poland discovered their worth and welcomed them.

The Polish aristocracy aspired to modernize their country, but they could make neither merchants nor industrialists of their agricultural serfs. Wherever a German Jew settled at a crossroads, he opened a store and taught a few natives to make useful things. Soon there was a town there, turning out merchandise cheaply that went abroad and started money trickling into Poland and into the rulers' coffers. It is assumed that the first migrants heard of the chance there was in Poland to get out of the foul Ghetto into open sunlight from Khazars already settled there—members of that south Russian Tartar tribe that had been converted to Judaism centuries before by Byzantine refugees from persecution. But that is conjecture and there is no precise date in history for the big exodus of Jews from Germany into Poland under the patronage of the Polish nobility.

BUT that they went there and on into Russia, and stayed there until Germany's modern industrialization during the last century started a drift back into Germany, which the Russian pogrom spirit accelerated, is common knowledge. And now back they go again, together with other thousands who outstayed medieval persecution, preferring the Ghetto to the wilderness, and who have in some communities been German since the Roman occupation of the Rhine Valley. But this time there is no Polish nobility to welcome at all. Judging by the circumstances, under which the Vienese deportees were herded away after being stripped of their property, all the help they will get from the government of the Reach when they are dumped down on the frozen Polish landscape, will be advice. The Vienese Jews were thoughtfully told to provide themselves with warm clothes. It probably will not be long before this forced migration takes on the same staggering proportions, as a relief job, as the Chinese migrations that Japan's military operations have prompted. But maybe we should not anticipate such horrors, for we have yet to learn whether this amazing expulsion will be as cruel as it is crazy.

• Japanese Tell British To Leave

THE RELATIONS between Great Britain and Japan are perhaps not so strained, thanks to Japan's disapproval of Germany's action, but there is no real change in the situation in China, and the boycott fostered by Japan by the Chinese in the conquered regions may be resumed at any time.

Mr. W. V. Pennell, in "Oriental Affairs," of Shanghai, deals with this matter, and quotes some of the propaganda—with its quaint attempts at good English—against the British. He writes:—

"THE following is a copy of the screed sent to British residents at Tankgu and Taku:—

"'Warning to you, You English gentlemen of Tankgu.

"'There will be no need to explain the reason why we send this message to you, you wise gentlemen perhaps know the conditions for you.

"'It is impossible to suppose that our Chinese anti-Anglo movement, which is increasing its force day by day, change to take any other form of direct action. Such condition as this has resulted from persecution and ill-treatment by Anglo-Saxon upon us for a century long past, but however, this result umpired by God we do not want to see blood in this district, we warn you in our old kindness.

"'1. You had better return to your country home if you neglect this our warning you shall know how and what will be the reward of your own free will, and we have Glory to tell you the responsibility about which you shall meet accident suitably must due to you only not us at all.

"'2. You shall have four weeks to prepare. We anti-Anglo committee assure your lives and liberty for this four weeks but about this four weeks nobody and no committee shall assure you in any sort of things.

"'3. If you need more time by special reason you had better inform us the date of departure expected we treated with good will but this must be only literally a "good will" not assurance of your life and liberty.

"'We warn you again to return for your sake to your home country as quickly as possible.

"'Good by you gentlemen, Bon voyage,

"'Anti-Anglo Committee of Tankgu.'"

• Is German Opinion Changing?

FREQUENTLY the published statements and platform addresses of those who inform us that the Germans are tiring of Hitler and Nazism are made by persons who have no first-hand knowledge of the situation in Germany today and who sometimes voice a wish in the guise of a fact.

But enough genuine and dependable information comes out of Germany to warrant the belief that all is not harmony in the Horst Wessel song.

The latest factual testimony, says Buffalo Courier-Express, is presented by Hugh Gibson, American diplomat, who has made many trips to Germany during the past year and who is convinced that, since the present European war began, there has been a distinct "evolution" in German public opinion, tending away from the Nazi rule. He declares:

"There has been a noticeable loss of enthusiasm among the masses of the people. There are a number of factors that contribute to this, but I am convinced that the chief one is that the people have been for too long under an emotional strain and that they are war-weary before the war begins."

What the Nazi regime has accomplished in order to stimulate enthusiasm, he says, "are the very things which have discouraged German public opinion—the seizure of Austria, the Sudeten country of Czecho-Slovakia, and the anti-Jewish excesses; and perhaps the worst single item is the conclusion of the Soviet pact."

Mr. Gibson offers these not as his own opinions but as the result of direct observation. They bear the stamp of authenticity and appeal to the common sense of the fair-minded outside the Reich, who can understand the German people in this risis, shocked into the sudden realization and not, as his people were led to believe, the savior of Germany and the rest of the world from the menace of Communism.

UNFAIR TO BABIES

A WOMAN who has a brother and a son out of work because of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. strike at the Dodge plant, struck back Monday morning.

She invaded the picket line with placards bearing these messages: "Will there be a Santa?" "The C.I.O. is unfair to Babies." "Everyday is payday for Lewis and the C.I.O. When is yours?" "Be American. Stop listening to Russian propaganda."

Although pretty roughly handled by U.A.W. "gorillas" she had her say—and what she said is what many other women in Detroit must be thinking.

The senseless strike called by U.A.W. leaders at Chrysler plants hurts not only the rank and file of workers who need their jobs and their pay envelopes, but also hurts their wives and children, who need the money to live on.

The coercive tactics used by the U.A.W.-C.I.O. are more in keeping with Nazism and Communism than with Americanism.

And when that fact arouses more workers' wives and mothers to protest, something may be done to get their husbands and sons back on the payroll, where they can make a living for themselves and their dependents.—Detroit Free Press.

CHURCH AND HITLER

According to a report published by the London Daily Sketch, Adolf Hitler will dissolve the Roman Catholic Church in Germany before the end of the year and proclaim himself chief of the German National Church. The report, mad as it may seem to some (there are over 30,000,000 Catholics in the German Reich), is by no means improbable. It may seem incredible that Hitler, desperately anxious to maintain the morale of his people and to buttress their support, should want to destroy the church of millions of Germans. Yet, whom the gods would destroy they first made mad.—Ottawa Journal.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And Jacob went out from Beersheba, and went toward Haran. And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night, because the sun was set: and he took of the stones of that place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to sleep. And he dreamed, and behold a ladder set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven; and behold the angels of God ascending and descending on it. And, behold, the Lord stood above it, and said, I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Isaac: the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed....

And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of.—Gen. xxvii, 30-32, 35, 41-43; xxviii, 10-13, 15.

Bible's Romance Is Told At Roseneath

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Nov. 14. — At the regular weekly meeting of the Y. P.U. a story of the romance of the translation, compiling, printing and distribution of the Bible in many tongues and lands was presented through moving pictures and lecture by Rev. Mr. Alincught, a representative of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Fred Lewis, president, introduced the speaker, Rev. William Stocks, rector of St. James' Anglican Church, brought a brief message, emphasizing the great need for the society.

With The Girl Guides

First Peterborough will resume meetings again this Wednesay in St. Andrew's Church basement, at six-thirty. I know you will be grateful to the minister, Dr. E. W. Young, and the board of managers who are so kindly allowing us the use of the rooms. For the first time in eight years we belong somewhere, not just an odd company with no background.

Second Company will shortly return to the Lyceum as soon as repairs are completed. Brownies will also meet at St. Andrew's on Saturday at two o'clock. (Please tell each other). They have been carrying on their meetings in spite of having no hall by going on nature walks. Brown Owl made them a fire and they had marshmallows and popcorn. Be sure to bring in all tickets for the doll at the next meeting.

Third St. George's played big sister in a real way to their Brownie Pack by taking them on a hike and supplying weiners and cocoa afterwards. Fourth S.A.G. held an enrolment ceremony, the last before Major N. Warrander leaves them. The following recruits were enrolled: Catherine Gurney, Peggy Finn and Jacqueline Drew. Second class badge was awarded to Dolly Frost. A presentation was made to Major Warrander on behalf of the Guides.

Did some of you Guides feel embarrassed, or like me, highly indignant when you read under Main Street Topics that we were not supposed to have been at the station on Friday night to meet Hon. A. E. Matthews? Well, the reporter was misinformed—the parade might have been cancelled, but the Guard of Honor of Scouts and Guides was not, and we were warmly thanked by Charles Shaw for braving the weather and being on hand. There was no question of being overlooked.—"The Scribe."

Raiding Parties "Made Contact"

Germany's censor did not give the locale of this scene that illustrates one manner of "making contact with the enemy. There has been little real fighting on the new Western front of this new European war; most of the action bing confined to forays by raiding parties of both sides seeking to take prisoners. What happens after prisoners are taken is seen here. Several French soldiers, at LEFT, have been captured and the German officer, RIGHT FOREGROUND, is gathering their personal effects. Maps and papers which might tell the Nazi leaders something about the enemy and his battle plans are the items sought in this search.

Three Accidents Occur At Tweed

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Nov. 14.—Between 5.15 and 6 o'clock on Saturday evening, a series of accidents were reported to Chief Constable J. C. Hayes, Tweed. Fortunately none resulted in serious injuries to the persons involved in them, although considerable damage resulted to some of the motor cars concerned.

Shortly after five o'clock an urgent call came to Chief Hayes and Dr. M. G. George that an accident had occurred on No. 37 highway a short distance north of Tweed. On proceeding to the spot, the police officer was unable to find any trace of either the car or cars involved, or their occupants. On investigation Constable Hayes learned that only one car, a small green truck, was concerned and that the injured passenger was in the truck which had apparently continued into Tweed.

While investigating a second accident which occurred a short time later two miles south of Tweed. Chief Hayes observed a small green truck pass the scene of the accident at a high rate of speed. The officer gave immediate chase and on overtaking the truck, arrested the driver John Richardson, and the injured passenger, Gerald Wycott, both of Trenton.

Wycott was found to have extensive head injuries and to be bleeding freely. On questioning them, it appears that Wycott had gotten out of the truck at a point north of Tweed, and had fallen sustaining the injuries referred to. The two men appeared before Mr. Charles H. Kerr, J.P., and were remanded in custody. The investigation is continuing.

In the second accident on Highway No. 37 two miles south of Tweed, near the foot of the sand hill, two cars were involved. Mr. Miller Johns, manager of the Tweed Hydro, was on his way to Belleville, when he was blinded by the lights of a passing motor car.

Failing to see a light delivery truck drawn up on the right side of the road for the purpose of discharging passengers, he crashed into it from the rear.

The third accident occurred also on No. 37 Highway a short distance north of Tweed, encountered a herd of cattle.

Mr. Rose's car was badly damaged but he was uninjured nor was any of the cattle seriously hurt.

Joseph Rochon, while proceeding east along the 4th Concession of the Township of Sidney on Sunday night struck a horse, that had been wandering at large along the side of the road. Following the collision, the horse galloped away, apparently unhurt. The animal was the property of George Tucker, farmer in the Township of Sidney.

Cleansing Of People's Hearts First Step Towards Victory

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Nov. 14. — Special memorial and intercessory prayers were offered at "Remembrance" services celebrated on Sunday in the Havelock United Church Two minutes silence was observed by the congregation and the Last Post and Reveille sounded by Bugler Grey Kemp. The junior choir, directed by Wm. Platt and with Miss K. Anderson as their pianist, sang the anthems and the older members of this group sang a two-part memorial number. Grouped around the altar rail were wreaths placed by the village organizations and church.

Preaching at the morning service on "Moral Rearmament," the Rev. Andrew McLauchlin said that the cleansing of our hearts was the first step towards victory and a just peace. The Christian and the Christian church are in the front line of war. This is the church's war, he said, and concerns Christians of all nations. To lead and marshall the spiritual forces of mankind would in the end be more effective than the frightfulness of "U-boats."

At the evening service, three anthems, a processional and recessional hymn were sung by the junior choir. Rev. McLauchlin's subject was "The Evangel in War Time." Outlining the message sent out by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America first, he then spoke of meetings held by the United Church in Kingston last week on the subject of his sermon. It was the conviction of that committee from seven Presbyteries that the Evangel never changes; there is only one Evangel but circumstances change. The Evangel for war-time must be the Evangel of the Grace of God, reaching down in love to those in need; the Evangel of Grace bringing Salvation in Christ. The Evangel of Forgiving Love, restoring broken fellowships; the Evangel of changed lives bringing in the Kingdom of God. These are the highlights of war-time Evangelism. Quoting Dr. W. E. Millson he told of efforts to provide spiritual care of the troops. "We as a church at home ought to put gospel into men that you could send them to the ends of the earth and they'd come back all right."

DAILY WAR SUMMARY

(By Canadian Press.)

Termination of the Finnish-Russian negotiations does not necessarily mean either the abandonment of Soviet demands on the northern republic or an immediate resource to force of arms. Secure in its great wealth and man-power the Soviet Union can wait and, without moving a man or a gun across the border, make things tough for the Finns.

It is not an easy thing for a small country to maintain its army on a war footing and keep its defences ready to meet an attack. By maintaining a constant threat a powerful nation can put a weaker one to expense and inconvenience which may in time wear down its resistance.

Prolonged Campaign of Intimidation Is Planned

The near future probably will bring a revelation as to Soviet intentions. Already, however, the Russian press has hinted at a prolonged campaign of intimidation and suggested Finland cannot stand present conditions for more than a few months.

Finland is not the only small neutral state on which the burden of keeping its defences in readiness bears heavily. The cost of maintaining the Swiss army in a state of mobilization is a severe burden on the treasury of that republic. Holland and Belgium are forced to maintain large numbers of men under arms and a considerable part of Holland is under martial law. Over a long period such measures put a severe strain not only on the resources of a small country but on the temper of the population.

When a country is actually at war there are compensations not present in a neutral state. The immediate sense of danger, intensified patriotic sentiments and the will to victory make it easier to bear the higher taxes, the restrictions on personal liberty and the interference with commerce which go with a condition of military preparedness.

Byrd Juggernaut Fate With Tide

BOSTON, Nov. 14—(AP). —With the aid of the tide, workmen sought to coax a 27-ton juggernaut — the giant snowmobile, Penguin I—aboard the motorship North Star today, in order to permit the United States Antartic Expedition to move out for the south.

Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the expedition's commander, and Dr. Thomas Poulter, designer of the snow cruiser, decided to try to manoeuvre the Penguin aboard the North Star under its own power, waiting until the tide left the vessel's deck level with the dock.

Ten feet of the cruiser's rear end was sliced off with acetylene torches so that the ponderous machine could be stowed on deck and fastened securely. The severed part will be rewelded in the Antarctic.

The Penguin, piloted by Dr. Poulter, reached Boston yesterday after a troublous 1,020-mile trip along the highways from Chicago.

WAR RELIEF

National Red Cross War Drive

FOR $3,000,000

HOW is this money to be spent? The charter of the Canadian Red Cross Society sets out the objects of this great cause as follows:

"In times of peace or war to carry on and assist in work for the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world."

Last year the sum of $1,000,000.00 was collected to finance the peace-time work of the Society. Today, because of the greater needs of war, three times that amount must be raised. Peacetime activities cannot be neglected and the programme of war relief must be initiated at once.

Consideration of the many aspects of Red Cross work in 1914-1918 gives some indication of the programme that will have to be undertaken in the present war.

HOSPITALS AND NURSES

Hospitals must be built and equipped in England and France to care for the Canadian sick and wounded. During the last war the Canadian Red Cross built and equipped (wholly or in part) hospitals at Taplow, Bushey Park, Ramsgate, Bexhill and Buxton in England; built and equipped one of the largest military hospitals in France; and established a depot in Boulogne for Canadian hospitals.

AMBULANCES

From 1914 to 1918 the Canadian Red Cross provided scores of ambulances to convey the sick and wounded in France and England.

MOTOR LORRIES

The Canadian Red Cross in France maintained a service of motor lorries to ensure the conveyance of Red Cross supplies with the greatest possible dispatch wherever needed.

SURGICAL SUPPLIES AND MEDICINES

X-Ray equipment, surgical apparatus, supplies and dressings must be purchased almost immediately. During the last war, 147,270 cases of supplies were sent to hospital units in England, in addition to supplies for hospitals in France. £2500 was contributed to equip a ward in the St. John Ambulance Brigade Hospital at Etaples in France.

FOOD AND COMFORTS

Again the Red Cross wishes to be able to send socks, cigarettes and other comforts to the front. During the last war, 341,325 cases of supplies were sent overseas. The Society sent sixty pounds of food per month to every Canadian prisoner of war, in addition to tobacco, medical supplies, clothing and books.

INFORMATION BUREAU

The Information Bureau set up at the London office rendered personal services to thousands of soldiers. Hospital visitors supplied Canadian patients with extra comforts and entertainments and reported their progress to relatives at home, and their needs to the Society. The Enquiry Department constantly searched for news of "missing" men to relieve the suspense of distant relatives.

A corps of voluntary workers will make a canvass of as many donors as possible during this drive. If one of these workers fails to get in touch with you, send in your contribution to your local Red Cross Branch. Give big-heartedly.

Britain To Purchase All Canada's Copper

LONDON, ..ov. 13.—(CP Cable)—It was authoritatively learned today that almost the entire Empire production of copper, lead and zinc will be acquired from producers on behalf of the Government during the war period.

A non-ferrous metal control organization will be in charge of this operation. Prices ruling when the war began will be paid. Lead and zinc are vital metals in armaments production.

It had been previously announced that the United Kingdom would take from Canada the entire supply of these metals over Canada's own needs.

BIG BOWEL worst offender!

Make Sure Your Laxative Works Where Body Waste Jams-Up.

In most cases, the constipation that makes you dull, draggy and headachy occurs in the big bowel (marked X), right when body waste has travelled almost to the point where bowels should m-o-v-e. To help you fast, all a laxative has to do is move that waste those last few inches. So why take doses like calomel that work on the other end of the bowels, salts that flush their way through, or oils that act in the small intestine? Instead, depend on CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS!

Because they contain cascara, said to give "nearest to natural action" of any cathartic, CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS do their work in the big bowel, effectively cleansing it and moving jammed-up waste in 10 to 12 hours. Thus they have you feeling better overnight. And each foil-wrapped tablet is a gentle dose, as tasty as chocolate candy. All drugstores, or for free sample, write "Cascarets," Windsor.

Mrs. Herrick added that Eileen might be twenty in years, but that she was "seventeen mentally and emotionally." Herrick said the parents asked their daughter ten days ago to invite George to the Herrick home, but Eileen declined.

"George won't come here," they quoted her.

"Is or is not George Lowther welcome in your home?" Herrick was asked.

"Welcome. Well, he has been asked to come," Herrick said.

After the writ was granted, Herrick said he was a lawyer himself and that he would protest the writ on the ground there was insufficient evidence to support it.

The Herricks were told that Lowther contended the young lady was being "confined, imprisoned and restrained against her wish."

Lowther told the court he would produce witnesses who would testify that Miss Herrick had said she would marry him if she could obtain her freedom.

Russia Wages Press War

MOSCOW, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Russia waged a campaign of "press pressure" upon Finland today after disclosure of widespread Russian naval demands upon the Finns.

Soviet newspapers printed a long official news agency dispatch from Helsingfors painting a gloomy picture of conditions there and predicting the Finnish government would reject Russian "offers."

The dispatch alleged there had been frequent conflict between the men of the regular Finnish army and reservists because the reservists favored agreement with Moscow.

The news agency, Tass, predicted the Finns could not stand the economic and financial strain of the present situation "longer than from four to seven months."

German-Born Man Seeks Citizenship

LONDON, Nov. 14 — (CP Cable)—German-born Albert Max Sammett's application for Canadian citizenship was adjourned indefinitely today after Crown Attorney Norman Newton suggested Nazis might force him to do "certain things" in Canada to ensure the welfare of his family still living in Germany.

"If Germany tried to force you to do certain things on the pain of something happening to your wife and daughter, would you feel you had to do something to protect them?" asked the Crown in the first naturalization court to be held since the outbreak of the war.

As French Liner Went Down After U-Boat Attack

Mortally hit by a German torpedo, the French liner Bretagne is shown sinking, somewhere in the Atlantic. It was reported that 14 persons lost their lives in the torpedoing of the liner, which was en route from the West Indies with 124 passengers. Officers of the Bretagne said that the submarine fired on the lifeboats that were taking the passengers from the stricken ship. Although the sinking took place last month, the photo has just been released and was radioed from London to New York.

From Lower Deck To The Admiral Is Rugged Climb

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

PORTSMOUTH, England, Nov. 14.—(CP).—Working on the theory every sailor has an admiral's cocked hat in his knit-bag, the Admiralty is selecting lower deck men for commissions and thus have revived the ancient and honorable status of "upper-yard men."

In the days of Nelson the "upper-yard men" were the select band who handled the difficult job of tending the canvas on the highest spars. This called for special talent and lots of pluck. Sailors in this rank were a privileged company.

Nowadays the "upper-yard men" are the specially bright sailors who seem good officer prospects. They are hand-picked and sent to a depot where they begin the long climb to the admiral's deck. Just now, 47 of them, chosen from the whole fleet, are taking their course here. The course lasts nine months.

Here is how the selection is made: First the sailor has to obtain a recommendation from his commanding officer. Then when he is any age from 19 to 23 he goes before a board of senior officers who pass him on to the school at Portsmouth where he learns not only seamanship and technical knowledge, but is taught to lead and command.

Have Second Chance.

After they have passed a stiff examination, candidates face a final board of an admiral and two captains who go through his records and talk to him. Successful candidates are recommended to the Admiralty for a commission.

Those who do not immediately make the grade become warrant officers with yet another chance of becoming officers in two years.

The plan has been in operation three years. Seventeen passed in the first year, and last year the number was increased to 24. The rate of failure is two in 10.

A typical day at the school will find some poring over abstruse books on navigation in their school rooms, while others, out on the barrack square, are drilling newly-joined men from the Royal Naval Reserve.

The naval correspondent of the Manchester Guardian recalls that promotion to commissioned rank, on which Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, recently made a statement in the House of Commons, has always been one of Mr. Churchill's pet scheme for the Navy. Twenty-seven years ago he introduced the original "mate" scheme, under which the way was open for the "boy, first class" to become an admiral.

It worked fairly well, says The Guardian correspondent, and there are to-day active service men who have reached the rank of captain —the anteroom, as it were, to admiral's rank—from the lower deck.

"We must not forget that Canada would be th richest prize on the face of the globe for any congested country to win. Imagine the joy of Hitler could he possess such a country as ours to which to send his excess population."

The Conservative leader cautioned against assuming that the Atlantic Ocean made Canada invulnerable to attack. If Britain and France were defeated, Canada would be quite vulnerable, he said.

Crews Sink 2 German Ships

The Admiralty last night announced the sinking of two German freighters by British warships after the vessels had been scuttled by their crews.

The announcement came soon after a statement that four Nazi planes were driven off the Shetland Islands without having inflicted serious damage. Bombs dropped by the Germans either fell in the sea or blasted holes in the ground without destroying any property.

"The German steamships Mecklenburg, 8,000 tons, and Parana, 6,000 tons, have been intercepted by British warships," said an Admiralty communique. "The crews abandoned their ships, leaving them in a sinking condition.

"After the crews had been picked up by our warships the two ships were finally sunk by gunfire to avoid any chance of their being a danger to navigation."

The positions of the German ships were not disclosed but Reuters news agency in a dispatch from Reykjavik, Iceland, had said the Parana sent out an appeal for aid, saying she was under attack by a British destroyer.

There were two raids on the Shetlands, the Admiralty said. Apparently German bombers were seeking to attack naval property on the islands, which lie to the north of Scotland.

Three British patrol planes chased a lone German machine off the east coast of Britain during yesterday but it escaped in clouds after the British machines raked it with machine-gun bullets from close range.

35 Shot Down

It was estimated at least 35 German planes had been destroyed by the Royal Air Force, ground fire or the guns of the navy since the war started. The total is probably closer to 50 if account is taken of German losses to British arms on the western front.

The German air force has attempted many reconnaissance flights along the British coastline but apart from the Firth of Forth raid and one or two single flights over Scotland, they have never been far inland. Although British planes have mapped hundreds of square miles of German territory from the air, particular the industrial area of the Rhur, no German plane has been over the industrial sections of Britain.

A Royal Air Force plane attacked a submarine Sunday, it was disclosed and the pilot believed he made a direct hit with one of his salvo of bombs.

There were two losses of British ships during the day. The 1,346-ton merchant vessel Ponzano sank off the southeast coast after an explosion, without loss of life.

The 7,745-ton steamship Sirdhana went down near Singapore, sinking within 15 minutes after striking a mine. Eleven persons, Chinese or other Asiatics, were reported drowned and nine others missing. An investigation was being held.

Dartford People Have Shower For New Bride

Fastest Airplane To Exceed 500 mph

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Nov. 14.—(AP). — The fastest airplane yet built powered by the most efficient air-cooled engines will emerge soon from the laboratories of the United States National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, research workers here said today.

A new knife-like wing, a military secret, will enable an airplane to fly at speeds of 500 miles or more because it will nearly eliminate the "shock wave" which develops on a wing surface when the plane's speed approaches the speed of sound (about 740 miles an hour).

The new engine will have three times the power of present engines.

Medical Missionary At Roseneath Tells Of Healing Advances In India

ROSENEATH, Nov. 14.—Dr. Alice Anderson, medical missionary, Indore, India, at present on furlough, was the guest speaker at the W.M.S. thank offering service held in the United church Sunday morning. She dwelt chiefly with the medical phase of the work. She said the first medical women went to India from the United States in 1869, and there are now hospitals in seven mission stations, and one large dispensary. Six hospitals are staffed with W.M.S. women, and one hospital has a native Indian medical woman who was a delegate to the Madras conference.

All Castes Equal.

Women of all castes are patients and all are treated equally well. Christian hospitals have training schools for nurses, and the majority of nurses in India are graduates of them. This is valuable, not only from the standpoint of healing, but because India needs to be taught the lesson of Christian service, she said.

In conclusion Dr. Anderson said "the world to-day needs that Christian friendship that the Christian church is trying to take to other lands."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Delbert Brisbin, first vice-president, and Mrs. A. Halstead, second vice-president, read the lesson. The Mission Circle assisted by Miss Margaret and Ambrose and Sidney Atkinson rendered appropriate music. A chorus was sung, with Miss Shirley Brisbin and Sidney Atkinson taking the duet portion. A solo was sung by Miss Margaret Atkinson.

Bancroft Church Is Destroyed

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BANCROFT, Nov. 14.—Fire here this mornig reduced to a scarred shell the Roman Catholic church of Our Lady of Mercy, of which Rev. L. J. Kelly is parish priest.

A woman living nearby saw smoke coming from windows about 10 o'clock. She gave the alarm, and a volunteer fire brigade assisted by many other men of the village fought the flames until they were brought under control.

The building was of clapboard construction, and was so deeply burned that men reported the roof and walls likely to collapse under their remnant weight. It was believed that the fire started in the basement, but there was no exact information as to the cause. Most of the contents were saved.

W.E.A. Lectures Start For Year

Eric Morse of Trinity College School, Port Hope, quoted Metternich's aphorism and clue of purpose "Self Interest never lies" in his first lecture to the Workers' Educational Association at the Collegiate Institute last night. Arthur B. Burrows, president, was chairman, and some twenty members were present.

Mr. Morse's subject in his series on current international questions was "Britain, France and the Western Mediterannean." The traditional policy of Great Britain in European affairs embraced the maintenance of the integrity of the Low Countries, balance of power and naval dominance. Paramount French interests were the security of her frontiers and protection of her life line to Africa.

The rise of Adolf Hitler to power in Germany caused divergent reactions in Great Britain and France because their interests were differently affected. France was disturbed and agitated by the new menace along her western boundary. Britain was comparatively calm, following a policy of peace at any price,—until the Munich affairs disclosed the intentions of Hitler, and French and British attitudes reached a common ground.

The Association's next meeting will be on Monday, November 20, for a general discussion on municipal subjects, and the next lecture by Mr. Morse will be Monday evening, December 4.

Radio Owners Fined $5.75

"It would be just as well for the public to understand that in these cases I have power to impose a fine of $25," said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning in dealing with a number of charges laid under the Radio Act. "There is also provision," he added, "for confiscation of the radio receiving set."

Three Lakefield residents, Mel Kingdon, Max Smith and J. J. McFadden, entered written pleas of guilty to charges laid by Radio Inspectors Victor J. R. Bristow and Edward Leslie, that they had operated radio receiving sets without the required license.

Fines of $3 and costs amounting to $2.75 were imposed in each case. Magistrate Langley stated that these were not flagrant cases and then added the warning that he had power to impose a much more severe sentence.

Several other similar cases were adjourned until next week. In one, Inspector Bristow stated, a license dated on the day prior to the issue of the summons had been produced.

"We want to check up on that," he explained. "We have had cases in which the licenses were dated back."

The radio official added that they were lenient in dealing with cases under the Act and took no action so long as a license had been procured before they happened to drop around.

Miss Mary Strickland Passes In Toronto

The funeral of Mary (Minnie) Strickland of Toronto was held this afternoon in Toronto and interment was made at St. James' cemetery.

She was 81 years old at the time of her death, which occurred at St. Michael's hospital in Toronto on Sunday, and had lived in Peterborough until about 10 years ago. Only surviving member of her family is a sister, Mrs. Emma Barlee in Grand Forks, British Columbia. Interment was made at St. James' cemetery, Toronto.

Assault Witness Fails To Appear

The absence of a material witness resulted in three cases of assault on the docket for this morning's police court being adjourned until this afternoon and possibly in the whole lineup being subsequently adjourned to a special court to be held at Apsley.

Harry Clapper, 56, and his son, Joseph Clapper, 36, both of Bethany, were charged with assaulting Harry Buott, 35, Apsley woodcutter, occasioning actual bodily harm, at a camp in Australfier township. They had previously pleaded not guilty. Buott faced a charge of having assaulted the younger Clapper, occasioning actual bodily harm, on the same occasion and he too entered a plea of not guilty.

Then came the discovery that one James Davis, subpoenaed last Saturday as a witness, was not on hand. The Clappers wanted him as a witness for the defence in the two cases in which they were charged and the Crown needed him for the case against Buott. Accordingly Magistrate Langley adjourned court for half an hour in the hope that he might turn up. There was no Mr. Davis in sight at the end of the recess and the cases went over until this afternoon, with the Magistrate intimating that if the witness still failed to put in an appearance there would be a change of venue to Apsley.

Using color reels Mr. Inrig portrayed much to show the various nations represented at the gathering, the day-to-day life of the missionaries in their various stations, the hospitals and the manner in which natives are being trained. In the schools conducted at the various missions the native children were shown and also a number of the simple games they played for amusement. Other pictures gave adequate idea of the difficulty of travelling in some of the sections, particularly when going to the mountain country where neither bicycle nor auto can be used. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe presided and thanked Mr. Inrig for the pleasure and information he had given the audience.

Hastings County Lumber Firms Market Annually 2,000,000 Feet Of Lumber

Two million feet of lumber a year are marketed by Martin Brothers' Lumber Company of Baptiste Lake, Hastings county, according to a recent sketch of the company in the Canadian Lumberman. Most of their output is birch, basswood and maple.

The mill is a circular steam feed, with a capacity of about 20,000 feet per day, and was built in 1938. It is on the shores of Lake Baptiste, and the firm has piling space for 3,000,000 feet of lumber between that and the C.N. and I.B. and O. Railway. The siding is known as Hughes' siding and has a capacity of ten to twelve cars, being eight miles west of Bancroft. The logs are brought down to the mill by a steam tug, the hardwood in cribs and the softwood in booms. The tow is approximately 18 miles and the tug makes a trip each day while the mill operates.

Most of their product is turned out at their own mill, but they also have contracted for the output of six portable mills this season. They report that the prospects for the coming year are very good.

DONATE TO RED CROSS

Members of the Peterborough police department have made a donation of $25 toward the local Red Cross Fund.

Gang Attacks Not Smart Youths Told

"There was nothing very creditable in what you did," said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning to three young men who had pleaded guilty to assaulting police while the latter were in the execution of their duties.

The three, Ernest Smith, who had previously entered a plea of guilty to having assaulted both Constables C. J. McGillen and W. A. Clarke, and James Roach and John Phelan, who pleaded guilty this morning to an assault upon Constable McGillen, were allowed to go on two years' suspended sentence.

John A. Bradshaw, who appeared for them, said that his clients had never got into trouble before and had had clean records. He pleaded for suspended sentence.

"I am not much in favor of suspended sentence in cases of assaulting the police," said the Magistrate. "However, in this case I do not think the officers were very badly injured. These men were probably more hurt than were the police."

"They were, Your Worship," said Mr. Bradshaw.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., said that he was satisfied with suspended sentence. "These young men have no previous record," he said. "There is a matter of a set of broken handcuffs and they have agreed to make restitution."

After the three had been given suspended sentence on their own bond for $250, Magistrate Langley reminded them that the offence with which they were charged was a serious one. It was the attitude of all courts that police officers should be protected against that sort of thing.

"Aside altogether from the law, you did a risky thing in fighting with police officers," he said. "They are big men and taught how to handle themselves. There is nothing particularly smart in gang attacks. Two hundred men could beat up the whole police force."

Kresge Company To Enlarge Store

Plans of the S. S. Kresge Company to extend their store at Simcoe and George Streets to the limit of the ground floor of the building is expected to cause several other main street changes early in the New Year.

Growth of the Kresge business, it was reported to-day, requires the company to absorb their premises now occupied by Ed. Riley's Society Brand and men's wear store, but it was said that his lease has been extended until the first of April to afford him time to obtain a new location. Kresge Company had intended to begin their alterations at the beginning of January.

Airplane Dropped Pamphlets Doubted

Police have heard nothing official about the rumored distribution of disloyal pamphlets in Peterborough on Sunday, allegedly from an airplane which passed over the city but have had reports of citizens who are supposed to have seen the pamphlets, although none of the latter have been turned over to the police.

A black plane did fly over Peterborough Sunday but there have been no witnesses come forward to say tha tthey saw the offending literature fluttering down from the sky. The hand bills which are said to have been apparently printed on a crude pres sand to bear the Swastika emblem were supposed to have been headed "Down with Democracy."

The authorities do not put much stock in the story that the propaganda was dropped from a plane. If pamphlets were put into circulation here they are inclined to believe that some other method was used.

Ministers To Debate Chaplaincy Service

The committee of evangelism and social service of the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church, met recently in the Y. M. C. A. to prepare its report for the Presbytery meeting which will be held in St. James church next Thursday.

Negro Singers To Give Concert

One of the South's great negro choirs, the Wooding Southland Singers, will be in Peterborough on Friday to thrill an audience here as they have done in countless cities in the United States.

The concert, to be held at the Collegiate Auditorium, is under the auspices of the Y's Men's Club of the Y.M.C.A., and proceeds will be used to buy shoes for needy school children. The club's method of raising money for such a worthy purpose is one that will give every contributor an evening of musical pleasure while at the same time contributing to the welfare of needy youngsters.

The Wooding Singers are famed from coast to coast as singers of negro spirituals, plantation melodies, American folk songs, and modern rhythmic songs. They are a great choral organization who have won the applause of great music critics in many centres. The Art Club of Philadelphia, the Mutual Network, and a number of others have all given lavish praise. The Brooklyn Academy of Music has this to say for them: "It is truly the great choir of to-morrow. Conductor of the choir is Samuel Wooding, who for eight years led an orchestra that made its appearance before such notables at King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain, the Duke of Windsor, Prince Carol of Sweden, King Carol of Roumania, and high officials of Soviet Russia. He returned to the United States five years ago and has since been studying at the Teachers' College of Temple University.

The history of the choir is one of a struggle to escape from unemployment—a struggle that has won for this continent another great musical voice. All members are young negro men and women who have completed study at either high schools, Normal schools, or universities. When economic conditions forced them into positions as unskilled laborers, they took to singing and gradually built up their great organization.

Fairman's Condition Remains Critical

HASTINGS, Nov. 14.—Injured at Camp Borden last week, Gordon Fairman of Hastings was reported slightly improved yesterday although his condition remains serious. He is suffering a broken jaw, four fractured ribs and the main injury of a punctured lung in addition to minor injuries. He was thrown from a fire truck as it was rushing to a fire within the airport grounds. Gordon enlisted with the R.C.A.F. last spring as a mechanic but, when injured, he was acting as a member of the volunteer fire brigade. He was immediately removed to Christie Street Hospital in Toronto.

Industry Booming

JERUSALEM, Nov. 14. —(CP-Havas)—Palestine's war chemicals industry is booming. Potassium works on the Dead Sea have been expanded to meet the increasing Allied demand. They produce chlorine, sodium, potassium, lye, and magesium salts used in anti-gas powder.

Mrs. F.L. Robbins Of Jack's Lake Dies In Apsley

Mistress for many years of a broad estate of natural beauty at Jack's Lake in the northeastern section of the county, Mrs. Helen Gill Robbins died at Apsley Saturday evening after a brief illness, and was buried this afternoon at Lakefield.

Mrs. Robbins was the widow of Francis L. Robbins, prominent coal mining operator and president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, who died twenty-eight years ago.

More than forty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Robbins came to Peterborough county on a vacation trip. They were among the first summer visitors from the United States to penetrate the northern area of the county at a time when travel was comparatively slow and difficult. They were so attracted by the beauty of Jack's Lake that they gradually extended their earliest purchase of property until they owned all its islands and a large part of the mainland. Mr. Robbins built a lodge on a long point of the shore, and for years he and Mrs. Robbins spent their summer vacations there.

It is understood that Mrs. Robbins retained possession of virtually all of the original property acquired by her husband, most of it coming into his possession with deeds from the Crown.

Mrs. D. S. Wolcott, Colonial Village, Wayne, Pa., a niece, and Gill McCook of New York, have been in Peterborough several days arranging for the funeral of Mrs. Robbins. Because of her long attachment to the Peterborough-Apsley section of the county, in which she was well known, it was decided that the funeral be held this afternoon to the cemetery at Lakefield.

Driver Pleads Guilty To Theft

Clarence Harrison, former driver for the Canadian General Electric Company, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having stolen a number of electric motors and a quantity of electric cable and wire from the company.

At the request of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., he was remanded until Monday next for sentence.

Harrison was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair, who told the court that his client elected summary trial.

Thomas and Harold Wynne, who had previously pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods, were also remanded until Monday, when Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., will pass sentence on all three.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Without making this sound too much like an obituary — there's a special column for such sad news in another section of the paper — we might deal briefly with the late lamented Orfuns ere burying 'em for the year. They came to an untimely end in Montreal on Saturday, passing away peacefully from an attack of Westmountitis. They had been ailing off and on all autumn and the finish was not unexpected. Rigor mortis set in on the date set by all Eastern experts. Oddly enough, it came on Armistice Day. A post mortem may not help much but can't do any harm, either. What ailed the local gridders in senior O.R.F.U. competition? Why couldn't they win a game in the '39 season? What is needed for next year?

* * * * * *

In our opinion, what ailed the Orfuns was simply that they were slightly outclassed all season. Nothing wrong with the players nor coaching, but the lads lacked several senior imports—key men who would have made 'em a real contender. Also they got off to a too late start. The Orfuns didn't make a bad showing, but they didn't do too well, either. In six games, they looked quite smart three times—games they might easily have won. We mean their two tilts with Beaches and the one with Sarnia here. Their other three tussles saw the locals turn in a rather sorry showing. After all, this was the second of their three-year grid plan and they didn't win a game—something they had done the first season. The squad looked better in '39 than a year ago, but all that the records show is a winless season.

* * * * * *

Minus Scoring Punch

There were some good players on the Peterborough rugby squad this semester, half a dozen first-class seniors. Some others who were average senior calibre—such as every good club carries—and the rest good intermediates. We have no knocks against any of the uniformed warriors, they all gave their best and it was pretty good. But the club needed at least two or three starry imports. A plunging back like Burns, a runner like Thompson—see what we mean? The Orfuns' scoring record was most anemic this year, whereas they didn't do a bad chore defensively, at all. Team was young and full of fight but just lacked that scoring punch which wins games. Next season—if the Orfuns are still in the senior O.R.F.U.—the squad should be bolstered by several top gridders from other centres and the team should name its coach early and get into heavy drills two or three weeks earlier than was the case this year.

* * * * * *

Executive officers usually get criticized when the team makes an indifferent showing—and the Orfuns didn't exactly prove a strong contender in 1939. But the officials did what they deemed right. They put plenty of time and honest effort into their job and shouldn't be blamed. Except that we'd suggest they aid the local talent next fall with several outside key men. Of course, injuries to such stars as Harry Marsh, Earl Spencely, Pup Curtin, Joe McNulty and Johnny Shields, didn't help the squad this time—but injuries are part of the game. The fans supported the club well this year and in turn saw two fine home tilts out of three. So, taken all around, the Orfuns had a fair year and should know now—even those gallant young first-year huskies—what is required for another campaign.

* * * * * *

The Coach Did Okay

We couldn't close this discourse without a word about Coach H. L. Bamforth. In his first senior O.R.F.U. mentoring task, Mr. Bamforth did fine. Starting late, he rounded up a team which kept improving every time out. He made absolutely the most of his material—and, in fact, was responsible for getting such players out as Curly Krug, Les Ascott, Haig Kelly and others—and no one could reasonably ask for more than he did. Given a few more ace gridders and an earlier start next year, and Coach Bamforth would in all likelihood put the team into the playoffs.

* * * * * *

Montreal Star account of the Saturday struggle says the Orfuns put up a game showing but were overpowered by a strong Westmount team, one that returned to form after a week of hard drilling. "Hendren, Ascott and McPherson," says the story, "were plenty tough for the losers, and flanked by E. Spencely and Kelly, put up a game but losing battle. Crowe, Krug, Leether and Jackson were the pick of the Petes' backfield. Ascott, Krug and Ouimet all met injuries, while the Mounties escaped with a few minor cuts and bruises." We don't believe any of the locals suffered serious hurts; at least, none have been reported here.

It Will Be In Sarnia

Secretary Harold Bailey of the O.R.F.U. has ordered the first of the two-game senior playoff series to be staged Saturday in Sarnia. Both Imps and Westmounts asked to have the opener on the other fellow's field, but the Montrealers finished on top of the heap and had the right to name the spot. Total points will count, winner to meet the Argos-Ottawa victor in Eastern Canada finals. Incidentally, the luckless Beaches have never won a game in Sarnia—the Tunnel Town being No. 1 jinx town for Alex Ponton's pack from Toronto.

Six squads entered the VanHorne Cup puck series which opens tomorrow in Kingston. They include Trenton Fliers, Kingston Artillery, Kingston Signals, Queen's University, Smiths Falls and Belleville Redmen. The latter club, with but on practice, has to start on Wednesday—and Eddie Thomas thinks he's getting the well-known works. Each plays the other club once and then four go into playoffs. It is reported that there are so many pucksists at the Airport now that two clubs may be operated in the O.H.A., a senior "B" squad and maybe an intermediate or junior team. Laurie Gibson, Fliers' goalie—who may not be between the pipes this season—is mentioned as possible coach of the second team at the Airport. Belleville has a couple of imports this semester, too.

Big Defenceman Given Gate For Hitting Ref.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 14—In the fastest and most exciting hockey game seen here in ten years, Niagara Falls Cataracts dropped a 4 to 3 overtime decision to Port Colborne when the Senior O.H.A. season was ushered in here last night.

It was a case of too much Bastien. The losers commanded the play for three-quarters of the distance, but found the Sailor netminder like a stone wall. Twice Cataracts came from behind. They collected a pair of counters in the second stanza to overcome a two-goal margin, and also came through with their third marker in the overtime to again catch the visiting crew, but despite their many close-in excursions on the North Bay boy, they were unable to collect any further tallies.

Scores First.

The opening frame was only three minutes old when Vince Upper lofted a long one from outside the blue line to put the Tars ahead. Two-thirds of the way through frame two, Goney McGowan put his club further ahead on a goalmouth pass from Fitzgerald. Eddie McCracken netted the first Falls' tally at the 16-minute mark, and five seconds later Tony Pavone evened the count.

No further tallying occurred until the overtime, when LaRoche netted for Sailors after play had advanced to nearly the 4-minute mark, but Art Stuart's individual rush brought the rubber to the goalmouth and Pavone sunk it home, but just pass the 7-minute time McKelvie, former Toronto junior, drove the decider past Zimmerman. At this stage Jack Astle, big Cataract rearguardian, was given a match-misconduct for striking Referee Jackson with his stick.

Sharing the spotlight with Bastien was Lahoche and Lloyd Fitzgerald, while Ray Zimmerman Eddie McCracken and Art Stuart, weer the home luminaries.

Georgie Pace Floors Opponent In First Then Goes Another Round For Spectators

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14—(AP).—Dusky Georgie Pace, new bantamweight boxing king, aims to please.

Last night he knocked out Bobby Docherty, of Toronto, in one minute and 34 seconds.

But Colonel Alfred Ballin, chairman of the city boxing commission, suggested to Tom Stanley, Pace's manager, that the fight be resumed to give the customers "a run for thir money."

"It ended too quickly,' he added. "Certainly,' said Stanley, a crowd pleaser, too.'

Docherty was willing and the fight renewed where it had left off in the first round. The Canadian weathered that period, but Pace nailed him flush on the chin after 34 seconds of the second round.

Docherty took the count again and everyone decided that he had had enough and they had had enough.

MOROZ AND BURNS TOP SCORERS IN EASTERN RUGBY LEAGUE

Shore To Play With Bruins Against Hawks

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Sports Writer.)

The fascinating case of Eddie Shore's retirement plans versus the notions of the Boston hockey public seems to be coming to a head rapidly. Something of the future of the affair may be indicated tonight when Shore lines up with the Bruins in Boston again, contrary to original plans, against Chicago Black Hawks.

Without Shore, the world champion Bruins have lost their first two games of the National League season. If they win with him, it's going to be hard for Manager Art Ross to let Eddie go back to his job of supervising the Springfield team in the International-American league.

When Shore bought the Springfield club this year, he reached an agreement whereby he would play no road games for Boston during the schedule and no home games before December 15. He was to get $200 for each appearance with the Bruins.

Well, Shore will be in the lineup tonight when the world champions seek their first victory of the season.

He has come back—voluntarily, Ross says—because of an injury to defenceman Jack Crawford. Whether he can go away so voluntarily is another matter.

Shore was a holdout at the start of the last season and when he failed to appear for the first home contest the fans shouted "we want Shore" until even the band in Boston Garden was drowned out. Shore soon came back ,and on the April night the Bruins won the Stanley cup, the customers cried "we want Shore" until old Eddie came from the dressing room to take bow after bow.

If Ross can find a way to make the people stop yelling "we want Shore," his problem will be solved.

Perhaps Crawford's elbow injury will keep him out until December 15, when Shore would be back for home games anyaway. But if the club goes into a dive on the road, the folks in the Hub won't be silent in their belief that Ross ought to induce Eddie to get back in for all the games.

Propose Games Go 9 Innings

DURHAM, N.C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Bob-tailed doubleheaders would be eliminated under an amendment upon which the minor baseball leagues will vote at their convention in Cincinnati Dec. 4.

A list of proposed amendments was made public by William G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, yesterday.

Under the doubleheader amendment, the first game of all twin bills and all so-called twilight doubleheaders would have to be nine innings.

Another proposed amendment would make it illegal for the home club to call off any game, because of the condition of the field, more than 15 minutes prior to game time, unless the visiting club should consent in writing.

Bimelech's Real Test When Tried On Muddy Track

By HOWARD BARRY
Central Press Canadian Turf Writer.

E. R. Bradley's Bimelech has now demonstrated that he can do just about everything asked of a horse except run on a muddy track. Maybe he can do that, too, but he hasn't proved it. The fact that he has been scratched at times for the avowed purpose of avoiding heavy going would indicate that his owner believes he is primarily suited for a dry track.

Inasmuch as it sometimes rains on Derby day at Churchill Downs, it would have been of great interest to learn something of Bimelech's mud-running ability before he takes his place as the winter book favorite for the Derby. If he had shown a knack for it before retiring for the season there would be every reason to expect that he would be one of the shortest-priced horses in the history of the Derby future books. As it is, the folks will have to take it for granted that he can't run in the mud, which will mean that anyone who backs him will be taking a chance on dry weather for Derby day.

Those who are familiar with the weather of the Kentucky spring would look upon such a proposition as quite a gamble. If the usual April rains fall Bimelech's capabilities should be well known before May 4, when he will be expected to run in the richest Kentucky Derby of all time.

In all probability he will be worked into condition on the private training track at Idle Hour farm, near Lexington, and will be vanned over to Keeneland for one or two trial races before going to Churchill Downs. One of his objectives may be Keeneland's Blue Grass Stakes, which brought out Heather Broom, the third-place horse in last spring's Derby.

Bimelech's most recent performance, a victory in the Pimlico Futurity, gave him an even more impressive record than that which El chico made in winning last year's juvenile championship. Although El Chico scored seven consecutive victories against six for Bimelech, the former never was asked to go a distance comparable to the 1 1-6 miles of the Pimlico Futurity.

As things worked out, El Chico's inability to go a route was the weak point in his make-up. His tremendous early speed proved useless again and again when he went up against three-year-olds over the longer routes.

Bimelech, on the other hand, drew clear with great ease in the late stages of the Pimlico Futurity. He won by four lengths, requiring only two-fifths of a second more than the stake record to accomplish his task. In earlier races he proved that he is able to overcome considerable obstacles and still win. He was blocked badly in the Hopeful Stakes and was forced to make up nearly eight lengths from the quarter pole home. But he did it and got up in time to beat Andy K by a neck.

Don Deacon, Hockey's Problem Child Is Due For Another Chance In Big League Company

DETROIT, Nov. 14.—(CP)—Don Deacon, hockey's problem child, will be back in the National Hockey League within a week, Manager Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings said today he plans to promote Deacon from the Wings farm club, Indianapolis Capitols, to the Wings after their next game against the New York Americans Tuesday.

Deacon has set something of a record for jumping from the International-American Hockey League to the N. H. L. and then dropping back again. In the minor league he has been a consistent star. Last year he set a league record for points scored. Adams, for the third straight year, predicted Deacon would start the season with the Wings, but for the third straight year Deacon failed to make the grade.

This year Deacon was delegated to the minor league club because he broke training during the preseason exhibition series. Adams, who refuses to permit his players to drink even a bottle of beer after a hard game dropped him immediately after the rules violation.

But Adams is going to give Deacon another chance. "I still think that boy is a big-leaguer," Adams said. "We could use him as the fifteenth man, principally on power plays."

Adams isn't sure who will be dropped to the Capitals, but it will be Hec Kilrea, Centre Syd Abel or Left-winger Jack Keating.

Deacon broke into hockey with his home-town's team, the Regina Pats, in 1930. He has played for Prince Albert (Sask.) Mintos, the former Detroit Olympics when they won the International League title; the Pittsburg Hornets, and is now with Indianapolis.

The visiting squad carried the game for two quarters, when half-back Jack Sinclair stepped in and rescued the match for Varsity.

Sarnia Player Always Ahead During Season

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—(CP).— It was no surprise at all to find Bernie Moroz had won the East's individual scoring championship when the Canadian Press finished compiling football statistics last night. The Sarnia half back, with a total of 36, was always in front and he didn't need the one point he picked up Saturday when the regular scehdules finished.

In second place with 26 came Tommy Burns of Montreal Westmounts, another Ontario Rugby Football Union club while Buster (Red) Storey of Toronto Argos was third with 25. Burns and Storey led the touchdown scorers with five each.

Moroz, a former Windsor lad, did'nt collect one point last year when Hugh (Bummer) Stirling also of Sarnia won the honors with a total of 42. His great kicking from placement stood him in good stead this season, however. He converted nine of his team's ten touchdowns and kicked two field goals besides.

Clem Faust, the Intercollegiate winner with University of Western Ontario, and Eddie Thompson of Balmy Beach tied for fourth spot with 23 each. Behind these two and also deadlocked were Ray Mullins, Westmounts, and Wilf Tremblay, Ottawa, with 22 apiece.

Annis Stukus, who finished second to Stirling in the Canadian Press compilation last year with 31, collected only five points this year. The Argo quarterback, however, has been handicapped by injuries Sammy Sward, another 1938 leader, switched from Balmy Beach to Ottawa and saw his point total drop from 28 to four this year.

Barrow Says Yankees Can Win 1940 Pennant Without Making Single Change In Players

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP) — Although he'd like to pick up a player or two just in case his Yankees might be a trifle weak here and there, President Ed Barrow of the world champions is pretty well satisfied to let baseball go along as it is.

Returing from a vacation on Tom Yawkey's South Carolina plantation, Barrow said he isn't interested in getting Hank Greenberg from Detroit, night baseball fo rthe Yanks or other "fads," or in breaking up the Yankees.

"There's only one player in the American League in which we are interested, and Im not so sure we'll even to try to get him," Barrow remarked. "The way I see it, the Yankees can win another pennant without making a single change. After that we may have to bolster a bit here and there.

Montreal Plans Empire Games

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—(CP)—Despite the war, Montreal still is persevering with plans to hold the British Empire Games here in 1942, Leon Arepanier, general manager of the Montreal Tercentenary Commission, told members of the tercentenary sports committee at a meeting here last night.

While admitting that the games might not be held due to the war, Mr. Trepanier said that now was the time to prepare for them, just in case they are held. Montreal, he added, had 'practically obtained' the games for conjunction with the city's tercentenary celebrations that year.

"The final move is to produce a sufficient financial guarantee at a meeting of the Canadian British Empire Games Association in a Hamilton toward the end of the month," he said. 'And I am in a position to say that Montreal is able to furnish that guarantee."

Bowling At Duffus'

Bud Goodson of the Westclox left another hot trail for the bowlers of the A.Y.P.A., De Laval, C.G.E. Drafting Room and his own league at Duffus' Alleys last night Bud had his slow hook pay-ball working to perfection when he counted 252-281-248 for a 782 total His scores for the previous weeks have been 644, 765, 838 and 725 which is some shooting in any league. Bud looks like real City League timber.

Goodson was not the whole show for the Clockmakers as M. Harshorne of the girls' section made things hum for the short time she was around when she reeled off 298 and 250 for her two-game workout. Miss Ross, Miss Sexsmith and Miss Selkirk chalked up 267, 213 and 213 singles while Miss Rennie and Miss Allison had 397 and 391 for their two games. In addition to the above scores Hec Thompson hit 713, Joe Watson 705, Sharpe 739, McNeeley 679, Roberts 664, Rightmeyer 654, Armstrong 642, Beckerman 640, Thirnbeck 638, Moher 632, Law 632, Caccavella 623, Duffus 622, Murdock 638, Tully 604, Evans 611, Weir 602.

W. Perks topped the De Laval crowd with 671, Dick Evans 653, W. Campanaro 655 (315), H. Carter 633, H. Wylie 631, J. Murray 630, R. Williamson 629, J. McKinnon 615, C. Perry 614, Miss Pearson 502, and 213 and 210 singles by Miss Jackson and Miss Smith.

Saturday's A.Y.P.A. League had 680 by L Barry, R. Mason 655, M. Blewett 651, W. Hepburn 625, D. Pearson 627, Miss Bowler 521 and Miss B. Curtis at 212 single.

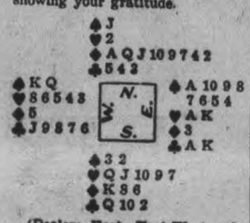
"The Authority on Authorities"

ACCEPT YOUR GIFTS

ONCE IN a great while your opponents will preve friendly in effect, if not in purpose, by offering you a handsome gift. When that gift consists of their being in the wrong suit, which you can slaughter, it will pay you to refrain from being greedy. Doubling may chase them into something they can make, whereas quiet acceptance of the gift may be a much more substantial way of showing your gratitude.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

Here is a deal on which East made one very bad bid and South was keen enough to recognize it. East bid 2-Spades, West 3-Hearts, North 4-Diamonds, East 4-Spades, West 5-Clubs, North 5-Diamonds and then East began to get cold feet, recognizing that the bidding was crowded pretty high. He was afraid to make a proper rebid of Spades at this level and so showed a mere preference for his partner's suits, at 5-Hearts, which West took to 6-Hearts.

South passed this and reaped a rich reward as a result after West ruffed the second diamond. Later South was able to take out the trumps and put his partner in to run diamonds.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 14.—Mrs. L. S. Clarry, oldest member of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's church, and her daughter, Miss Blanche Clarry, R.N. were hostesses for the November meeting of the society on Thursday at their home, Park Roadway, at 3 p.m., with more than thirty members and visitors in attendance.

Mrs. Clarry's warm welcome to the guests was much appreciated, particularly in view of the fact that some months ago she had the misfortune to fall in her own home, fracturing her hip, her practically complete recovery from the accident bringing many expressions of pleasure as she was greeted by the arriving members of the missionary organization.

The chair was taken by the president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco, who gave the call to worship, closing with prayer, and during the business discussion, announcement was made of one handsome quilt still on hand for sale; the shipment of the annual bale, with another almost ready for the west, for which contributions are to be left at the parsonage. Five members had attended the annual fall rally at Bethany, Miss E. L. Hetherington bringing information as to how each dollar given to W.M.S. work is expended; 92 1-5 cents goes directly to home and foreign fields; 3 4-5 cents to literature and periodicals; 3½ cents to administration, and but ½ cent for over-expenses in connection with the organization.

Mrs. H. W. Johnston's group was responsible for the program, Miss M. E. Hethrington giving the talk on the lesson from the book of Jonah; Mrs. Clarry leading in a most impressive prayer; and Mrs. Johnston and Miss Eva Hansman singing a due, "The beautiful garden of prayer," as a fitting conclusion to the worship period. Mrs. T. H. Aiken took up the offering, which included the fall thank offering also to be received in December, and the regular contributions by envelope, Mrs. J. McKnight offering the dedicatory prayer

Mrs. J. Rowland brought a timely message on 'Alcohol and Health,' and Mrs. Sisco took up the second chapter of the study book, 'Moving Millions,' with reference to the untouchables of India.

THe leader closed with prayer, and Miss Ethel Hatherly received subscriptions for the Missionary Monthly for 1940, 26 having taken this magazine up to date. Mrs. Sisco moved the vote of thanks to the hosteses for their hospitality, and a hearty handcalp endorsed the motion.

Miss Elsie Theobald, before leaving for her new home in Port Hope this week, was guest of honor at a farewell party at the home of Mrs. B. B. Dawson, with Miss Mary Dawson as hostess. A novel method was used for placing the address in the hands of the guests of the evening, when, instead of reading it in the time-honored manner, a game of "Telegrams" was played; Miss Elsie was appointed telegraph operator, and as each message came over the wires' she pieced it together, read it over, and was then presented with a Cutex Manicure set.

After the recipient had voiced her thanks suitable, other games and contests were enjoyed, the service of refreshments bringing the happy party to a close. "At Last I Have Found The Right Medicine," She Says

Every person who suffers from backache, inflamed joints, or sore muscles; every person whose sleep is disturbed by bladder irritation, upset stomach or jumpy nerves should follow the example of other well-known citizens who have taken Syntona and got grand relief. Here is another of the REALITIES of what Syntona can do as reported only recently by Mrs. Susan Addley, 206 Emerald Street North, Hamilton, Ontario. Mrs. Addley has lived in Hamilton for fifty years and is widely known there. Read her sincere statement:

"For many years I had suffered with kidney and bowel troubles. My kidneys called me up many times during the night and there was a constant dull, nagging ache across my back. My stomach also, was in such a disordered condition that if I ate an evening dinner I would have a vomiting spell in the night. Then neuritis set in and the stabbing pains were almost unbearable.

"During those years I tried many medicines and it always seemed that anything that relieved the pains only upset my stomach or my nerves and left me feeling worse in some other way.

MRS. SUSAN ADDLEY.

"Finally I was persuaded to try Syntona and I was simply delighted to find that it was just what I was always needing. Right from the first I liked the way Syntona acted on my stomach and bowels and at the same time it rid my system of those irritating acids and poisons so the backache and neuritis pains left me entirely. I can sleep the whole night through now, and I feel so much better in every way. I always keep a bottle of Syntona on hand for an occasional attack of constination or biliousness."

Come to Elliott's Drug Store, Peterborough, and learn the plain truthful facts about Syntona. You, too, may receive these priceless benefits.—(Advt.)

Heart Attack Is Fatal To E. F. Mason

Outstanding Merchant And Citizen Dies After Short Illness

E. F. Mason, Peterborough's most outstanding merchant, proprietor of a chain of seven grocery stores here, died at ten minutes to one o'clock this afternoon of a heart ailment. He was 73 years old.

News of his unexpected death shocked and unprepared city, although it was known that he had been stricken last week-end while in camp at the Ketchecum Hunt club. He was removed to Peterborough for treatment and his condition early today was reported to be extremely grave.

There was scarcely a phase of Peterborough life that Mr. Mason had not been prominently identified with at some period in his life, but the greatest of all his achievements was the way in which he built up his grocery business to the largest in the city. It was 61 years ago that his father, W. J. Mason, moved from Cobourg to Peterborough to purchase a store at 429 George street—the same store that today remains the headquarters of the Mason stores.

Worked In New York

As a youth, E. F. Mason delivered groceries for his father and later was employed as a clerk in the store. Then, to acquaint himself more widely with the grocery business he went to New York and worked for a high quality firm of retailers, afterwards being employed in the famous store of Walter Paul in Montreal. In all, he was away from Peterborough for four years until recalled by a serious accident his father had suffered. From that time on he was given increasing responsibility in the management of the store until his father's death.

E. F. Mason purchased the grocery store from his father's estate, and had only $45 to his name when he did it. Fifteen years later he had paid off all his indebtedness and began to branch out until at the time of his death he owned and operated seven stores in all parts of the city.

Prominent Merchant

Mr. Mason was regarded as one of the most enterprising individualists in the grocery trade of Canada, ranking even twenty-five years ago with the most prominent mer-

Russian Press Taunts Finland "Demands Will Be Granted" As Angry Peace Rules Border

Officials In Moscow Hint No Red Attack Is Likely

By CHARLES NICHOLS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

High tension charges the narrow, rugged line dividing little Finland from its vast Soviet neighbor following collapse of bargaining over Russian demands for Finnish territory.

Disruption of the long, taught negotiations, caused by Finland's "obstinacy" in refusing to give all that Russia asked, left the relations of the two countries in a state of angry peace today. Russia's controlled press and radio taunted its Baltic neighbor. Finland, silent, sharpened defences.

Border reports, denied in the Finnish capital of Helsingfors, said Russian planes have violated the border across the Karelian Isthmus. One report said a Soviet plane was shot down.

But observers in Moscow predict almost unanimously that Russia's Red army has no intention of engaging its tiny neighbor, with a population about the size of Ontario's.

It is more likely, these observers said, that Russia will continue to keep strong detachments on the Karelian border, continue to blast the Finnish government with verbal barrages over the air and in the press.

An alternative, not considered too seriously, is that the Red army might occupy that part of the isthmus north of Leningrad which Russians consider essential to that city's defence.

Enigmatically, Finland strengthened border defences and told civilians evacuated from vulnerable areas when Russian demands were first made to stay away unless urgent reasons force them to return. "The causes which inspired the removal remain unchanged," they were told.

Predict Acceptance.

Presumably anticipating a war of nerves that would sap Finland's resistance, the Soviet news agency Tass forecast confidently that Soviet proposals will be accepted within seven months.

To which astute Juho Paasikivi, chief of the Finnish negotiators,

Staff And Russia Keep Adolf's Offensive Upset

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 15.—(CP-Havas)—Opposition of his general staff has so far prevented Adolf Hitler prdering an offensive either on the Western Front or in the air against Great Britain, according to reports today from German sources.

Three sources said Hitler's political entourage was strong for immediate action as a reply to the "attempted assassination" of Hitler at Munich. On the other hand, the German military chiefs have firmly held no Western offensive can be attempted so long as uncertainty continues over Russian intention.

It has been noted certain sections of the German press have expressed guarded sympathy for the Finns. Nazi diplomacy has given way to the Soviets in the northeast and the southeast, even going so far as to condemn a proposed neutral Balkan bloc which Germany formerly approved in order to please Italy. But resistance in the general staff to this Nazi self-effacement is now openly being expressed, the reports said.

The Berlin correspondent of the Nieuwe Rottendamsche Courant reported the chaos of vague rumors about Germany's intentions is likely to be clarified by next week.

This correspondent said the German public was now resigned to the fact that peace would be

Bonanza Strike In Old Georgia Gold Mine With Vein Assaying $60,000 The Ton Leaves Stampeders Out—All Private Land

DAHLONEGA, Ga., Nov. 15—(AP).—A new gold strike, baring a lode of Bonanza ore which a state geologist said assayed $60,000 a ton, was disclosed today by operators of the century-old Calhoun mine three miles south of here.

State Geologist Garland Peyton described the strike as "a vein of quartz, two inches in thickness and of unknown depth, so thoroughly impregnated with gold over approximately 10 inches that it appeared as one continuous ribbon of yellow metal."

Peyton, habitually cautious in estimating mineral wealth, said the vein was the richest he had seen in 25 years in Georgia and "is definitely to be classed as Bonanza" with an apparent richness comparable to the famous Comstock lode near Virginia City, Nev., which yielded $340,000,000 in gold between 1859 and 1890.

The geologist hastened to warn that the strike "should not create anything which may be termed a gold rush" or be considered "an invitation to the uninitiated to stampede the district with a view to other possible discoveries." It was pointed out that all land in the Dahlonega area is under private ownership, making "claim staking" impossible.

Three Pans Third Pure Gold

Peyton said he assisted in gouging out three miners' pans full of the ore, which he estimated as high as one-third gold.

"It was observed," he added, "that the yellow metal was still in evidence in the rock left in place, without any apparent tendency to diminish in size or richness." Rock blasted out thus far, he said, "probably constitutes the upper edge of a considerable lens of rich ore."

The new lode is in the same mine and in the same "shoot" where the first gold lode was discovered in Georgia in 1828. The mine was worked sporadically during its history, at one time yielding approximately $1,000 per day, but later was discontinued.

A United States mint, established at Dahlonega in 1838, produced gold coins valued at $6,115,569 before it was closed in 1861.

Soldier Loses Family Of 4 In Fire

Mother Buying Food Returns To Find All Mass Of Flames

CATARAQUI, Ont., Nov. 15—(CP)—A soldier enlisted for overseas service, returned today to view the charred remains of his four children—victims of the worst tragedy in the history of this Eastern Ontario Village.

The soldier—William Taylor of the Royal Canadian Engineers—drove from Ottawa where he was stationed, on advice last night of the fire which burned his home and children while his wife was at a store in the village, five miles west of Kingsotn.

Mrs. Taylor, in a state of collapse, was unable to explain the cause of the blaze which made such rapid headway. Late last night, about five hours after the outbreak, remains of the children: Beatrice, 6; Herbert, 4; Bruce, 2, and Maynard, 16 months, were recovered from the ruins.

The frantic mother, on returning from the store, tried to enter the burning building and had to be restrained by force. Neighbors, unable to attempt rescues, formed a bucket brigade in a fruitless effort to check the flames which swept through the two-storey stone building.

Front Door Locked.

Mrs. F. E. Murphy of Cataraqui, sister of Mrs. Taylor, cared for the sorrowing mother last night. Mrs. Taylor told her the front door of the house was always locked but the back door was open and the children could have escaped if they had not been trapped by the flames.

Coroner Dr. C. W. Bennett visited the scene and announced there would be no need of an inquest.

Those who arrived early at the scene of the fire saw no sign of the children. They believe that the youngsters were either upstairs when the blaze broke out or became frightened and went upstairs to try to escape.

An hour and a half after the fire was first noticed, the roof caved in and carried with it large timbers which supported the floors. Some household belongings close to windows were saved, but all personal belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor including the family album, were destroyed.

Britain To Hold Canadian Coal Market

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 — (CP). — British coal producers, anxious to maintain their Canadian market outlet, will continue to move Welsh and Scottish anthracite across the Atlantic in as great volume as they can find ships, the Dominion Government fuel authorities declare.

British coal provides an excellent cargo for ships sent to this side of the ocean to carry war supplies back to Britain, it is pointed out. The British coal has become familiar to Canadian householders, and the fine buckwheat variety is in wide use with blowers in industrial plants because of the cheapness of electric power for blowers in Eastern Canada.

Price increases have been small so far, and little trouble in that direction is anticipated so long as the Allied naval forces can control the seas and keep war risk insurance at a low premium. The increase in war risk insurance was sharp at first, from about six shillings and threepence a ton in August to about 15 shillings a ton at present.

The great difficulty at present is to find ships to carry the coal to Canada, but as ships become more accessible and the convoy system more efficient, greater supplies of British coal are expected.

Britain has stepped up her coal production to meet wartime needs, and in addition the British Isles now supply much of the coal that France previously imported from Germany and Poland.

Race News Czar Will Close His 28 Offices

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—(AP).—The nation-wide race news service, turf information network serving thousands of bookmakers in the United States and Canada, will suspend business today, counsel for the system announced in Federal Court.

Attorney Weymouth Kirkland informed Judge James Wilkerson the 28 offices of the vast agency would close some time during the day but he said the exact hour for the shutdown had not yet been fixed.

Kirkland made the statement after the last legal obstacle to abandonment of the race news empire dominated by M. L. Annenberg was removed.

This was accomplished when Judge Wilkinson, acting on the request of Annenberg's counsel, dismissed petitions for injunctions restraining the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Western Union and the Illinois Bell Telephone Company from withdrawing their wires from Nationwide News, Inc.

Kirkland told the judge that Annenberg decided to dissolve the system linking race tracks and betting rooms throughout the nation because of government opposition to its operations.

Reports from cities in all sections of the United States indicated the majority of bookmakers were determined to continue business despite the loss of direct wires over which they had received race entries, odds, results and payoff figures as well as running accounts of the races.

Many of them admitted their trade would suffer. A number planned to accept wagers one day and pay off the next. Others expressed a belief they could obtain their information from a Cuban radio station or over "bootleg" morse wires from various tracks.

Kills Neighbor Gets Six Years

PITTSBURG, Nov. 15 — (AP).—A quiet little man went to prison today for six to 12 years because he killed a neighbor whose wife's clicking heels destroyed the quietness he wanted while listening to a broadcast church service.

John Black, 42-year-old bricklayer and war veteran, pleaded guilty to fatally stabbing Harry Brady, Jr., 22, last February, but swore that "God knows I didn't want to kill anybody." He was adjudged guilty of second degree murder.

"Justice wasn't done in this case," said the father of Black's victim. "A life has been taken and the man who took it has been sent to jail for six years. Justice hasn't been done."

Black said he was disturbed by the 21-year-old Mrs. Brady's high heels thumping across the floor of an apartment which the Bradys and Blacks shared. When he protested, he said the husband intervened and a fight resulted.

Byrd North Star Heads South

BOSTON, Nov. 15 — (AP). — Without fanfare, the first half of the first Antarctic expedition sponsored by the United States Government in 100 years sailed from Boston to-day on the first leg of the long journey to the Southland.

Just before dawn the motorship North Star—loaded with everything from food to phonograph records, from sled dogs to a 27-ton snow cruiser—cast off her lines at the Army Base and slid down the barbor en route to Philadelphia.

With the declaration that he believed Little America might provide a new and "safer" base for a United States-Australian air trail, Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the expedition's leader, gave the signal for the takeoff.

The North Star's next stop was to be Philadelphia to pick up some airplanes. After that she will head for Panama, then for New Zealand and finally for the expedition's west base in the Antarctic.

Next week the second ship in the expedition, the barkentine Bar, will follow the North Star on the 12,000-mile journey.

Front Fighting Shifts East To Vosges Area

PARIS, Nov. 15 — (CP-Havas).—Front line operations, although at a minimum, appeared to-day to be shifting eastward from the Saar sector to the wooded foothills of the Vosges between Bitche and Wissembourg.

There was little fighting to speak of. This morning's official communique reported "reduced activity during the night," whereas Tuesday's second communique advised that "there was great patrol activity, particularly in the zone east of the Saar."

Bad weather, with near-zero ceilings, reduced air activity yesterday. A number of planes went aloft on routine reconnaissance flights, but not a single air battle was reported.

Operations on the ground were proportionately minor. During the night there were a few patrols. Most of what little activity there was still was confined to the sectors to the west of the Saar and north-east of Bitche, along the eastern flank of the Orhental Salient. An evident eastward shift was in progress, it was said, however, toward the Vosges foothills, which form a sort of connecting hinge between the Lorraine and Alsace fronts.

100 Patrols Out.

About 100 German and French patrols are operating in the few miles of "No Man's Land" stretching between the Maginot Line and the Westwall, French military experts said.

In 1914 the frequent reference to patrol operations would have been interpreted as a positive indication that an offensive was in the offing. But in 1914 the Allied and German positions were separated in many places by only a few yards of shell-pocked terrain and there was no room for numerous patrols unless they were paving the way for a large-scale attack.

In 1939 the situation is entirely different. Except at a few points where intensive artillery barrages have been laid down, the landscape is much the same as it was before September 3. In the zone east of the Saar, for instance, there are numerous clumps of trees and irregular valleys which permit patrols to operate to a considerable extent without encountering the enemy.

Jury Tampering Witness Claims Bribery

HALIFAX, Nov. 15.—(CP)— A witness at the preliminary hearing of three Halifax men charged with jury tampering testified today he had been told "there might be some money handed around" if an acquittal verdict were returned in a liquor conspiracy case now before the Supreme Court's fall criminal sitting.

Charles Rowlett, member of the 48-man panel from which was drawn the jury hearing liquor conspiracy charges against John Tanner and Sidney Regan, also of Halifax, said it had been suggested to him that $200 "might come in handy" if Tanner were found not guilty.

The suggestion, he said, had been made by a man named Paros, proprietor of a fruit store in downtown Halifax. A few hours previously George W. Tingley, automobile dealer who is one of the three charged with attempting to influence the jury, told the witness he hoped "it wouldn't go badly against Tanner, a man with a wife and two children."

Another witness, Clifford Legg, said a mechanic employed by Tingley had asked him if he knew Tanner. Legg said he did not and the mechanic replied "that's all right."

A third, John W. Patton, pointed out O'Laughlin as a man who had come to his residence after he (the witness) had been served notice to appear for jury duty. Patton and his wife were just going out at the time and O'Laughlin had not stated his business.

Nineteen others on the panel who were called before adjournment said they had not been approached.

Killed In Air Accident

MONTREAL, Nov. 15 — (CP). — and Mrs H. J. Hammond of Montreal were advised yesterday by cable from the British Air Ministry of the death of their son, Flight Lieutenant Wilson Hammond, 25, in an "aircraft accident" in England. Hammond joined the Royal Air Force in 1935 and served in Egypt, Iraq and Singapore He spent two months leave in Canada last spring.

Italians Launch New Battleship

GENOA, Nov. 15—(AP)—Italy today launched the 35,000-ton battleship Impero, third vessel constructed in a program to give the Italian navy a total of eight capital ships. Two sister ships of the Impero—the Littorio and Vittorio Veneto—have been launched and are due for completion next year. A fourth, the Roma, is under construction.

Italy now has only two battleships in service, the Conte Di Cavour and Giulio Cesare, modernized in 1937. Two others, the Caio Diulio and Andrea Doria, are undergoing reconstruction and are scheduled to go back into service next summer.

Rothermere Wins Over Princess

LONDON, Nov. 15—(CP)—Princess Stafanie Hohenlohe Waldenberg, former political representative of Viscount Rothermere in Europe, lost a breach of contract suit today against the British publisher who testified he paid her £51,000 ($225,000) for less than six years' services.

The court termed a portion of her testimony "nebulous and unreliable." She contended Lord Rothermere had agreed to pay her £5,000 a year for life.

Reds See Allies Directing Finns

MOSCOW, Nov. 15—(CP-Havas).—Allied intervention was blamed by Soviet government newspapers yesterday for Finnish stubbornness in the face of Russian proposals for territorial exchanges and granting of bases on Finnish soil.

Krasnaya Zvezda, the Commissariat of Defence Journal, charged British and French pressure was responsible for the anti-Soviet tone of Scandinavian opinion, and said Great Britain "answered Holland's initiative for peace by ordering all British subjects not having vital business in that country to leave immediately."

The Allies were responsible for rumors of an impending German drive through the lowlands to frighten neutral countries into taking up arms against the Reich, Krasnaya Zvezda claimed.

Not only did Great Britain and France encourage Finnish resistance in the negotiations with the Kremlin that were broken off when the Finnish delegates left Moscow for Helsingfors Monday night but they are applying the same tactics in the Balkans by pushing formation of an anti-Soviet bloc there, the newspaper further claimed.

Observers here generally agreed that there would be no drastic step by the Soviet as an immediate sequel to the breakdown of Soviet-Finnish negotiations. Talks between the two countries have not been ended, it was pointed out, but are simply adjourned indefinitely.

Canadians Drank Less Beer During 1938

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP).—Canadians did not spend as much on beer in 1938 as they did the previous year but nevertheless rolled out the barrel at a merry pace, it was shown in figures on the brewing industry released today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Total selling value of products of the industry was $57,875,450 against $58,437,038 in 1937, and net value after deduction of sales tax and other duties was $42,376,853, compared with $43,485,071.

Value of beer, ale, stout and porter sold in bottles declined to 38,464,186 from $38,660,889, and in barrels to $18,376,995 from $18,776,779.

Hard To Crack Says Crerar Of Maginot Line After Five Overseas Ministers See What France Has Done to Stop Invasion

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN FRANCE, Nov. 15— (CP-Havas)— Anthony Eden, Dominions Secretary, and the five ministers representing the Empire Overseas returned to England today after four days of strenuous investigation of condition on the Allied front.

Since they left the British zone on Monday, the ministers including Hon. T. A. Crerar, Canadian Minister of Mines and Resources, have inspected a sector of the French front, including part of the Maginot line They were up at seven yesterday morning, spent the forenoon in the French Maginot line—they passed over ground which had been under German shellfire the night before—left the Maginot line after lunch, and reached a town in the vicinity of British General headquarters at 10.15 last night.

Weary, but high in spirits, they sat around a table in a small French hotel and had dinner Each minister was wearing in his buttonhole a bronze medallion—the emblem worn by French fortification troops, which shows a gun protruding from a fort with barbed wire in the background On ne passe pass"

The medallions were presented by the French General Commanding the fortifications.

The ministers were impressed by the strength of the French defences and the quality of French troops.

Mr. Eden said: "To visit the Maginot line is to realize how much we owe to the French army and the French nation for having constructed it."

During their visit to the French line the ministers passed through a maze of tank traps, barred wire entanglements and other obstacles

Spain, Neutral Of Neutrals Leans To Italian Policy

MADRID, Nov. 15.—(CP-Havas)—In a Europe at war Spain continues to occupy a special place, flattering itself with being "the most strictly neutral" country on the continent.

This role is dictated to Spain not only by General Francisco Franco but by Spain's geographical situation and her need for healing the wounds of the civil war.

At the same time, Spain continues to be the theatre of conflicting international influences. To guard against wiles of foreign propaganda the government is compelling newspapers and the radio to give a true accounting of their sources of information.

Long propaganda articles dated from one of the belligerent capitals no longer appear in the press as they did at start of the war.

The radio is not permitted to accept news without previous official verification. Demonstrations in favor of any country are no longer tolerated. Activity of foreign "offices" have been placed under strict surveillance. The order for "objectivity" given by General Franco will be more scrupulously observed than ever.

The Spanish government, however, recently inspired the appearance of pres seditorials throughout the country recalling that "Spain fought against the mortal peril of Communism" and declaring that "Communism remains the mortal enemy in all forms, all its activities, and in all its aspects."

This campaign coincides with a similar attitude developing in Italy. Close and constant contact with Rome continues to be the basis of Spanish foreign policy.

The King's Porridge Cooker Emilie Identifies Queen

CALLANDER, Ont., Nov. 15—(CP).—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, physician and guardian of the Dionne quintuplets, was chuckling today in his pleasant country doctor way as he told how Cecile and Emilie put Marie straight on the identity of the lady who spoke on the radio.

The Quints were taken into the nursery office on Remembrance Day and informed they would would hear someone they knew on the radio. It was the Queen's address from London.

At the end, Marie was hazy about just who the Queen was. It was Cecile who took Marie by the hand and recalled the meeting with Their Majesties in Toronto during the royal visit last May. "You know, the fine lady we went to Toronto see? Well, that was the Queen."

"The Queen," she said, "is the lady who cooks porridge for the King and puts milk and sugar on it for him."

At the end of the speech, the five little sisters walked up to the radio and said in French: "Thank you, Your Majesty, and say goodbye to the King for us."

Over 500 Die In Flames Of Oil Town

Venezuelans Perish Trapped In Huts Perched Over Water

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 15 — (AP). — Volunteer workers searched Lake Maracaibo to-day for the bodies of 500 to 800 persons estimated to have died in a fire which swept the oil town of Laguinillas, a village of wooden shacks perched on stilts at the water's edge.

While the searchers paddled through floating debris and charred piling—all that remained of the shanty town which housed 2,500 natives employed in the great oil fields nearby—the government mobilized its resources to aid the survivors.

Airplanes brought doctors and nurses to aid in the relief work. National Guard detachments took over the task of maintaining order.

President Eleazar Lopez Contreras, who decreed three days of mourning, raised a relief fund of 355,000 bolivars ($11,050), which was swelled by subscriptions taken up in many towns and cities.

Temporary quarters for the injured and homeless were established in the towns of Ciudad Ojeda and Bachquero.

Recovery of the bodies of the victims, many of whom were believed to have been children, was hindered by the debris which covered the water. Approximately 100 bodies had been recovered last night.

Blame Lamp Blast.

Hundreds of survivors who lost relatives lined the shores as the search progressed.

FDR May Forbid Ship Transfer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — (AP)— The Works Progress Administration and the Maritime Commission announced plans yesterday to assist some 13,000 seamen beached by the United States Neutrality Law, while President Roosevelt indicated he would refuse to permit transfer of eight liners to Panamanian registry.

The W.P.A. announced that the relief quotas of five coastal cities are bing increased so that 5,000 sailors may be assigned to the rolls. They will be assigned to waterfront improvement and similar projects.

The Maritime Commisison said facilities fo rtraining 8,360 seamen a year are being made available to officers and crews of ships tied up by the Neutrality Act. While in training, officers will receive $125 and seamen $36 a month plus food, clothing, quarters, medical care and transportation.

President Roosevelt told his press conference that transfer of United States Lines vessels to the Panama flag so that they might ply the North Atlantic combat zone would violate the spirit of the Neutrality Law in part and, he added, there was another consideration which had been given little attention in public discussion of the proposal.

This was, he said, whether the United States ought to put any sister American Republic in a position on neutrality different from that of the United States. Some vessels, tankers, were transferred to Panama, but that was done before the neutrality law was passed, he said, and that was water over the dam.

chants in Montreal, Toronto and other large cities of this country. At that time his methods were so advanced and his outlook projected ahead of his time that the old staff of the Canadian Grocer always featured interviews with E. F. Mason of Peterborough, and considered him on parity of ability with the leading representatives of the trade.

He was one of the first members of the trade to realize that radical changes were knocking at its door, and that the business had come to a parting of the ways between the methods that had changed but little since the sixties and seventies. E. F. Mason was one of the trail blazers in the groceteria system of merchandizing that revolutionized the trade. He had a clear vision of the plan that should be followed, and actually put it into practice along lines that are essentially common to this new type of business. His ideas proved not only to be sound and successful, but as efficient as any others that were devised by other modern pioneers in that phase of enterprise in the larger cities.

Trained in his father's store in Peterborough with several years of what was a kind of post graduate experience in New York city, Mr. Mason had all the qualities to make him the equal of the most prominent grocers of Canada. In a larger sphere of endeavor his success would have been measured with the greatest in his field of work. In Peterborough he accomplished all that its limits of population afforded him.

Responsible Positions.

A natural talent for finance directed Mr. Mason into positions of responsibility in various communities affairs. For years he was a director of the Peterborough Exhibition, giving his time to the fine arts and domestic science department, but a few years ago his fellow directors thrust him into Exhibition's finance department, appointing him treasurer with results that were soon productive of decided gains. During that time the liabilility of the directors for something more than $10,000 has been reduced to about $3,000.

As one of the representatives of St. Paul's church on the Board of Trustees of Nicholls Hospital, the ability of Mr. Mason was again recognized in its treasury branch. He has been chairman of the Board and the citizens generally will recall his leadership in the appeal early this year for funds to rebuild the hospital. The proposed bylaw, however, was not proceeded with. One of his great interests was the old Protestant Home, now Anson House, of whose Board he was a member for many years.

Mr. Mason's interest in the community affairs of Peterborough carried him into the city council where he distinguished himself as chairman of the finance committee, another outcropping of his special gift in the sphere of finance. His civic service ended with a contest for the mayoralty when he was defeated by the late W. G. Morrow who was elected mayor in 1910 and again in 1911.

Subsequently Mr. Mason was elected to the Utilities Commission and was for a time chairman of that body.

It is recalled that Mr. Mason and Robert Hicks entered the council at the same time. Both eventually aspired for the Mayoral chair, and both were defeated. Later they were both elected members of the Utilities Commission.

He was a member of Corinthian Lodge, A. F. & A. M. and of the Scottish Rite, and a veteran member of the I.O.O.F. In militia, too, he was active, holding the rank of Captain in the old 57th Regiment— an interest carried on by his son, Herbert G. Mason, a Major in the Prince of Wales Rangers.

The Mason family have been actively associated with business life in Peterborough now for 61 years. E. F. Mason was the third generation of his family in this country, his grandfather having moved to Cobourg from Sligo, Ireland, in 1827. His father moved to Peterborough 97 years ago to work in a grocery store before purchasing his own. E. F. Mason was born in Peterborough and spent all his life in this city with the exception of the four years when he was training in New York and Montreal. He was a cousin of Dr. Herbert Bruce, former Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

Surviving are one son, Herbert G. Mason of Peterborough, who is supervisor of the Mason stores; and two daughters, Miss Claire Mason at home and Mrs. Basil McCarthy of Los Angeles. His wife predeceased him nearly two years ago.

The remains are resting at his late residence, 740 Water street. Funeral service will be held from St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Friday, November 17, at 3 o'clock with interment in Little Lake Cemetery.

Welland Turkey Crop Does Well

TORONTO, Nov. 15—(CP). — A fairly large crop of turkeys coming along nicely in Welland Country was noted in the weekly crop report of the Ontario Agricultural Department today.

Excellent growth of fall wheat was reported from Wentworth, with fruit and vegetables plentiful on the Hamilton market.

The report from Eastern Ontario mentioned that American buyers continue to pick up milch cows in Grenville at fairly satisfactory prices. Sales of purebred sheep have been good and practically all graded rams have been sold. Fall litters have come through in good style.

Nearly all beef cattle and sheep to be marketed this year have left Manitoulin Island. Demand and prices have been encouraging and local sales of breeding stock are said to be the best in several years.

Canada will give Great Britain and France all aid in its power in the war against Hitler Germany, Hon. T. A. Crerar, Dominion Minister of Mines and Resources, said yesterday.

He spoke 100 feet below the surface in a fortress of France's great Maginot Line, where the Canadian minister, and fellow statesmen from different parts of the empire, accompanied by Dominions Secretary Anthony Eden, were luncheon guests of a group of French officers.

"As a Canadian citizen," Mr. Crerar said, "I do not forget that I have 3,500,000 fellow countrymen of French descent, and I raise my glass to the success and glorious victory of the French army."

Mr. Eden pledged in turn that the empire was resolved to prevent the return in future generations of the terrible trials imposed upon the world by Germany.

General Northcote of Australia, a member of the visiting group, told the sector's commander upon his departure: "I will return not alone, but at the head of an Australian contingent."

That they can hold out even so long as seven months without outside aid against military action is considered doubtful by informed observers. While Finland's watery terrain is not favorable for invading forces, the Polish invasion showed the side with overwhelming air power can practically call its shots.

Russia, though its exact air power is secret, has a vast margin over Finland's little force.

However, there were overnight indications the war of nerves theory is favored by the Kremlin to win its demanded slice of land north of Leningrad, a naval base on the north coast of the Gulf of Finland, and concessions on Finland's tiny Arctic coastline.

Despatches from London said Russia is pressing for British diplomatic action in Scandinavia to make Finland less "obsinate." Along with this, the Defence Commissariat organ Krasnaya Zvezda accused Britain and France of souring Finnish opinion towards the Soviets.

Constant Vigil Is Maintained On Trade Routes

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP).—Canada and her adjacent trade routes are being fully protected and training of additional personnel is proceeding rapidly, a Defence Department spokesman said here in an address.

The Royal Canadian Air Force, youngest of the country's fighting and defence services, is protecting the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards with the active co-operation of the Canadian navy and artillery, the spokesman declared in his broadcast speech last night carried over the national network of the Candian Broadcasting Corporation. It was the fourth talk in the government series on Canada's Fighting Services.

The Air Force is also maintaining a constant vigil over Canada's trade routes and those adjacent to its shores of vital importance to the Allies in their present struggle, he said. Day and night operations are undertaken from air bases and airdromes in the Maritime Provinces and British Columbia.

Destroyers scout the seas and shore batteries watch for attacks on vulnerable harbors while R.C.A.F. planes patrol a zone extending 100 miles out to sea on the lookout for enemy raiders.

Well Protected.

"Despite the length of the coastline for which the Navy and Air Force are jointly responsible, Canadians may rest assured that their firesides are being well protected," the spokesman said.

"Besides the harbor terminals, which to a hostile power are more desirable objectives than are stretches of barren shore, patrols are maintained out over the Gulf of St. Lawrence, together with its two entrances at Belle Isle and Cabot Strait. Even the Gulf of Canso, separating Cape Breton Island from the mainland, hears the drone of an airplane motor."

Flying schedules will be maintained during the winter with both flying boats and twin-engined bomber reconnaissance land planes.

Advanced R.C.A.F. bases have been established at strategic points on the west coast mainland, Vancouver Island and the Queen Char-

LIVERPOOL—Closed

I WANT 2000 PEOPLE TO TRY SYNTONA FOR ONLY 25 CENTS

EVERY PERSON who suffers can have a special introductory bottle of SYNTONA to try for ONLY 25 CENTS.

This new and scientific medicine, known as SYNTONA, has helped so many people whom the readers of this page know personally. Therefore, we offer the first trial bottle at 25 cents, because we believe the people who are benefitted will keep on using it. The offer is good for Friday and Saturday of this week only.

Science brings us methods of preparation and preservation which enable us to bring this famous medicine within easy reach of all sufferers. Permits hundreds to get away from the habitual use of nerve-deadening tablets and harsh drugs.

SYNTONA is an advanced medical compound of 12 of the finest medicinal herbs, and not one a habit-forming drug. It is taken before meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach troubles. It acts within ten minutes to stop gas and pains, sourness, bloating and belching. At the same time SYNTONA drives the poisons from the kidneys and relieves headaches, bladder irritation and weakness.

NOW, whether SYNTONA will help you as it has thousands of others—whether it will end your suffering in a day or week—remains to be seen. But in light of what it has done for others, it is surely a mistake not to try it for 25 cents, only a fraction of its worth. This introductory offer is good Friday and Saturday ONLY, so read the rest of this announcement and act at once. Do this in fairness to yourself and your family.

SYNTONA will cleanse your bowels (gradually — not drastic or severe), and tone them into daily action.

It will bring out awful gases and impurities (frequently from the first dose) which may have been inside of you a long time, causing you many days of misery with headaches, dizzy spells, skin eruptions and lazy, drowsy, tired feeling.

SYNTONA will relieve acid conditions and make the digestive organs sweet and clean, and give grand relief from acid indigestion, bloating, sour stomach, shortness of breath and dyspepsia.

IT WILL improve your appetite and promote proper assimilation of food for ENERGY and RESISTANCE.

SYNTONA will act as a diuretic to sluggish kidneys and flush out quantities of impurities that may have become dammed up inside, causing BACKACHE, SHARP PAINS and RISING AT NIGHT.

It will make your liver more active, thus relieving spells of biliousness and sick headache.

Relieves those with rheumatism and neuritis, by ridding the system of excess acidity and irritating waste matter.

IT WILL clean up skin eruptions caused by the impurities in the organs, will overcome the sallowness or "muddiness" that is due to sluggish liver.

SYNTONA will make your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels more active, build you up in general and make you FEEL like a DIFFERENT MAN or WOMAN, younger than you may have felt in YEARS.

City Council Asked To Consider Establishing Community Chest

The sum of $1,329.65 has been realized to date from the Children's Aid Society tag day, with an additional amount promised that will bring the total to $1,500.00 by the end of the year. R. L. Dobbin stated in a progress report from the special donations committee at the monthly meeting of the Board Tuesday afternoon, at which Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr presided, and R. H. Parsons acted as secretary in the absence of Miss Muriel M. Morrison, who is ill. The committee feels that an earlier start with tag day plans should have been arranged, particularly during a year when many appeals are being made, and canvassers are being conscripted for other purposes.

The Community Chest idea was suggested by Alderman James Dutton, who feels it should not always fall upon the same citizens to contribute to every public cause. Following considerable discussion, a letter is to be sent to the City Council asking that consideration be given to the desirability of inaugurating a Community Chest.

Special Worker

The decision of the Society regarding a special worker is to be presented before the County Council by Alderman Dutton, chairman of a special committee to make arrangements in this connection. Christmas plans for the Shelter were placed in the hands of Mrs. J. S. Fanning, who so capably took charge last year. She is to be assisted by the ladies of the Board.

A resolution by Rev. R. T. F. Brain that a working executive, to be made up of the president, two vice-presidents, treasurer, Alderman Dutton, Reeve Anderson and Mrs. D. T. Diplock, this executive to function between Board meetings, was deferred until the December meeting. A committee of Mr. Parsons, Rev. Brain, Reeve W. A. Anderson and Mrs. W. J. Oke was appointed to consider a report from the Provincial office regarding a policy in connection with special medical care requiring the attention of specialists.

Petty thieving was the most common factor in the problems referred to the Society during the past month. Miss Rachael Young, superintendent, told the Board in her report for the month of October. A startling lack of group interest for boys under the age of eight years is another disturbing factor. These boys are too young as yet to join with the Y.M.C.A., and the Society is now coping with the problem of finding something more constructive than five or six hours in a theatre every Saturday afternoon, regardless of what the picture is, for one of the boys. This problem, however, does not concern the wards of the Society.

The need for some arrangement whereby children whose fathers are on a low wage and not eligible for hospitalization from the municipality may have financial assistance to make tonsil and adenoid operations possible is a real need, Miss Young stated.

Measles Quarantine

Because of a measles quarantine at the Shelter, the sewing committee did not function for several weeks. Now the work has begun, and the convener, Mrs. Oke, is a bit discouraged by the very few who are attending on Thursday afternoons.

The need for clothing for children at the Shelter is very great. Miss Young told the Board, and every woman member is asked to make a special effort to be present on Thursday of each week—bringing with them anyone who wishes to assist in the work. Appreciation was expressed for used clothing which had been sent.

Miss Young paid tribute to Miss Barbara Cutting, whose assistance in the work of the Society for the past three months, and who finished her term at the end of November, has been of a very high order. 271 visits were made in October, there were 107 office interviews; 141 telephone calls; 232 letters sent out, and 15 court appearances.

Mrs. Lawrence reported 16 children in the Shelter October 1; 21 taken care of; 6 gone out; 15 in the Shelter, October 31; 5 police cases; 5 doctor's visits, and 3 dental visits. The Shelter has been under quarantine for measles since, October 12. Three children have developed the disease, and one boy had to be removed to hospital with pneumonia.

Train Victim

CARLETON PLACE, Ont., Nov. 15—(CP)—James Albert Purdy, 76, of Carleton Place was killed here yesterday when struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train. It is believed he stepped onto the tracks from behind a box car on a siding and was unable to see the approaching train.

Preliminary inquest was adjourned until Thursday night. Surviving are three sons, Bower of Carleton Place, Harvey of Ashton, Ont., and Frederick of Oshawa, Ont., and a daughter, Mrs. George Kerr of Carleton Place.

Campbellford Plans Red Cross Drive

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15. — Plans for their campaign to be held during the last week in November were laid by the Campbellford and Seymour Red Cross Society at an executive meeting held Tuesday evening. The campaign will be officially opened on November 21st when a Red Cross night is being held at the local theatre, the manager having offered to contribute the entire proceeds of the evening to the fund. On Thursday night of the same week the canvassers of whom from six to eight will be selected for each ward, will hold a supper at which there will be a guest speaker following which further plans for the actual canvass to begin November 27.

President N. Alex. MacColl who presided at the meeting told the executive that already several organizations had intimated their intention of holding affairs from which the proceeds would be given to the Red Cross. Several local ladies have held teas during the past week and the I.O.D.E. is planning to hold a dance. Mrs. Steve Twigg was named as secretary of the organization following the resignation of Mrs. A. G. Thompson, and the following names were added to the executive committee, Messrs. W. Kingston, A. Rappaport, J. A. Currie, H. B. Wood, W. H. Gibson, E. H. Greig, C. S. Haig, Rev. J. V. McAuley, Rev. B. Simpson Black, Rev. T. S. Gault, Rev. S. O'Brien, Rev. Hicks, Rev. C. S. Reddick, D.D., Rev. M. E. R. Baudreau, Captain H. Hutchinson, and Mrs. W. H. Ashton.

Doukhobors Decide On English Schooling

Study of Russian was explained by some Doukhobor spokesmen as a precaution in case the sect decided to move back to Russia which they left at the turn of the century because of religious persecution.

Sect leaders said it was hoped Peter Veregin III would eventually be able to come to Canada from his Russian exile. International complications have prevented such a move so far, they said, and in the event he did not come, then the Doukhobors in Canada would go to him.

Members of the spiritual community of Christ, a union formed last year by the late Peter Veregin II, must register the birth of every child in accordance with dominion and provincial laws, delegates decided. Marriages and deaths were excluded as Doukhobors have their own laws regarding these.

Dahl's Wife Home Release Pleas Vain

BOSTON, Nov. 15—(AP).—Mrs. Edith Rogers Dahl, wife of aviator Harold Dahl, imprisoned for two years and five months in Spain since her appeal brought his reprieve from a death sentence, returned to the United States today, discouraged by his long captivity and unable to predict when he might be released.

Dahl was shot down in an air battle while fighting for the Loyalist forces in the Spanish civil war and condemned to death before a firing squad, but the pretty wife's personal appeal to General Franco saved him.

Mrs. Dahl said the last information received by her indicated Dahl was in a Salamanca hospital. She said she had made two recent appeals to Franco for her husband's liberty which have remained unanswered.

Washington's New Worry

United States may be forced to the point where it will consider the formation of a government policy which will forbid the establishment of American factories abroad. Right now Washington is thinking of investments of some $300,000,000 in Germany which may at the moment be turning out material to help Germany in its war.

Such plants as Ford, General Motors and National Cash Register were constructed in Germany before the Nazis came into power. The reason for putting capital in there was to supply markets in that area and bid for internal trade in Germany.

It has worked out poorly because under the Nazi regime it is not possible to take any of the profits out of the country. It might have been arranged to spend the profits and purchase made-in-Germany goods, but companies and their shareholders prefer to take their dividends in cash.

In recent years Germany has placed overseers in these plants and the American owners are not certain who controls them. They are of the opinion they might as well be the property of Germany. The Nazi plan was also cutting into United States export trade. This way: The output of the U.S.-owned plants was being used to advance German trade in South America where United States had previously enjoyed a large market and a profitable trade. German goods, made in plants owned by United States in Germany, became part of the barter system by which foreign currency was acquired for Germany. Right now these plants may be turning out war material to offset that which United States is prepared to sell to the Allies. Washington does not like the set-up but at the moment what can Washington do about it? Nothing at all.

More Rules Not Needed

Attorney-General Conant has given instructions that the press and public will now be excluded from magistrates' court trials of cases "involving indecent acts, bestiality or immorality."

This step was taken following the deal made with filthy weekly papers in Toronto, and a letter of instruction dealing with the matter has been forwarded to Judge O'Connell, Chief Magistrate of York County. In his letter the Attorney-General says: "I am advised that the daily papers do not publish the proceedings in such cases."

If the daily papers do not publish such material, then why start making more regulations and restrictions regarding them? It is too much like doing something which does not need doing.

The daily newspaper has a rather high regard about what enters its columns. It realizes it is publishing something which is going to be read by every member of the family old enough to read; it is going to be read by older people and by younger ones and even children.

The rule is carefully observed, and when a police reporter finds in the run of cases something which is objectionable he will know it is something which can be mentioned only in a general way or in such a manner that the story will indicate that a "serious offence" has been committed. The cause of decency has been well served by daily papers for a long time and there is no need for Mr. Conant making a new set of rules because such is not needed.

Ignoring The Farmer

V. S. Milburn, Secretary of the Dairy Council Federation, was addressing members of the Concentrated Milk Producers' Association at Gananoque, and one of his statements was that the government was not discussing with farmers the price of produce when arranging for war business.

Mr. Milburn said the manufacturers had been consulted and were in the confidence of the government, but no similar connection had been established with the farmers or any of their organizations. He felt that the farmers were being left out and it was being taken for granted that they would accept any plans and arrangements which had been made.

If there is any reason for doing the thing that way we cannot at the moment thing what it might be. The farmer is the primary producer, and if there are special efforts needed then he ought to know about it. If there are price regulations to which the farmer is expected to subscribe then he should know of them in advance to find whether or not they are fair and will allow him to operate and make a living. Ignoring the farmer or his organization is not the right way to do business.

At The End Of The Road

At the funeral of Thomas Bradshaw in Toronto the minister who conducted the service had something rather fine on which to work. He stated it this way:

"The governing principles of Thomas Bradshaw's life may be set forth in two quotations. One is the Latin motto on the Bradshaw crest which means literally: 'Not for ourselves only are we born.' The other is from a language far older and translated in words familiar to all: 'A man shall be the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.'"

Thomas Bradshaw had been in his days of work a busy man. He did things in what people call a big way, and he was honest, honorable and successful. But he never forgot there were other people in the world. One who lives in this highly competitive age and has his days so ordered that it can be said of him that he considered others and bore some semblance to the shadow of a great rock in a weary land has not lived in vain.

A Record 43 Years Old

There has been a good deal printed in United States papers about Charles H. Hogan who died a few days ago at a fine old age. And his name was connected with "999," all of which may mean nothing at all to the average person in our land.

Charles Hogan became famous in 1893. To be more exact on the tenth day of May. The New York Central operated the Empire State Express and they had built a new locomotive, 999. There was rivalry aplenty at that time and the New York Central had their new engine designed for speed because it was felt that a record in that field would be great advertising. And that was correct.

Charles Hogan was considered the best pilot in the business, and that was the reason why he was selected to use 999 to haul the Empire State Express on a record run. He did.

Between Batavia and Buffalo he put his hand on the throttle and there were no schedules to be observed. Charles Hogan on that day was to make his own, and he set the mark at 112½ miles per hour. That was more than 46 years ago, and the Charles Hogan record still stands as the fastest time made by a train in United States.

As It Was On The Tenth

Dr. E. G. Pleva has something to do with Western University, London, Ont., and he was making an address to the London centre of the Royal Astronomical Society, in which he aimed one of his barbs at the old-timers who brag about the storm in the winters of long ago. He advanced the belief that over a spread of many years there is actually little variation in heat and cold.

Had Dr. Pleva been favored with a seat near the kitchen range on Lot 4, Concession Ten, a number of years ago he might have learned a good deal. He would have heard stories of winters the like of which are not chronicled in any of the books from which he has extracted his knowledge.

It was a favorite place to gather. When the elder McGregor and the McPherson of similar rank joined in on an evening with grandfather it was not a place where a lesser voice might be raised. Not when they had exhausted politics, horse trading and turned to weather of other winters. The McPherson lantern and the McGregor lantern, each "blawed oot" would be sitting side by side on the end of the long bench which ran along one side of the kitchen table. For the elders carried lanterns when they ventured out of an evening.

Yes, it was a bad winter that of '72, but the one of '68 was worse. The blizzard which started on the 18th of January was about the worst the country ever saw. The snow filled right up to the top of the kitchen door. They had to tunnel their way out toward the barn. Everything was frozen stiff out there. It was necessary to burn a little straw under the cow before starting milking.

That was the winter when McGregor froze his nose three times in one day and grew weary of the process of being thawed out, so he just left it frozen until the warm days of spring came and thawed it out.

When the winters of yesteryear were being discussed grandfather would pause between times and turn over the kindling wood in the oven. It was always placed there to get dried out for the morning, and it always gave off a rather pleasant aroma. When this diversion was on McGregor would whittle off a splinter and put it through the hearth at the stove front and light his pipe. That was in the days of sulphur matches and generally McGregor had none.

Then McPherson would move back to the winter of '63, the time when the Cameron man was laid so low with sickness and no one could get through to call the doctor, and if such call had been put through the doctor could not have made the trip because the roads were all drifted even with th fences and hadn't been broke. Cameron was a man sick unto death and the folk were worrying how they would bury him in such a winter. No doctor to help him and no meenister to give him comfort and console the family. It was bad, the one bright spot being that in his own good time Cameron once more became a well man and lost faith in doctors and it took persuasion to get him back into the pew at the kirk.

This Dr. Pleva may gaze at records and speak with the certain knowledge which statistics impart, but his discourse would lack the color of the variety which used to proceed around the kitchen range on Lot 4, Concession Ten. When the elders discussed such matters there on a cold night one would have hesitated about saying anything about the frost on the inside hinges of the kitchen door or mention such a minor tragedy as the rooster having his comb nipped the night before.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Russian bear is not the kind which one can put in a cage and know he'll stay there.

The modern girl likes to retain her youth. Notice the way she hangs on to him when going down the street.

Perhaps we didn't realize it then, but do you recall the happy days when the picture of a leading citizen was considered good enough to print on page one?

Two dairies in Detroit were wrecked by the explosion of bombs, but so far we have not noticed that Washington has blamed the British for the blast.

New regulations in Germany allow a man one suit, one shirt and five pairs of socks annually. What's the big idea behind the extra four pairs of socks?

From the the number of leaflets and propaganda sheets which are appearing the world over it appears that the printers may have had something to do with starting the war.

The Kingston Whig-Standard, after mature deliberation on the bomb at Munich, is moved to express regret. But the regret is centred around the fact that the timing of the infernal machine was twelve minutes too late.

In reports of an earthquake at Seattle we read: "In Seattle 20-foot cracks appeared in the County-City building." And evidently a 20-foot crack is not one which a person could attend to by stuffing in the kitchen towel.

Reports from Germany say there have been hundreds of arrests made in connection with the bomb in Hitler's beer cellar at Munich. What then becomes of the charge which came from Berlin so quickly that the British were to blame for the incident?

Berlin report says Germany delayed its answer to peace proposals from Belgium and Holland because anything it might have to say was certain to be misinterpreted by the Allies. Germany's invasions of smaller nations are certainly much easier to understand than her discussions of peace.

Two boys fought over a dollar watch in Detroit and one was stabbed to death. The parents of the dead lad have reached a new high in such matters by announcing to police and court officials that they have fully and freely forgiven the other boy and desire no action against him.

WISE

¶ I saw some ducks not long ago, and they were really on the go, and mostly south they went; I watched till they were out of sight, and they were past a gun-shot's height, I knew just what that meant.

¶ The ducks knew ice would form up here, it always does this time of year, there's not much left to eat; so they were heading south once more, like they have always done before, they crave a little heat.

¶ The duck is such a funny thing, it's awful when he tries to sing, nor are his feathers gay; yet he can float and he can swim, that's something you can say for him, he's at it every day.

¶ He doesn't have to build a home, nor look for boards or bricks or stone, or try to hang the doors; he settles in the nicest spots, and there he merely squats and stops, and just lives out-of-doors.

¶ But when the fall days come around, then Mr. Duck will change his ground, he'll travel too by wing; he fancies not our ice and snow, so way down south he'll start to go, and won't come back till spring.

¶ The duck may be a stupid thing, we laugh when he starts in to sing, a quack is all he tries; but knows enough to dodge the snow, no map he needs the way to show—perhaps he's rather wise

Finding A Home After Fleeing From Sudeten

VICTIMS of Nazi persecution in their native Sudeten, Mr. and Mrs. Max Grauer have come to Western Ontario to resume the quiet, simple life denied them after the German occupation of Czecho-Slovakia.

Yesterday the Grauers were "at home" to a reporter who visited them at their temporary residence at 602 King street, London, Ont. In halting English, most of which was acquired since coming to Canada three months ago, they told a moving story of their flight from the only home they had ever known. To stay meant torture or death.

It was the tragic account of a peaceful countryside suddenly invaded by an army of rabid Jew-baiting terrorists bent upon murder, torture, destruction and the seizure of all the possessions of its inhabitants.

But the Grauers did not care to tell of their past troubles. They were far more interested in telling of their good since coming to Canada, where, as Mrs. Grauer explained, "the people have been so good to us."

Two years ago the Grauers were well-to-do farmers at Opava, about one-quarter of a mile from the German border. They had many dairy cattle on their 260-acre site, which brought them a comfortable living.

WAR RUMORS

"Then we heard rumors that the Germans were going to take the Sudetenland," said Mr. Grauer. "Almost half the people in our district were German, but we did not have trouble with them; it was the Nazi party that threatened us. They hated the Jews and the Czechs, and wanted nothing better than to drive us out."

At the time the Sudeten became a part of the Reich, Mr. and Mrs. Grauer were forced to flee for their lives. They took scant possessions with them on their flight to Bohemia and Moravia. There they remained for six months, until the Germans also annexed that territory. Again they were forced to leave.

Taking what money they had in the form of manufactured goods, they journeyed from Prague to Brussels, thence to Antwerp and Liverpool, driven by fear and not knowing what their final destination would be.

In Liverpool the were told that Canada welcomed Czech refugees. Scant days before war was declared, the Grauers booked passage on the Duchess of Athol. While sailing to Canada their ship was overcrowded with Americans and Canadians returning from England. Arriving in Canada with the money they derived from the sale of the manufactured goods in Europe, the Grauers came to friends in Wallaceburg.

Last week the couple purchased a 100-acre farm on the eleventh concession of London Township, which they will take over in the spring. Max Grauer hopes to again raise Holstein cattle, have a little garden similar to the one he lost, and take up the thread of the rural life he loves so well.

"We were told that the climate in Canada would be bad and the people strange," said Mrs. Grauer. "Since we have come here it has been the opposite. Everyone tries so hard to help us—they seem to understand our troubles—and the climate here is the finest I have ever seen."

Truly, the Grauers are enthusiastic. Mr. Grauer, who praises Canada for its fine roads, automatic traffic signals and a multitude of automobiles, is busy learning the English language at the J. B. Beal Technical School. His nine-year-old son, Harry, is a fourth-grade student at Alexandra School, and is showing prospects of becoming an excellent Canadian citizen.

The Grauer family is now residing with friends who left Czecho-Slovakia at the same time they did. Henry Wolf, his wife and four-year-old son, Thomas, have been faced with the same tribulations of the Grauers. Their story differs little from hundreds of others who have sought Canada as a haven.

"We feel so good to be in a free land once more. Even the air smells different," said Mr. Grauer as he inhaled deeply to express himself. When the reporter left them, the Grauer family looked happy, very happy. It was a happiness reflected in the faces of people who had lost something, but had found something of much greater value.

• Germany Did Not Want A War

ONE FACT emerges clearly from the mass and welter of propaganda, information and misinformation which is coming from Europe these days. It is that Germany is disappointed and sore because the Allies took action when the Nazis attacked Poland.

Day by day, it becomes clearer that Hitler disregarded the statements of the British and French governments. Because such an attitude was unintelligible to the German mind, Hitler refused to believe that the Allied nations would rise in support of Poland, and the injured yelps which have characterized the protests of Hitler and other German leaders bear out this fact more and more.

Hitler's peace attempt—an offer to stop fighting if he could have all he wanted—was the first indication. Von Ribbentrop's speech, reflecting fear behind threats, was another. German soldiers on the Western Front are reported to be surprised when they learn that a war actually is in progress. Repeated threats to bomb Britain, followed by no action, indicate the state of mind of the German rulers.

Faced by the prospect of certain defeat in the long run, they are panic-stricken, anxious to extricate themselves from the hole in which they find themselves, but still determined to hang on to the spoils which they have gained in their blood-letting in Western Europe.

This is no time to pay attention to the pleas of a cornered rat. It must be stamped upon and finished. The shadow of the hooked cross must no longer be allowed to cast a blight over Europe.

The only terms upon which peace would be accepted are the restoration of Poland and the restoration of Czecho-Slovakia, and such concessions would mean revolution in Germany, led to believe through a decade of propaganda that these are inalienable German rights, wrested from the Reich by a malicious Treaty of Versailles.—Chatham News.

• He Ignored History and Facts

PREMIER MOLOTOFF is also People's Commissar of Foreign Affairs. Presumably it was in the latter capacity that he amassed the information about the relation of Cuba and the Philippines to the United States which he bestowed upon the Supreme Soviet. Speaking from his expert knowledge, Mr. Molotoff referred to "the Philippines or Cuba, which have long been demanding freedom and independence from the United States and cannot get them." Without raking up the back yards of history, it is sufficient to recall that by the Cuban-American treaty of 1903 certain conditions contained in the so-called Platt Amendment were imposed upon Cuba and had been accepted by her as a part of the new Constitution in 1901.

Cuba agreed not to run into debt; to keep up the sanitary administration instituted by the military government; to lease certain naval stations and, most important of all, to permit the United States to intervene in Cuban affairs in case of necessity. These restraints were all removed and the right of intervention was given up by the treaty that went into effect on June 9, 1934. Cuba had a fiesta of three days. President Mendieta called the abrogation of the Platt Amendment "the rebirth of Cuban independence." Cuba has been wholly free and independent for more than five years. The Philippines will be so in 1946. The postponement of autonomy is for the purpose of a preparation and education in the economic and financial problems that complete independence will bring.

These things are known to "every schoolboy" in Cuba, the Philippines and the United States. To repeat them is almost an insult to common intelligence. It is impossible to believe that Mr. Molotoff shares the ignorance which he chose to impart. One remembers Mme. du Deffand's perfidious defense of Voltaire, accused of want of imagination: "What more do you want? He has invented history."—New York Times.

• England Gets Weather First

ONE THING the Germans must have to conduct their totalitarian war in the air, and that is weather. Unfortunately for them, German weather, if not made in England and France, is largely assembled there. The weather destined for Germany may originate at remoter points anywhere in the Atlantic from the Azores to Iceland. But the prevailing winds being from west to east, France and England get it first. Good or bad, it is freely exported to the Reich, no way having yet been found to put it on the contraband list or stop it at the Maginot Line.

This meteorological condition has an important military application. British and French forecasters know what the weather will be one day in advance of German observers, since allied weather predictions are now strictly guarded as military secrets. German predictions, built on delayed information, are useful chiefly over Poland and points south and east.

British and French flyers cruising toward Germany know in a general way what sort of weather they are heading into. No German pilot can be certain what weather he will encounter deep in France or England. This disadvantage is greatly emphasized in raids over England and Scotland. German planes may set out under ideal conditions and cross the broad belt of the North Sea only to meet storms or dense fogs when they reach land.

We are not likely to learn of any losses suffered by German flyers from the weather over the North Sea. But they are operating under a handicap which may be one reason why no great German air armadas have yet attacked the British Isles.—New York Times.

A GRAIN O' SALT

DOUBTLESS it is necessary to take statements made by captured German prisoners with a grain of salt. There is always the chance that prisoners tell the interrogating officers what they think they would like to know apart from any information regarding actual tactical or strategical positions in respect to their forces. The average soldier in the line or even officers of less than field rank knew in the last war very little about what was going on except in their own immediate sector. As a matter of fact prisoners generally were mainly valuable because they revealed the presence of the unit to which the prisoner belonged, and thus enabled the general staffs to tell something about the strength and the position of the force opposite.—Saskatoon Star-Phoenix.

A LAURIER DEFEAT

Wilfrid Girouard, K.C., appointed Attorney-General in Premier Godbout's new Quebec ministry, was one of the members of the House of Commons who resigned a seat at Ottawa to enter the provincial contest. Since 1925 he had represented Drummond-Arthabaska, a constituency which has long given a Liberal majority up in the thousands but which in 1877 elected a Conservative by 22 votes over a young man named Wilfrid Laurier, newly appointed to the Mackenzie Cabinet.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And, behold, men brought in a bed a man which was taken with a palsy: and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him. And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in because of the multitude, they went upon the housetop, and let him down through the tiling with his couch into the midst before Jesus. And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee. And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this which speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God alone?

But when Jesus perceived their thoughts, he answering said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts? Whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power upon earth to forgive sins, (he said unto the sick of the palsy), I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy couch, and go into thine house.—Luke v, 18-26.

A FIRE HAZARD

A LARE NUMBER of women each year in the United States die victims of feminine fashion of dress. For woman's clothing is unfortunately a definite fire hazard which men, with their closer fitting and heavier garments, escape.

Burns sustained in ordinary home activities cause the death of about 1,600 women (over age 15) in the United States each year. This includes some 350 deaths from the use of inflammable liquids for kindling fires, for dry cleaning, and other purposes; it also includes some 150 deaths through clothes of women catching fire as they warm themselves near open fires or hot stoves.

It excludes, however, 350 women who are not counted in this category but who lose their lives in conflagrations of buildings.—Metropolitan Life Bulletin.

Ready To Defend Peaceful Holland

A machine-gun crew of the Dutch army is pictured here in action during recent war games at Brabant. Today these men and their comrades are facing war that is not a game. All signs indicate that Chancellor Hitler has set his mind on invading the tiny Netherlands, in which Allied general staffs believe, will be an attempt by the German war machine to outflank the Maginot line.

London Sitting Home At Night

LONDON, Nov. 15—(CP).—This town's night life practically has ceased to exist since the war broke out.

Blackout restrictions have made travel through the streets pretty arduous except on moonlit nights. Taxis are not as plentiful as they used to be, buses are less frequent and most places of entertainment are under some sort of restriction.

Half the movie houses in London stay open one week until 10 p.m., then close early the next week. A few night clubs remain open and a few theatres in the suburbs have legitimate plays and variety.

Pub owners complain bitterly that the rush of trade which swamped them in the early days of the war has been succeeded by a slump that has forced them to discharge members of their staff and has eaten so far into their earlier profits that they are worried.

They believe the blackout is mainly responsible for their troubles. At first it made little difference and people who were tired or jittery at the start of hostilities were good customers.

Too Much Effort.

After a while, however, the strain of making their way through the dark began to get them down, and they stayed at home. The same conditions appear to have cut down movie attendance.

The London Symphony Orchestra and the Philharmonic are giving concerts in the afternoons.

Theatre owners are asking for revision of the staggered closing rule and that all houses be allowed to remain open regular hours. Some are asking that they be allowed to open on Sundays before five o'clock. Sunday openings have been permitted in some areas where troops are quartered.

All in all, however, there is not much in London after dark to take one away from the fireside.

COMBAT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is often caused by uric acid in the blood. This blood impurity should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and excess uric acid remains, it irritates the muscles and joints causing excruciating pains. Plan to help prevent rheumatism by keeping your kidneys in good condition. Take regularly Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite kidney remedy. 104

Dodd's Kidney Pills

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 26c.

No Food Rations In Great Britain Until January Next

LONDON, Nov. 15 (CP)—Great Britain and France have agreed upon "close and continuous co-operation in the financial and economic spheres," the treasury announced today as Paul Reynaud, French finance minister, conferred with Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Reynaud left later by plane for Paris.

The meeting came as Britain, grimly marking off her sea losses in the accounts of war, honored two aviator heroes and tightened her combat position along the home, military and diplomatic fronts.

The order of the British Empire was awarded to Flying Officer Reginald C. Gravely, who rescued his observer from his flaming plane, and Sergeant Fred Gardiner who, despite an eye wound, guided his damaged plane back to his base and succeeded in extinguishing a fire that broke out after he landed.

Gravely began his air career with the London Busmen's Flying Club paying sixpence a week and obtaining half an hour's flying tuition each fortnight. He quit his job as clerk with the London Transport Board to join the R.A.F. two years ago. He and Gardiner are 25 years of age.

Food Supplies Good

On the home front there was an encouraging report in well-informed quarters that except for butter, bacon and possibly sugar, the British Isles are well supplied with foodstuffs and that there is no immediate necessity for a rationing system, certainly not before January. It was predicted that when instituted rationing will affect only bacon and butter.

There are heavy stocks of bread, flour, and other derivatives of wheat and cereals, it was learned. The supply of fresh meat is sufficient for use at home and by the expeditionary forces. Fats, fruit, vegetables, and milk are available in abundance. To increase supplies of butter, the government contracted with New Zealand to take up all of next season's exportable surplus and a similar deal has been made with Eire.

While Britain thus assures itself against stringency on the home front, the blockade will be drawn in an increasingly tighter ring around the Reich, it was stated, in the continued hope that this means above all others will force an early peace.

Right of Search.

Lord Findlay, chairman of the Contraband Control Committee, issued a lengthy statement declaring that neutrals were obliged by every tenet of international law to submit to search. This obligation is centuries old and the British Government intends to exercise to the fullest its rights as a belligerent he said, warning neutrals that resistance to control was "absolutely illegal."

The Air Ministry announced new daylight reconnaissance flights over Germany, many of them penetrating to a depth of more than 200 miles in the face of "active opposition" by German air fighters. All objectives have been reached, photographs obtained and the desired information obtained, it was said.

On the diplomatic front, especial interest was aroused by the arrival yesterday of the Polish Premier, General Wladyslaw Sikorski, and his Foreign Minister, August Zaleski. They conferred last night with Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax.

In informed quarters the possibility was suggested that Poland might, after an Allied victory, be compensated for her losses to Russia by new territorial acquisitions at the expense of Germany.

In connection with Russia, there was a report in diplomatic circles last night that the U.S.S.R. might try to obtain British aid to obtain a more conciliaory attitude on the part of Finland, making such aid a condition of Anglo-Soviet trade arrangements.

Tip From Blake

Lowestoft, Eng., Nov. 14 (CP)

LOWESTOFT fishermen have taken a tip from Von Tromp and Blake, rival Dutch and British admirals of the 17th century.

Von Tromp carried a broom at the masthead of his ship to show he was going to sweep his enemy off the seas. Blake replied by fixing a whip to his masthead to lash his foe into defeat.

A Lowestoft motor trawler has docked with a mine lashed to the masthead. It was found in the trawl nets while on a North Sea fishing expedition.

Holland Fully Mobilized and Determined To Maintain Neutrality

In a speech broadcast to the nation and its colonies, Premier Dirk J. De Geer, Premier of Holland, declared that Holland's mobilization stands as a guarantee to all belligerents that her neutrality in the present conflict will be maintained. Referring to current rumors that Germany was threatening The Netherands, the Premier declared: "The government has not the slightest reliable information at hand which could shake its belief in assurances received from both warring powers." Despite the assurances of Premier De Geer, the small, but well-equipped Dutch army is standing grimly ready to fight if the reported massing of German troops on the Dutch border leads to the invasion of the tiny country. A regiment is shown, UPPER LEFT,, on the march for an unknown destination recently. General Baron von Voorst Tot Voorst, commander-in-chief, is shown, UPPER RIGHT, LEFT, with an aide, as he toured part of Holland's flooded defence sector after the dykes had been opened in several places to make use of Holland's natural barrier to invasion. A gun crew of the Dutch army is shown in action, LOWER LEFT, while the machine-gun crew, LOWER RIGHT, is typical of the men who man the borders of peaceful Holland.

(By Canadian Press.)

If and when intensive military action opens on the Western front the opposing commands will probably know more about their enemies than was known by their predecessors at any stage in the first Great War. Credit for this must go to their airmen who for weeks have been systematically carrying out reconnaissance flights.

German Airmen Search for British

Within the last few days German airmen have been directing more attention to France and their reconnaissance flights cover a large area. They have flown over Paris and concentrated on parts of Northern France where they apparently believe the British expeditionary force is encamped.

Since the start of the war the Allies have apparently devoted more attention to aerial reconnaissance than the Germans. Bombing raids both on the British Isles and on shipping have been Germany's chief air effort in the West.

It is safe to assume the whole of the Siegfried Line as well as the main industrial areas and lines of communication in Western Germany have been photographed from the air by the British and French.

Shatter Lines of Communication

The information about the enemy and his territory thus obtained is useful first as a means of deducing his intentions about future operations, and secondly in bombing raids. The start of an offensive by either side would be the signal for the release of a hail of bombs from the air. Aircraft would immediately swing into action against the attacking side in an attempt to shatter lines of communication and destroy supplies back of the front line.

Also, should the German air force attack British cities the question of retaliation would arise. Should retaliation be necessary the Allied air forces now know the spots at which bombs would do the maximum damage to Germany's war machine with the minimum danger to civilians.

Greater Demand For Canadian Cheese Due In The United Kingdom

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP)— The demand in the British Isles for food in a highly concentrated form will create a greater market for Canadian cheese, in the belief of Agriculture Department Dairy experts here.

Canadian cheese exports to Great Britain have increased rapidly, and a Government premium on high grade cheeses has improved quality. The British Government has encouraged higher prices on British markets, which has meant a jump of from 68 to 78 shillings for 112 pounds of cheese.

Uncertainty apparent on Canadian cheese boards at the outbreak of the war has cleared somewhat, Government officials said. Stirling is still unsettled on foreign exchange markets, but Government control of foodstuffs and prices has tended to settle the market a little. Cheese supplies in Canada, however, are short at the moment. There is practically no cheese available in the West and Eastern exporters also have little cheese actually at hand.

Normally, cheesemaking ends for the season late in November, but there have been predictions that cheese factories will continue through this winter because of improved marketing prospects. On the other hand, it is pointed out, many farmers divert their skim milk to winter feeding of calves for the spring market and so have no supplies for the cheese factory.

Exports Up.

For the first 10 months of this year, Canadian cheese exports from Montreal and Quebec totalled approximately 76,850,000 pounds compared with about 67,401,380 pounds in the corresponding period of 1938. It is estimated that the total export for this year will be in excess of 80,000,000 pounds, compared with an export of 233,000,000 pounds in 1904, the peak export year.

Milk production in Canada has increased steadily in recent years, but much is used for purposes other than cheese making. Butter production this year is expected to total about 100,000,000 pounds, all of which will be used in Canada.

Butter consumption has increased from 25.79 pounds a year per captia in 1921 to 31.83 pounds in 1938 and slightly more than that this year. Ice cream consumption has sharply increased and condensed milk finds a ready market In 1904 there was one small milk condensing plant, and there are now 71 large plants in operation.

The domestic price on cheese on local cheese boards has risen steadily since the beginning of the war. Eastern Ontario cheese board prices were about 11 cents a pound in the first week of the war and gained a cent or two within two weeks.

Now the price has climbed to between 15 and 16 cents. British buyers have been paying up to 15¾ cents which would net the Canadian dairyman about 14 cents ex-warehouse at Montreal under present exchange rates. The high English price is seen as evidence that buyers there expect further increases.

Link Ex-Bodyguard In Chicago Slaying

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15—(AP).—A letter found in the pocket of Russell Stoddard, identified as a former bodyguard of Edward J. O'Hare, slain Chicago sportsman, was described by Police Lieut Leron Sanderson as "implicating" Stoddard in the case. Stoddard was booked as a material witness.

Stoddard was stabbed four times last night by two men who accosted him on a downtown street. Sanderson said the wounds, on an arm and in the abdomen, were superficial. But the 21-year-old chauffeur collapsed after two hours' questioning and was removed to hospital unconscious.

The missive stated in part:—"Hello, Russ: Well, I guess you did the right thing about leaving when you did, for if you stayed you would probably have been taken with Eddie when this happened. "Say, Russ, I have a pretty nice job for you when you get back. You see, certain people know who was driving the car when they got Eddie. You know what that means, and I think you might be elected. It'll be worth a couple of G's."

...Say GREAT WAR VETERANS

Veterans of the Great War know what the Red Cross will mean in this war. They know that to every soldier the Red Cross is a sanctuary to which he can look for gentle care and peaceful quiet. To the wounded and sick it means transportation from the scene of strain and strife to the comparative safety of the base hospital. It means the swift, sure hands of the doctor... cool sheets and a comfortable bed... the kindly Red Cross nurse in her clean white uniform... relief, encouragement and cheer. To the convalescent it means the sweet-smelling countryside of England. No wonder that old soldiers who are joining up again say "Thank God for the Red Cross!"

Have you done your share to help this great cause? We who stay at home in the midst of peace must prove to the Red Cross that we are ready to shoulder the heavy financial responsibility that is ours. Delay on our part will be measured in human agony. We cannot, we must not fail! He gives doubly who gives quickly. Give big-heartedly. Don't wait for a canvasser. Chicago Out To End Syphilis Scourge

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—(AP).—The elimination of congenital syphilis, health authorities said to-day, has been fixed as the chief goal of the third year of Chicago's campaign against venereal disease.

The United States' Public Health Service, the Chicago Board of Health, the Illinois State Health Department and various co-operating organizations which since early 1937 have made this city a testing ground for the conviction that syphilis coud be conquered, will:

Continue the case finding program by means of secret blood tests, free if the subject is unable financially to visit a private physician.

Intensify the campaign in industry.

Continue the campaign in the schools with renewed vigor, "not only because we believe it will bring to light more congenital cases but because as an educational measure it outranks all others."

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Board of Health president, and Dr. O. C. Wenger, U. S. public health surgeon, said every effort would be made to obtain blood tests of all women of child-bearing age, whether expectant mothers or not, and to bring all uncovered cases of syphilis under care.

Air Training Plan Lauded By Expert

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP).—With high praise for the Empire Air training scheme, Air Chief Marshall Sir Robert Brooke-Popham arrived here Monday from England to complete the membership of the British Air Mission.

He was met at the station by Lord Riverdale, head of the Mission, Royal Air Force Advisors and Members of the Australian and New Zealand Missions here to collaborate with the Canadian Government in the project.

"The training scheme is something the Empire can develop and which Hitler cannot match for he has no Empire to call upon,' Sir Robert said. "I consider it one of the biggest developments since the start of the conflict.

The Empire Air Training scheme "is one of the most important steps taken to ensure ultimate victory" in the war, Air Chief Marshall Sir Robert Brooke-Popham said at Montreal after arriving from England yesterday.

"I don't expect the Air Force to win the war by itself," he said. "We'll gain victory by a combination of several forces, military, naval, aeronautical, and by our economic superiority and the spirit of our people, but the air force can furnish the drive, and that is important.

Northern Hastings Wolves Active

TWEED, Nov. 15. — Wolves or wild dogs are again conducting depredations in the rural sections of the northern part of Hastings County.

Two pelts, one definitely a wolf, another of uncertain origin, were taken to the County Treasurer by residents of northern municipalities in an effort to collect the Government bounty of fifteen dollars.

One of the animals was killed by an automobile driven by a man named King, of Steenburg, when it washed across the road ahead of the car. The other animal was shot by J. Radcliffe of Huntingdon Township, in a field near his farm.

Appearing before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in Madoc weekly Police Court on Monday afternoon, two Bancroft residents were sentenced to serve three months in the common jail in default of the payment of fines levied after the pair had been convicted of breaches of the L.C.A. The men's names were given as Robert Loyst, 26, and John Murphy, 26 ,both of Bancroft.

The pair were apprehended by Provincial Constable Stan Palmeteer, Bancroft, recently and found to be illegally in possession of liquor. Both young men intimated to the court they were unable to meet the assessed fine, which resulted in the jail terms in default thereof.

Harry Griffin, a Madoc youth appeared on a charge of theft of a pair of gloves. Griffin readily admitted his guilt and was given a severe lecture and a suspended sentence.

Plagued Sculptress Gets Gift Of $1,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(AP).—An anonymous art lover aroused by Adelaide Johnson's despairing destruction of her own sculpture was reported today to have donated $1,000 to the cause of saving her home.

Representative Bloom, New York Democrat who has become interested in the case of the elderly sculptress, received a telegram from Bronxville, N.Y., advising him a $1,000 cheque was in the hands of Florence Johnson at American Red Cross offices in New York City for use as he instructed.

The sender of the message, identifying herself only as a woman, said she would be "glad to pay" that sum toward relieving Mrs. Johnson's property from the tax llen which caused it to be sold at auction. Mrs. Johnson disclosed the financial troubles which beset her yesterday when she showed reporters the sculpture she had battered in a moment of desperation.

The benefactress wired Bloom that she could "assume no more" than the $1,000, but that she hoped "a pension may be raised by those women who reverence the freedom they posess."

Moscow Newspapers Assail Turkey

MOSCOW, Nov. 15—(AP)—Russian newspapers today attacked the United States, Great Britain and France and for the first time in recent months criticized Turkey.

A cartoon in the Moscow Bolshevik pictured United States shipowners as violating neutrality legislation by registering ships in foreign neutral countries such as Cuba, Panama and Chile to trade with Britain and France.

The army newpaper Red Star said Britain and France, encouraged by their pact with Turkey and United States repeal of the arms embargo, were seeking to organize a Balkan bloc under their domination and also gain control of the Dardanelles.

An article in Pravda, Communist party newspaper, accused the Turkish Ankara Times of trying to "split" Germany and the U. S. S. R. Pravda denounced as lies reports attributed to the Ankara paper that Russia and Germany "are preparing a division of India" and that "Russia is going to let Germany occupy the Balkans."

have played a vital part in building demand for these nationally famous products

FEW indeed in our two and a quarter million Canadian homes fail to recognize as "household words" the names of branded goods manufactured in Canada and distributed by General Foods Limited.

Year after year, General Foods have placed a large volume of advertising in Canadian Daily Newspapers to widen the demand for their famous products, telling you that you can trust these foods and beverages for quality and food value—for convenience and reliability. Each year the growing demand has brought increased activity within a great national industry—greater production in Canadian factories—employment to a greater number of workers.

And a most important influence on this progress has been the receptive attitude of the housewife towards the advertising in her daily newspaper.

CLEM FAUST

RED STOREY

With the regular schedules safely tucked into the records here are the players who led the three eastern senior leagues in amassing scoring points in the six league games their teams played. Bernie Moroz, of Sarnia, headed them all with 36 points, made up of four touchdowns, two field goals, one single and nine converts. Second best was Tommy Burns, with 26 in the O.R.F.U., the same circuit that Moroz led. Red Storey, who "found himself" in last year's Dominion final against Winnipeg, galloped to five touchdowns for Toronto Argonauts and the 25 points thus accumulated led the Big Four. Faust, one of the many starry backs with University of Western Ontario's college champions, like Moroz, counted by all four methods, one touch, two field goals, one single and 11 converts, for a point total of 23. Wilf Tremblay, of Ottawa, was second in the Big Four and Ding McGill, of Queen's, took the runner-up spot in the intercollegiate.

Puck Prospects For Peterborough Drill In Oshawa

The Petes held their first hockey practise of the season in Oshawa last evening, a gang of 20 prospective puckists performing in a light workout under the eyes of Coach Frank Buckland and Manager Bill Jackson. All of last year's players, still in Peterborough, attended the workout except Don Crowe and Honey Tompkins. Both players will be able to take in the next session. Jim Ellis is away on a deer hunt but should be back next week.

Fast skating and various ice manoeuvres was the order, with different combinations going up and down the ice in a lively hour's practise, followed by a Trenton Fliers' workout. Drake Jopling and Jack Jopling, former locals, were on hand and showed up well. Eddie Starr and Art Heal caught the eye with their speed and condition, and the two goalies—Ray Harding and Earl McNabb—showed to real advantage. The rest gave promise with more practice and conditioning in a fine drill. The Petes will hold another practise Friday night in Oshawa, leaving the Playmor Store sharp at 5:30 o'clock. A few prospects were dropped after last night's practise as having no chance of making a berth.

Inter-League Games Suggested; Cut Season's Baseball Schedule

By SID FEDER
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 — (AP). — The trend toward inter-league play in the major leagues, gradually picking up momentum, was given a new push to-day by a suggestion which met with the approval of several of baseball's more influential citizens.

The sponsor of this plan, a well-known baseball official, asked that his name be not mentioned. But you got the idea it might be brought up at next month's major league meetings. Along with the suggestions of Larry Macphail, for eight "World Series" right down the line between the two loops, and Gerry Nugent for a Shaughnessy playoff in the big leagues.

1. Cut the regular season play down to where each team instead of meeting every other team in its own league 22 times each season, would take the others on in only 18 games—nine at home and nine away.

2. Then each team in each league would play four games with every team in the other league.

3. These four games—two at home and two away—would count in the pennant standings, somewhat on the order of the National Hockey League.

"In that way," explained the sponsor, "you'd have some true idea of just how much better your pennant-winning clubs are than the other clubs in both loops. These inter-league games could be put on late in August, just when the interest of fans is beginning to fall off, and would be a definite shot in the arm to the gate."

"At least," he said, "It's a progressive step. And baseball must keep on showing progress all the time, just like a business.

"The trend is definitely toward inter-league play, sooner or later."

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Gaily bedecked grid rooters will now be giving way to fleece-lined fans as the cleated boots are replaced by steel-shod shoes in the local sports whirl. Aside from the senior P.C.I.-ers, football in this town is as dead as Paroah's father—we wouldn't mention his mummy!—and next big athletic spectacle to be unfolded will be hockey. Before very long, too. And many of you staid folks who follow sports here will surprise yourselves with the enthusiasm exhibited at games. A rather simple sport where half a dozen guys on each team battle bitterly over a hunk of black rubber, with you and you—nearly 2,000 yous—paying out good money to see the sight. Girls and guys who work hard for your weekly stipend, and who would never raise your voices on the street or call a man "you bum" to his face—well, you'd hardly know yourselves in the middle of a redhot hockey tilt. We're funny folks when it comes to sports.

* * * * * *

Seldom has such acrimony been shown at a sport here as was the case early this fall in men's softball playoffs. The Bowl was abrim with heated feelings as a frenzied mob nightly took its cue from some pugnacious players and made police protection a necessity ere the series ended. Plenty of punches thrown besides choice epithets, and good neighbors quit speaking to each other during that hectic playoff. Many of the most outstanding and respectable citizens—civic officials, big shot business men, etc.—blow a fuse as quick as the rest of us in a sizzling encounter, and just in a spectator's role, too, mind ya! Guess it's 'cause we've all got a pretty competitive and pugnacious nature and hard physical contact inclines to intoxicate one, even vicariously. Or something.

* * * * * *

Cool Cash Customers

Despite the hot weather usually attending ball games, the gals in light slacks and gees in ice-cream pants don't often run a fever at the diamond sports. Probably on account of it is a slower game with not much physical contact. Though folks there don't hesitate to go vocal and call the umps and rival players names they'd blush ere using in ordinary life. And another odd thing is that sports enthusiasts find it too cold in October to attend mitt shows at the Brock, yet they'll jam the place when it's 20 below zero in February to see hockey. Dunno why, but we suppose the puck game is more seasonable to Canucks in cold weather. Lacrosse frequently stirs its followers to a high pitch as the players slap each other around with the webbed sticks. Not enough here thoroughly understand football to raise the grandstand roof with their yells at a game.

* * * * * *

Yeah, over a lengthy period, hockey is probably the most popular game with the cash customers. It may be a simple sport—with no great amount of intricate learning required to appreciate it—but it's a swell game with science, speed, action and stream-lined thrills. Fans are funny folk at times, but doggone it they're the ones who pay the freight. Without the paying spectators, sports would dwindle rapidly to a few corner-lot exhibitions of this and that. Weeds would grow on the infield at Riverside, dandelions would sprout unmolested at the Exhibition Grounds, termites would gnaw down the supporting beams at the Brock, and so on. So, bless 'em all—the rabid fans, the sporty spectators and the roaring rooters.

Petes' Puckists Drill

A party of 20 local hockeyists had a good workout in Oshawa last gloaming. All on deck but Crowe and Tompkins, who couldn't make it but will be out again. And Ellis who is deer hunting. Mostly a skating drill with different combinations tried out, tearing up and down the ice. Both Harding and McNabb looked fine in goal, while Art Heal indicated he is out to make a berth with some flashy work. Eddie Starr was fairly flying and Don Coughlin looked good. Ditto with the two Joplings. A kid from Kitchener was on hand but appeared too light for the Petes' moguls, and one or two more will be dropped shortly. It was reported an excellent showing by the gang for the first practice and the coach and manager were quite satisfied. The gang will be back on Friday and leave sharp at 5.30 that e'en for the Motor City.

First Belleville senior "B" puck workout saw 13 on deck under the watchful eye of Skipper Ed Thomas in Kingston. Ken Watt was in the net with Speedy St. Louis and Harry McCreary on defence. McElrath may join the blue-line guardians shortly. The Jackson brothers and Robinson form one line with the two Storms' brothers, Prevost and Barriage also ready for front-line service. They had two newcomers on hand, too, Herb Windsor and Les Yates, former Prescott senior forwards, who should click. The Redmen are expected to be considerably stronger than last season, and will get a test in their VanHorne Cup series opener in Kingston this eve.

Finns Still Hoping

From Helsinki comes a smart booklet full of Finland photos, advertising the country which is supposed to have the next Olympic Games in '40. Provided Red Russia doesn't wipe that fine little country off the map in the meantime. The Olympic stadium is pictured, sports institutes, tracks, the great Paavo Nurmi, and country and city scenes. A foreword states the Finns are among the most enlightened peoples of the world, thrifty, independent, honest, sports loving and law abiding. It claims they will never forfeit their freedom—and winds up with this sentence: "The Finn is a good friend, he never forgets." It would be interesting to learn how they got the name of the Peterborough Examiner on their mailing list.

P.C.I. seniors clash with Belleville Collegiate at 2.30 this Saturday aft at the T.C.S. grounds in Port Hope. It is a sudden-death C.O.S.S.A. playdown game, winner to go into provincial semi-finals as the losers drop out of further competition. Efforts were made from this end to have Belleville play here for a guarantee or to let the P.C.I. go to Belleville for a similar guarantee, but the Quinte crowd couldn't see it. There was some argument by the Bellevilles then about a sudden-death tilt in Port Hope, as they preferred home-and-home games—but that was out, it being too late in the season. The loop officials finally settled it for Port Hope in a sudden-death joust this week-end.

Assistant Coach In Charge For The Playoff

TORONTO, Nov. 15—Lew Hayman, coach of the Toronto Argonauts, was on his way to New York Tuesday night, hurrying to the bedside of his mother in a New York hospital. An emergency message from Lew's brother, Dr. Irwin Hayman of New York City, indicated that Mrs. Heyman was gravely ill and unlikely to live more than a few days. Ted Morris, assistant coach and Angonaut back-fielder, was left in charge of the Dominion champions, who ope nthe Big Four rugby football championship series against Rough Riders in Ottawa Saturday. Hayman hoped to be able to make the trip from New York to Ottawa in time to handle the Argonauts in that game. Otherwise Wes Cutler, former Argonaut star, will have charge of the team from the bench.

Little Hope.

Mrs. Hayman is not expected to live out the week, the brief message of the brother revealed Without a moment's delay the Argonaut coach packed and drove to Buffalo. He planned to take an aeroplane from that city to New York. Before he left he entrusted the more commonplace routine of an Eastern Canada football classic and one of Canada"s classic teams to the care of Teddy Morris and Len Staughton.

Teddy Morris and Len Staughton directed the Argonaut practice session last night as the team went about the business of preparing for title defense against Ottawa Roughriders in Ottawa on Saturday in the first game of the Big Four title series.

Hayman did not expect to be back in Toronto this week. He planned to go direct from New York to Ottawa to guide his proud football enterprise and arrive in the Capital City Saturday morning. "My mother will want me to do that, I know," Lew said, just before he left Toronto Tuesday.

Mr. Hayman, the coach's father, is also ill at his Paterson, New Jersey, home, and is unaware of the critical illness of his wife.

SHORE LEADS BRUINS TO 3 TO 1 TRIUMPH OVER BLACK HAWKS

Local Mermaids Disport In Water

Very Presence Inspired Bruins' Team

The Boston "locomotive" rolled along the "main track" again today after nearly two weeks of idling on a National Hockey League "siding." All the Bruins needed, evidently, was the hand of "engineer" Eddie Shore at the "throttle" once more.

The reliable Shore last night averted the "wrecking" of the Boston "thirty-niner" by leading the Bruins to a 3-1 triumph over Chicago Black Hawks. Anything but a victory would have been disastrous, for the Stanley Cup champions had dropped their only two previous contests.

It was the loss of these two games —to Toronto Maple Leafs by 5-0 and to Detroit Red Wings by a 2-1 score —that led to Shore offering his services to Manager Art Ross for the game against the Hawks at Boston. According to arrangements made at the start of the season, Eddie was to have played in no regular away games and only in home games after December 15.

While the Hawks were losing in an overtime struggle to the Bruins, thereby forfeiting a chance to go into first place in the standing, Detroit Red Wings staved off a last period rally to defeat New York Americans 4-2 at New York. The victory sent the Wings into a tie at the top with Toronto Maple Leafs.

For 53 minutes of the Boston-Chicago encounter it appeared that the Hawks might win, for they had taken the lead on a first-period goal by Doug Bentley. But at the 13-minute mark in the third period, Shore engineered the play that allowed Bill (Busher) Hollett to tie the score.

In the overtime period Bruins went to work and Milt Schmidt took advantage of a breakaway from a gang attack, while Boston's Dit Clapper was serving a minor, to fire the winning goal. Hollett added his second goal of the game.

Young Kenny Kilrea, member of a famous hockey family, and Syd Howe, a still-youthful N. H. L. veteran, led the Wings in handing Americans a third straight defeat. Kilrea counted the first and second Detroit goals; while Howe aided in the third and scored the fourth. Johnny Sorrell and Murray Armstrong scored for the winless Americans.

Horse's Identity Being Questioned

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15. —(AP) — Stewards of the Maryland Jockey club today directed the racing secretary at Pimlico to bar further entry of the horse Smoke Signal until his identity has been properly established.

The question of Smoke Signal's identity was raised when he was entered in the seventh race at Pimlico, November 10. At that time the stewards were told the horse positively was Smoke Signal. He ran second.

Later, the stewards issued a statement saying Smoke Signal had run under the name of Laddie Boy Ring at Washington Park August 2, 1938, and barred him from the Pimlico track until the Illinois Racing Commission gives him a clean bill.

Normie Mann Is Slated To Go To Providence

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—First break in the ranks of Toronto Maple Leafs' twenty-three player squad is slated to take place Thursday night, when Normie Mann will leave here on loan for the season to Providence Reds of the Inter-Am. League. Leaf officials yesterday announced completion of arrangements which had been pending for several days, regarding the placing of the little forward with Manager Bunny Cook's team.

Mann and Coach Eddie Powers probably will be reunited next winter if Toronto Maple Leafs' plans to operate a farm club at Buffalo are carried to completion. They toiled together in several recent seasons at Syracuse.

Seven Leafs, who had trained down a little too "fine," were excused from practice yesterday as work got under way for Saturday's and Sunday's games against Detroit Red Wings. Apps, Heron, Kelly, Chamberlain, Church and Davidson were the absentees at a limbering up session that had lots of skating but no scrimmaging. The entire squad will go at it hot and heavy for the next three days.

However, among those who practiced hard enough to shed an extra pound or two was Goalie Turk Broda, who is bent on maintaining his fine twine-tending record in the games against Detroit. The Turk never forgets that Detroit peddled him off to Toronto—even if it did turn out to be a kick upstairs. Of course, he likes to beat all of the other N.H.L. teams but he loves to turn back the Red Wings.

Blue and white clad players were whirling all over the ice when Querrie arrived. He called out to Coach Irvin:

Irvin grinned before replying "Those double feature movies must be affecting your eyesight. Six players, besides the injured Stanowski, aren't out there this morning. That's a total of seven missing.'

"Well....it still looks like a big squad," Querrie protested. "And come to think of it, just your list of absentees would have made a whole lineup for our old Toronto St. Pats pr team in other days. There were times when St. Pats' entire roster contained only eight men .... yet, you lose seven for a workout and I don't miss 'em. But say, I'd certainly miss that fellow Apps and some of the others if they weren't around next Saturday night!"

Later i nthe morning, Querrie was willing to agree that hockey trainers, as well as hockey players, were getting smarter— almost too smart in one particular case—when Tim Daly worked a trick whereby he got a Querrie 25-cent piece in exchange for a Daly dime.

Place-Kicking With Sarnia Imps' Moroz Appears Easy

By The Canadian Press

For a young fellow who had to step into a position vacated by the illustrious Hugh (Bummer) Stirling Bernie Moroz of Sarnia Imperials has done a man-sized job. Moroz, who won the East's scoring title this season, will be the player watched most by Montreal Westmounts when the two clubs start their Ontario Rugby Football Union playoffs this Saturday.

The Great Bummer, who retired from play at the end of the 1938 season, as hailed often as a "one-man football team. He could run, plunge, pass and kick with the best of them and was a power on secondary defence. It is almost the same way, albeit he doesn't do some things quite as well, with Moroz.

Moroz is as deadly as Stirling at place-kicking, booting two field goals and converting nine touchdowns from placement. He backs up a line with some deadly and hard tackling and he plunges well enough to have scored four touchdowns this season.

The 36 points Moroz picked up during the six scheduled Sarnia games look all the better when it is considered that in the previous season, when Stirling was leading the Imperials, he failed to score a single point. Stirling led all scorers in the section with 42 points.

No other player on the Sarnia team came close to Moroz in point scoring, but Westmounts have two players—Tommy Burns and Ray Mullins—that will bear watching. Burns came second among section scorers with 26 points while Mullins compiled 22. Burns and Red Storey of Toronto's Big Four Argonauts were the only two players in the East to score five touchdowns this season.

The Westies and the Imps play the first game of their two-game total-points at Sarnia, with the second contest coming a week later at Montreal. A similar series between the Canadian champion Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders for the Big Four title opens at Ottawa Saturday.

New York Giants, Last Major Club Bows To Night Baseball For 1940 Season

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—New York Giants, themselves, breathlessly announced night baseball in the Polo Grounds today—after just about every baseball writer in town had been announcing it for them for weeks.

"We're going to have the finest lighting plant in the game for 1940," President Horace Stoneham said. "We'll have seven games under the lights during the 1940 season."

Thus, the last major league stronghold against night ball passed out of the picture. A year ago the Giants vowed they never would play under the lights, either at home or on the road. Reason for the about-face could not be learned.

Now the club is going the whole hog. Not only will there be seven night games in the Polo Grounds next season, but the Giants also will play under the lights in Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Brooklyn.

"We originally had planned to wait until 1941 to start," Stoneham explained, "but since we made the decision finally, and figured the revenue is so high, we thought we might just as well start in 1940."

There will be eight towers in the lighting plant, extending 150 feet above the playing field and 70 feet above the roof of the stands. The installation will cost more than $100,000, and operation of the 200,000,000-candle-power system will cost about $300 a game.

Doc Romnes Is Out

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 — (CP). — Manager Red Dutton of New York Americans announced to-day that Doc Romnes would be out of the lineup for three weeks with a broken hand. Romnes, a centre acquired from Toronto Maple Leafs, suffered the injury in the National Hockey League game against Chicago Black Hawks on Sunday night.

Shore's Indians Suffer 5-4 Setback

(By the Canadian Press.)

If Eddie Shore doesn't have a headache before this hockey season is over, what with owning a team in one league and being needed as a player by a team in another, he's the wonder man of the ages.

As owner of the Springfield Indians of the International-American League, Shore has more than a passing interest there.. But he also happens to be a much needed cog in the Boston Bruins' National Hockey League machine.

However, he can't be in two places at the same time, so last night while he inspired the Bruins to a 3-1 overtime victory over Chicago, his Indians bowed 5-4 in overtime to Cleveland Barons. Indians remained in first place in the eastern section., for there was only one game last night, while Barons gained a first place tie with Indianapolis in the western division.

In gaining their fourth straight victory, Barons scored three times in the overtime period.

Two former N.H.L. stars, Paul Runge and Leroy Goldsworthy, played prominent parts in the victory. Runge scored Barons' last two overtime goals while Goldsworthy figured in the other three markers.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Nov. 15. — Three thousand dollars was the objective set for Millbrook and Cavan in the Dominion-wide drive for Red Cross funds, scheduled for November 13-25 this being the amount decided upon at the meeting held in the Town Hall on Friday at 8 p.m. to organize locally for the drive, the chairman of the campaign fund, ex-Warden Percy Stinson, presiding.

Mrs. T. A. Campbell, president of the local Red Cross Society, took the chair for the opening, expressing regret that the unfavorable weather had kept the attendance lower than had been anticipated. Mr. Stinson stated his emphatic belief that the raising of the funds for Red Cross work was up to the men, "since the women are shouldering the whole responsibility of the practical work, with Millbrook as the centre, and all the outside groups of workers having to be supplied from here with materials for knitting, sewing, etc., which entails a great volume of executive planning as well."

The need of further definite information on the why and wherefore of the big drive for Red Cross funds and other intimate details, was voiced by several of those present, and it was decided to endeavor to have a speaker at Ida, Cavan, Mount Pleasant, and possibly either Carmel or Millbrook, before the canvassers start out on their rounds, two meetings in one evening being considered a possibility.

The canvassers for Cavan are: East section: W. W. Brown and Harold Tate, Concessions 1; 2, 3, and 4; W. Elson and L. Sutton, Concessions 5, 6, 7 and 8; Percy Seymour and Russell Earle, 9, 10 and 11; ex-Warden G. H. Hootan and Reeve Garnet Shield, 12, 13 and 14.

Millbrook: P. I. Bentley and T. H. Collins, southwest section; Reeve W. E. Ball and R. A. Ford the southeast section; H. Blair and P. Stinson northeast; and T. W. McCamus and W. C. Fallis northwest.

A meeting of all the canvassers will be called before the date of their starting out on the campaign arrives in order that they may definitely discuss and understand their duites. Meeting adjourned to the call of the chair.

CITIZENS PRAISE THE WORK OF RED CROSS IN WAR AND PEACE

"One service that the Red Cross contributed in the last war is not known to many Canadians. That is the work it did in endeavoring to trace missing soldiers and in supplying relatives at home with news of their loved ones who had been wounded. On the 9th of April, 1917, when my unit took part in the capture of Vimy Ridge we had four men and two officers killed by one shell. I was wounded and sent to hospital in England. While there a Red Cross representative called on me one day in September and asked me if I knew any of the four men that had been killed. They had been reported missing and I was the first man the Red Cross had been able to locate to tell definitely what had become of the four. They had kept on the trail until they found out what had happened. The Red Cross also did a great job in supplying the friends of wounded soldiers with information as to the whereabouts of the men and their condition. I know that in my own case my mother, who had only had the bald cable from the war office that I had been wounded, was informed by the Red Cross as to what hospital I was in, how I was and what I needed, which happened in my case to be money."—Douglas A. Loomis, M.C., formerly of the 4th Battalion, C.E.F.

THE RED CROSS BAGS.

"I can't speak too highly of the work done by the Red Cross during the last war and among veterans of that war since. I saw what the organization did in England, France and Germany and back here at home after the fighting was over. No matter what hospital you went in overseas you were always supplied with a Red Cross bag, containing such comforts as a razor, shaving cream, a wash rag, a tooth brush and tooth paste and even on the boats crossing from France to England these were handed out. I slept on Red Cross sheets in an hospital at Etaples that had been made by an Ontario woman and handed over to the organization and in an hospital in Germany I saw Red Cross bags being handed out. And the work still goes on. At Christie Street Hospital, Toronto, where I have been several times, the Red Cross visitors call regularly and they keep the wounded veterans supplied with reading matter and other comforts while in numerous cases where ex-servicemen have entered the institution with nothing but the clothes they were wearing the Red Cross furnished shaving equipment and other comforts including slippers and socks and shirts. The Red Cross has always been efficient and always helpful."—Police Sergt. Gordon T. Puffer, formerly of the 14th Battalion, C.E.F.

TRACING THE MISSING.

"I can't say too much for the efficiency of the Canadian Red Cross in all its activities in connection with the last war and I was particularly impressed with the great pains and patience its workers displayed in hunting information in regard to soldiers who were officially reported missing but about whom nothing else was known. My brother Harold was thus reported in June of 1916 and I know that the Red Cross used every effort through its agency at Geneva and in other ways to establish the fact that he was not a prisoner-of-war and finally that he had met his death in June, although it was not until December of that year that it was revealed that he had been killed in action, probably blown to pieces by a shell. We shall always be grateful to the Red Cross for the pains it took in regard to my brother."—Gordon S. Matthews, late of the 3rd Division Trench Mortars.

PRISONER OF WAR.

"I had an opportunity at first hand to see what the Red Cross did for the Canadians who had the misfortune to fall into the hands of the Germans as prisoners of war. I happened to be captured at the second Battle of Ypres when so many of the Peterborough members of the 2nd Battalion were killed and I was a prisoner for most of the war. At first the Germans used to allow private parcels to come through to us but that soon stopped and then the Red Cross stepped into the breach and supplied every Canadian prisoner in German war camps with two parcels of food and comforts every month. Every prisoner got the same quota and the supplies thus furnished by the Red Cross were certainly a great source of comfort to us for the menu furnished by the Germans was not very lavish, to say the least."—Heber Rogers, formerly of the 2nd Battalion, C.E.F.

DOES HUMANE WORK

"The Red Cross does the most humane work of any organization we have, and every citizen should donate toward this fund," declared President George Gimblett of the Canadian Legion. As a veteran he said he could endorse the work the organization does in war-time. "During the War the Red Cross society was high in the esteem of every soldier and its work was greatly appreciated. They helped many a man overseas and their bundles were always more than welcome. And they equipped many hospitals with the result that soldiers received much greater comfort than they would otherwise."

"We all know that some people can't give as much as others in the city, but everyone can and should contribute something."

ITS WORK AT HOME

"The reason I am supporting the Red Cross drive is because I feel that the organization is doing work that could not very well be done by any other association," declared Alderman James Dutton.

He said he was thinking not only of war work, which was essential because much of its effort lies outside the Government's field; and which the Red Cross has taken over eagerly, but of its peacetime activity as well. "I am very mindfull of the splendid service the Red Cross society has been doing in Peterboro and other centres with its Visiting Housekeeper service. This city is availing itself of this service," he declared. He said that if no such organization carried on that service many unfortunate people would have to go to hospital at the city's expense. "The cost to the city of hospitalization would be much greater if it were not for the Red Cross visiting housekeepers," he said.

He cited, too, the work of the Red Cross for transients," a work that few know about.". Mr. Dutton said that this work—providing food, lodgings, and necessary attention when none else is available—is extremely important.

"The Red Cross is worthy of all the assistance the public can give and I'm hoping their drive will go right over the top," he declared.

Red Cross Always Ready

Dr. A. G. Howson whose service in the Great War included two years with the 22nd Division of the British Army in the Saloniki expedition said: "It is the simple duty of every citizen to give liberally to the Red Cross. Wherever our armies go, the Red Cross goes with them. In the last war you saw them in France and Flanders, in Italy and Macedonia, at the Dardanelles and elsewhere. Liberty and freedom go hand in hand with mercy and justice. Let those of us who value these things show our appreciation of this priceless heritage by putting their weight behind this appeal of the Red Cross. Every man who was overseas knows the extent and the quality of the work of the Red Cross."

Women Play Their Part

"The women of Canada, many of whom in coming months will walk in loneliness and great anxiety, will find some comfort in having a part in the great service rendered by the Red Cross in time of war.

An appeal to the Red Cross never falls upon deaf ears, and neither should an appeal from it. Our immediate and pressing concern is war relief, and the Red Cross is the channel through which our efforts can best be directed. Hospitals, nurses, ambulances, surgical and medical supplies, food and comforts, are essential to the well being of our men in camp, in the field, in hospital or as prisoners of war. The established peace time work of the Red Cross simply cannot be allowed to suffer even for the claims of war. The men who return after the war should find at least as fine a country as they left, one in which an honest effort is made to improve health, prevent disease and mitigate suffering. To lessen such effort now is to destroy the constructive work of past years. The peace time work must be supported, as well as the efforts of many other fine social service agencies.

This war time and peace time work of the Red Cross require money,—much money. Peterborough's share of the $3,000,000 required is $15,000. In the campaign to raise this fund, the women of Peterborough will play a worthy part."—Mrs. W. R. Morris, acting chairman of the Board of Education.

Care for Physical Comforts.

"The Red Cross should have the unanimous support of everybody, because it is an institution which more than any other cares for the physical comfort of the soldier overseas in every detail. On duty often for long periods he needs extra physical comforts; in hospital he must have the best of care and convalescent opportunities must be provided for exercise and recreation to build up his strength. These things the Red Cross seeks to provide; and if he should be listed among those missing, relatives find in this splendid organization a means of finding out just where the missing one is and a way of communication with him. All these services, now under strict government supervision, provide a splendid outlet for those at home to do their bit, and twice the amount asked would not be too much to expect from the citizens of Peterborough," Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr of St. Paul's said.

Duty of Every Citizen to Help.

"Of all the people in the world, Canadians should be the first to recognize the value in peace-time effort of the Red Cross," declared Charles Saunders of Hall's Store. "Of its part in war, I think everyone is familiar and recognizes its great need."

He pointed out that this country's half-settled districts know the Red Cross well—that the organization has been of tremendous value to people in those outlying districts where there are often no docotrs. Red Cross stations are to be found in the most desolate places in Canada, saving lives every day, and are making people a great deal more comfortable than they otherwise would be. The society has not the scope in densely settled Europe for peace-time activity that it has here, where it dos probably its best work.

"We are far removed from the theatre of war and don't realize how urgent the society's need is now," he said. "But at the first offensive the Red Cross will be expected to care for thousands of casualties and they must be prepared in advance. That is why I consider it the duty of every Canadian to contribute towards this fund."

Opportunity to Unite.

"The Red Cross offers to people the opportunity to express their unity with the soldiers who are fighting for Canada—it makes them a part of this war effort of our country," declared Dick Rainc George Street tobacconist. He said that he has found people all over the city to be more than willing to contribute toward the fund. "Giving to this fund brings about unity between Christian men fighting to rid the world of this un-Christian menace," he said. In war and peace the Red Cross is always on hand ready to go to work, he said. In time of disaster it does not need to waste time in establishing its posts because they are already established, waiting to go into action at the first indication of need, he pointed out.

Supplied Everything

"When I was carried from the hospital at Camieres, outside Boulogne, on a stretcher on my way to another hospital in England, I was wrapped in a blanket, and the only thing I possessed was the pair of socks I was wearing. The Red Cross supplied everything I required without any charge whatever. They called on me in the hospital to find out what I needed and to enquire about anything else that could be done for me. They also came around to ask about men who were reported missing and to get definite information about those who, they were able to learn by that means had been killed. It was all good work. I don't think I could pay any higher tribute to the Red Cross than by recalling my own experience and what they did for me."—Warden James Milby.

Prisoner Says Tools Found Central School

Smith Rosebush, 25, swore in police court this morning that the tools found in his possession when arrested on Hallowe'en and which the crown alleged to be burglar tools had been found by him earlier in the night in the yard of the Central School.

Judgment was reserved by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. until Thursday after the evidence and the argument of counsel had been heard. Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. appeared for the accused and Crown Atorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. prosecuted.

The charge against Rosebush was of having by night been in possession of instruments for housebreaking, to wit cold chisels and other tools.

The only Crown witness was Sergt. W. E. Wigg who told of arresting Rosebush near the corner of Homewood avenue and Monaghan road shortly before 11 o'clock on the night of October 31. Rosebush, witness said, was in company with Gordon Druce and when accosted by the police had a coat under his arm. When ordered to hand it over for inspection Sergt. Wigg said that wrapped inside the coat or smock were several bags containing tools.

The coat, bags and tools which included several cold chisels, a hammer and several pairs of pliers were all put in as exhibits, as were two masks, one of which Sergt. Wigg said Rosebush had had in his possession. The witness said the tools were capable of being used to pry off locks and force windows. Rosebush's explanation of having them was that he had found them in the Central School yard.

To Mr. Gordon Sergt. Wigg said that Rosebush was going south on Monaghan Road when arrested and that was in the direction of his home which was at the corner of Sherbrooke street and Monaghan road. It was Hallowe'en night and there had been hundreds of people wearing masks that night. Sergt. Wigg's evidence closed the crown's case and Mr. Gordon made a motion for dismissal which was denied.

Rosebush then took the stand and testified that he had found the coat and tools in the yard of the Central School earlier in the evening of October 31. He said that the coat was thrown over the railing at the west side of the yard and the tools were on the ground underneath it. Later he had met Gordon Druce on George Street and he said he and Druce were on their way home when arrested. Rosebush testified that he had lived in Peterborough for 18 years and had never had a charge against him before.

Mr. Gordon maintained that Rosebush should be acquitted in view of his evidence as to the finding of the tools. He declared that on Hallowe'en night property was tossed around carelessly all over the city, which made the story of finding these articles reasonable. Crown Attorney McElderry said that the onus was on the accused to give a satisfactory explanation of his possession of the tools put in as exhibits.

Remarking that he wanted a chance to look over the authorities Magistrate Langley reserved judgment until Friday.

Gordon Druce Committed To Stand Trial

After one Crown witness had been heard, Gordon Druce, 24, was by consent in police court this morning committed for trial on a charge of having been in possession of instruments for coining, namely a mould or matrix.

Druce, who was defended by John A. Bradshaw, will it is understood elect speedy trial and will likely appear in the county judge's criminal court in the near future.

Sergt. W. E. Wigg who had arrested Druce on Hallowe'en night told the court that after Druce had been brought to the station witness secured a search warrant and the home of Druce's father, Sherbrooke and Monaghan Road, where accused lived, was searched. In the room occupied by Gordon Druce, Sergt. Wigg said he found on a shelf in the clothes' closet the articles which he produced as exhibits.

These included what witness said was a mould for making Canadian silver coins, 50 cent and 25 cent pieces, a mould apparently made out of plaster paris and wood from a cigar box. Also found was a bag containing plaster paris.

Sergt. Wigg said that there had been some complaints about counterfeit coins in Peterborough and he himself had seen one several weeks ago.

Mr. Bradshaw did not cross-examine the witness and by consent Druce was then committed for trial.

Men Redecorate Lecture Hall Of Knox Church

Men of the congregation of Knox Church have completed the redecoration of the lecture hall, the original church building, and will have everything ready for the annual fowl supper next Tuesday evening. Between forty and fifty of the men joined in this co-operative effort from seven to ten being the average of nightly work during a period of weeks. J. W. Lancashire, chairman of the Board of Managers, was an unofficial foreman. The general direction of the job was a responsibility that devolved to him but he gives all the credit to the men who gave their time and effort to make the renovation a real success.

A committee of the men has also arranged for the purchase of eight hundred pound of turkeys from Arthur Charlton of Smith township who is picking them from his flock of 115 birds. They will be displayed in the windows of John Allen's store at George and Sherbrooke streets, Thursday evening and on Friday, and with a real crowd expected at the supper next Tuesday it is altogether likely that they will all be required.

Assault Cases Are Dismissed

James Davis, the missing witness whose absence Tuesday morning resulted in three assault charges being shunted over until the afternoon arrived in time for an afternoon session of the court, explaining that engine trouble had been responsible for the delay.

Whatever trouble he may have had, however, did not compare with the trouble that Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., had in trying to figure out from a mass of conflicting evidence just who had assaulted whom in a recent lively episode in a wood camp in Anstruther township.

Harry Clapper and his son Joseph of Bethany faced charges of assaulting Harry Buott of Apsley and Buott in turn was charged with assaulting the younger Clapper. That there had been some assaulting was clear, but in all three charges the magistrate decided that a sufficient case had not been made out against the accused, and accordingly the three cases were all dismissed.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15—When his car figured in a near head-on collision near the C.N.R. crossing on the Grand Road at midnight Tuesday, Horace Norman, Kingston insurance inspector, received a strained neck, bruised shoulder, and other injuries.

He was driving south when his car collided with one driven by Lorne Alyea of Consecon, near Trenton. Neither Alyea nor his passenger, Cecil Ames, was injured, although both cars were badly damaged. After receiving medical attention from Dr. C. A. Bright, Mr. Norman was able to leave for home.

Damage to both cars was estimated by police at approximately $150. Local and provincial police are investigating the cause of the crash and a charge probably will be laid.

Quake Startles Eastern States

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—(CP)—A check-up today showed no serious injuries or property damage resulted from a 10-second earthquake that shook the Eastern United States seaboard from Baltimore, Md., to Trenton, N. J., last night.

Seismographs at the Franklin Institute here and Fordham University, New York, placed the centre of the quake at a point near Westville, N.J., just across the Delaware river from Philadelphia.

The earthquake was a vigorous one for this region but as F. Wagner Schlesinger, in charge of Franklin Institute seismographs, put it: "a good Californian wouldn't have paid any attention to this at all."

The shocks hit an area about 130 miles long and 30 miles wide, and frightened residents of Northern Maryland, Delaware, Southern New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania.

Jolted from a doze, a Philadelphian exclaimed: "It felt as if two fellows picked up the Davenport and shook it back and forth like a baby's cradle."

The greatest alarm was felt in Wilmington, Del., and other sites of powder and chemical plants. Residents tumbled into the streets crying "which plant blew up?"

Drivers Are Guilty Of Careless Driving

Recent accidents on Highway No. 7 had their echo in traffic court this morning when several drivers entered written pleas of guilty to charges of careless driving, laid by Provincial Officer Gordon E. Broughton.

The first was Harry E. Green whose car recently ran off Highway No. 7 and wrapped itself around a tree. He and a passenger in the car were hurt in the crash.

Sergt. G. T. Puffer explained to the court that Green had gone to sleep and his autmobile had slid off the road. A fine of $5 and $2.50 costs was collected in his case.

A similar fine was imposed upon Jack Dolan, driver of another car which was badly damaged recently when it crashed into a highway guard fence and turned over. Dolan and four passengers were injured.

Band Of Gypsies Victimize Public

Provincial Constable David Silvester warns the public to be on the lookout for a large band of gypsies who have been travelling around Ontario in seven automobiles and victimizing large numbers of people.

A favorite method is to represent themselves as expert stove repair men. A price is set on a particular job and after the gypsies get the stove or furnace all in pieces they demand a much higher price to do the work. If the demand is refused they simply drive away, leaving the citizen to get his stove put together again the best way he can. On the other hand if the victim does submit to being held up and pays the bigger price, the gypsies line the stove with worthless clay and instruct the owner not to light a fire for twenty-four hours. By the time he finds out the clay is worthless the gypsy band is well on its way.

The gypsy women also claim their victims by fortune telling stunts, and fake massaging during the course of which the wallets of the folk they are working on disappear.

Noted Toronto Santa W. C. Whitney Dies

For 10 months of each of the 20 years he was a floor superintendent in the department store but during the other two months he was Santa Claus until a failing heart forced his retirement four years ago.

He was born in Cobourg, Ont., 61 years ago, and left home when 14 years old. From that time on he had a colorful life, having pushed cattle in the West and served in two wars, the South African and the first Great War. He was also an active yachtsman.

Billy Rose Weds Eleanor Holm

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 — (CP).—Eleanor Holm and William Samuel Rose were married here yesterday in a ceremony that Billy said later "almost didn't happen."

Justice Ferdinand Pecora performed the ceremony in his chambers. Ben Bernie, the comedian, attended the bridegroom, with Mrs. Bernie as matron of honor.

"This almost didn't happen today," said the Broadway showman when it was all over. "My best friend, Sydney Spier, died this morning. But he made me promise we wouldn't change our plans because of him."

Spier, 28, was Rose's publicity manager. A former newspaperman, he was one of the popular publicity agents in New York. Rose was among those who were at Spier's bedside this morning when he succumbed to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Miss Holm, former Olympic swimming champion, wore a pale beige wool dress, sable jacket, blue feathered turban, with muff to match, and a cluster of orchids. Billy wore a blue suit with blue tie, and beamed throughout the proceedings.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose were serenaded after the ceremony by three messenger boys, who delivered a book entitled, "Marriage, Morals and Mothballs," and sang: "Happy Wedding to You. Happy Wedding to You; Read Marriage, Morals and Mothballs, and Our Wish Will Come True."

Many Broadway notables attended a reception last night in a downtown hotel. Among them were Jimmy Durante, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Baker, and Max Gordon.

Miss Holm, 25, is the former wife of Arthur Jarrett, orchestra leader. Rose, 39, recently was divorced from Fannie Brice.

FASHIONS

Fashion front for a new outlook on a new season. We must plan for the winter months, but we want clothes we can wear now in perfect chic. The soft fullness at the shoulder line is most flattering. Tucks at the waistline make it appear inches smaller and so very smart. Front skirt fullness is pretty and graceful when you walk. All the requirements you need for a smart but practical dress to see you through the late fall and the holidays that will soon be here. A deep, rich red adds a gay note to any gathering and black is always smart when accented by a bright gold necklace.

Style No. 2968 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 36, 38 and 40. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material.

William Aitken Weds Ada Jean Rose

An interesting late autumn wedding was solemnized this afternoon in St. James' United Church, when Ada Jean, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Rose, Peterborough, and William Stewart Aitken, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Aitken, Toronto, were united in marriage.

Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James', performed the ceremony, against a background of roses and ferns, and Cecil Lapp played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white moire taffeta, cut on lines of classic simplicity. Featuring the sweetheart neck line, the close fitted waist fastened with tiny buttons, terminating at the quaint bustle effect back, the skirt falling into a long graceful train. Her shoes and gloves were white kid.

The bride's headdress formed a halo of seed pearls, from which fell the long soft bridal veil of embroidered net. Her only ornament was a four strand rope of pearls, and she carried an armful of Pink Briarcliffe Roses, tied with white ribbon.

Miss Eleanor Gibson, as bridesmaid, wore an attractive frock of turquoise blue taffeta, made with close-fitting waist, bouffant skirt and short puffed sleeves. She wore a small heart-shaped bandeau of velvet flowers in pastel shades, with long blue lace gloves and carried a bouquet of Better Time Roses.

The best man was Mr. Merwyn Sanders of Toronto and the ushers included Mr. Sidney Turner of Toronto and Mr. Gerald Cuff of Peterborough.

Following the church ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 121 Morrow Street, where the bride's mother welcomed the guests in a modish wine-colored rough crepe dress made street length, with bustle bow and black accessories, and carried token roses with gold tie.

The groom's mother, who also received, wore a charming frock of mulberry silk crepe with corsage of violets and black accessories.

After the reception the groom and his pretty bride left for a wedding trip via Montreal and Quebec. For travelling the bride chose a forest green dress and scotch tam, with suede shoes, gloves and bag to match. Her sable jacket was the gift of the groom. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Aitken, will reside, after the New Year, at Kitchener, Ontario.

Scrutineers for the nomination of officers were Miss Gerard and Mrs. L. Groombridge. The third chapter of the book, "The Church and the National Life," was capably reviewed by Miss J. M. Lancaster.

Mss E. Clementi was convener for the social half hour following the meeting.

Tells Of Missionary Work In Latvia, Russia

The work he is doing among the children and women of Latvia, Russia, was the interesting subject of an illustrated address by Rev. Oswald J. Blumit of Latvia, who spoke Tuesday night at a meeting of the young people of St. Andrew's United Church.

Rev. Blumit instituted the orphanages in Latvia because his heart was touched by the many homeless, ill-treated women and children. His work is purely missionary, and his orphanages are supported by his illustrated lectures and contributions.

The war has not affected his work greatly, he said. Rather surprising is the fact that the Swastika and Nazi salute were both used in Latvia before Hitler was born. At one time Latvia conquered Russia. The country is one of the oldest parts of the world, and the language has changed but little in the past three thousand years. Impressive pictures illustrated Rev. Blumit's words.

Young people of the Stewart Hall Y.P.S. will be guests of the St. Andrew's Y.P.U. at the Tuesday night meeting of next week.

Van Duzee—Pearson

The marriage of Miss Marion Mildred Pearson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Pearson, Lakefield, to Mr. Curtis R. Van Duzee, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis V. Van Duzee of Rochester, N.Y., was solemnized in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church on Saturaly, November 4. Rev. J. L. Kates was the officiating clergyman.

The bride wore a chic frock of French wine crepe with accessories of the same shade, and a corsage of white Breton roses. The wedding attendants were Miss Pearl Beeby of Rochester, wearing a black crepe frock of simple design with wine accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses, and Mr. Charles Van Duzee.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where the groom's mother received in a gown of mauve georgette wth matchng hat and corsage of sweet peas and lly of the valley.

The couple left afterwards for Lakefield, Ont., the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Van Duzee travelling in a lime green ensemble with brown accessories under a coat of American broadtail. They will live at 18 Wilbur street in Rochester, N.Y.

St. John's W.A. Has Interesting Meeting

"Gifted Tongues and the Power of Speech" was the subject of a delightful informal talk which Canon W. P. Robertson gave before the monthly meeting of the Evening Branch of St. John's Church Women's Association.

The meeting opened with prayers and the Litany, Mrs. W. Downer presiding. Miss A. Stout read the minutes, and a substantial sum on hand was reported by the treasurer, Miss A. Milburn. Mrs. B. Ottewell gave the Dorcas report, and worthy of comment was the report that all Rosborough. Many appreciative acknowledgments of letters, cards, flowers and favors were read, as well as spoken thanks for kindness shown. An invitation was received to attend a meeting at Park Street Baptist Church. Reports of department secretaries bore evidence of fine work and a very real interest being taken. Mrs. A. H. Davis reported the many visits made and cards and letters written by the Strangers' secretary, while Mrs. A. Cripps gave concrete appreciation of the bale sent from St. James' Auxiliary, in the letter of thanks she had received, where the articles of clothing had been badly needed and very gratefully received.

While not present, Mrs. B. Pitchford reported the work of her associate helpers and sent in a call for mite boxes to be returned by the December meeting.

Mrs. W. K. Sloane, the enthusiastic secretary of the W.M.S. missionary monthly, gave a good report and is already gathering in her subscriptions with a fine proportion taken by the members of her Auxiliary.

Christian Stewardship was taken up by Miss M. Deyell, representing the secretary, Mrs. Craik. She defined Christian Stewardship, giving as the financial system commanded by Paul, embodying the principles of stewardship taught by Christ, so liberalized and individualized as to form an adaptable means of giving for the whole of the Christian Church.

Apropos of the coming election of officers, Mrs. Rose read a wonderfully suggestive story as to the attitude of responsibility members should take at this crucial time.

At this time Mrs. A. Godfrey, with her group, including Mrs. Langton, Mrs. Maudsley, Mrs. A. E. Saunders, Mrs. Dinsdale, took over the meeting. Their theme for this part of the program was "Our Responsibility to God's Missionary Program," as Revealed in Old Testament History." The treasurer reported $110 sent to the branch treasurer for the past quarter. Other reports showed five letters sent to the bereaved; the Community Friendship group has made 78 calls; and the Sick and Visiting committee made 293 calls since June.

Mrs. A. F. Lane took charge of the devotional period for Group F, Mrs. R. Parnell read the Bible lesson, and Mrs. Lane led in prayer.

Mrs. H. A. Mitchell sang very beautifully a selection used by the C.G.I.T., voicing the charm of the out-of-doors in the summer. Mrs. H. S. Powers was at the piano.

Mrs. Lane led in a review of the second chapter of the study book on "The Untouchables," and was assisted by Mrs. Boorman, Mrs. H. Ludbrook, Mrs. H. Girven, Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. H. Powers, Mrs. W. J. Hales, Mrs. F. Barrett, Mrs. J. A. Spencer, Mrs. C. Coleman, Mrs. C. Elliott. This chapter on the Untouchables, which means that these poor people of India must not be touched—if a Hindu touched one of the members of this isolated class in India, he will lose caste. They live on a plane level with the animals or below them, and most of them never have enough to eat.

The interesting part of this chapter is the great influence of Mahatma Gandhi and Dr. Ambedkar, who says Hinduism is responsible for the untouchables — Mr. Gandhi's opinion is that it is not. Gandhi is a Hindu, and while he sympathizes with the untouchables in economic and social matters, does not want them to become Christians.

Dr. Ambedkar was born an untouchable, but by natural ability and an extraordinary chain of circumstances, he has become Master of Arts; a Dr. of Philosophy; a Dr. of Science; a barrister, and has been appointed a representative of the Untouchables at a round table conference in London, Eng. He is not a Christian, but through prayer feels that he has a power greater than his own, and is studying other religions and the Bible. The missionaries are hoping that he will lead ten million people to true Christianity, for they are willing to go wherever Dr. Ambedkar leads. "Truly his name shall be called wonderful."

London Husbands Don't Know Beans

LONDON, Nov. 15—(CP).—Harassed husbands in charge of households since their wives have been evacuated are getting special attention and advice from patient store assistants these days.

It has been discovered that men, who never flicker an eyelash when buying shirts and socks, haven't the faintest idea of the right quantities of food needed for themselves.

When a husband asked for a pound of tea and a quarter of a pound of rice the shop's assistant tactifully explained that if he reversed the quantities he would find his provisions would last much longer.

Another husband had trouble with some butter beans he bought. These had been boiled for an hour, he said, but were still as hard as bullets.

"We gave him a little friendly advice and suggested he soak the beans overnight before cooking and then allow two or three hours' boiling," the storekeeper said.

Delighted with the information the husband immediately bought more beans "to see if it worked."

PARDON MY STYLISH ACCENT

By ALICE ALDEN

Five o'clock fashions are mostly an emphasis on good accessories. The butterfly debbie and her career sister can't do more than be chic when they step out at dusk, no matter what their individual incomes—and they both say it with a flattering hat, jewelry, gloves and handbag, tastily distributed over a simple basic costume. There are two schools of thought on what's chic, perhaps. One girl goes for soft, feminine wiles; the other prefers tailored oomph. At the LEFT is a belle of the first type who wears a hat of puffed velvet and carries a shirred, draped handbag of suede. The bag has a bejewelled metal frame. At the RIGHT is Babs Beckwith who adores a tailleur, wearing with it a woven suede thong hat in brilliant colors, one of which she matches with her washable, high-colored doeskin gloves.

Western W.M.S. Work Is Outlined

Representatives from Centreville, Port Hope, Keene, Warsaw, Lakefield and Campbellford joined with the Peterborough W. M. S. to hear Mrs. D. Strachan of Toronto at the annual Thank-offering meeting over which Mrs. T. Carley presided.

Mrs. C. Blewett introduced the speaker, who is already well known to readers of the "Glad Tidings" and "Blue Book", and as treasurer of W .M. S. finances for the Western district.

Mrs. Strachan spoke of the work the W. M. S. is doing in the West, and told of the Rocky Mountain Hospital, Alberta, which serves a district where mines have been recently opened. This hospital started with ten beds which soon had to be doubled in number. The influence of this hospital, she said, helped greatly in church work, as "Christ healed men's bodies in order to heal their souls."

Weirdale Nursing Home, although smaller, was another centre which served its community in the same way. Both of these hospitals were gifts of departed friends, and everlasting memorials of their good works. Kenora Hospital is also under W. M. S. control, and although there is no Presbyterian church there, the work is appreciated by the community.

A special tribute was paid to deaconess work. Often in out-of-the-way places the deaconess was able to give a helping hand, and their friendly visits meant much. In some districts the deaconess would gather up enough children to start a Sunday School, which would be the nucleus of a church. Some families are so scattered Sunday School work is done by post. In the Peace River district Miss Todd, the deaconess, would gave four services every Sabbath, travelling over bad and lonely road. At Kirkland Lake Miss McArthur is doing a similar work.

In speaking of the work in Foreign fields, Mrs. Strachan said it was her wish that every woman present at the meeting might visit these districts to see the struggle that is required to have a church at all, and in referring to the school residences, said that there are always more children waiting for admission than can be accommodated. More young women are needed as nurses in this church work. also "We all need a broader outlook, we should not be engrossed with out own needs or the needs of our church, our Province, our country, but with all the world, all nations, all peoples," Mrs Strachan remarked in closing.

The thanks of the meeting for her message was expressed to the speaker by Mrs. A. T. Barr and Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss to Mrs. J. Goldie for her beautiful solo "Others," to Mrs. C. Renaud, who accompanied her, and to Mrs. J. Walker for her reading and explanation of the scripture lesson. Mrs. Ed. Barrie was pianist for the hymns, and the opening prayer was offered by Mrs. J. Dutton. Mrs. T. J. Carley pronounced the benediction, and after the meeting the members spent an enjoyable social period.

Home and School Association News

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

Mr. F. H. Dearborn gave a delightful review of James Hilton's book, "Good-bye Mr. Chips," at a meeting of the King George Home and School Association Tuesday evening in the kindergarten room. The speaker was introduced by Mr. F. E. Kerr. Mr. Dearborn spoke of James Hilton's book as a story to be read, re-read and discussed, remarking that a book that is not worth reading the second time is not worth reading at all. He urged his listeners to read the book, and announced that the author would be heard over the radio in a presentation of his book on Friday evening of this week.

Entertaining pictures of the Royal tour were shown by Mr. Ross Dobbin, and a reel of local scenes was also much enjoyed. An informative talk on current events was given by Mr. F. E. Kerr, and a beautiful piano solo was played by Miss Frances Wells. A vote of thanks to the entertainers was moved by Mr. G. S. Northey.

A recreational night at Central School was announced for Friday, November 17, to which King George Home and School members are invited. The attendance picture was won by Miss Moores room.

It was announced that Miss E. Deyell, Reg.N., school nurse, would be the speaker at the December meeting, and has chosen for her subject, "Health Education." There will be also an address by a local doctor on Associated Medical Service. Mr. G. C. Northey will have a book display at this meeting, when books suitable for parents to purchase for Christmas gifts for children will be shown. Each member was requested to bring a small novelty that a child could make, which will be also on display. The December meeting will be a white gift meeting.

Miss M. Eastwood gave a report for the welfare committee, and urged the members to attend the Y's men's concert Friday evening, and Mrs. Seymour presented a report of the fine work done by the telephone committee.

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Remedy. It's Fine.

Gives Quick Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

This well-known home-mixed medicine costs very little, but it gives delightful, swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle and add your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of really splendid cough remedy—and it gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and children love its taste.

And for quick, satisfying relief, you'll say it's really splendid. It has a three-fold action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear air passages. You'll be delighted by its prompt, pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, a well-known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

If You Need a Boost_

Extra vitamins this MORE EFFECTIVE way may help you

If YOU FEEL LIFELESS AND RUN-DOWN, it may mean that you aren't getting enough vitamins in your everyday meals—

Then, EXTRA VITAMINS should help you feel peppier and more energetic—if you assimilate them properly.

TODAY the news is spreading fast that extra vitamins—in addition to those your meals supply—can often give amazing help in boosting pep and energy.

More than Vitamins alone

But you want to make sure you get these added vitamins in a way that can offer greater advantages. That's why so many now depend on Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast.

This improved yeast is now richer than ever in 4 important vitamins, A, B_1, D and G—the vitamins you need for good general resistance, for steady nerves, sound bones, to help digestion, and to help you feel and look glowing with vitality and pep.

Aided by Yeast's "Booster Action"!

Slow digestion may be keeping you—like so many others—from making good use of vitamins you eat. By helping to stimulate this slow digestion, the yeast also helps you to assimilate your vitamins better. In this way it "boosts" their effectiveness.

Start now to eat these extra vitamins this more effective way in Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast. Eat two cakes daily—and see if you, too, don't notice what a difference this eating vitamins-in-fresh-yeast can make.

You Get these Rich Amounts of 4 Vitamins in 2 Cakes of Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast

VITAMIN A—6200 UNITS (Int.)
VITAMIN B_1—300 UNITS (Int.)
VITAMIN D—800 UNITS (Int.)
VITAMIN G—150 UNITS (Sh. Bour.)

All the average person needs (plus meals) of A, B_1, D—and a rich supply of Vitality Vitamin G. Eat one cake ½ hour before breakfast or lunch, one ½ hour before supper, or both at one time—plain, or in a little water or milk. Start today!

SPORT SPICE

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Four clubs—Texas Aggies, Tulane, Oklahoma and Tennessee—are in the Sugar Bowl running. Yep, we said Tennessee. Some say the Vols would prefer the New Orleans trip to the longer trek west to the Rose Bowl...The Yanks admit they're after another American League player, but swear it isn't Greenberg... Those long lost Dempsey-Willard fight films have come to light here and will be shown around the country...

Barney Ross, already in the jewellery and printing business, is toying with the idea of taking over a Broadway night spot...Mrs. Jack Dunn won't sell Baltimore Orioles because she's saving the club for Jack Dunn, 3d, now a Princeton freshman...

Roy Slater, a one-armed golfer of Rock Island, Ill., shot a bona fide ace on a 148-yard hole and challenges any another one armer to tie it.

Remember When—

Frank Calder, secretary of the old National Hockey Association, was elected president of the newly-formed National Hockey League 22 years ago today. Canadiens and Wanderers, Ottawa Senators and Toronto Arenas were original members of the loop, now expanded to include many United States teams, but still headed by Calder.

The Stars Say . . .

For Thursday, November 16.

A particularly progressive and productive state of affairs is read from a very interesting chain of planetary configurations. Sudden and surprising events may push things forward at a lively and unprecedented tempo, with changes in plans, objectives, and surroundings quite revolutionary or radical in effect. Decidedly important contacts may be made with large corporations, political, diplomatic or fraternal organizations, with which finesse and strategem may be unexpectedly lucrative. There may be delays and impediments but these seem to vanish.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a memorable and notably progressive year, with many major ambitions being swept along with whirlwind and surprising tempo. It is a time for pushing toward new goals, with the prospect of powerful interests, political diplomatic or fraternal, aiding and abetting. These should be cultivated, as new and constructive plans are promised unexpected co-operation. But do not be discouraged by some delays, postponements or disappointments of a temporary nature, possibly due to a low physical condition.

A child born on this day may be clever, original, shrewd and ambitious, and may attain great heights because of its ingenuity, skill and gracious personality, although its physical constitution may demand attention or safe guarding.

TOE BLAKE
Canadiens
By Central Press Canadian

A hard-working player who gives everything he's got, going both ways, on the ice, Toe Blake (Hector's his given name) scaled the heights last year by winning the N.H.L. scoring championship and being chosen left wing on the annual Canadian press all-star team. Not a spectacular player or one given to verbal displays either on or off the ice, he's the kind of a player every coach likes to have around. Big and rugged, and always in good shape, he sets out for the opposition's goal in a determined manner and usually ends up pretty close, without any fancy skating display to get him there. When he was younger he would flare up at the least provocation, but he's conquered that tendency, and, despite being a "marked man" because of his goal-getting ability, he served but 10 minutes on the penalty bench last year. Played amateur hockey in Northern Ontario senior ranks before turning pro with Canadiens in 1935-36. In four years he's amassed 52 goals, 53 assists for a point total of 105. For his great play last year with Canadiens, who barely made the playoffs, he was voted the Hart trophy as the most valuable player to his team in the league.

Kaminsky In Lead

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 15 — (AP). — Max Kaminsky edged ahead of a Springfield teammate, Norm Schultz, to-day in the race for individual scoring honors in the International - American Hockey League.

Kaminsky was credited with nine assists for a total of nine points in league statistics. Schultz holds a second place tie at eight points with Deacon of Indianapolis.

Wrestling It Out

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 — (AP). — It's a sad state the old sport of wrestling has reached hereabouts.

For several years the New York State Athletic Commission has refused to recognize any wrestling championships, ruling all bouts must be billed as "exhibitions."

Yesterday, at the request of Jess McMahon, representing various mat promoters, the commissioners agreed to reduce the minimum wage of wrestlers from $10 to $8 per exhibition.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

KILLING A FETISH

FOR YEARS bridge books and bridge authorities have been in the habit of saying that a singleton is of no value if it is in the hand of the player who first bid the trump suit. For purposes of counting up your number of winning tricks, that pedagogy may be sound. But for consideration in the late stages of the bidding it is plumb haywire. Frequently possession of a singleton, with concomitant ability to stop the run of that suit early, produces victory out of what otherwise would have been defeat.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

The bidding went quite normally on this deal, with East calling 1-Heart, West 2-Clubs, North 2-Spades, East 3-Hearts, West 4-Diamonds, East 4-Hearts and South doubling.

Now you figure out the play. There is no earthly way that the declarer can lose more than one trick in hearts, one in diamonds and one in clubs, unless he terrifically misplays the deal in some way. Had East, however, possessed one more club and one less diamond, the contract would have been set. In other words, the singleton in clubs was vital.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem

Berlin Hopes To Fight U.K. To Finish

Be No Peace Terms Till Victory Won For Germany

BERLIN, Nov. 16 — (AP). — An authoritative source asserted to-day that Germany has decided to "fight until British supremacy in the world is destroyed."

Germany, this source said, "will have no peace terms to offer until such a victory has been won."

(Replying to previous similar Nazi statements, Winston Churchill on Sunday said Britain was not disturbed by "blood-curdling threats. If words could kill, we would be dead already," he said.)

The German statement was made in connection with the German reply to the mediation offer of the Netherlands and Belgium and in answer to the question, "What might Germany's peace terms be?"

(Germany's reply to the mediation offer, made orally by Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, was a polite "No.")

"It is no longer a question of German peace terms," the Berlin official said. "Such a question might be raised in Paris and London, but not in Berlin. We are far beyond that and there will be no peace terms until we reach success. We are as ready to fight as we were for peace."

The Attack Issue.

This source said there was speculation throughout the world over why Germany did not attack.

"The speculators assert we need to attack to keep up morale," he said, "or we must attack the southeast for Von Ribbenrop needs a success to show the Fuehrer.

"We have no fear of attacking, but intend to let military judgment choose the time and not to be goaded into it by foreign propaganda."

His statement emphasized that it "would be a great mistake for the outside world to get the impression there was weakness here."

To-day's communique of the German high command was confined to four words: "No special events yesterday."

B.C. River Flood Maroons 100

ZEBALLOS, B.C., Nov. 16—(CP). —Refugees from flooded areas in two Vancouver Island districts took shelter on high land today, waiting for rain-swollen rivers to return to normal levels.

More than 100 persons were taken by boats or trucks Tuesday night from their homes on Privateer Flats, four miles from this west coast gold-mining centre. The Zeballos River, swollen by torrential rains, flooded the town's main street and caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars.

Telephone lines were washed out and roads leading to mines in the mountains behind the town were blocked by slides caused by the rain. Two women were rescued from the halfway inn where lower rooms were flooded. Harold Harrison spent a night on the roof of his shack, built on a small island.

On the island's east coast, a strong wind and 14-foot tide combined to back up waters of the Courtenay River, forcing 15 families to flee to higher ground.

Personal Contact Producing Real Results Simon Tells British Commons In Reporting On Empire Envoys' Parleys

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(CP Cable). —Informal discussions among British and Dominion cabinet Cabinet Ministers have resulted in "most encouraging" progress and have "shown the great value of direct and personal contact," Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons to-day.

In the absence of Prime Minister Chamberlain, laid up with gout, Sir John read the weekly report on the progress of the war. The statement welcomed the relaxation of tension over the Netherlands and Belgium and reiterated Britain's determination to "continue to respect the neutrality of the Netherlands and Belgium."

4 German Ships Taken.

The Chancellor disclosed that four German ships were captured by the navy last week and that two large vessels were scuttled to avoid capture.

On land, operations were curtailed by bad weather. On the French front minor German attacks were repulsed while the British forces in France improved the defences in their sector.

In the air there was "considerable activity" although most of it was of desultory character and there were no major engagements.

Referring to Hon. T. A. Crerar, Canadian Minister of Mines and Resources, and other Dominion representatives here, Sir John said that since their arrival "they have been engaged with us in discussions on all aspects of the war."

"Our talks have covered questions of defence, foreign policy, problems of supply, matters relating to economic warfare and shipping," he continued. "A number of meetings have also been held with the representatives of individual dominions on various special problems.

"Our discussions are still proceeding but I am glad to say the progress already made has been encouraging and has shown the great value of direct and personal contact.

"In addition to their discussions with the minister here, the overseas representatives have been able to see for themselves the various aspects of the defence preparations in this country.

"They have also recently returned from a visit to France where they had the opportunity not only of conversations with Premier Daladier and General Gamelin and of meeting the British and French general staffs, but also of seeing the B.E.F. and French troops at their war stations.

"Representatives from the dominions and India have thus had an opportunity of judging for themselves the magnitude of our war effort. It also has been possible to gain fuller knowledge of

Ottawa Decides Death Rays Are Too Costly

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 —(CP)—Death rays cost too much in proportion to their effetiveness; and cannons can do a much better job of destruction at a fraction of the cost, Government scientists have decided.

Amateur scientists have deluged officals in the capital with enthusiastic suggestions for killing off the enemy with a variety of rays and air waves, but none has been found practical and within cost possibilities.

Person nearly deafened when public address system amplifiers went awry fo a moment have suggested an extremely powerful machine for amplifying sound might be trained on the enemy and either shatter eardrums or prove fatal through the tremendous pressure of the sound waves. Such theorists pointed to the forec of sound that makes dishes rattle when a particularly loud noise is heard.

Government research experts however, have already looked into the possibilities of such devices. Their verdict is that sound waves would harm an enemy, but only at extremely short range, and wind conditions would have to be perfect. Sound apparatus like that, the experts say, would be difficult to control, the cost would be prohibitive.

Various types of radio waves, and even a super-powerful ray of the type used for electro-therapy have been suggested as potential "killers, but the answer remains the same—it would be impossible to develop sufficient intensity with equipment now known to science, and factors of control of such rays and the tremendous cost would rule them out.

World Of Today To Be Revised Alberta Decides

EDMONTON, Nov. 16—(CP). — A revision of the Alberta school reference book, "The World of Today," is underway by its authors in view of complaints first made to the Department of Education about six weeks ago, Dr. G. F. McNally, Alberta Deputy Minister of Education, said here Wednesday.

(Passages of the book, "The World of Today," were attacked during the Calgary civic election campaign on Tuesday by E. H. Starr, a school trustee candidate, who claimed it contained "pernicious Nazi propaganda.")

"The World of Today" is not an authorized text book in Alberta schools, but is a reference book written at the request of the Department for use of Grade Nine pupils in the "social studies" course.

The social studies course groups the former subjects of history, geography and civics. Dr. McNally said. In Grade Seven the reference book is "Canada and Its People," and in Grade Eight the reference book is "The Empire and Its Neighbors." "The World of Today" is recommended for Grade Nine.

All three books were written by W. D. McDougall, of the Calgary Normal School, and Gilbert Paterson, assistant editor of the Ryerson

Last Minute News Flashes

BROCKVILLE. — Judge M. B. Tudhope, today sentenced Elmer Giroux and Gerald Carr, both of Brockville to 18 months and 14 months respectively in the Ontario Reformatory for their part in a robbery of Omer Buel's store at Mallorytown on Sept. 22 last. Gerald Gifford, who previously pleaded guilty to the same charge was given a year in reformatory when he appeared this morning.

LONDON. — The Evening Star published a brief Plymouth story today that "it is freely reported here that the 10,000-ton German pocket battleship Deutschland has been sunk by a British battle cruiser." Immediately beneath the paper said: "The Star is authorized to state that there is no truth in the report." The Admiralty said it had not heard of it either.

LONDON, Ont. — Bookmakers claimed they were more surprised than their patrons today when their race wire loud-speakers blared forth at noon on schedule, in spite of the suspension yesterday of M. L. Annenberg's racing news service. It said the international network is apparently being continued under "new management." Just who it is, they don't know, say the bookies.

Nazis' Heart For Hardships Key To Length Of The War

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(AP). — More and more it looks as though Fuehrer Hitler's success or failure in this war will depend on how stout the hearts of his people are in enduring harsh privations.

He is drawing on their fortitude right at the outset of a life and death struggle when their morale —their will to do—should be stimulated to the highest degree. He is banking on the efficacy of the Nazi discipline which he has imposed.

Pointing up this situation is his recent decree putting Germans on a rigid clothing ration, in addition to the food restrictions already existing. This order limits men to one suit, one shirt and five pairs of socks annually. Women are permitted one suit, one morning dress and six pairs of stockings. Children's allowances correspond.

I saw civilians die of starvation in the first Great War, and was on the ground when Germany was beaten by hunger. To me the question of supplies, especially as relating to public morale, is the one on which Germany will stand or all.

The rationing announcement was one of the most significant to come out of Europe since the war started. Between the lines, you see determination to face any odds, precautionary preparations for a long war, already a shortage of materials which is causing anxiety, perhaps fears that after all Russia isn't going to make up the great deficiency which Germany is bound to encounter unless she can get outside supplies.

Baby Of Seven Months Is The Only Child Surviving Terrible Blast Which Destroyed Home Of Charles Lytle

While Mother And Sister Away Cleaning Hunt Camp Girl Believed To Have Thrown By Mistake Gasoline On Fire

Three children were dead today and a 7-months-old baby lies in a critical condition in Nicholls Hospital after fire destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lytle, farmers on the 12th Line of Dummer Township, eight miles north of Norwood, yesterday. The 7-roomed frame dwelling was burned to the ground.

Hazel Lytle, 12, died in Nicholls Hospital shortly before 9 o'clock last night from burns and shock.

Hilda Lytle, 4, died at 9.35 o'clock this morning.

William Lytle, 6, died at 11.15 o'clock this morning.

Sister's Unbounded Courage

It was a story of unbounded courage that came from the tragedy: the story of a 14-year-old girl who rushed into the blazing building to rescue a sister and w brother; and of a mother coming along later who when that girl could not enter the blazing inferno again because of the intense heat, herself fought her way through the flames to rescue her other two children. Mrs. Lytle placed the worst burned of her children on a wheelbarrow and carted her a half mile to a hunting lodge. This was the girl, Hazel, who died last night.

Mr. Lytle was hunting with a party of men from Warsaw, and was four miles from home when the tragedy occurred His wife and eldest daughter, Ruby, 14, had gone the half mile from their home to the hunting lodge, where they were cleaning up, he said last night. Mrs. Lytle happened to look out of the window and saw her

Calgary, Nov. 16 (CP)

POLICE investigating activities of a youthful gang last night uncovered their alleged headquarters and recovered a complete load for the police wagon, valued at approximately $500.

The cache of goods was located in east Calgary in several old shacks.

Police said they found complete typewritten records of the gang and its activities in the "office"—equipped with stolen typewriters. There were lists of stores broken into and the items stolen; lists of persons to whom stolen goods had been sold, and lists of places yet to be broken into.

U.K. Naval Lists Dwarf Nazi Fleet Figures

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(CP)—Graphic figures showing Britain's overwhelming superiority in numbers over the German navy were published today in the latest issue of "Jane's Fighting Ships," authoritative naval annual.

Only in torpedo boats and submarines did Germany have an edge while Britain dominated other classifications. A comparative table follows showing the class of vessel and the number possessed by, first, Britain and, second, Germany:

Capital ships 15, including two under construction; five.
Aircraft carriers six; none.
Heavy cruisers 15; two.
Other cruisers 43, including two under reconstruction; six.
Anti-aircraft ships six, including two under construction; none.
Destroyers 179, 22.
Submarines 57; 65.
Torpedo boats none; 12.
Motor torpedo boats 26; 30.

Britain's determination to maintain this advantage was shown by a construction program including nine battleships, five cruisers and six aircraft carriers against carriers.

Building Goes Ahead

Heavy programs of construction by France, Britain and the United States were reported while scant information on new naval building was available from Russia and Japan.

In parliament today a statement on the progress of the war was to be made on behalf of Prime Minister Chamberlain by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer. Mr. Chamberlain, suffering from gout, was reported to have shown further improvement today.

Colonel Harry Nathan, Labor member of parliament and chairman of the newly-formed "National Defence Public Interest Committee" announced the committee shortly would start a series of luncheons designed to "stimulate and maintain public interest and understanding of what Prime Minister Cham-

Fast Chemical Tank Spraying Poison Gas War Threat That May Demand New Mask

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)— Poison gas warfare has a new weapon ready for the battlefield. It is the chemical tank, a squat, speedy, steel-skinned caterpillar which contains, instead of guns, poison liquids and gases.

This tank is described by Lieut.-Colonel Augustin M. Prentiss of the chemical warfare service, United States army, as one of the most formidable methods of attack, yet devised He is one of the great authorities on gas warfare.

"Chemical tanks have the power," he writes in the Chemical Warfare bulletin, "to release suddenly enormous concentrations of non-persistant lethal gas in such strength as to readily break through any military gas mask."

The non-persistent gases are those which float in the air, and poison the lungs. Their potency as weapons was greatly reduced by gas masks in the last war.

But the chemical tanks may prove so effective, says Colonel Prentiss, that an entirely new type of gas mask will be needed for protection This mask would shut out all outside air and keep its wearer alive by breathing oxygen stored inside the mask.

A single tank, he says, carrying 1,000 pounds of phosgene can cover in one mission an area downwind 500 yards long and 100 yards wide For an additional 500 yards, or a total of nearly two thirds of a mile, the concentration of this gas will be sufficiently deadly to cause serious casulties.

The great advantage of this new war engine is the ease of placing gas. For example, to do the same thing with artillery or projectors of gas would require hours of preparation, transportining materials to the firing line. The tank, alone of ground weapons, carries its own gas.

European belligerents are supplied with these tanks But these weapons are only one of several poison gas instruments new since 1918 and waiting for the day which Europe hopes will never come but for which its civilian populations are most widely prepared.

Gangster Capone Released To Relatives

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(AP)— "Scarface Al" Capone, notorious gangster of prohibition days, was released to relatives at Lewisburg, Pa., today by Federal prison officials.

James Bennett, director of Federal prisons, made the announcement. He said:—

"This morning, the sentence of Alphonse Capone having expired today, he was discharged from the United States penitentiary at Lewisburg to his relatives.

"Capone was transferred today from the Federal correctional institution near Los Angeles to Lewisburg.

"Capone began service of a 10-year penitentiary sentence for evasion of income taxes May 4, 1932 and completed this portion of his sentence on January 19, 1939, upon which date he began service of the sentence of one year for failure to file his income tax return.

"With allowances for good behavoir and credit for three days spent in jail in October, 1931, Capone's sentence expired November 16, 1939"

Bennett's announcement did not say what relatives were on hand to welcome the one-time racketeer as he left the penitentiary, a free man.

UK Goods Worth 13 Millions In German Ships

LONDON, Nov 16—(CP Cable).— Cargoes consigned to Great Britain valued between £3,000,000 and £5,000,000 ($13,350,000 and $22,250,000) are held up in the holds of 140 German ships which have taken refuge in neutral ports.

The London Chamber of Commerce is negotiating for release of the cargoes but so far without success. The Germans are demanding anywhere from 10 to 35 per cent. of the value of the cargoes in addition to full freight charges to British ports before they will surrender the goods.

Most of the cargoes are already paid for. The German demand is said to cover the costs involved in the refuge port. The Chamber is advising owners to pay freights and up to two per cent. of the value of the cargoes to meet these charges.

"We have not taken action in neutral ports," the Chamber said. "That will depend on the reply we get from the Germans."

Outruns Sub

London, Nov. 16 (CP)

THE 12,380-ton British steamship Matoroa, en route from Great Britain to New Zealand, escaped a submarine at sea after a 50-minute pursuit, a Reuters report from Panama said today.

The submarine was sighted when it came to the surface 2½ miles from the liner. The skipper ordered full steam ahead and the vessel soon pulled seven miles ahead of the U-boat, which then abandoned the chase.

The Matoroa is armed but the captain was quoted as saying he had orders to fire only if attacked. He praised the coolness of passengers and crew.

Lytle Children Liked To Play In County Forest

Members of the reforestation committee of the County Council set out again this morning to visit the forest property in Dummer and Methuen "and do the work we intended to do yesterday."

Reeves W. A. Anderson, John McColl, Allan B. Mann, James Gifford, and Deputy-Reeve M. H. Johnston were ready to move off before nine o'clock on a trip that would take them past the ashes of the home of Charles Lytle destroyed by fire on Wednesday that took the lives of two girls and one boy and seriously burned a baby of seven months.

"I don't want to see anything like that again," Mr. Johnston remarked to the Examiner, telling of the difficulties of getting medical assistance into the bush country eight miles north of Norwood. The Lytle place was quite near the county's forest. The road past the house was improved this year, and the youngest boy of the Lytles spent a lot of his time watching the men at work. They all got to know him, and Reeve Anderson was especially atracted to him, and was greatly upset by the tragedy that struck Mr. Lytle and his family.

"They were all bright children," Johnston remarked to the Examiner, "and when we got to the hunting shack where the mother had taken in a wheelbarrow the girl who died last night it was something you'd never forget."

Reeves Anderson and McCall and Deputy-Reeve Johnston made the trip to the forest yesterday, but the most of their day was spent on a mission of mercy, requiring them to return this morning, partly for the purpose of having a complete report ready for the County Council next week.

Fire Has Claimed Seven Children

Wednesday's fire in the township of Dummer in which three children of Charles Lytle lost their lives was the second fire this year that has claimed lives of Peterborough county children.

At Cordova Mines on January 22 four children of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnston died in a sub-zero blaze that levelled their home. In their case also a baby was rescued from the flames by its mother and survived.

20 Townships Under Ban In Rabies Case

61 Persons Treated As Dogs Go Mad In Three Counties

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP). —Sixty-one persons, eight of them actually bitten by infected dogs, in the Counties of Huron, Bruce and Perth, are being given preventive vaccine injections against rabies, the Ontario Department of Health announced today.

As a result of the epidemic of rabies among dogs, the Dominion Government has placed a quarantine on dogs in 20 townships of these three counties, the Ontario Department announced.

People in these quarantined townships are forbidden to allow their dogs to run at large. The animal will be shot on sight anywhere in the township, if they are not on leash.

Dogs have bitten cows, horses, hogs and other animals in these three counties, and these animals have had to be destroyed, as well as a cat, which has been examined by the Provincial Health laboratories.

The origin of the epidemic is not yet known. The Department states that there has not been a case of rabies among Ontario dogs for many years.

The townships under quarantine are Turnbury, Hollick, Morris, Grey, Wawanosh, Ashfield, Olburn, Hallett and McKillock in Bruce county; Huron, Kincardine, Kinloss, Culross, Carrick, Brant, Greenock, and Bruce in Huron county; and Wallace, Alma and Logan in Perth county.

China Arms Line New Jap Goal

HONG KONG, Nov. 16—(AP) — Japanese forces invading south China intend to drive inland to cut off Chinas "back door line of supply from the outside world through French Indo-China and British Burma, a Japanese army spokesman asserted today.

The spokesman said the Japanese forces which landed on the coast of South Kwangtung province yesterday, intend to drive through Kwangsi province into Yunnan province. The main object would be to cut off the rail and motor highways over which China has been receiving most of her supplies since closing of the coastal ports by the Japanese.

Smashing of Chinese opposition in these regions would be a secondary purpose, he said.

The campaign began with an attack at a point about 4 miles west of Pakhoi and only 35 miles from the Indo-China border. Neither Japanese nor Chinese sources gave details of the action.

Chinese quarters assert Chinese units are well prepared to resist the Japanese once they get beyond range of the Japanese warships from which they launched the attack.

The border of Kwangsi lies only about 45 miles of relatively easy going from the coast. The Yunnan border is 230 miles away, most of the route over difficult ground.

MOOSE WESTERN PEST

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C.—(CP).— The gentle moose is the bane of farmers here. Last winter Jack Maindley lost 30 tons of hay to the hungry animals, so now farmers are building fences around haystacks.

Pole Exile Predicts Europe Free State Group Again

LONDON, Nov. 16. — (CP) — Europe eventually will be transformed into a community of free and independent states, fully aware of their "common citizenship," General Wladislaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government in exile, predicted today at a luncheon offered in his honor by the Foreign Press Association.

While admitting it would be premature to predict the future evolution of Europe in all its aspects, the premier expressed the certainty that the "convulsions which are now shaking the old continent lead now to the emergence of the idea of European solidarity."

"This idea sooner or later will unite all nations in a community of free and independent states, to whom it will bring home a European conscience of common citizenship," he added.

Voicing conviction that Poland and her allies would fight successfully to a "triumph of justice and right," the Premier said the Polish "air force and her army will be ready to play their part, side by side with the Allied armies."

The premier said the conversations he has had here with British leaders "have confirmed to me the complete unity of views between the Polish government and the British government both as regards the aims to be achieved and the methods to be employed."

"The ties uniting us are strong and more alive than ever," he added. "The Polish army, which is now being reorganized in England and France, has received the greatest possible moral and material support of the allied governments, as is only to be expected among comrades in arms."

Russian Press Hammers Helsingfors

Lays Charge England Teaching Finns To Hate Russians

MOSCOW, Nov. 16 — (AP). — The Soviet press, intensifying attacks on Finnish foreign policy, today quoted an Estonian newspaper as saying Finland's "obduracy" was impairing her relations with the U.S.S.R.

In a despatch from Tallinn, Tass, official Russian news agency, said the Estonian newspaper Uus Eesti had criticized Finland's military preparations and urged that she "regulate relations with her great Eastern neighbor as soon as possible."

"Finland is hurting herself— no one can deny that," the despatch quoted the paper as saying.

In another despatch from Helsingfors, capital of Finland, Tass charged that Finns were being taught to "hate Russians" with the encouragement of "the English bourgeoisie."

These attacks, reminiscent of Soviet newspaper comment preceding the Russian march into Poland two months ago, were interpreted by foreign observers as part of a campaign to induce Finland to grant Russia's demands for territorial concessions.

Nazis' Heart

Hitler said the other day: "This war will be easier than that of 1914. We are prepared economically this time. Neither economically can we be defeated."

Be that as may, the Reich has piled up reserve supplies — just how much nobody except officialdom knows. It has been announced there is more than a full year's reserve of wheat and rye on hand, 8,600,000 tons.

Officials claim that so long as Germany has fairly good harvests and the Balkan granaries remain open, the grain reserve need not be touched. Indeed, they boast that they can defy the blockade.

Many neutral economic experts get a different slant on the situation. Germany has to import some 20 per cent of her food. The Balkans cannot supply this deficiency, although Russia possibly could if she would. There are vital war materials which neither the Balkans nor Russia can produce — and the blockade cuts those off.

One of Germany's great difficulties is that she lacks cash with which to buy from those neutrals still open to her. Perhaps because of this some of the Balkans have been selling for gold to the Allies supplies which Germany needs and normally would get.

Thus, much depends on Russia's intention toward Germany, and the Soviet ability to deliver the goods—if it wants to.

However, there is more involved than Russian willingness to co-operate. The east Prussian newspaper Koenigsberger Allgemeine Zeitung recently put a point on it like this:

"Certainly the present state of affairs compels one to estimate conservatively the transportation facilities available for supplying Germany with raw materials of Russian origin. Hence every article must be examined carefully as to how essential it is for Germany."

SHORT OF EQUIPMENT

Many industries in Spain are faced with the lack of essential equipment which they had ordered or planned to order from Germany.

how the assistance of the empire overseas, offered in such generous measure, may best be utilized for the furtherance of the common cause."

A Peace Proposal.

During the fortnight that has passed since the Prime Minister's last statement to the House the most notable development in international affairs has been the communication addressed by Her Majesty the Queen of Holland and the King of the Belgians on November 7 to His Majesty the King and the president of the French Republic and the German Chancellor.

In this communication the two sovereigns offered their good offices in the hope of avoiding a further extension of the war. In the speech which I delivered on behalf of the Premier at Mansion House on November 10 I said that His Majesty's Government were in consultation with the Dominions and with our Allies with the view of tendering to His Majesty our advice on the nature of his replies to this bold intervention in the cause of peace.

I was obliged to add, however, that past experience did not enable us to be very hopeful of a satisfactory response from the German Chancellor. The members of the House will now have seen the reply which the King sent the Queen of Holland and the King of the Belgians on November 12.

In his reply, His Majesty expressed appreciation of the spirit of Their Majesty's initiative and readiness of His Majesty's Governments in this country and in the Dominions to examine any reasonable and assured basis for an equitable peace. His Majesty further stated that His Governments were prepared to give their most earnest consideration to any proposals from Germany of such a character as to afford a real prospect of achieving the purposes for which they had been compelled to enter the war.

These purposes had been made clear in numerous statements of policy which have been made publicly by the Premier and the Foreign Secretary. A reply on similar lines, which illustrated the unity of purpose between ourselves and our French Allies, was sent on the same day by the President of the French Republic.

Little Peace Signs.

The misleading references to British policy in the German Chancellor's address at Munich on Nov. 9, coupled with the misresentation by Geramn propaganda of the British and French replies as refusal of the Dutch and Belgian initiative, do not indicate that the German reply is likely to open the door to a peaceful and satisfactory settlement.

The official German news agency has now published the statement that Von Ribbentrop yesterday informed the Belgian ambassador and the Netherlands minister in Berlin, in the name of the Fuehrer, that after the blunt rejection of the peace move by Britain and France, the German government considered the matter closed.

The honorable members will have noted reports in the press to the effect that no formal reply to Their Majesties is to be made by the German government.

The past week has also been marked by a recurrence of rumors of German aggressive intentions against the Netherlands or Belgium. The presence of large concentrations of German troops on the Dutch and Belgian frontiers and the opening of a threatening campaign in the German press presented a pattern all too familiar to a world which has grown accustomed to seeing in such signs the immediate forerunners of German invasion.

General Skepticism

There could therefore be no surprise at the general reluctance shown throughout the world to accept at their face value pacifying statement sof a purely general nature put out from Germany.

On the other hand there could be no desire anywhere, and least of all in this country ,to exaggerate the significance of these reports. On November 13 the official German news agency broadcast a statement that Germany intended to continue to respect the neutrality of the Netherlands and Belgium as long as Great Britain and France did so and as long as Belgium and the Netherlands showed themselves capable of strictly preserving that neutrality.

On the same day the Netherlands Premier broadcast a statement to the effect that his Government had no immediate reason to fear a breach of its neutrality and that precautionary measures recently taken by them had been necessary to keep the peace, with the increased tension in Western Europe.

The relaxation in tension which has followed upon these statements is satisfactory to His Majesty's Government, who, I need hardly say, have every intention in accordance with the consistent policy of this country of continuing to respect the neutrality of the Netherlands and Belgium.

Other developments during the fortnight have strengthened the position of the Allies, and particularly the United States, by recent legislation, has restored to us the right ot purchase abundant supplies which they are able to offer us.

The Finnish Case

A less satisfactory incident has been the virtual breakdown of the negotiations which have been proceeding for over a month between the Soviet Government and the Finnish Government.

On Nov. 13 the Finnish delegates were recalled from Moscow, as it had been impossible to reach an agreement between the two governments. It has, however, been emphasized in official circles in Finland that this does not represent a final rupture between the two countries and that negotiations may be resumed at a later stage.

Fresh evidence of the close and friendly collaboration between ourselves and our allies is afforded by the official visit which the Polish premier and minister of foreign affairs are now paying to this country. We have been very happy to welcome General Sikorski and renew our contacts with M. Zaleski and discuss with them the measures which are being undertaken to enable detachments of all Polish armed forces to join in the allied war effort against Germany.

Polish Naval Units Help

A detachment of the Polish navy is already giving valuable service in co-operation with the Royal Navy and we hope that it will be possible to take early steps in consultation with the French government to organize self-contained Polish military forces for service in France.

Such forces will in addition to their intrinsic military value be symbolic of the right to an independent national existence which it is the purpose of our struggle to vindicate on behalf of the gallant Polish people.

I have also had the pleasure of discussing Allied financial problems with my French colleague, M. Reynaud, during his recent visit to London. As was stated in a communique issued at the close of his visit, we both recognize the necessity for close and continuous co-operation in the financial and economic spheres.

We reviewed the arrangements for such co-operation which already exist and decided to maintain and do everything in our power still further to develop them. A number of questions both of general financial and economic policy and of a more technical character were discussed, and on all these questions the existence of a common viewpoint was established.

On the conclusion of the meetings M. Reynaud proposed that there should be further meetings of a similar kind so as to establish continuous contact between the two treasuries. I expressed my complete agreement with this proposal.

home in flames. She and Ruby ran to the building and rescued the four children. Ruby carried out Billy, aged 6, and Hilda, 4, at the same time—both of them suffering from burned hands and faces Mrs. Lytle rushed in to drag to safety her baby of seven months and Hazel, 12. The baby was slightly burned and Hazel was worst injured of all. Her clothes had been completely burned from her body and no hope was held for her recovery on admission to hospital.

Put Gasoline on Fire.

According to Mr. Lytle, the fire occurred when Hazel, in charge of the children, mistook a jug of gasoline for coal oil. He said that in a summer kitchen adjoining the kitchen proper, he was in the habit of keeping coal oil to light the stove. But a short time ago a party of hunters borrowed a gallon of gasoline from his car and returned it to him later in a jug identical with the coal oil container. Both jugs were in the summer kitchen and apparently Hazel attempted to light the stove with gasoline, he said.

As far as could be learned, the gasoline flames shot high in the air when she struck a match on the stove, and lighted the top of the jug. She picked up the jug and threw it into the summer kitchen, where it exploded and enveloped her in blazing gasoline. The other children rushed to her aid and in so doing were burned themselves about the face and hands. All were still in the blazing kitchen when their mother and eldest sister arrived.

The house was burned to the ground with all its contents, leaving the entire family of seven without a single article of wearing apparel other than the clothes that remained on some of their bodies; with no beds or bedding; with not a single cooking utensil. Mr. Lytle's automobile was completely destroyed. He said last night he had no insurance on the house, contents, or car.

The Lytle home was located eight miles north of Norwood, on the 12th line of Dummer. All the hunters were widely separated and it was not until half an hour after the fire that any of them, including Mr. Lytle, knew of the tragedy.

The camp cook returned to the hunting lodge at about noon from an early hunt, to prepare dinner, and found the family in the lodge, their home razed. He rushed back toward the hunters, giving the alarm. A short time afterwards Reeve W. A. Anderson of Otonabee, Reeve John McColl of Asphodel and Deputy Reeve Melville Johnston of North Monaghan, who were on a visit to Peterborough county's reforestation plot in the vicinity, happened by and went to telephone for assistance. The closest telephone was four miles distant. An ambulance was sent out some time later and all were transferred to hospital here with Dr. H. G. Carleton of Norwood and Dr. J. Holdcroft of Havelock attending to them The ambulance did not leave the camp until after four in the afternoon.

An inquest will be held in Norwood on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., said to-day.

Another Sub Sunk

Sir John Simon will speak at the first luncheon Nov. 29. Meanwhile the toll of shipping mounted with the loss of one British and three neutral vessels. Probable sinking of another Nazi U-boat also was reported.

The 790-tone British coastwide tanker Woodtown went down in undisclosed water after an explosion in her oil tanks. Nine of her 12 crewmen were reported lost.

First casualties suffered at sea by the Baltic state of Lithuania were reported with the sinking of the 1,607-ton Panevezys and the 945-ton Nida off the Estonian coast.

The Nida carried a cargo of British coal and some observers linked the sinking with a semi-official statement in Berlin that Germany would attempt to disrupt Britain's coal exports in retaliation for the Allied blockade of the Reich.

No Cause Given

Cause of the two sinkings was not announced in brief dispatches from Kaunas, Lithuania.

Meanwhile reports from Oporto, Portugal, quoted Captain Peter Sorrensen of the Norwegian steamship Jenny as saying two British warships bombed and apparently sank a German submarine shortly after the U-boat stopped the Jenny and demanded provisions.

The captain said oil patches appeared on the water after the raider was attacked by the British vessels.

Swedish reports said the 600-ton Netherlands steamship safe, missing since early October, probably had sunk in a German mine field south of Falsterbo, Swedish port on the Baltic. No trace has been found of the vessel or its crew of 10.

Press, Toronto, publishers of the books.

The three books have been in use about two and a half years, Dr. McNally said, and the first complaints received about six weeks ago criticized its review of the Treaty of Versailles and the treaty's effect on the people of Germany and Great Britain.

The book said the Germans were forced to sign "a humiliating peace."

The authors reported about two weeks ago they were two-thirds of the way through their revision, Dr. McNally said. When revised sections are complete they will be submitted to a committee of the Department of Education for approval. Later a revised edition of the book will be issued but he did not expect the Department to propose wholesale scrapping of books already purchased and in use.

Car Hits Wagon Killing Woman

LINDSAY, Nov. 16—(Special) — Mrs. James Clarkson, 24, of Little Britain, was instantly killed last night when the car driven by her husband collided with a team of horses and a wagon, five miles southwest of Little Britain. Her husband escaped unhurt.

The shaft of the wagon pierced Mrs. Clarkson's chest.

The wagon was driven by Leslie Harrison of Little Britain at the time of the accident. He was jolted from his seat but was only shaken up and bruised. One of the horses was killed by the impact and the other one bolted some distance.

School Uphill Job For Hore-Belisha

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP)—Leslie Hore-Belisha, Britain's war secretary, was not a brilliant scholar at school, according to B. L. Hallward, his old headmaster.

Mr. Hallward of Clifton College in a speech here said Mr. Hore-Belisha found his studies uphill work and struck for some time in the middle of the school. But he had tremendous ambition and self-confidence.

His three heroes were Hannibal, Byron and Horatio Bottomley, war-time editor of "John Bull." The choice, said Mr. Hallward, was psychologically revealling: "Hannibal for war minister, Byron for creative capacity and Bottomley for publicity."

Young Hore-Belisha once asked a school companion to choose a motto for him. The boy selected one from Homer: "My heart bids me succeed."

The motto hangs in Greek lettering in Mr. Hore-Belisha's room at the war office.

Nazi Steel Czar Flees Country

LUCERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 16—(AP).—Fritz Thyssen, German steel magnate and an early supporter of Adolf Hitler, was in Switzerland today for an "indefinite stay" with his wife and one child.

It was discovered yesterday he is at the Locarno Hotel in this resort near the Italian frontier.

Thyssen, barred from talking politics by the laws of neutral Switzerland controlling foreign residents, replied by telegram to a request for information concerning why he left Germany:

"I infinitely regret I am unable to give the information you request."

A confirmed German Nationalist, Thyssen was one of the stiffening influences in post-war Germany. In 1923 when the French marched into the Ruhr under the terms of the Versailles Treaty, he closed down his mines and left the French holding an empty industrial shell. Arrested and jailed, he defied the French, refused to reopen the mines and was released after four days. He was hailed as a hero throughout the Reich.

After Hitler came to power in 1933, Thyssen, who was reported a supporter of the Nazis since 1928, was appointed state counsellor and given a seat on the State's Economic Board. He was considered supreme economic authority in Western Germany on all matters except those relating to agriculture.

In 1936 Thyssen announced a 25 per cent. increase in the Reich's steel production, with rearmament the goal, and shortly after he was elected to the Reichstag.

Rumors that Thyssen had fallen out with Hitler, current for some time, came to a head in September when he was reported to have fled Germany.

Flight To Moon Halted By War

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP) — Just when preparations were coming along nicely for a flight to the moon, the project has been deferred because of the war. The British Interplanetary Society decided—at an emergency meeting, to cease activities for the present.

"But we have no intention of abandoning our work, especially since so much has been accomplished," the official announcement said.

Having (theoretically) built a space-ship for the proposed trip, the society was mainly concerned with a space-ship speedometer when war broke out.

The sponsors said they had things fixed up almost to a "T." It was even stated that pioneers "intend to land on the night side of the moon as the sunlit side is hotter than boiling water and we don't want to go looking for trouble until we are ready for it."

2 By-Elections Uphold Smuts

JOHANNESBURG, Nov. 16 — (CP).—Prime Minister Jan Smuts who led the Union of South Africa into the war against Nazi Germany, today saw his policy upheld in two parliamentary by-elections.

The contests were the first since General J. B. M. Herzog resigned as Prime Minister and was succeeded by General Smuts when the House of Commons rejected General Hertzog's view that South Africa should be neutral in the war. The campaigns were fought on the neutrality issue.

While the results, announced last night, were not surprising, observers said, the margin for the government candidate was unexpectedly heavy in one of the seats, Brakpan, where Victor Ash, of General Smuts' united party polled 3,311 votes against 2,134 for G. F. Froneman, Nationalist, and 562 for G. Gilkillan, Labor.

In the other election, at Bloemfontein, Miss Gladys Stecn, United party, was elected with 1,850 votes against 1,236 for J. H. Malan, Nationalist leader. In each case the seat had been held by a United party member.

General Smuts said before the polling that the electors were not concerned with party, local or provincial questions. He declared their ideal of a "united people in a free country" should make them vote for his party since the Nazis had singled out South Africa as a country with which they would square accounts when the chance came. A policy of neutrality, he said, would lead to the Nazis goal.

Bewdley

On Friday evening a number of friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scott, nee Wilma Lighth, as a charivari party. After a noisy entrance the evening was enjoyably spent with cards and a dainty lunch served by Mrs. Scott, with assistants.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Gibbs were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jackson at Bailieboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Manley and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Barnard, Bensfort.

A number of township roads in North Hamilton have been widened, some changed in cutting corners off. The stone crusher has been placed in the Benson gravel pit, where quite a gang of men are working and trucks are distributing the gravel on the newly graded roads.

American Trawlers To Become French Mine Sweepers

Pictured tied up to a dock in East Boston are the trawlers Penguin, Loon, Brant and Plover, former fishing craft that have been sold to the French government and will be used overseas as minesweepers, providing the U.S. government approves the sale. The trawlers were originally built as minesweepers 20 years ago. They were not completed in time for world war service.

12 British Sailors Get Wet Ride Clinging To Side Of Nazi Sub

BALTIMORE, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A story of 12 British seamen clinging to the side of a German submarine in hope it would not be forced to submerge was recounted yesterday Paul Gilbert, crewman of the American oil tanker R. G. Stewart.

Gilbert said the Stewart was enroute to the United States from Le Havre when on Sep. 11, about 200 miles off the French coast, it was stopped by the U-boat and the Stewart's captain was ordered to come aboard with his ship's papers.

Before he complied, a fog lifted and a British ship, the 9,456-ton Inverliffey was sighted about 1½ miles away. The sub started in pursuit, and returned shortly with the British seamen clinging to the sides, and the Inverliffey ablaze.

"Somehow, their lifeboat was swamped while they were being towed toward us by the sub," said Gilbert. "The men thrashed about in the water until the submarine officer told them to cling to the side of the sub. Then the submarine cruised over to us."

"After the rescue, they told us the Germans said that if a British destroyer or a plane was sighted the submarine would have to submerge immediately and the men would have to swim for it."

The 12 and 23 others who escaped in two more lifeboats were placed aboard the American ship, City of Joliet, bound for Europe.

An Armed Peace

Rome, Nov. 16 (CP-Havas) PREMIER MUSSOLINI today told university students that "Italy's peace is not a timid peace, but an armed peace."

"Hold your musket beside your book," Il Duce advised the young men, who gathered before the Palazzo Venezia on the occasion of the opening of the university year.

Truck Speeds 100 mph Crash Kills 2 Men

ST. GEORGE, Utah., Nov. 16 (AP) —The speedometer registering 100 miles an hour, a truck loaded with ten tons of potatoes went out of control at a sharp curve yesterday, sailed 150 feet through the air, then smashed into a ravine. Don Duffy, 23, died instantly, but Eldon A. Law, 32, lived long enough to tell police of the truck's speed down the steep grade.

South Africa had 21,890 road accidents in the first half of this year.

Eye Protector

As a result of the blinding, by shell fragments of more than 30,000 British soldiers in the world war, a chain visor was designed by then-Captain R. R. Cruise. The visor, shown here in the raised, or unused position, can be pulled down when the wearer is advancing in the face of an artillery barrage. The visor pictured was used in the last months of the world war. The inventor, who is now Sir Richard Cruise, eye specialist for Queen-Mother Mary, is making improvements on the device for use in the European war.

American tractors shipped into New Zealand last year were valued at $2,587,000.

35,000 In Movie Union To Walk Out

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16—(AP)—The threat of a general walkout of 35,000 American Federation of Labor workers in motion picture studios faced the film industry today.

Unless all A.F.L. union men working in the studios are granted a wage increase of 10 per cent by Monday afternoon there will be a general walkout of the A.F.L. workers the following morning, union leaders said.

William Bioff, chairman of the newly formed Conference of Studio Unions, an A.F.L. organization, delivered the ultimatum after a producer - labor committee meeting which lasted nearly two hours.

Twelve thousand technicians bearing cards under the A.F.L. International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees are already benefiting by the 10 per cent wage increase. Bioff declared the 24,000 additional A.F.L. workers "will benefit by the wage increase, or none will."

"The producers presented figures showing the effects of the European war upon the receipts of the studios and stated it was necessary for the studios to make substantial retrenchments rather than give any increases at the present time," read a statement issued by Eddie Mannix, chairman of the producers' committee.

Johannesburg, South Africa, has just learned it has 179 traffic and parking laws.

Steel Head, Economist Uneasy On U.S. Trade

CLEVELAND, Nov. 16—(AP). — Steel master Tom Girdler and Economist Leonard Porter Ayres took a look at United States business today and expressed dought whether it would continue to revive.

"Our problems are with us today just as they were last August," Girdler said. "The war in Europe has brought no permanent solution."

"Financial barometers are recording their skepticism about the future prospects of this business revival," Ayres asserted. "There is real doubt about the possibilities of keeping it going."

NU-BLUE SUNOCO

The new miracle of gasoline chemistry

They voted 9 to 1 that Nu-Blue Sunoco equalled or excelled premium-priced gasolines in road performance!

HERE'S HOW THEY VOTED

QUESTIONNAIRE

Comparing this new gasoline to the premium-priced gasoline you have been using:

In knockless performance — As good? Better? Not as good?	91.2% Said As Good or Better
On pick-up, acceleration — As good? Better? Not as good?	93.7% Said As Good or Better
For power, especially on hills — As good? Better? Not as good?	94.9% Said As Good or Better
For all-around performance — As good? Better? Not as good?	90.3% Said As Good or Better

During September and October, 1475 critical users of premium-priced gasolines were asked to test an unidentified, colorless gasoline which was in reality Nu-Blue Sunoco with the coloring left out. From Florida to Canada, these tests were conducted, not by us, but by independent, unbiased research authorities, and when the returns were summarized it was found that these motorists voted 9 to 1 in favor of Nu-Blue Sunoco! 9 out of 10 proclaimed it equal or superior to premium-priced gasolines they had used previously.

To make a fair test, don't dilute Nu-Blue Sunoco with other gasoline. Let your tank run practically empty. Then put in Nu-Blue Sunoco. Compare it particularly with premium-priced gasolines. We'll rest our case on your findings.

The quicker you start using Nu-Blue Sunoco

Good Citizen And Friend

Peterborough lost an outstanding citizen in the death of E. F. Mason, and yet that plain statement does not tell the story. One almost had the feeling which would be expressed in the words "That doesn't seem right" when seeing his photograph in the paper in connection with the report of his death. Possibly that feeling came from having seen and met Mr. Mason on so many occasions when something was being done which required the unpaid-for time and energy of several people. Mr. Mason had a large business in the city, but he had time to go outside of it. He served his city in its Council, as a member of the Utilities Commission, was actively interested in the Exhibition; he was loyal to his church and his efforts were extended to Nicholls Hospital. Likewise he found time to go to lodge.

There was business ability in this good citizen, and it was of that ability he gave so freely. His judgment was sound, and it was taken for granted that when E. F. Mason had given his sanction and support to any line of action there was not much reason to question it. Often enough he would have very little to say in a meeting but before it was over he would be asked for an opinion, and often enough that opinion was accepted as the solution.

It possibly is true that our present method of doing business is not producing the individual merchants of other days. Many of our stores are now owned jointly or in chains. Mr. Mason saw that coming years ago, and he was one of the first to alter his method and turn toward the groceteria system. He spread his stores throughout the city and yet each store remained distinctly an E.F. Mason establishment.

He knew what it was to be hard pressed for money because in his own quiet way we have heard him recount that when he purchased the business of his father from the estate he had but $45 in cash. Never was he moved to speak much of what one might term success. He knew well the business in which he engaged, understood the danger points, and through it all so conducted himself that he never made it more difficult for his contemporaries to carry on their business.

There are a great company of Peterborough and the district who will feel that in the passing of E. F. Mason they have lost a personal friend. To know the man was to respect him and admire him for the quality of his mind and the wholesome trend of his efforts.

"Bunk" Says The G.-M.

The Globe and Mail is as certain as it ever is of anything that municipalities which ask their voters to express an opinion on doing away with civic elections during the period of the war are merely trying to keep the pot boiling, possibly trying to engage in a political skirmish.

We read also that "The charge that the proposed act of the Legislature is undemocratic is pure bunk." That is what the G.M. says The Legislature has the right to legislate on behalf of the municipalities and that right has been in existence for a long time. The Legislature is made to appear so competent that one must pause and wonder a moment what the publisher of the Globe and Mail meant a while back when he suggested in one of his radio addresses that Legislatures should be abolished in the interests of economy.

It appears the idea has two points: One to abolish municipal elections during the war and the other to introduce a two-year term for aldermen. In Peterborough we elect part of our Council each year on a two-year basis and it works very well, but that was all worked out here.

In fact we believe it fair enough to state that Peterborough knows a good deal about the serious business of how to govern itself and look after its own affairs. Our system of financing the city is actually better than the system used to finance Ontario. When our debentures become due we know there will be money with which to discharge them, and that is something which the Ontario government is not able to claim.

This city has paid for its relief charges year after year and has done so out of current taxation. In the last six years the city has not issued debentures, and in that time has been paying off debentures. In the three years of 1938-39 and 40 the amount discharged will be over a million dollars. And meantime the tax rate has been lowered, and of even more importance—the taxes paid per capita has decreased.

We mention these facts to indicate that the people here do not need much instruction from Toronto regarding civic government, or as to whether we shall or shall not vote. No doubt other municipalities feel the same about it. Their experience in past years is that the people here do not need much instruction from Toronto regarding civic government, or as to whether we shall or shall not vote. No doubt other municipalities feel the same about it. Their experience in past years is that the Legislature has passed enactments which place added financial responsibility on the municipalities.

We know of no competent judge in matters of jurisdiction who would welcome the spectacle of the Legislature taking to itself greater powers—than those already in its possession. It can keep on adding to its powers and that is what it will do when it comes to the next session. It will encroach still deeper into the field of dictating to municipalities what they shall or shall not do.

If municipalities desire to express an opinion about this matter when they vote at the end of the year who is there to say they shall do no such thing? It is merely following one of the best traditions of any form of government—that of trusting the people to make a decision about their own business. If the Globe and Mail is ready to call that "bunk," then it is welcome to live in the lonely company of its own decision.

Can't Change His Name

County Judge A. A. Ingram has decided that Dr. Abraham Gerald Ginsberg of London, Ont., cannot change his name to Avron Gerald Kingsley. This is the first decision made in that district under the changed laws recently enacted by the Ontario Legislature which restrict to a considerable degree the rights of people to assume new names.

The written judgment finds "that it is neither fair to Dr. Ginsberg nor to his prospective patients to leave them under the impression that in calling in Dr. Kingsley they are calling a physician who is not Jewish. Dr. Ginsberg desires to use the name Kingsley for the purpose of concealing from any patients who might object to treatment by a Jewish doctor the fact that he is Jewish. I believe this Act (of the Legislature) is intended to prevent even such a minor deception."

Dr. Ginsberg during examination in court admitted that even when he was serving as an interne he found friction developing between himself and patients because he was a Jew. For that reason he decided he would be well advised to seek some other name. If he had been in a community where his own people were numerous then his name would have been an asset. Otherwise he finds it a liability.

There have been many names changed in this country, particularly by foreigners who come here somewhat laden down with a name which could never be pronounced. Making such a change facilitates matters a good deal. In the case at London the motive was clearly commercial. The young man starting on his professional career found himself handicapped and he wishes by having his name changed to make it appear that he was not Jewish. On that ground refusal by the Judge appears to have been well founded.

Mr. Church Starts a War

T. L. Church, K.C., M.P., of Toronto, made a speech to a women's meeting in his riding, and it was a gloomy speech. Mr. Church took the Liberal Government and Prime Minister King to pieces and laid the pieces around the room in such fashion that it is doubtful if they could be put together again.

Looking through the report we noticed these reported phrases:

"Favoritism, log rolling and petty politics."
"Sad state of affairs."
"The laxity of the Liberal regime."
"It is a tragedy..."
"The government and its incompetent commissions and small standing army of officials."
"It is a public scandal..."
"Ottawa is sound asleep."
"Standing army of commissions and committees and their useless officials."
"The supremacy of parliament was a myth."
"The war would be all over before Canada got started."

We hope our judgment is not wrong, but we came to the conculsion after reading a report of the Church address that the gentleman does not think much of the King Government—nor of Mr. King himself.

The Right To Work

The Chrysler shops in Detroit and district have been idle for weeks and 100,000 people have not been working. There was a strike called by the C.I.O. Negotiations, in which Government representatives have participated, have failed.

Meanwhile the cash is running low in the family purse, and that was to be expected because the average family is at most times dependent on current earnings. Three or four weeks with no earnings will place that average family in a position where assistance is needed.

That was the reason why the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission made a ruling which said that the Chrysler employees now out of work are not eligible for benefits.

To add to the complication the American Federation of Labor division of the United Automobile Workers has instructed its members to return to the factories and demand the right to go to work. The A. F. of L. members say they are in no way connected with the dispute between the C.I.O. and the Chrysler organization. So it is a case where one union is keeping members of another union from earning a living. That "right to work" claim is a basic point in the law of any democratic country. It has often been challenged but it cannot be beaten.

They Call It Romance

We read something about what was termed a "romance" in a paper today, and there was a picture accompanying which showed the bride and groom in the act of administering the wedding kiss. Whether "administering" is the right word to use we know not at the moment and may look it up later on.

But the words under the picture were these:

"Billy Rose, Broadway producer, and ex-husband of Fanny (Baby Snooks) Brice, famous stage and screen star, kisses the new Mrs. Rose, the former Eleanor Holm, ex-wife of Arthur Jarrett..."

And that strikes us as about the most complete collection of tripe we have seen in print recently. We have a good many engagement and marriage notices running through our papers, and as a rule they are simple, well-ordered and sufficiently dignified. They state that Miss Blank is going to be married to Mr. Somebody, and give the information that the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blank, while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Somebody.

We seem to find it unnecessary to say the bride is the ex-wife of some living man and that the bridegroom is the ex-husband of some woman who is now married to some other man. That ex-ex-ex business is too much like dumping a load of quicksand under the foundation of the new home, and parading such folk in the act of the marriage kiss is not far removed from plain vulgarity. This view may be considered a trifle old-fashioned by some, but without any hesitation we place the whole business under the general heading of tripe.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If the Germans have not encouraged Hitlerism they have done mighty little to prevent it.

Today's guess from Berlin is that the bomb in Hitler's beer cellar was the result of a plot which was planted in August.

It is a little difficult to follow the news. One day it is reported that the former Crown Prince Wilhelm was beheaded, and next day we read it was his son who was shot.

The days of quick decisions in battle appear to be over. The battle of Waterloo was started about 10 in the morning and was all over the same night.

An expert says as a rule a model boy makes an insufferable husband. And we have also heard the claim it is none too comfortable living with a model husband.

Price of gasoline in Britain has gone up to 43 cents per gallon, and that ought to have some effect on the grand old argument about the young folk taking the family car out for the evening.

KINDNESS?

(By A.R.K.)

¶ Quite often Archie waits for me, as kind as any man could be, he drives me down the street; he seems to think that I can't walk, nor toddle down another block, upon my corn-bound feet.

¶ When Archie goes to start his car, he always does it with a jar, I always brace my feet; I fear that I may crack my dome, and have to be delivered home, or carried down the street.

¶ When Archie sees a corner come, he always takes it on the run, you may know how that feels; he never travels nice and slow, but sees how fast his car will go, and balance on two wheels.

¶ And Archie always stops in haste, as though there were no time to waste, my ribs cave in and shake; he never slows down for a stop, but gets his eye upon the spot, and then jams on the brake.

¶ And Archie always blows his horn, he starts it early in the morn, he toots away all day; the young and old are all alike, the man who walks or mounts a bike, must leap from out his way.

¶ But Archie's kind as he can be, the way he stops and waits for me, while I get down the block; but I admit there comes a time, when I would neither groan nor whine—if he'd just let me walk.

United States Interested In Outcome of War

IN THE November issue of Harvard Alumni Bulletin, published at Cambridge, Mass., Professor William Y. Elliott contributes an article under the heading "The British Empire in the Crisis."

The capital savings of England I estimate to be about 500 million pounds a year. Her total income is just over five billion pounds a year. That is, of course, somewhat less than half the total national income of the United States, which is usually estimated from 60 billion dollars upwards. The percentage of this sum that can be raised by taxes is limited. Even with the enormous income tax which England is bearing today, and she is bearing a heavier burden of taxation than any other country except Germany in all probability, England can hardly hope to pay for any substantial part of the war if it goes on a long time. Her budget is rising toward three billion pounds a year out of national income that may increase to six billion pounds a year or a little more. That means that almost 50 per cent of her effort is going into war industries, into war preparation, and into fighting the war.

Germany has been at that percentage or more for some time, and in that respect England is fortunate. She is not as far extended; she has reservoirs of unexplored capacity, of unexplored man-power, which she can bring into the struggle, and she has not been extended over so long a period of time. Her standard of living is not dropping to the degree that it has dropped in Germany. But she is almost certain to melt off the fat that the empire has accumulated in the foreign investments over a long period.

England for some years used to get a sort of annual income from her previous investments of something like 285 million pounds, or thereabouts. That figure is bound to shrink disastrously and rapidly. As she buys in our market and other markets, she must mobilize these foreign securities held by her citizens abroad, and sell them in order to pay for the things that she buys. I think it is hardly likely that war loans will be very much in the picture, certainly for some time to come. England is in real danger of losing her dominant role in world finance and these rich investments from which her prosperity in the past years has come.

THAT is a rather gloomy picture, but the British face that picture as they face the rest of the dreadful consequences of this war, with the same dogged resolution that I think shows in everything they have done. They went into this war, reluctantly, it was clear. Every effort had been made, efforts perhaps that were unwise, to avoid anything that could antagonize Germany to the point of war. From the time that Germany, violating the Locarno Pact, occupied the Rhineland, Britain's reluctance to act was manifest and its restraining effect upon the French probably exercised a good deal of weight in deciding the French against their using their superiority in armament at that time to prevent Germany from building up this Siegfried Line behind which she's now fighting. Even during that period, when German rearmament was well known to be a direct threat to England, every effort was made to sidestep the issue. But today the die is cast.

Whatever doubts and fears and whatever shame existed in the minds of the English people and in the minds of the French people over past mistakes, had to be erased. The war effort of England today is based on the desperate necessity of fighting to save her very life. As she sees her capital ships being sunk, the struggle comes home to her every day more and more drastically, more and more directly. It raises the question which those young men were discusing tonight at the dinner table in Lowell House.

I suppose all Americans have such a question in mind today. Senator Clark says in our Senate that the word of the British is no better than the word of Hitler, no better than the word of anyone else; that they've dishonored their bond and not paid their debts. There are many Americans who share his views and dislike the past actions of the present conservative government in England very much indeed. But I think Senator Clark would find himself in a very small minority indeed, if he said openly that he preferred to aid Hitler rather than to aid England within the boundaries of our own neutrality policy. There must surely be a relatively small number of Americans who would see with equanimity a world in which the German forces were triumphant, from which the British fleet had disappeared or perhaps then turned over to the Germans, in which the building capacity of England and perhaps of France had to be turned over to Germany in the form of reparations—who would see such a world as at all a pleasant world for the future prospects of this country.

Our interest in South America from the point of view of the Monroe Doctrine and the protection which we have always extended over this hemisphere, our interests in the Far East, would be very difficult to safegua d in a world where power politics would be unrestrained and be governed by militaristic forces which we know are governing the nations concerned. Therefore this country must watch the British Empire in the crisis with a good deal of real anxiety.

PERHAPS SHE COULD

"I wonder if you are my fiancee? I arranged to meet her here, but I simply can't remember faces."
—Humorist.

He Spoke Out In Meeting

WHEN the Deanery of East Middlesex was in session the chief topic for discussion by laymen and clergy was that old one, "Why are there so few people attending church?" Rev. A. A. Trumper said the chief reason was "the refusal of nominal Christians to apply Christian principles to everyday life." Then he continued:

"For years, I have refused to vote for resolutions condemning Communism—as much as I hate and despise that 'ism'—unless such resolutions carry equal condemnation for every form of injustice practiced by so-called Christians bulwarked in the alleged respectability of church prominence.

"Refusal of churches generally to deal with the problem of the transient in any sane or sensible way, is another reason that is also a symptom of why men stay away from God's house.

"Others are turned away when the business leadership of Canada, a good part at least, met at luxurious Muskoka resort and passed a resolution against unemployment insurance.

"But we do not have to go so far afield. In this city wages as low as $10 a week are being paid to married men with family. I know of a man who, through accident, broke or ruined some material. His pay check for that week was 25c.

"If the charge was fair, if the man was wholly responsible, his loss need not have been taken out of his children's mouths!

"Oh, there are plenty to say: 'The Kingdom of Heaven is not meat and drink.'

"But it is the duty of the church to warn such employers, with every power of spiritual authority, that the richest and greatest shall stand before a Master who will demand an account of how he stood as a master to his brothers.

"I DON'T think anyone can begin to estimate the infinite harm done the Church of God by un-Christian policies pursued by so many in the so-called Christian countries.

"Talk about Hitler oppressing minorities as you will. But we must, as Christian laymen and clergy, face the oppression of minorities in Canadian cities and not omitting London.

"How these oppressors hedge themselves with the garments of respectability. We in the church are not the only sufferers. The great service clubs, such as Rotary and Kiwanis, and Masonic lodges, know these who say 'Lord, Lord!' but whose hearts are far from their attitude of worship.

"It isn't charity to buy milk for undernourished children as a public gesture of humanitarianism when, if some of the buyers paid proper wages, the fathers could do their own buying."

• In the Days Of Real Prize Money

ONE ADVANTAGE the Royal Navy has over the army in time of war is the distribution of prize money. Capture of enemy ships means "spondulicks" in the pockets of the tars, but not to the same extent as in the brave days of old. Nowadays prize money is divided between the whole fleet instead of going to the ship making the capture. Of course, the Crown takes out a percentage. There is also prize bounty based on the complement of any enemy armed ship taken or sunk.

It was in the wars against France and Spain that British tars really made money out of prizes. In October, 1899, in the Bay of Biscay, the British ships Naiad, Alcemene, Triton and Ethalion fell in with the Spanish ships Thetis and Santa Brigada, homeward bound from Vera Cruz. They were captured. Aboard the Thetis was treasure to the value of $1,411,256 and on the Santa Brigada chests of money valued at $1,400,000.

This treasure was deposited in the Bank of England and when the necessary adjustments had been made there was a noble "share-out" for officers and men. Each captain received $203,650. Each lieutenant $25,500. Each warrant officer $12,500. Each midshipman $4,000 and every seaman and marine $915.

To get the present-day values multiply these sums by five!

The largest treasure to be brought back to England by a single expedition was that captured by Captain George Anson. That sturdy mariner left England on September 18, 1740, with a fleet which was poorly manned, wretchedly equipped and stored with rotten food, owing to graft in the Admiralty and the dockyards.

He lost many ships, his hands died like flies, but on June 15, 1744, he returned to England after circumnavigating the globe in the battered old Centurion, and below hatches he had $2,500,000 in treasure taken out of the Manila galleon in the Pacific.

London went wild. It took 32 ox-carts to carry the treasure to the Tower of London, and the sea-scarred survivors of the expedition rode on the carts. Their heroic voyage aroused such admiration that the Admiralty gave up its rights and the whole treasure was distributed.—By Ronald Kenvyn in the Vancouver Province.

BAD TIME FOR DOGS

Dogs are having a nervous time just now. Their meat allowances are being gradually reduced to meet the rationing, they are having to get used to compressed meats and other substitutes. And at the same time they are getting buffeted in the hurry of the black-out. Marshall and Salvagers are busy areas, across with their black-out coats for dogs. Costing half a guinea, they are made in white gleaming fabric with an occasional red spot, and they not only show up the dog, so that he shall not be trodden on, but they add bells to announce his coming. Add, too, your dog's identity disc, and, even if he should stray, you can feel that he is safe. — London Observer.

WHY THE DELAY?

Comments in German newspapers on Molotoff's latest speech reiterating a determination to remain neutral are suggestive of a small boy whistling to keep his courage up on a dark night. Said The Dienst aus Deutschland: "Just as is the case of Italy, Germany did not for a moment express a wish for Russian military aid. Now, as before, it feels itself strong enough to bring the test to arms with the western powers to a successful conclusion." Then, why the delay?—Edmonton Journal.

A BOY'S FAILURE

THE Travelers Air Society in New York had on its hands last week a 14-year-old Chicago boy. His name was Charles Marlowe Conner. He had been adventuring. Last September he ran away from home, hitchhiked to New York and tried to join the army. Recruiting officers refused to enlist him. Thereupon he stowed away on the Holland liner Zaandam and set out for Europe. He said he had hoped that he might be a spy, for the Allies preferably, though he was willing to work for whichever side would pay more.

While the Zaandam was held in The Downs for British contraband inspection, Adventurer Conner leaped overboard, tried to swim ashore. He was hauled out of the cold Channel waters, returned to the Zaandam and eventually taken to Rotterdam and confinement. The liner Statendam brought him back to New York. He had to work his passage. — New York Times.

Poland Is Hopeful Nazi Will Pay For Russian Grab

LONDON, Nov. 16 — (CP-Havas). —Diplomatic circles said last night that Poland, after an Allied victory, may seek compensation from Germany for the territories lost to Russia.

Talk of questions involved in any second Great War settlement was heard last night following arrival in London of Poland's Premier-in-exile, General Wladyslaw Sikorski, and his Foreign Minister, August Zaleski.

They were received by Viscount Halifax at the Foreign Office and conferred with him for more than ninety minutes.

Diplomatic observers said the British Foreign Secretary discussed with the exiled leaders Poland's potential contribution to the Allied cause in men, materials and money, as well as the question of what is to happen to Poland after the war is won.

They said that the Poles recognize that it is a little premature to consider demands—of a minimum or maximum nature—for eventual reconstruction of their country. But the same sources said that if, for example, reconstitution of Poland might threaten to create difficulties between Great Britain and Russia, which took over Eastern Poland after the German invasion, the Poles would not take an ironclad stand. Many observers said that Germany might be called upon to pay for its initial aggression, rather than Russia.

Polish sources said the Polish war contribution is far from negligible, in spite of the country's destruction. Polish warships recently fought side by side with British naval units, and both Sikorski and Zaleski plan to visit their sailors in a British port in order to distribute decorations.

In addition, an important Polish army is being raised in France. The gold of the bank of Poland is safe on Allied soil and will be available for use in the common cause against Germany, it was said.

Mayor Shot Dead Patrolman Held

LONG BEACH, N.Y., Nov. 16. — (AP). — Mayor Louis Edwards, 48, of Long Beach was shot and killed and his bodyguard, Patrolman James Walsh, was wounded to-day while on the steps of the Mayor's home as he was preparing to leave for his office.

Soon afterward, Patrolman Alvin Dooley, 35, presented himself to Long Beach police for questioning.

Dooley was formerly president of the Patrolman's Benevolent Association. Last week he was defeated for re-election by Patrolman Walsh whom the Mayor had favored as a candidate.

Soon after the 48-year-old Mayor slumped to the sidewalk, Patrolman Dooley was charged with homicide.

The spectator, Frank Coombs, described Dooley as pulling a half-filled bottle of liquor from his pocket after the shooting and saying: "I just shot that —— Edwards. Take me to the police station." Later witnesses heard him say, "I'm glad I did it."

Police said that when Dooley surrendered, he skipped up the entrance steps of the station and threw his revolver on the desk shouting: "I killed the Mayor."

A crowd of about 1,000 persons—one-sixth of the population of the city—milled around the Long Beach police station when news of the shooting spread. There were shouts of 'Lynch him" from persons in the crowd as detectives left for Mineola. The escort had difficulty holding the crowd back.

A Vote of Confidence From
THOUSANDS OF HOMES!

The commercial transport planes of Canada carried 135,492 passengers last year. But many, many times that number of people eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN—the famous cereal that combats one of Canada's greatest burdens — constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. Is there a story behind this national swing to All-Bran? There certainly is!

Years ago research started that has since piled up monumental evidence of ALL-BRAN'S ability to combat the common type of constipation (due to lack of "bulk"). Food chemists have contributed to this research, so have distinguished nutritionists. In addition, medical specialists of great universities have checked and re-checked the facts. And the verdict is the same as that of the thousands who have used ALL-BRAN over the last 15 years—a tried and proven way to combat this common ailment.

Why don't you join the "regulars"? Today no one needs to suffer from constipation due to lack of "bulk." You don't need to endure it first and then try to cure it with "quick relief." The modern way is to prevent the trouble with this crunchy, ready-to-eat cereal — KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Eat it regularly, with milk or cream, and drink plenty of water. Look for the red Kellogg signature on the package. In two convenient sizes at all grocers. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in London, Ontario.

New Nuffield Gift Provides Radios For British Troops At The Front

LONDON, Nov. 16—((CP). — Lord Nuffield, automobile manufacturer and philanthropist, has supplemented his £1,500,000 ($6,675,000) gift to buy recreational equipment for men in the military services by another £50,000. It was learned Tuesday.

The original gift was in the form of 1,000,000 ordinary shares of Lord Nuffield's firm, Morris Motors Ltd. The interest is to be used for the recreational fund as it is collected.

The latest gift is in cash to enable the military services to begin building up their recreational facilities at once without waiting for the first dividends from the endowment fund. It was offered last Thursday in a letter from Lord Nuffield to war secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha.

Lord Nuffield stipulated that at least £15,000 be used immediately to buy radio sets for the British expeditionary force.

"The outbreak of the war," he said in his letter, "has intensified a need which the trust was created to serve. Distributions which the trustees have already made have been drawn from repayable advances made by myself. In order to free the trust from the liability it thus incurred in its early stages and enable it to make further immediate distributions without involving added borrowing, I have decided to increase my gift by donating to the trustees forthwith the additional amount of £50,000."

The War Secretary replied:—

"The advances which you have made of due dividend dates have enabled, among other things, wireless sets to be provided for many serving in out stations, relieving the loneliness of those whose vigilance is protecting us at this time.

"Now your kindness is turned toward those in France, and you have wished that part of your new gift should be devoted to wireless sets for the force in France. Thus they will be able to listen to the world outside and keep in close contact with our own country. They will, from the front, hear programs of news and entertainment and be able in their leisure moments to enjoy imaging themselves still before their own firesides."

Sedalia, Mo., Nov. 16 (AP)

When she went to the hospital Dr. A. L. Walters told her if she had twins he would omit the charge for the second baby; if triplets, he would make no charge at all; if quadruplets, he would pay the assistant's fee, and if quintuplets, they would "split the pot" on whatever the babies earned from photographs and advertising.

The physician said he wasn't surprised at triplets but was disappointed there weren't two more.

"I hoped there would be five," he said, "and Callander, Ont., would have a real rival."

Premier Daladier Visits Maginot Line

RAF Snaps Nazi 'Dromes, Ports

LONDON, Nov. 16—(CP).—Reconnaissance flights over Germany involving acts of gallantry and resulting in the taking of numerous photographs of military objectives were described today.

Men on such flights in the past several weeks have returned with photographs of 16 enemy airdromes and of the well-defended ports of Emden and Hamburg, it was said. Many towns, harbors and military objectives were photographed from low altitudes.

Enemy territory on several occasions has been penetrated to a depth of more than 200 miles. Active opposition of German fighters and anti-aircraft fire was widespread. Nevertheless, British aircraft succeeded in reaching objectives and securing photographs and the information required.

More than 100 photographs showing enemy military objectives in considerable detail were brought back in a single flight. During another reconnaissance flight in which an enemy airdrome was the objective a British aircraft flew so low that it actually passed under two German bombers which were approaching the field. At other times it flew so high that the crew had to rely on oxygen to breathe.

The total distance flown on the raids was seldom less than 800 miles, of which nearly half was over the North Sea and the remainder over German territory.

Held For Murder

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Nov. 16—(AP)—Lionel D. Grant, 29, was charged with first-degree murder today less than 14 hours after the body of his salesman - roommate was found stuffed in a trunk in a rooming house attic. The victim was Ernest Uhlig, 31.

Prosecutor Clarence Unckless charged Grant killed Uhlig "by choking, asphyxiation and strangulation," and quoted the defendant as saying he taped Uhlig's mouth and nose and tied neckties around his throat Saturday morning in the climax of a drinking party.

Under Surveillance

LONDON, Nov. 16—(CP). — The News Chronicle said today that Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, grandson of former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, "is in England under surveillance."

"When the war broke out he was ill and here he has remained," the paper said.

Other sources said the prince was liable to internment as a German but the authorities allowed him his freedom. He was reported staying with friends in the country.

Fascist Bosses – New and Old

'All Quiet' Holds As Tommies Bolster Western Front Lines

By EDWIN JOHNSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Nov. 16—(CP Cable) — The laconic, almost routine "All Quiet' of the official war communiques mean anything but inactivity to the troops manning the British sector of the Western front.

True, the war for them has not entered the phase of roaring guns, hand-to-hand encounters with the enemy, strafing from the air, devastation or casualties. But it is far more than a campaign of squatting and pulling faces across the so-called no man's land.

Since the Tommies took over their allotted sector about six weeks ago there has been no let-up in preparing for the expected blow of Hitler's legions. During that comparatively short time their lines in the forward zone and reserve areas have been transformed into a state which the authorities declare to be almost impregnable.

I have just returned from an extended tour of this sector, where I walked through the maze of advance trenches, superbly built and protected, inspected the strategically placed pill boxes and blockhouses, and generally witnessed the rise of a modern defensive wall on an old battleground.

As a tactical expert remarked, "the Nazis will find this anything but an easy way around should they try to launch their assault against the British."

Just Like Yesterday.

Slithering on cobble-stoned highways and lanes over which I plodded 20-odd years ago, it all seemed just like yesterday. It was the same scene all over again—care-free, jovial men on the march, singing the same old songs once again in the rain guns lumbering towards the front, mechanized units speeding to their respective objectives, and the same mud everywhere.

The high morale of the troops was evident, however, on every hand. Those who served in the last war unhesitantly admitted that the standard of modern army life is higher Their billets, they said, were "posh," the food is good and plentiful, while "night life" in the village Estaminet offers betters variety of old

There is the occasional grumble of course, mainly about the scarcity of good English beer, but Madame is still doing a thriving business in "offs et pom de terre" and "cafe avec rum"

The men know that time is on their side and are quite satisfied to wait The stalemate has failed to undermine their spirit—centainly I saw no signs they were becoming "fed up"

Move Up to Hitler.

The general belief prevailing in France is that the initiative will be left to Hitler. When or where he may decide to act remains his secret. Whatever his plans may be, the Allied High Command appears ready for him. Tacticians are agreed, however, that the Fuehrer will be compelled to adopt one of the following main objectives:

1. Throw the full force of his arms in a frontal attack on the Maginot Line. Such a move, they say, would involve tremendous risks and entail enormous casualties.

2. Invade Holland or Belgium, where the Germans could establish air and sea bases for operation of an intensified hate offensive against Great Britain.

3. Prolong the dealock in the hope that fortuitous circumstances might develop to save Hitler's face—meanwhile concentrating diplomatic forces in an effort to line up the Balkan powers, at least economically, on the German side.

But all these possibilities are not worrying the men in khaki.

"Let the Fritzies come, we'll show them a thing or two," appears to be the popular attitude of officers and men.

Whether the blow falls today or next Spring, they are ready. All are proud of what their collective efforts have accomplished and are going ahead with ever-widening operations with quiet confidence.

Justice Butler Passes At 73

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Associate Justice Pierce Butler of the United States Supreme Court died today. He was 73. He entered a hospital for treatment of bladder trouble last summer.

His death meant that President Roosevelt's appointees would be in the majority on the court. Mr. Roosevelt has named four of those on the nine-man tribunal.

Butler was a Democrat, but officials of the Roosevelt administration termed him one of the two "conservative" members of the court, the other being Justice James C. McReynolds.

Although Butler was the third oldest of the justices—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, like McReynolds, is 77—he had just been reported in dobust health during the term of court which ended last June.

Since the court's swing to a "liberal" outlook two years ago, Butler ranked next to McReynolds as the leading dissenter on the bench.

Major decisions to which Butler dissented last term included rulings holding constitutional the 1938 agricultural adjustment act, holding that a group of private power companies could not attack the constitutionality of the Tennessee valley authority power program, and that a state may impose an income tax on salary received by federal employees.

Savage Advises Curb On Speech Abuse

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Nov. 16—(CP-Reuters)—Prime Minister Michael Savage warned against abuse of freedom of speech and freedom of the press today in an interview published by the Labor newspaper Standard.

"The New Zealand government believes in freedom of speech and freedom of the press, but it is determined that the freedom is not going to be abused," he said. "Certain promises have been made to Great Britain and those promises are going to be carried out."

He said members of the opposition, who had pledged themselves to cooperate with the government in every way, could yet decry the government in everything it did. He said he wanted to make it clear that even members of parliament were not going to be allowed to "step on it" as they thought fit. What was an offence in the last war was an offence in the present war, he added.

MANHATTAN TIED UP.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 — (AP).—The United States Lines liner Manhattan arrived today from Southampton and Le Verdon, two days late because of head seas encountered all the way across. The 25,000-ton vessel, which cost $10,000,000, will be tied up at her pier under terms of the neutrality legislation which bars United States ships from combat zones.

ENOUGH FOR BURIAL.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 16—(AP).—Nurses preparing the body of Mrs. Anna Meyer, 73, for a "pauper's burial," today found a money belt containing $4,040 strapped around the woman's waist. Mrs. Meyer died at the Mayview City Home, where her husband, Jacob Meyer, died five years ago, and was buried at the city's expense. The money belt contained 40 $100 bills and some smaller currency.

PAY FOR CLERGY.

MADRID, Nov. 16—(AP). — The government today restored to the Spanish clergy the payment of incomes by the state, a practice put into effect by the Vatican concordat of 1851, and suspended by the Spanish republic after the revolution of 1931.

Split Quebec Athletic Award

The job of picking a recipient for the Montreal Sportsmen's trophy, awarded each year to Quebec's outstanding athlete, proved too tough for the judges this year, and they voted the honor jointly to Ronnie Perowne, ABOVE, and Joey Gagnon, ALONGSIDE. The award is made for athletic ability and sportsmanship. Perowne graduated from McGill, much to the consternation of that school's football followers, after being one of the prime factors in the winning of the intercollegiate championship last fall. Gagnon is Canadian amateur bantamweight boxing champion.

Oklahoma Quarterback Club 750 Strong Puts Coach On Spot Each Week

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 16.—(AP).—Anyone still so naive as to regard college football in the United States as a sport and not a disease needs only to attend one of the weekly sessions of the downtown quarterbacks' clubs of this city to learn his error.

There are minor imitations in other cities, but this one is the papa of them all. There were 750 members at the latest meeting, probably a third of them women, and they went at their quarterbacking serious for three solid hours, starting at the unholy hour of 10:30 a.m.

The club, originated by Sports Editor Bus Ham of the Daily Oklahoman, was so modest at first that the charter members met in a restaurant to discuss the gridiron situation. Now it has been thrown open to the general public in one of the city's swankiest ball rooms, and if the membership continues to grow they will have to move into a ball park.

With no pretense whatsoever, the quarterbacks are football nuts, and the University of Oklahoma the object of their whole affection. Each week they put Coach Tom Stidham squarely on the spot, and some of the questions he answers are a caution. Nor does he attempt to sidestep.

In return from taking the quarterbacks into his confidence, Stidham is given some important cooperation in the matter of getting and keeping good Oklahoma football players at the State University.

Here's how: Each week one of the state's leading high school teams is the honored guest of the club. The boys are well fed, and then they are told, in kindly fashion, that some Oklahoma players who have attended college in their own state have found it easier to obtain jobs after leaving school than others who went off to wicked foreign institutions.

4 Blue Bombers Out For Vital Game

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Coach Reg Threlfall of Winnipeg Blue Bombers said today four of his players probably will be kept out of the deciding game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union Final at Calgary on Saturday because of injuries.

Bombers need all their playing resources, too, for they took at 13-7 beating from Calgary Bronks here Saturday as the total-points series opened and must trim the powerful Albertans by a margin of at least seven points to retain the championship for a third successive year.

Bud Marquardt, lanky outside wing is definitely on the sidelines with a dislocated shoulder suffered in a Regina game October 21. Other probable absentees on Saturday are flying wing Art Stevenson and halfbacks Wayne Sheley and Bill Boivin.

All three backfielders were injured in the first game of the title series. Sheley, ace forward passer from Augustana College, South Dakota, twisted an ankle and chances he will play are slim. Bronks came out of the game almost intact.

Queen's To Lose 15 Players By Graduations

KINGSTON, Nov. 15. — Queen's seniors will lose fifteen players by graduations this year, but Frank Tyndall will have better prospects when he returns for his 2nd term than he did when he started at the Kingston College this year. Most of the losses are linemen and if a few healthy huskies check in between now and next football season Coach Tyndall, a past master on line work, should soon form a wingwall.

Losses from the wing-line are Ding McGill, leading field goal-kicker in Eastern Canada senior football this year, although he only had three; Captain Doug Anan, husky middle; Jerry Conlin and Jake Padden, reliable insides; Nick Paithouski, star snap and his understudy Pete Malachowski; Harry Jones, Gus Edwards, end; and Al Clarke, middle; Jack Brown, kicker; Bob Davis, Bud Johnston and Joe Hoba, fast backs; Bob Simpson, quarter, and Ken Preston, flying wing, are losses from the backfield.

Tyndall will return next year to a team with good backfield prospects. Art Walker, the 18-year-old Toronto Bloor graduate, who developed into a plunging, passing and punting star in his first senior season, should be an outstanding back for college company, while Ivan McDonough, a star fast back in his first senior year; the reliable plunging and tackling of Phil Grandjean and Ford Loucks, the Peterborough star who was handicapped by a bad knee this fall, should be the makings of a good rear guard.

In The Fold Early

Reversing the procedure of last year, when he remained a holdout until April 2, Paul Waner, for the past 14 years one of baseball's greatest outfielders, was the first member of the Pittsburg Pirates to be signed for the 1940 season. Paul is the only player in the majors who has averaged 200 hits a season over such a long stretch and the season before last was the only one in which he failed to pass-300. In the realm of rumors he's been on the trading block for years now, but he's been a Pirate every year so far.

SPORTS—DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Highway to Port Hope this Saturday right after lunch is liable to be plumb cluttered up with students' cars as the P.C.I. grid followers trek to Trinity College School grounds to see the sudden-death clash betwixt Belleville and the P.C.I.-ers. It's for the championship of Central Ontario, winner then proceeding into Ontario semi-finals. Ya might think a club that erased Lindsay, Oshawa and Bowmanville would hold the Central Ontario title—but there's the Quinte conference in this section of the province, too. Oh, but most decidedly. Naturally, no one up this way knows much about the calibre of Quinte high school senior rugby this semester, they being in a different grouping, but the Belleville champs must have something to survive their schedule. However, we'll see on Saturday.

* * * * * *

Coach Bamforth's local Garnet and Gray gladiators are going pretty fair this season, though they lost to Lindsay and Bowmanville in group games. However, their real test will be 'gainst the Quinte crowd. P.C.I. aren't any too strong on reserves and their line at times hasn't stood up as a championship crew's shock troops should. Scott is an injured absentee but Foster will be back on the firing line. The team potentially is potent on the attack with a lot of swish around the ends, a razzle-dazzle spot of lateral tossing and a fine forward-passing attack. Also good hoofing. If the team is clicking this week-end, it'll be a tough one to lick.

Brrr And Also Burp

It may be a bit cool for swimming outdoors these days—unless you were lucky enough to be born in the South Sea Islands, and didn't roam—but they're doing plenty of splashing around indoors now. And we don't mean midgets in a big bathtub. For instance, there's a water meet tomorrow e'en in the Y.W.C.A. pool, the senior girls' championships, plus several other competitions on the same program. Starts at eight and the public is invited. Races, diving, stunts, ornamental swimming, etc. And these gals really know their stuff, the Silver Finnettes being as good as those touring Toronto lasses in drawing intricate patterns in the water.

* * * * * *

And another wet meet is planned up at the Y.M.C.A. by Coach Gord Minty a week from this Saturday. The Broadview "Y" of Toronto will send the cream of its crawl artists down to compete with the best of the Peterborough plungers. The first dual meet of the year, and Gord says it'll be a right entertaining event. For a guy who learned how to master Otonabee's current over at the old dam at the end of Douro St. and later managed to sidestroke it a few times in a row across the canal at the high bridge and back, the writer regards the antics of these tank artists with the same awe a bow-and-arrow warrior must look upon a modern artilleryman, yessuh!

It's Your Headache, Frank

Coach Frank Buckland should have no trouble lining up a pretty fair pack of puckists for Peterborough this coming hockey season. He has Ray Harding and Earl McNabb for goal, and these guys for defence: Don Crowe, Jack Gardner, Archie Weir, Drake Jopling, Jim Ellis and maybe Doug Brennan. And such forwards as Bun Kingdon, Eddie Starr, Honey Tompkins, Don Coughlin, Jack Jopling, Art Heal, Les Burton, Joe Blewett, Bob Parnell, and maybe Dick Ouimet, Rich Jackson, Dude Brady, Brown and a few more. All the pilot needs is a goalie, and a spare net-guardian; four defencemen, and six forwards; with maybe a couple extra guys in case of injury. The Petes will likely carry 15 this season, a dozen in uniform—which means some five or six of the above will be chopped off in a couple of weeks.

* * * * * *

Annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association is a week from Saturday in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. Executive meets Friday night ere the big session, and the O.H.A. officers are putting on a Golden Jubilee dinner at 7.30 that p.m. Invitations have been sent here and to puck moguls and writers throughout the province. Dunno if anyone will be attending from Peterborough except R. M. Glover. As prexy of the Petes' club and life-member of the O.H.A., Mr. Glover serves in a dual role for the locals at these hockey gatherings. Within a week of the annual O.H.A. meeting, the provincial groupings are released officially.

The Orm Beach Cup

A dispatch from Montreal states that Ed Barnabe and Tommy Burns of Westmounts, and Eddie Thompson of Balmy Beach, were nominated by the Westmounts for the Ormond Beach Memorial Trophy this season. This cup goes annually to the most valuable player to his team in the O.R.F.U., and big Johnny Ferraro copped it last year. Personally, we'd say Moroz of Sarnia, Burns of Westmounts or Thompson of Beaches should rate it this year. A few local players might be considered, too, but with the club ending up in the cellar, little consideration would be given by outsiders to the Orfuns. But why Barnabe is given a thought this year is beyond us. However, it's no skin off our chin.

* * * * * *

Art Massucci, readying up his Imperials for their big putsch against Westmounts in Sarnia on Saturday, gives the visitors an offensive edge. But he believes his defensive tactics and young opportunists—with a decent break or two—might once more give the Imps the pennant. Scribe Wilson of the Tunnel Town says calmly enough that Hank Galloway will easily outkick Mullins and Riddell of Mo'real, but we wouldn't care to lay the rent money on that. Hoofing should be fairly even and Westies will go better on straight football, but the Oilers may show a margin with some hipper-dipper dofunnies if they open it up to overcome a Montreal lead. It's a close call but we give Sarnia a narrow nod.

30 HOURS ADRIFT.

LONDON, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Adrift 30 hours in a lifeboat before they were picked up by a trawler, 23 crew members of a Norwegian tanker who were put ashore to-day at a northern British port, charged their ship had been torpedoed without warning.

Seventeen of their mates were still somewhere at sea in a second lifeboat, which the trawler hunted in vain before making port.

PILOTS VOLUNTEER.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Practically all private pilots in Canada have volunteered to join the Royal Canadian Air Force, it was learned to-day.

Some time ago the Department of National Defence asked a number of experienced pilots if they were ready for service on special work, and replies are being received regularly.

Pursuit Squad Is Beaten By The Bombers

Machine Gunners and Sappers each drifted to easy wins over the Artillery and the Tank Corps while Bombers edged out a 2-point victory over Pursuit Squadron in last night's Y.M.C.A. House League Basketball games.

Machine Gunners had a wide margin in the second half to gain a 12-point victory over Artillery, after the teams had battled evenly through the opening period. At the half the winners had a scant 8-6 lead. McPherson, Ward and Dougherty worked well on the winners' front line and Thomas was best for the Artillery.

A Tight Tilt

After trailing 10-8 at the rest period, Bombers gained a 4-point margin in the last half to win. Both teams missed a lot of scoring chances, but play was close and fairly rough throughout. B. Moorhead led Bombers with 10 points and J. Patterson topped his with 6.

Sappers went to town in the last half of their game outscoring the Tank Corps 14-4 in the last half after gaining a small margin in the initial period. Stewart and Marshall led the winners and Broadley the Tank Corps. The teams:

Artillery. — Currie, McDonald, Craig, Thomas, Gillespie.

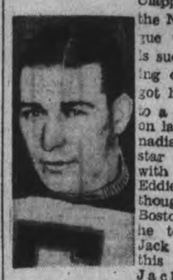
Pro Puck Personalities

(By Central Press Canadian.)

Packing over 200 pounds of heft and ability over his large area, Dit Clapper is one of the National League veterans and is such a doddering old fellow he got himself voted to a defence post on last year's Canadian Press all-star team—along with team-mate Eddie Shore, although on the Boston defence he teamed with Jack Crawford, this year with Jack Portland.



Dit Clapper

Dit was born at Newmarket, Ont., and at the time christened Aubrey. That was 32 years ago. Not going back quite so far we find it is 11 years since he joined the Bruins, after being groomed with the minor league Boston Tigers. When he came up, Dit was a right wing, and in his second year was a member of the highest scoring line in hockey history, the famous "Dynamite Line" that scored 102 goals while the Bruins were losing only five games in 44. Dit beat opposing net-minders 41 times that year. Since being moved back to defence he has proved to be a hard-hitting body-checker, but at the same time has retained his deadly eye around nets and his 13 goals and the same number of assists was the best scoring mark posted by any N.H.L. defender last season. Up to the end of last year this perennial star had accounted for 182 goals, 137 assists, for a point total of 319.

Tomorrow: Gord Drillon, Maple Leafs.

AFTER HOODLUMS.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., Nov. 16—(CP)—Magistrate W. A. Smith has started a one-man crusade against "hoodlumism" in this Essex county town.

"Somebody is going to jail without the option of a fine if this continues,' he said yesterday at the conclusion of a case in which Philip Abbot of Kingsville and Donald Wright of Amherstburg were convicted on charges of assaulting Malcolm T. Shaw, president of the Canadian Legion branch here.

Abbot was fined $15 and costs and Wright $10 and costs.

HELD ON DRUG CHARGE.

TORONTO, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Floyd Robinson, arrested in the uniform of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, pleaded guilty in court to-day to a charge of having narcotics illegally. Police said he admitted joining the army to have access to drugs. He was remanded a week pending further investigation.

Pimples Kill Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but it is the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement of the face which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood of its impurities.

Back In The Playoffs

For the ninth straight year, Coach Art Massucci (ABOVE) has piloted the Sarnia Imperials into the senior O.R.F.U. playoffs, where they have won eight group titles. The Imps meet Westmounts on Saturday in the first of the two-game series. Massucci is rated along with Lew Hayman of the Argos as one of the two best grid coaches in Eastern Canada.

Wilf Cude's Chances Of Getting Back Into N.H.L. Poor As Borque Makes Good

(By the Canadian Press.)

As long as Claude Bourque keeps kicking out the pucks there is little chance of Wilf Cude getting back into the National Hockey League as Montreal Canadiens' goal-tender, but around the Calder circuit there is a feeling that the temperamental Welshman will be back in big time hockey before the New Year—with some other club.

Wilfie had no complaints when he was sent down to New Haven of the International-American League. Bourque, a youngster with a long career ahead of him, beat the veteral out of his job on sheer ability.

But Cude didn't let that break his hopes of gettting back ino the N.H.L. He knew that form alone would bring him back and on his showing with the Eagles so far this season he still has the form.

He demonstrated this last night with shutout goaling as New Haven beat Syracuse Stars 2-0 and gained second place in the league's Eastern Division, one point behind Springfield Indians who have played one more game.

In other games, the champion Cleveland Barons scored their fourth straight victory, 4-1, against Providence, to take first place in the western section, while Pittsburg Hornets and Philadelphia Ramblers played a 2-2 draw.

Two other former Canadiens combined to bring the Eagles their victory. With Don Wilson making the plays both times, Bill (Pee Wee) Summerhill scored the goals, one in the second minute of the second period and the other at the halfway mark.

Bob Gracie and Leroy Goldsworthy, two more ex-N.H.L. players who have been burning up the International-American with their scoring plays, led the Barons to an easy victory.

FOOD RUNS SHORT.

LONDON, Nov. 16—(CP). — The Independent Labor Party announced today it had heard again from German Socialists after a six-week interruption. The reports from the Reich described shortages of all essential foods and misery among the working people.

GALT BOWS TO TIREMEN AND HAMILTON IS DEFEATED AT HOME

Goodyears Whip Galt 8-2; Saints Win 5-3

(By the Canadian Press.)

Toronto Goodyears and St. Catharies, displaying well-balanced power and scoring punch, held a firm grip to-day at the top of the Senior "A" Ontario Hockey Association standing with two straight victories to their credit.

Displaying the power that carried them to the title last year, Goodyears defeated Galt 8-2 in Toronto last night while St. Catharines downed Hamilton 5-3 in Hamilton.

Galt was unable to cope with Goodyear.' passing attack and the Toronto team banged home four goals during the first two periods. Inglis rapped in the first counter and was followed by Imlach, Mundrick and O'Flaherty.

In the third period Johnson and Keith Cooper scored two quick goals for Galt after King had scored Goodyears' fifth goal. Galt's defence, however, was unable to stem the Toronto attacks and J. Cooper, Drummond and Benson barged by for goals.

Senior hockey returned to Hamilton after an absence of several years. Hamilton showed loose hockey during two periods, allowing St. Catharines to go to the front on goals by Mocha, Reynolds and Conick. Hamilton tightened up to tie the count on goals by Conick, Barlow and Tonn.

St. Catharines' smoother passing attack carried them to victory as Pilous and Becker notched the final counters.

Packed Stands Will See Saturday's Grid Classic

On a background made by one of their previous great battles this year are three stars of each team in Argonaut-Ottawa two-game series for the Big Four championship. Along the TOP, three Rough Riders' scoring threats, Andy Tommy, Tony Golab and Wilf Tremblay; along the BOTTOM, three potent running and passing Argonauts, Bill Stukus, Red Storey and Annis Stukus. These stars have been serving up as good a brand of thrills and spectacular playing as the Canadian gridiron has ever seen.

Stewart's Racer In Scandal, Claimed Ringer

BALTIMORE, Nov. 16.—(CP) — A guard hovered about the stall of the four-year-old gelding Smoke Signal at Pimlico race track today as governing bodies of racing in Illinois and Michigan studied evidence showing the horse had been used as a ringer.

Officials of the Maryland Jockey club said they had evidence that Smoke Signal, bought earlier this year by Nels Stewart, former National Hockey League star, for his wife, had been run as George C. at Detroit on June 10, 1938, and as Laddie Boy Ring at Washington Park on August 2, 1938.

Smoke Signal has started 10 times under the colors of Mrs. Stewart and has failed to win a race. He ran second once and third once.

"I should have sold the horse to the glue factory long ago," Stewart said. He said he bought the horse in January for $1,700 from a man he knew only as "Rudolph."

Not Responsible.

"I bought him in good faith and can't be held responsible for any bad records dug up against him."

Maryland jockey club officials said they had notified governing bodies in Illinois and Michigan of their finds, since the horse ran under its proper name in Maryland and no action here was required.

Investigation started Friday when betting was held up pending identification of Smoke Signal. The officials released statement by Frank Hastings, a trainer, quoting him as saying he had claimed the horse out of a race at Belmont Park in May, 1938, at the request of Tom Malone, a trainer ruled off the turf following a ringer case at Pimlico in May, 1938.

Smoke Signal was shipped to Canada by Mrs. Stewart last May. Turf records showed it had not started since May 26, 1938. The horse ran in Canada all summer and was shipped to the United States for a winter campaign.

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 — (AP). — One of the magazines (Liberty) soon will feature the maps of Joe Louis and George Bernard Shaw on its cover page as authors of articles. Joe's piece will be called "Joe Louis Looks Over Future Opponents"....Frankie Frisch and Bill Benswanger of Pittsburg Pirates have been in a huddle here for three days....Mike Jacobs has an advance sale of $15,000 for Conn vs. Lesnevich to-morrow night.

The February 22 Garcia-Armstrong fight at Los Angeles is definitely off....Eddie Mead decided it would not be wise to test the legality of the contract Mike Jacobs has on Armstrong's services. . . Challedon probably will be named the horse of the year, but this corner's nomination goes to Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech....Big Bill Dwyer, once a powerful figure in Broadway night life, is dreaming of a Jersey race track.

It wasn't enough for the Paris Junior College to rout Terrill Prep of Dallas 34-0 the other day.... Paris had to add insult to injury and send in Miss Juanita McCrury, an eye-filling co-ed, to kick one of the extra points.

Van Mungo, his broken foot O.K. again, is hunting elk in Virginia... ..We hope to tell you there is plenty going on along the New York fistic front....Harry Thomas has been ordered to tell the Commission about his dive to Schmeling.... Gen. Phelan has subpoenaed Mike Jacobs as a witness in his slander suit vs. James Joy Johnton, the boy bandit....Two years ago Johnston charged Phelan had an interest in the 20th Century Sporting Club.

The Elizabeth (N.J.) Journal had a scoop that instead of sunning himself in Florida, Tony Galento was in a New York hospital having his right eye treated....Joe Jacobs yelled denials of this; just the same they say Galento appeared in his beer stube last night wearing smoked glasses.

Conn Is Labelled Boxer's Boxer

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(CP).—Billy Conn, light-heavyweight champion, was called a "boxer's boxer" yesterday as he completed training for the defence of his title to-morrow night against Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside, N.J., in Madison Square Garden.

The appraisal came from Frank Erne, old-time lightweight champion, who watched Conn's drill. "I saw him in training here for his first fight with Melio Bettina and he's improved 10 per cent," said Erne. "In co-ordination, footwork, timing, snap to punches Conn is better. He's nice to watch and he's still improving."

Ottawa Rough Riders Out To Even Four Years Score Against Argos

By Central Press Canadian

Saturday sees the renewal of the east's greatest grid feud: Toronto Argos, for the past two years dominion champions, vs Ottawa Rough Riders, for the same length of time their toughest opposition. A battle of the titans, to use a phrase you haven't seen more than a few dozen times.

The greatness of Argonauts needs no further proof than their two consecutive dominion crowns and the manner in which they were achieved. The greatness of the Riders has been stamped in their play this year as they steam-rollered the opposition in every encounter except the one they would best liked to have won, their home game against Argos, played before the second largest crowd to ever attend a game there.

Playoffs Almost New

It was only three seasons ago that the Big Four adopted the playoff system of determining a champion. Before that they had used what now practically amounts to an obsolete system: that of figuring that the team that finished on top of the heap at the conclusion of the regular schedule was the best and sending it into the C.R.U. playdowns.

The last great Hamilton team, the one that succumbed to the winged feet of Fritzie Hanson and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the dominion final, was the 1935 winner and since that time Big Four honors have been a Toronto and Ottawa monopoly.

Three years ago the Tigers were still good enough to finish in a tie for second place with the Rough Riders, but the latter won a close playoff game to go into the group playoffs with Argos, who had finished in first place. The following season the Toronto team repeated with Ottawa second, in 1938 the Riders and Argos tied or top place, and this year it's Ottawa first, Argos second.

This year Ross Trimble's team will be out to even the four-year score. In '36 they lost both games of the regular schedule to Argos, but bounced back to take both playoff games and the Big Four title, although later beaten by Sarnia in the C.R.U. final. For the past two completed seasons Argos, of course, have been the best, taking three of the four games they played each year with the Riders, before going on to dominion honors.

Riders Add Versatility

Still featuring large-sized linemen, but with considerable strength added in the running, passing and kicking departments, Ottawa is more formidable than ever this year. Argos don't appear to have lost much strength along the line or in passing, but are weaker in kicking and tackling.

Both teams feature new faces along with the veterans of their previous clashes. Much can be said about the versatility of Tony Golab, the steady kicking being supplied by Sammy Sward and Arnie McWaters, the powerful plunging of Jim Farmer, but that will doubtless be looked after on numerous occasions elsewhere, so sticking to mathematics, here is the record of the games between the two teams over the past four seasons.

A glance at the scores will attest to the closeness of the rivalry. The games are listed in the order in which they were played, the first two in each case being league encounters and the last two playoff tilts.

Three Nominated For Beach Cup

MONTREAL, Nov 16.—(CP). — Ed Barnabe and Tommy Burns of Westmounts and Eddie Thompson of Balmy Beach were nominated last night by Westmounts for the Ormond Beach memorial trophy, awarded annually to the player considered most valuable to his team in the Ontario rugby football union.

The award, put up by the Union in memory of the late Ormond Beach, for years an outstanding player with Sarnia Imperials, was won last year by Johnny Ferraro, a member of the defunct Montreal Nationals. Ferraro is with Westmounts this season.

Remember When—

Goalie Norman Smith of Detroit Red Wings retired from hockey one year ago today, following a squabble with manager Jack Adams. Smith refused to play minor league hockey with Pittsburg Hornets of the International-American loop, declaring he was "good enough to play wit hthe Red Wings or not at all." He went back to his off-season job with a Detroit motor company.

Canadiens Out To Down Bruins

(By the Canadian Press.)

The National Hockey League race is off to a jammed start and every playing night for a while the leadership may change.

To-night, for instance, either Montreal Canadiens or Chicago Black Hawks or both can leap ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings into first place. Then either the Leafs or the Red Wings can step ahead again when they meet on Saturday night at Toronto.

That's in sharp contrast to last season, when Chicago took a brief lead and then Boston stepped in front to stay there until the schedule's finish.

The Canadiens meet the aroused Boston Club to-night at Montreal, where the Habitants have won both their first two games of the season. The Canadiens, who took longer than any other team to get going last fall, are the only unbeaten and untied team in the league now.

The Bruins, with Eddie Shore back on the defence, got up on their hind legs at home on Tuesday night and slapped down the Black Hawks in overtime.

The Black Hawks will seek the heights at New York in a meeting with the speedy Rangers.

Apsley Hospital Plans Drive For Membership

APSLEY, Nov. 16.—Remembrance Day was observed in Apsley on Saturday by a short service at the Cenotaph. In spite of the very cold day and snow falling quite a few people attended. Rev. F. McMullen gave a short address, assisted by the Rev. C. A. G. Spence.

Several wreaths were laid in memory of the Apsley district boys who were killed in the first Great War, among them being one from the province of Ontario and one from the Apsley Women's Institute.

Red Cross Meeting

The board of directors for the local Red Cross Hospital met on Monday evening at the hospital. The meeting was opened by Mr. M. Hastings, vice-president, in the absence of the president, Mr. N. Lean, who came later. Nine members were present, including Mr. G. K. Fraser, of Burleigh Falls and Miss O'Conner of Burleigh.

The meeting was called to discuss a membership drive to be started at once. It was decided that the men on the board will canvass the village and district. Mr. Hastings, Rev. F. McMulken, Mr. N. Lean and Mr. Lewis to be a committee for this purpose. Membership fee for 1 year is $1.00 and any donations will be thankfully received.

Mr. Hastings gave a report for the cordwood bought for the hospital, 10 cords having been promised.

The nurse, Miss Ferguson, served refreshments and a social half hour was spent. The next meeting will be held the last Friday in November.

Meat Cookery.

The third session in the meat cookery project under the auspices of the Apsley Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. McMullen on Tuesday afternoon. Nine ladies were present. The demonstration held by the local leaders, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. B. Tucker, was a short rib pot roast, beef loaf and broawn roast of sausages.

A contest conducted by Mrs. R. Tucker to guess 10 different cuts of wheat was won by Mrs. G. Sims with 7 guesses right. Mrs. McMullen served tea at the close of the class, when all the ladies had a taste of the meat loaf and crown roast cooked during the afternoon. The next class will be held at Mrs. H. Reed's on Nov. 28 at 7.30 p.m.

was the object of criticism in Pravda, Communist Party newspaper, which commented on "despicable conditions" in India. Pravda said that India had the "largest army of unemployed in the world" and hat 92 per cent. of the population was illiterate.

(The 1931 Indian census showed that only 156 males and 29 females per 1,000 are literate, in the sense of being able to read and write any language, of which there are 225, exclusive of dialects. Statistics on unemployment are not available, but more than 66 per cent of the population is dependent on agricultural and pastoral pursuits. About 10 per cent. of India's workers are engaged in industry.)

In the Helsingfors despatch, Tass declared that Finnish "reactionary elements" were fostering an anti-Soviet policy" and preaching a doctrine of "hate" in the army and in the schools.

"The leaders of the anti-Soviet campaign of lies are the most reactionary elements, who are dreaming of spreading the boundaries of Finland all the way to the Urals (in Russia)," the dispatch declared, adding that "the English bourgoisie has supported this anti-Soviet attitude."

No Impossible Demands

Tass denied that Russia had made any "impossible demands" during recent negotiations with Finland, which were suspended last Monday by recall of a Finnish mission from Moscow.

In Helsingfors, it was indicated that the talks would not be resumed unless the Russians provided a new basis for negotiations—presumably modification of their demands for readjustment of frontiers near Leningrad and naval bases in Northern Finland and at the mouth of the Gulf of Finland.

Tass said that the Finnish government had tried to mislead world opinion by falsely declaring it wanted an agreement with Moscow. The dispatch said, however, that "wide masses of the population are striving to establish friendly relations with the Soviet union."

The immediate cause of the attack apparently was the Finnish Government's action in confiscating an issue of the magazine Souchtu, which has printed articles friendly to Russia.

The Soviet press campaign also scored the United States for her "anxiety concerning Finland."

Cash Box Stolen From Store; Youth Arrested

Joseph Fontaine, 19, of 179 Lake street, was arrested at his home at 2 o'clock this morning by Inspector J. F. Reid, Detective Sergeant W. Meagher and Sergeant W. E. Wigg on charges of breaking and entering, following the discovery that two establishments had been entered a short time before.

In police court today Fontaine was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., on a charge of breaking and entering the Childerhose Radio Sales and Service Store at 261 George street and committing theft and of breaking and entering the store of John Dennie at 405 George street south, with intent to commit theft.

Fontaine elected trial by judge and jury and at the request of the crown was remanded until next Tuesday for preliminary hearing.

"There can be no question of bail in this case," declared Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

"The Crown is opposed to bail," remarked the magistrate "and I am opposed to it, too."

Reported to Police

The discovery of the breaking and entering of the Childerhose establishment was made after James Guiry had reported to the police that shortly after midnight he had found a quantity of papers and stationery with the firm's name on it on the street near the corner of George and Sherbrooke street.

Sergt. W. E. Wigg and Constable Percy Sexsmith investigated and found that a window on the south side of the Childerhose store had been broken and that entrance had been gained to the place in that manner. R. H. Childerhose, manager of the store, was notified and it was learned that a metal cash box had been stolen from a drawer and carried off. It contained no money.

While the officers were still investigating Constable Leo. Murphy, on station duty, was informed in a telephone message from J. W. Ashmore, service station proprietor at 412 George street that he had heard the sound of breaking glass at the store of John Dennie, opposite his establishment, and had seen a man around there. Constable Murphy relayed the message to Sergt. Wigg and Constable Sexsmith and they dashed down George street in a cruiser car to find that the window of the Dennie store had been broken but that the marauder had made his escape.

Inspector Reid and Detective Sergt. Meagher were called out and as a result of investigations by them and by Sergt. Wigg, Fontaine was arrested at his home shortly afterward.

LAKEFIELD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 16.—The new study book, Moving Millions, is being taken by the Lakefield United Church Young People's Society this year. At the first meeting held in the Sunday school room on Tuesday night, Mrs. (Rev.) G. Kelly introduced the story with a resume of the first chapter, and Mrs. E. Milburn had the second chapter. This new book promises much interest, judging from its first night's reception.

Previous to the devotional exercises a recitation period in charge of Mr. Robert Spence, started the meeting off in a happy mood.

Miss Helen Burgess, president, presided for the meeting and lead in the responsive reading of the 91st Psalm. A solo was also sung by Mrs. J. R. Hull, and the meeting was closed with a missionary hymn followed by the Mizpah Benediction.

Two Engineers Looking Over Airport Sites

Peterborough's airport hopes are now in the hands of the Department of Transport. Two engineers of its civil aviation branch completed Wednesday afternoon a survey of fields within the rural fringe of the city, obtaining details of available acreage, and asking for further information to be afforded from soundings to be made by City Engineer Parsons.

Members of the special committee had obtained ground facts from an examination of properties made by J. W. Pierce, O.L.S. His data was partly obtained from aerial maps prepared by the Federal Government. Aldermen Cotton, Glover and McCannan, J. J. Duffus, M.P., and Deputy City Clerk Outram accompanied the engineers Tuesday afternoon and all day Wednesday, and it is understood that one of the engineers made several exploratory trips on his own initiative.

It was stated that the representatives of the Department of Transport were almost exclusively interested in prospective sites for a training field for war aviators, and it was assumed that the best location for that emergency use would also be suitable and adaptable for peace time purposes.

Several properties that were surveyed are comparatively close to the city, and another field which might be used as an auxiliary and for bombing practice is about twelve miles from the city.

From several of the members it was learned that the committee had done everything possible to furnish the Departmental officials with complete information, and it was stated that the decision now rests entirely with the Federal Government as to whether they will declare their approval of a military air field for Peterborough.

Missionary Workers Unite At Lakefield

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 16— W. M. S. workers from Campbellford, St. Paul's church, Peterborough and from the Baptist and United churches, Lakefield were guests of St. Andrew's W. M. S., Lakefield, for their thankoffering meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. (Rev). J. M. Young, introduced Mrs. A. G. Thompson of Campbellford, president of the Peterborough presbyterial who was guest speaker and had as her topic, "The Challenge of The Hour."

She spoke of the need of the world for the church and religion. Even in those countries where the Christian religion is being kept under subjection by earthly powers. But where even two or three can meet in the name of Christ a new church is being founded.

Mrs. Thompson said that the first missionaries were Paul and Barnabus and since that time missionaries have been going forth preaching Christ to all peoples.

The challenge of the hour is to bring a flaming Christ to the world.

Mrs. Thompson was extended a most hearty vote of thanks by Mrs. J. W. Ridpath of the local branch.

The devotional exercises were taken by Miss E. Walker, deaconess of St. Paul's church, Pts. and the 67-second psalm and also led in prayer.

A solo, "O Heart of Mine" by Mrs. L. R. Mitchell accompanied by Mrs. D. Diplock was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. J. M. Simpson, president of the Lakefield society presided for the meeting and insisted the ladies to remain for a cup of tea, and a social hour.

Citizens Pay Tribute To E. F. Mason

Citizens in every walk of life paid tribute to E. F. Mason who died in Nicholls hospital on Wednesday after a few days illness. Mr. Mason's funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at three o'clock in St. Paul's Presbyterian church with interment in Little Lake cemetery.

Exhibition Director 20 Years.

Thomas Brown, president of the Peterborough Exhibition: "Mr. Mason was a member of the Board for more than twenty years, and everything he did as a director was just as thorough as he was in managing his own business. He was keen about the success of the Exhibition, took time from his business to give to the welfare of the Exhibition, and was a very valuable member. I feel that I am expressing the feelings of all the directors and the citizens generally who wish for the success of our Exhibition in saying that Mr. Mason will be greatly missed from our Board of Directors. He was keen about wiping out balance of debt to the bank, and certainly did his part to reduce to the comparatively small amount now outstanding. He told me a year ago that he would consider taking the position of president for 1940 if the directors and members wanted him."

Leader of Business Men.

"Mr. Mason was a valued member of the Business Men's Association," declared Al. Sharpe, president. "He had a keen mind and contributed many valuable suggestions to us in our work. He brought to the organization the same shrewdness and ability that characterized his own business career. The business men of Peterborough have lost a man who set them a fine example, and his place will be difficult to fill." Mr Mason was a prominent member of the old Retail Merchants' Association that preceded the Business Men's Association, and had been its president as well as serving on the directorate for a number of years.

Supporter of Chamber of Commerce

Mr. Mason was a member of the Chamber of Commerce directorate for many years and one of its most able workers, said J. J. Dorris, secretary. "I always found him to be a fine chap to work with, and one who was willing at all times to take over any duties that might be assigned to him. He was a man of very sound judgment, and was most attentive to meetings. We shall miss him a great deal."

As a Public Servant.

"Mr. Mason was chairman of the Utilities Commission at the time I was a member and he gave splendid service," declared Gordon S. Matthews, present chairman. "He gave more of his time to the commission than perhaps any chairman before or since his time." He paid high tribute to the organization ability of Mr. Mason.

Worked For New Hospital.

"Every member of the Nicholls Hospital Board will miss Mr. Mason's work," declared E. B. Fowler, secretary. "He was an energetic chairman who was deeply interested in the success of the hospital and he devoted a great deal of time to his work there. He was tremendously disappointed that it was impossible to build a new hospital this year."

Lost a Good Citizen.

W. H. Bradburn, former member of the Legislature and also of the City Council and Utilities Commission: "Mr. Mason and I were both on the Utilities Commission together, and I need hardly say that he was a faithful and efficient member. He was associated with a great many affairs of the community, and was always willing to do his part as a citizen. He was interested in the welfare of Peterborough, and I think men like Mr. Mason would feel repaid in their work as public-spirited citizens to know that the younger men of to-day were just as ready and prepared to take the places that are being left vacant. Peterborough has lost a good citizen in Mr. Mason."

One of Last of Old Merchants.

R. G. Kingan of the Kingan Hardware Company: "Mr. Mason was one of the last of the older merchants of Peterborough, the men who helped to a large extent in building up this city. I have known him for many years. He was a good business man, and it was always a pleasure to do business with him. Peterborough people have known Mr. Mason so well that there is not much more than they know for me to say about him. I was very sorry to hear of his death."

108 Hours Frozen

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 16 — (AP). — Physicians slowly brought a 46-year-old woman out of an 108-hour frozen sleep today and sought to determine more definitely the effects of lowered body temperature in checking cancer. For the 108 hours, her body was kept at a temperature of 84 degrees, 14.6 degrees below normal, by means of ice packs.

NO WET CANTEENS.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP).—Members of the Ottawa Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, in a resolution today called upon the Federal Government to abolish "wet" canteens in armouries or placed under the control of the Canadian militia during recruiting or training periods.

Business Men's Annual Show Is Big Success

Members of the Business Men's Association reported this morning two large audiences at the Centre Theatre last night for the distribution of one hundred and fifty prizes by which the Association obtains funds for the Santa Claus parade in December.

At the request of Al Sharpe from the stage both audiences stood for one minute in silence in respect for the late E. F. Mason, an active member of the Association.

Seventy-five prizes were handed out at each show. C. E. Blewett drew the tickets from a hat box, Al Sharpe announced the numbers and Vern Selkirk passed out the prizes to the holders of the winning tickets.

Mr. Blewett thanked the audience for the attendance and also Sid Goldstone, manager of the theatre, for his co-operation.

Proceeds may have been a little larger than last year, and will be spent on the Santa Claus parade, the date of which has not yet been determined.

Horses Bring Low Prices At Farm Sale

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 16. — One of the largest auction sales to be held in this district recently took place at the James McKeown farm in Seymour Township near Stanwood on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. McKeown, who have been among the most successful farmers in this vicinity, are retiring to Campbellford early next month, and as a result sold their entire farm stock, including horses, cattle, grain and machinery. Most disappointing feature of the sale was the comparatively low price realized by the horses. Mr. McKeown offered three geldings, 7, 9 and 12 years old, all around 1,500 pounds, and they brought an average of only $100.00 each. Twelve grade Holsteins, 3 to 8 years old, and due to freshen in the spring, brought as much as $50 each. A flock of 100 hens brought 60 cents apiece, and turkeys brought $3.50. Fourteen tons of hay went under the hammer at $9.00 per ton; 300 bushels of oats at 46 cents; and 60 bushels of barley at 60 cents.

Local auctioneer J. R. Battisby handled the sale, and was assisted by R. N. Morrison as clerk.

Urges Color Brighten British Sandbagging

LONDON, Nov. 16—(CP)—There isn't much that can be done about making the blackout attractive but John Tloag, authority on industrial design, has some suggestions for an artistic approach to this business of sand-bagging buildings.

He would like to see the unsightly sand-bags colored, definite patterns to the paper criss-crosses on plate glass windows and some paint on the boards that have been placed in front of other windows.

"Liverpool has set an excellent example by using colored sand bags in red, white, blue and orange," he said in an interview. Some of them are arranged in attractive patterns.

Gloag regards the possibilities of decoration "as a heaven sent opportunity to provide employment for hundreds of young artists and designers who are suffering, like everyone else as a result of the war."

14-Year-Old Girl Is Still Missing

Police are still searching for 14-year-old Doreen Smith of North Monaghan, missing from her foster home outside the city limits since Halloween night, but no trace of her has been uncovered as yet. This girl is no relation to the Smith at 66 Monaghan Road.

She was wearing a Halloween costume when she left her home and was brought to a corner near her home shortly before 9 o'clock at night by a young man but she failed to arrive home and nothing has been heard of her since that time. She is five feel tall, with dark brown eyes and hair curled at the ends. She was wearing a beaded gypsy costume and over it a windbreaker with name "Smithy" on it.

Humber Will To Stand Court Rules

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP).—The $10,500 will of Lorenzo Frederick Humber, under which he left his daughter, Mrs. Eva Seymour, $1, is valid, the Ontario Court of Appeal, consisting of Mr. Justice Middleton, Mr. Justice Masten and Mr. Justice McTague, held in a judgment delivered today.

The testator died in Peterborough in July, 1938. He had made four wills, by the last of which he left the bulk of his estate to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Humber, and the remainder to two neighbors, Mrs. Robert Snelgrove and son Dion, and $1 to his daughter.

"He was convinced by that time," says Mr. Justice Middleton in a written judgment, "that she was not a true daughter to him, and reverted to the old grievances in relation to her conduct towards her mother and her failure to attend her mother during her last illness and to attend the funeral."

The result reversed the findings of the trial judge, Mr. Justice Makins, who "regarded the document as being a most unnatural will, failing to understand that which actuated the testator."

The court finds that the latter had testamentary capacity.

Mayor In Roll Of Magician

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 16— Perhaps better known in field of municipal government than as a magician and entertainer, Mayor F. F. Long gave a decidedly fine performance as his contribution to the concert sponsored by St. Andrew's Mission Band The Mayor who was one of the featured entertainers of the evening adequately proved his versatility both as artists, magician and story teller. Also receiving a generous amount of applause for his contribution to the program was Councillor J. R. Battisby who offered a clever Irish monologue to meet the Mayor's challenge issued a couple of week's before the performance. Captain and Mrs. H. Hutchison added much to the program with their musical talent.

Rev. B. Simpson Black who was chairman of the evening welcomed the audience which filled the auditorium to capacity, and announced the following program which opened with a three part chorous by the Mission Band followed by a vocal solo, Kenny McFarlane; vocol solo, Valerio DeCarrol; piano solo; Marion Seymour, vocal solo; Marilyn Hopping; reading, "Neville Chamberlain," Rheta Palliser, duet, dramatized by Berle Spencer and Constance Black; solo, Marlene Boudreau; address, "Poland and Its People" Francis DeCarrol; vocal duet with guitar accompaniment, Captain and Mrs. Hutchinson; vocal duet, Georgie DeCarrol and Francis Hendy; violin solo, Jack Bell. drill, Evelyn Bailey, Margaret Rutledge, Berle Spencer, and Constance Black; vocal solo, Marilyn Hopping; vocal G. Stirling Chapter Visited By Chief

BONARLAW, Nov. 15.—On Monday evening of this week Rt. Ex. Comp. N. M. Sprague of Trenton, district superintendent of Prince Edward District No. 11 (R. A. Masonry), paid an official visit to Keystone Chapter No. 72 Stirling. A pleasant feature of the evening was the showing of several reels of moving pictures by Rt. Ex. Comp. Sprague, which were taken by himself on a recent trip to the Western U.S.A. coast and the San Francisco World's Fair. The pictures and Comp. Sprague's lecture which accompanied the showing were instructive and entertaining.

At the banquet following, Ex Comp. W. I. Eggleton, First Princ. of Keystone Chapter presided and proposed a toast to "The King."

The toast to Grand Chapter was proposed by Comp. Col. Vanderwater and responded to by Right Ex. Comp. N. M. Sprague, who stressed the living of Masonry both in and out of the lodge, making lodge meetings as attractive as possible, and the chapter engaging in community welfare work.

The toast to the visitors was proposed by Rt. Ex. Comp. G. B. Bedford and replied to by the Grand Superintendent.

A vote of thanks to Keystone Chapter was tendered by the visitors present and was replied to by First Prin. W. I. Eggleton.

CAMPBELLFORD

Debate Features Meeting Of Young People

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 16.— A cleverly contested debate on the subject "Resolved that boys have more privileges than girls" formed an interesting feature of the weekly meeting of St. Andrew's Y. P. S. and marked a new departure in the form of program adopted at these meetings. The word battle was won by the negative side which was ably upheld by Aylmer Haig and June Bartley. Ruth McEachern and Raymond Wragg were on the affirmative It is expected after several practice engagements two of the best debaters will be picked to meet a team from either St. John's or the A. Y. P. A. The two teams for the next encounter will consist of Frances Hendy and Georgie DeCarrol vs. Charles Russell and William MacKenzie. During the business portion of the program it was announced that the Young People would make a donation of $15.00 to the church as part of their annual allocation. Next Monday will be Loyalty Night and it was announced that each member will be given an envelope in which to put their subscription as a part of their special drive. Mrs. Raymond Dunk was in charge of the program during the evening which included a vocal solo by Raymond Wragg; a reading "On an India Reserve" by Alice Outerson; and a vocal duet by Frances Hendy and Georgia DeCarrol.

Use Isolation Hospital

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—(CP)—Dr. C. O. Broad was instructed by the Toronto Board of Health last night to investigate the cost of caring for indigent patients in Riverdale Isolation Hospital. Mayor Ralph Day said that by the end of the year the hospital would have overdrawn its appropriation by $30,000 and "in my opinion, the expenditures are beyond reason."

Red Cross Drive Is Going Well Workers Report

Half way through the campaign, the Red Cross canvassing teams reported last night that from all indications Peterborough will report a full quota of at least $15,000 in the national appeal of the society this week.

The consensus of team captains was that the heart of Peterborough is soundly behind the Red Cross Society, the response everywhere has been friendly and cheerful, canvassers are meeting with a kindly reception from home to home, and office to office, and according to David Diplock, manager of the campaign, a gentleman who is chary of superlatives, Peterborough is going to make a good showing in this first financing drive of the war.

Some of the Captains believe that this city is going "well over the top," and that nobody is going to back up in generosity just because the response so far has been decidedly encouraging.

"Peterborough has always done nobly," the Hon. A. E. Matthews, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, stated at the Red Cross meeting last Friday night.

The members of the teams and citizens generally are hoping to be able to send His Honor word at the end of this week that his confidence in Peterborough was sustained "a 100 per cent plus" response, that the $15,000 is going to be substantially exceeded when the contribution and pledges are all totalled up.

Woman Is Fined On Liquor Count

Provincial Constable David Silvester and Constable W. A. Clarke of the city police force swooped down on a house in Douro township late last night, seized a quantity of beer, and arrested Mrs. Lillian Little on a liquor charge.

The officers had to force their way into the place by breaking in a rear door after having repeatedly sought to gain admittance at the front. They found some beer in the house and more in a disused well.

Mrs. Little was charged this morning with possession of beer not legally acquired.

"I could only plead guilty," she told the magistrate.

"It's not what you could do; it is what you do," remarked Magistrate Langley.

The accused then pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and $5, or three months' imprisonment.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner Says Cheese, Bacon Are Key Products

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16—(CP). — Greater concentration on the production of bacon, beef and dairy products was urged on farmers by Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner last night as he outlined a war-time agricultural policy for the man on the land.

Mr. Gardiner, who urged the farmer to consolidate his position to prepare for changes peace might bring, spoke before the annual dinner of the United Grain Growers Limited. His speech was broadcast over a network of Prairie radio stations.

The minister described Canada's huge wheat surplus as "a blessing to the British Empire" during these difficult times and called on the farmer to bend his efforts toward planning for greater quantities of cheese, bacon, beef and eggs. Britain has show increased interest in such products since the outbreak of war.

"It will take us two years to get into the swing of greater production in beef and dairy products," he said. "We should, therefore, start to plan now, and as a matter of fact we have already done so."

There was no increased demand right now from Britain for cheese, butter or beef. "We can rest assured, however, that if the war continues over a period of two years or more that by the end of a two-year period greater demand will be made upon our supplies than can be even estimated at present. . .

"No mistake will be made, whatever the future has in store, if the production of cheese, bacon and eggs is increased. I would particularly emphasibe bacon and cheese . .

"I am firmly of the opinion that whether we can realize the desired price at present we should keep bacon and cheese going forward, confident that it is the best long-time policy."

Need Higher Price

Canadian cheese producers could not find their way to accept a price level similar to that extended New Zealand and Australia but the British food ministry had allowed the trade in Britain to go on purchasing Canadian cheese at a price higher than the food ministry price.

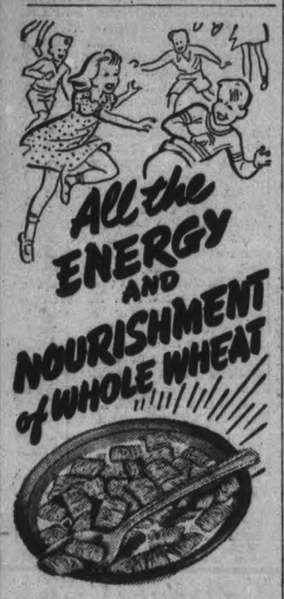
However, Canada is prepared to enter an agreement when "it is thought to be in the common interest of our producers and British defence that we should do so."

Mr. Gardiner explained that the British food ministry controls distribution of pork products at an established price and it eventually might, therefore, be necessary for Canada to direct production and price through an understanding with processors and producers.

In referring to the 500,000,000 bushels of wheat still in the Dominion, Mr. Gardiner said about 125,000,000 of this would be needed in Canada and "if armies overrun the wheat fields of Europe every bushel of that surplus will be required."

"If peace terms are made soon or late which are lasting, people will go back to normal production of other things and every bushel of our wheat will be required to feed people in times of peace just as it was from 1935 to 1937."

British millers who were using a standard mix containing 10 per cent Canadian wheat, were said to be willing to increase the Canadian content to 50 per cent or more if provided with the grain at a price reasonably close to other wheat and also if guaranteed sufficient to maintain production of flour at that standard mix.



Here's whole wheat, with its minerals, vitamins, bran, wheat germ, and all its downright nourishment, served in a new way. It's flavored with mellow malt, toasted a golden brown. Try Cubs for breakfast—crisp, crunchy, tasty, inexpensive. Your grocer has Cubs.

DAILY WAR SUMMARY

(By Canadian Press.)

The possibility that Nazi threats of swift and terrible war in the west may be part of a game of bluff is not being overlooked in Allied official circles. If it is not a bluff, of course, the continued delay in launching an attack either on the British Isles by air or on France by land and air points to something like confusion or divided counsels within Germany.

Reports of the arrest of important personages such as Field Marshal von Blomberg and members of the former royal family originate outside Germany and must be accepted with reserve. If true they indicate a condition which explains many things.

Russian Trade Agreement Not Make Up For Loss.

Since the advent of the Nazi party to power great efforts have been made to make Germany economically self-sufficient so that Germans might never again be starved into submission by a sea blockade. Economists generally believe this objective was not attained and they further believe the new trade arrangement with Russia will not compensate for the shutting out of essential foreign supplies from the west.

Yet it may be the Nazi plan to force the German people to tighten their belts and live off their own and Russian produce while a long but inactive war proceeds. That would leave the initiative to Britain and France. They would have to either attack Germany or maintain their huge armies in constant readiness to meet a German attack.

Hitler Not Been In Habit of Making Idle Threats

The Nazis, however have not been in the habit of making idle threats in their conflicts with other nations. Usually Hitler strikes first and talks afterwards or talks as his troops move.

Now he and his chief aides have been talking terrible war for weeks and doing nothing. It is the first time he has outlined an objective and failed to move towards it with promptness as he did in the occupation of the Rhineland, the annexation of Austria, the suppression of Czecho-Slovakia and the conquest of Poland.

Broken 'Romeo' To See 'Juliet'

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(AP). — Dashing George Lowther, III, 30-year-old broker "Romeo," has won the right to see his pretty "Juliet," or even marry her if she wants him —and she says she does.

Love triumphed over parental barriers yesterday in Manhattan's unromantic State Supreme Court, where Lowther had petitioned for a writ of habeas corpus, alleging Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Herrick had kept their daughter Eileen, 20, a "prisoner" to prevent her marriage to him.

Justice Isidor Wasservogel, after questioning everyone concerned, told the parents: "She is past the age of consent. If she wants to marry this man, she has the right to do so. She ought to listen to her parents' advice, however, but she has civil rights, too, and if she makes a mistake, it's her mistake and her life."

The Justice decided that Lowther must not attempt to see Eileen for the next 10 days while she remains in a hospital to recuperate from a nervous condition. After that, said the judge in dismissing Lowther's petition, the two may see each other as often as they like.

The Fireworks Start.

Lowther's difficulties with the Herricks started when his plan to carry Eileen down a ladder and off to the parson failed to materialize. The Herricks refused him permission to see their daughter, and Lowther, contening she wanted to see him, filed the petition. Supreme Court attaches said it was the first time in their memory that a father had been compelled to produce his daughter under a writ of habeas corpus obtained by a suitor.

When she entered the courtroom, Lowther rushed toward her with outstretched arms. Herrick shouted, "Get away from her," and shoved the broker. A detective separated them.

After hearing the Justice's stipulation Eileen asked: "Does this mean that after ten days I can live an ordinary, normal life, get a job and see George whenever I want to?"

"Yes, of course you can," the Justice said. He advised the Herricks to establish friendly relations with Lowther "because he may become your your son-in-law."

One Hundred Pairs Of Socks Are Knit By Campbellford I.O.D.E. Bemmerside Chapter

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 16. — Members and friends have already turned in more than 100 pairs of socks for the army and navy as well as eight sweaters, according to a report of the work done recently by the I.O.D.E. Bemmerside Chapter and presented by the local Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside. In addition to this, 65 yards of flannelette have been cut up and made into hospital garments. Work has been started on a hospital quilt and at the present time a large quantity of wool is in the process of being knitted. All of this material was purchased in town and has been paid for with the proceeds from entertainment sponsored by the Chapter with the addition of a few cash donations. A large bale of new clothing for women and children who are evacuees in England has already been packed.

At their monthly meeting six new members were welcomed. It was planned to place a copy of the booklet "Canada Within The Empire" in all of the rural and local schools in an effort to stimulate greater patriotism in the children. The treasurer reported that contributions had been made to the Annual Tag Day for the Blind, the Navy League, and the Endowment Fund. Mrs. George Hawthorne was appointed as war convener. In order to cope with the increased work being done by the Chapter it was arranged to meet twice a month on the second Friday and fourth Thursday.

Wages in Chile are at present so low that few laborers can buy new shoes or clothing.

Lifford Line Holds Crokinole Party

LIFFORD LINE, Nov. 16.—A jolly crokinole party was held in Lifford community hall on Friday evening under the auspices of the Fleetwood Ladies' Association.

In spite of very unfavorable weather conditions twelve tables were occupied for an interesting series of games. When the scores were counted in conclusion it was learned that the high score for ladies was held by Mrs. Leona Lang while Mr. Harry Neals held high score for men. The ladies of the sponsoring society provided lunch and a happy social hour was enjoyed by all.

Although the small fee of 10 cents was charged more generous contributions were made in many instances and a very creditable financial result was realized. This is an initiative move toward Red Cross work in this particular section where it is expected continuued progress will be made during the fall and winter months.

Among those from here who motored to Sarnia for the week-end in order to attend on Saturday the funeral of the late Mr. Norman Wilson, a native of Lifford, were his sisters, Mrs. Austin Fallis of Ballyduff, Mrs. J. J. Clarke of Bethany, Mrs. Walter Henry of Peterborough and his brothers, Mr. George Wilson of Yelverton and Mr. Archie Wilson of Lifford Line.

Mr. and Mrs. George Johns and son, Billy of Nestleton were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Preston.

Mr. Grant Real, B.A., of Ottawa was a Sunday guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerwin Mulligan.

Miss Evelyn Finney of Fleetwood spent a few days recently the guest of her aunt, Miss Emma Lathangue.

Mrs. Lawrence Staples spent a few days last week with friends at Stewart Hall, and attended the annual Fowl Dinner while there.

Dionnes Go Shopping For Christmas Toys

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(CP). — Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, parents of the famous Quints, started out this morning on the busiest day of their New York trip—choosing Christmas gifts for their family of eight girls and four boys.

"The stores are full of millions of presents but if there were twice as many it would still be difficult to pick the right thing for each of 12 children," said Mrs. Dionne.

One of Mrs. Dionne's greatest interests since she came here Sunday has been the playground and nursery facilities for city children. Yesterday she visited a day nursery operated by the House of Divine Providence for infants, whose mothers go to work in the daytime. Mrs. Dionne spent an hour with the children and remarked laughingly as she left: "All these babies are just like one big family."

Last night the Dionnes, accompanied by six-year-old Pauline, saw a musical show. They will leave for home tomorrow morning.

Home Service

Be Poised in any Social Circle

How to be at ease in more formal social circles—if you are used to simply-run, servantless homes? Moments that might be embarrassing are easily hurdled by knowing etiquette.

When calling, should you ask hostess or maid if you wish a service such as a glass of water? Correct to ask the hostess, who then asks the maid.

For such little extra services, the well-bred guest always thanks a servant. And at a dinner party, if a guest wishes to refuse a dish, he should say "no thank you" to the waitress or gently shake his head.

The charmingly-mannered hostess of course doesn't criticize a servant before guests. Nor does she call her by a nickname.

Other points for hostess and guest are as simple. At a large party a hostess does not introduce each guest to everyone, only to those nearby. A woman guest seats herself as soon as possible on arriving so men guests won't be kept standing.

What is right telephone etiquette? Should a woman shake hands at introductions? Our 32-page booklet tells the correct thing for hostess and guest, gives etiquette for motoring, travel, country club, the theatre. A complete guide for both younger and older sets.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of ETIQUETTE: THE CORRECT THING TO DO to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Boiling Wool Is Bad For "Fibre"

There is a rumor running around among the many thousands of women who are knitting socks and other garments for men in service to the effect that boiling wool before knitting removes the loose dye which is in much of our present wool and shrinks the wool so that the socks, etc., will not shrink again when subjected to the informal treatment they are sure to get from the men themselves, says an authority.

This is an erroneous belief. Tests that have been made in reputable laboratories show that while boiling wool will remove loose dye, it will at the same time do a great deal more serious harm to the wool itself. It has also been effectively demonstrated that while boiling will shrink wool it will not prevent further shrinkage. "Wool is an animal fibre. Boiling animal fibre kills it — in fact, ruins it and deadens the whole structure. After wool is boiled, it loses all its characteristics, which are:

1. Resilience and elasticity—(this as you know, it its ability to stretch and contract.)
2. Body—(its feel and general spongy texture).
3. Softness.
4. Life—(durability).

"In the processing of wool, all processes up to the dyeing process, are developed to avoid extreme heat and none can go as high as boiling temperature. It is not possible to avoid boiling with all dyes and those where boiling is necessary show that the wool has deteriorated and is not nearly of the same quality as yarns where dyes can be used at lower temperatures.

"Wool fibre is wool fibre regardless of its quality, and boiling causes much greater shrinkage in fine Botany wools than in the coarser wool. It therefore stands to reason that with the coarse wool, such as is being used for service socks, there is less need to avoid shrinkage than if a fine yarn like a Botany were used.

"In short, boiling of any wool is definitely harmful, as anyone with any knowledge of wool, will substantiate.

Another authority on consultation confirmed this and suggested that if the wool you receive needs washing, pour hot water, over it and leave it in water to get cool, then hang up to dry.

Engagement Announced

MR. HAROLD G. WINDLE MISS MARY A. ANDERSON

Whose engagement is announced by Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson, of Havelock, parents of the bride-to-be. Mr. Windle is the son of Mrs. Mary Windle and the late Mr. W. Windle of Toronto. The marriage will take place very quietly in St. John's Church, West Toronto, on the evening of December 9th.

Marjorie Joyes Is Wed In White Moire Gown

A profusion of bronze chrysanthemums made an effective setting on Saturday, November 11, for the wedding in St. Luke's Anglican Church of Miss Marjorie Julia Joyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Joyes of Mark Street, to Mr. Mathew John Watson, son of Mrs. Watson and the late Mr. J. M. Watson, Mark Street. Reg. G. J. Bousfield officiated, and wedding music was played by Miss Margaret Flowers.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. Her gown was of white moire taffeta covered with white net, and her bustle back taffeta jacket had short puff sleeves, and was fastened from neck to waistline with small covered buttons. Her veil of silk net fell in delicate folds, and was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried Bettertime roses and lily of the valley. Miss Margaret Gardiner, as bridesmaid, was frocked in pink silk net over taffeta, designed with graceful skirt and short bolero jacket of lace. Her tiny hat was fashioned of pink net and flowers, and she carried Briarcliff roses and lily of the valley. Mr. Edward Copperthwaite was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Kenneth Hoard and Mr. George Corbett of Port Hope.

At the reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Joyes received in a gown of teal blue crepe with hat of wine felt and corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Watson, mother of the groom, was in black satin with black velvet hat and corsage of Talisman roses.

The bridal couple left for Toronto and points west, the bride donning for travelling a frock of teal blue under a wine topcoat. Her accessories were also of wine. Mr. and Mrs. Watson will live at 308 Mark Street.

Toll Brothers To Lecture On South America

A beautifully illustrated screen narrative of adventure in mountains and jungles; a story of strange peoples and customs, picturing the ruins of ancient civilizations and recounting many dangers of wilderness places, will be the entertainment offered on Friday evening at George Street United Church by LeRoy and Elsworth Toll, who purposely set out to photograph the country below the Panama Canal, and spent fifteen months in Central and South America securing material for a new travelogue with the best of still and motion picture equipment.

The thousands who followed their series of articles in metropolitan newspapers know how these Canadian boys hitch-hiked through the United States and on to Mexico City; how they scaled Mexico's tallest and most difficult mountain Orizaba, highest peak in North America south of Alaska, and those who heard their last travelogue, "Hiking Around the World" will be delighted to learn that this presentation will far surpass anything they have yet given, and will furnish an ideal evening's program which will entertain, instruct and inspire.

The Toll Brothers are being brought to Peterborough under the auspices of the George Street United Church W.M.S.

I.O.D.E. Tea Is Aided By Clear Sunshine

Wednesday's bright, clear sunshine added greatly to the success of the 57th Regiment Chapter I.O.D.E. The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, November 17.

Lively conditions prevail on this day in both business and personal affairs. While these matters move at satisfactory tempo, here also may be an over-wrought or highy-accelerated pace which could prove detrimental if not prudently handled. The young and all interests and ambitions of a youthful character are under particularly exciting impetus. Affectional or romantic attachments may engage the attention toe hazard of purely business relations. Courtship and marriage are indicated, but be wary of dubious intrigues or subtlety.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves caught up in a year of much activity of a romantic, emotional nature, wih social engagements, entertainment, and youthful pleasures and pastimes claiming major attention. The eligible will find courtship or matrimony intriguing, and unless manipulated with discretion there may be sinister or detrimental involvements.

A child born on his day may be talented in both business and social lines, or it may have particular gifts in art, music or drama. It should be entertaining, enterprising and personally popular.

A Double Pay Envelope May Be Desirable But More Often Than Not it Leads To Ruination Of Many Marriages.

A MAN who is at the head of a business that employs more than a thousand men was discussing the working-wife problem the other day. "I am convinced," he said, "that for a woman to work outside of her home after she is married is a great mistake. The old traditional division of labor between husband and wife for the man to bring home the bacon and the woman to fry it is the natural one, and we upset it at our peril.

"I am not talking, mind you, about those tragical cases in which a wife has to earn the dough as well as bake it, or else her family would starve. I am talking about those starry-eyed young brides who feel that they are being so noble when they keep on with their jobs after marriage, because two pay envelopes instead of one will enable them to have a swankier apartment and a better car and go out to more night clubs.

"They think that they are helping their husbands to get a start in the world, but, in reality, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, they are doing the one thing that is going to slow them down and keep them from getting anywhere. For man, by instinct, is a lazy and a selfish beast who needs a goad in his side to galanize him into action. When he lacks this, when he finds that he has a wife who will take the burden of the family support off of his shoulders and rustle him a comfortable living, why, he just sits back and lets her do it.

"At least, that has been the experience we have had with our men. I have watched them closely, and almost without exception the lads who married girls who continued to be money-earners after marriage began to slip. Marriage didnt put any more pep into them. It didn't turn them into hustlers who were giving all they had to their jobs so that they could make things soft and easy for the Little Woman. They just eased down and let the Little Woman make things soft and easy for them.

"The coming men among our employees are those who accepted the sole responsibility of providing for their wives when they married. And I think this is easy to explain. They are driven on by necessity. They have got to make good. Their wives would go cold and hungry but for them, and that knowledge steels a man's arm and makes him fight through every obstacle to victory. Then there are other factors to consider in this working-wife problem. One is that it takes a superwoman who is also a miracle-worker to turn out a satisfactory job as both a business woman and a housewife. If she gives all of the best of her brains and strength to her job, she hasn't much left to bestow on her home and her husband. And if she does her work with her mind on her home, and wondering whether she should buy beefsteak or mutton chops on the way home for dinner, and if the hired girl is looking after her sick baby, she isn't of much value to her employer.

"Nor have many women the physical stamina to do a hard day's work in the office and another at housework, so the inevitable result is that most of the two-job wives are nervous and worn when they come home, too tired to do anything but get up a scrambled meal and with tempers that make handling them like trying to pet a porcupine. It is queer how few women ever realize that there is no way in which they can help their husbands as much as by making them a comfortable home and feeding them well. Business men travel on their tummies, as Napoleon said an army did.

"So when the boys in our office come to me and tell me that they are going to marry one of our pretty little stenographers or a cracker-jack bookkeeper, and that Sally and Mamie are going to keep on with their jobs for a few years, I say: 'Don't. Don't let your wife work outside of the home after you are married. There will be plenty for her to do in it if she does her job well. Go and live in one room if that is all you can afford, but you pay for the room. It won't hurt you to have to scuffle a little at the beginning and do without some of the frills. It will just make you work harder to get the things that you want. And it will preserve your marriage, because you, not a career, will be your wife's first thought and greatest interest. Also, it will keep you in the strait and narrow path, because you won't have the money for excursions off of it.'

"Of course, not all men are weak enough to be demoralized by their wives helping out with the family support. There are fine and chivalrous men to whom it is an inspiration that makes them put forth their best efforts. And there are plenty of cases in which it is an absolute necessity for the wife to be a money-earner as well as the hus-

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Organize Christmas Work With Baking Coming First

(By Mary Moore)

When I was adolescent and past the stage when I thought I was adopted or found in a cabbage, I wondered if the star I was born under hadn't just been bumped by a meteor, and temporarily jarred, for I was disorganized all my wakeful youth.

I never could quite figure how important I was to my family—being the fourth child I doubt that I was much use. I brought them doubtful glory by singing piping soprano solos at Sunday School Anniversary concerts but cannot remember anything else of note.

However in my waning thirties I have learned "organization". I have learned the joy of being ready for Christmas, in the process.

You have to be a "pad-and-pencil" person to do it efficiently—that is take advantage of November sales and choice of stocks—but if I can do it, you can.

For your baking binge, if you start now you can buy your Christmas cake ingredients in three easy stages with the weekend groceries, and the budget will hardly feel the pinch, and your cake can be made and put away by first week in December at the latest.

With the price of eggs soaring between 50 and 60 cents something had to be done about cutting them out of fruit cakes. The first recipe used to be a favorite of my Country Aunt's and she had plenty of eggs of her own.

Aunt Rachel's Toasted Almond Fruit Cake

(6 eggs for 7-lb. Cake)

One cup shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, 6 egg yolks, ½ cup molasses, 6 egg white, 2 cups pastry flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons allspice, 2 cups pastry flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons allspice, 2 teaspoons cinnnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon mace, 4 cups seeded raisins, 4 cups Sultana raisins, 1½ cups cleaned and dried currants, 2 tablespoons lemon peel cut small, 2 tablespoons orange peel (candied of course) cut small, ½ lb. candied cherries cut small, ½ lb. candied pineapple cut small, ¾ lb. thinly sliced citron peel, 1 cup strawberry preserves, ½ lb. toasted almonds, ½ cup grape juice, ¼ teaspoon soda, 1½ tablespoon hot water.

Cover the almonds with boiling water, drain, slip off skins. Place in shallow pan with 1 teaspoon melted butter and make to a golden brown in a moderate oven of 375 deg. Fahr.

In the meantime cream together, until thoroughly blended the shortening and brown sugar; add beaten yolks and molasses and beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Sift together flour, salt and spices, reserving ¼ cup of them for dredging fruit. Add remaining flour mixture to egg mixture. Add the prepared fruits except the citron, which have been dredged with the ¼ cup of flour mixture, the strawberry preserves, toasted whole OR chopped almonds, and grape juice. Last add soda dissolved in hot water and mix well. Grease and flour 2 large or 4 medium sized bread pans. Pour in a layer of batter, then a layer of citron, then another layer of citron, then another layer of batter, filling the pans three-quarters full. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. for about 3½ hours, or cover the pans closely with wax, parchment or transparent moisture proof paper and steam 2 hours; then remove paper and bake 2 hours at 275 deg. Fahr.

The recipe for Light Fruit Cake contains 5 egg and yields about 3½ lbs. cake. It is unusual for its candied green cherries and candied lemon peel to give the only color.

Light Fruit Cake

One cup butter, 1 cup white sugar, 5 eggs, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 cup candied green cherries, ½ cup candied lemon peel, 1 cup blanched almonds. Cut the candied cherries into thin slices and cut the lemon peel in slivers. Dredge these with about 3 tablespoons of the flour, so that the pieces of fruit do not stick together. Blanch the almonds by pouring boiling water over them, draining and slipping off the skin.

Cream the butter add the sugar gradually, and cream until the mixture is smooth and fluffy. Add the eggs which have been beaten together for about 5 minutes. Add the remaining flour (minus that taken out for dredging), sifted with the baking powder, folding it in gradually. Add the grated lemon rind and juice. Add the fruit and nuts, mix well, and turn into two loaf tins, approximately 9 x 5 x 3 inches, which have been lined with white paper and greased. This must be baked slowly at about 325 to 350 deg. Fahr. for about 1½ hours. The heavy white paper prevents cake becoming too brown on bottom.

Inexpensive Plain Fruit Cake.

One cup butter, 2 cups sugar, 3½ cups flour, 1 cup milk, 3 eggs, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, ¾ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cloves, 2 lbs. seedless raisins, 1 lb. currants, ½ lb. broken walnut meats, grated rind of 1 lemon. Cook raisins, and currants in about ½ cup water, drain and add hot to batter last thing. Cream the butter, and sugar, then the well beaten eggs, and sift in sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Add nuts then hot fruit and rind. (The hot fruit keeps the cake lighter and prevents fruit sinking.) Bake in 2 loaves for 1¼ hours at 300 deg. Fahr. Or steam 2 hours, then bake 1 hour.

Watch for Christmas Puddings and Christmas Cookies in the near future.

Enquiry Column

Conducted by Mrs. MARY MOORE

Conducted by Mrs. Mary Moore.

Question: I am holding a shower for a friend and would like you to advise me,—lunch entertainment, etc.

....A booklet if you have one please. I would like something nice, and may be different. There will be quite a few guests and might be a little crowded, and I was wondering how I could entertain them. Mrs. A. N.

Answer: Thank you for your letter.

After eliminating other attractive ideas I decided that the menu for a buffet supper at which I was a guest could not be improved upon for a shower.

Shower Men.

Delicatessen Baked Ham (see note).
Cider Jally Moulds (see note).
Savory Scalloped Potatoes.
Celery Hearts, Raw carrots Slivers,
Ripe Olives in Iced Water.
Peanut Brittle Homemade Ice Cream
Angel Food Bride's Cake.
Salted Almonds. Coffee.

The delicatessen Ham is one of those that are so widely advertised now—costing about 40 cents per pound when bought whole— it may be heated to serve hot—or sliced cold. If the meal is to be served buffet, the host must be warned to slice his ham thinly so that it may be eaten easily with a fork.

Cider Jelly Moulds.

To eight measuring cups of fresh cider add the grated rind of one lemon and boil slowly for 5 minutes, strain. to 4 tablespoons gelatin add 1 cup cider and let soak for 5 minutes, pour the strained hot cider over it when ready and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add the juice of 1 lemon, pour into moistened small moulds and chill. When ready to serve arrange around ham on platter, and serve one mould on each

You will note we suggest serving the "salad course" iced. A clever innovation by my hostess, was placing plenty of ice in a very large (14-inch) spherical vase of light amber glass in the centre of the table, surrounded by candles—it was so pretty filled to the top with curly celery hearts, and wafer thin slices of carrot which had curled at the edges—and btween them all large ripe olives in contrast. A little salt had been added to the ice water—no more was necessary. It was very popular and not a sliver of anything was left in it when the party was over.

Peanut Brittle Homemade Ice Cream (Peanut Bisque).

Put one pound peanut brittle through food chopper. Beat 1 quart of whipping cream until stiff, gradually adding 1 cup powdered sugar and 2 teaspoons vanilla and when all is stiff, the ground peanut brittle. To make this smoother 2 teaspoons gelatin may be dissovled in ½ cup water, stood in boiling water and stirred until clear. Add before adding peanut brittle. Freeze in freezer or in trays of electrical refrigerator.

You may want to add small cakes or shortbreads or cookies to the menu, according to the number of people you are serving.

The book I have sent you will give you entertainment suggestions.

We Noticed

. . . Reports that the Indians of Saskatchewan must now make their own birch bark souvenirs for the tourist trade because the war has cut off imports from Czecho-Slovakia have brought indignant denials from Dr. James Robertson, Inspector of Indian Affairs for Saskatchewan.

. . . Most of the beaded moccasins, jackets and other articles on the Canadian market are made by Indians in the northern part of Saskatchewan. Throughout the province as a whole, most of the beadwork is the handicraft of the older Indians, but efforts are being made to encourage younger Indians to take up the work.

. . . Chief adverse effect the war has had on Indian industry, Dr. Robertson said, was the fact that most of the beads used by the Indians for beadwork came from Czecho-Slovakia and Austria. Stocks of beads on hand from these sources have become low because of the conflict in Europe.

Beeswax or yellow soap may be used to make ticks feathertight. The beeswax should be kept slightly warmed throughout. Damp the soap slightly and be careful to cover the whole area of the tick, taking especial care of the seams.

If piano keys need cleaning, first remove all dust with a dry duster, then dip a bit of soft cloth in methylated spirits and rub the soiled keys with it. All stains will be removed; the keys will dry quickly as the spirit evaporates, and they will in no way be discolored or harmed.

Nicholls Hospital Alumnae Holds Banquet and Bridge

The annual banquet and bridge of Nicholls Hospital Alumnae, held Wednesday evening in the Empress Hotel, was among the first of the season's interesting social events, with nurses attending from Hamilton, Toronto, Whitby, Lakefield and Campbellford.

Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge, president of the Alumnae, spoke brief words of welcome to the nurses, urging them to face the troubled days that lie ahead with the steadfast courage for which they are noted. Rev. G. S. Easton, minister of Trinity United Church, was guest speaker, and Morley Plunkett, a member of the "Dumbells" who are now being organized in Montreal to cheer present day soldiers as they did in the last Great War, sang several bright and entertaining songs. Mrs. Plunkett was at the piano. Arrangements for the dinner and bridge were in charge of Mrs. H. I. Walker; the social committee, and members of the executive.

Honor, which he defined as the quality that must be foundational in professional life, is more difficult to maintain today than it was in his youth, Rev. Easton said in a thought-provoking address following the dinner. Be believes it is easier for the individual to keep his ideals high when he lives in the country where everyone is interested in him than it is when he goes to the city or enters the army, and is free from all restraints of home and friends — one reason why the morals of the city are lower than the smaller town, and the morals of the army lower still.

The solution of our personal relationships, Rev. Easton said further, is goodwill added to honor, a combination which in the face of the present war, may be the solution of our international relationships. "Again the dogs of war are baying in our ears, and again conclusion will come to war as it did in 1918—but again we are forced to realize that war does not solve our problems," the speaker continued. "War cannot establish the ideals for which Britain stands—we must have honor as a basis, and it must be linked with goodwill."

The speaker was presented by Miss M. Huston ,and thanked by Miss H. Anderson, who also expressed appreciation to the guest artists. Corsages were presented to Mrs. Easton and Mrs. Plunkett by Miss F. Vickers.

Tables of bridge were played in the upstairs drawing room following the banquet.

Among those present were: Mrs. Sara W. Holloway, Rev. and Mrs. G. S. Easton, Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge, Mrs. H. I. Walker, Mrs. Walter Jones, Mrs. C. R. Hall, Mrs. A. D. Davidson, Mrs. C. G. Galvin, (Lakefield); Mrs. J. E. Humphrey (Whitby); Miss Jean Preston, Miss Helen M. Anderson, Mrs. R. W. Frank, Mrs. O. V. Cavanah (Hamilton); Miss Dorothy Fiske, Mrs. P. D. Snelgrove, Miss Anne Campbell, Miss Marion Blewett, Miss Ella Howard, Mrs. H. W. Tranter, Mrs. A. J. Campbell (Toronto); Mrs. J. Yarn, Mrs. R. D. Lockwood and Miss Maude A. Dudman (Toronto); Mrs. W. To Feel Better Fast CLEANSE BIG BOWEL!

That's Where Most Constipation Starts and Where Direct Help Is Needed

Constipation is usually confined to just one part of the intestinal tract, generally the big bowel (marked X). That's where help is needed! So why upset other parts of the bowels with laxatives that work elsewhere — doses like calomel, salts or oils — when all you really want to do is move jammed-up body waste those last few inches?

This is the action you get from CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS, and the reason so many people take them. They contain cascara, said to give "nearest to natural action" of any cathartic, which acts almost entirely on the big bowel or lower colon—cleansing it in 10 to 12 hours!

Try this sensible, pleasant form of overnight relief for constipation. CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS taste good, and each foil-wrapped tablet is a gentle, effective dose. All drugstores, or write "Cascarets," Windsor, Ont., for free sample.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Stores or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is highly recommended, is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost. —(Advt.)

IN MEMORIAM

STURGEON.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Charles Sturgeon, who passed away, November 16, 1938.

He bid no one a last farewell,
He said good-bye to none.
The heavenly gates were open wide,
A gentle voice said "Come."

AUSTIN.—In loving remembrance of our dear mother, Mrs. Julia Austin, who departed this life, November 16, 1937.

She is gone but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of her are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

—Ever remembered by her daughters and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William McLean and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mollon.

Miscellaneous Shower Is Given Newlyweds

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Nov. 16.—An interesting post-nuptial event attended by over one hundred people of the Cobourg Road community, Hastings, Norwood, Roseneath and Warkworth was held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Oliver in honor of their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Oliver, who were married recently. The bride was the former Kathaleen Morrow of Dartford.

The young couple who welcomed their guests showered with beautiful miscellaneous gifts including lovely pieces of silverware, an Aladdin lamp, china, linen and a sum of money. The bride and groom both acknowledged the kindness bestowed upon them and expressed the wish that they would all come and visit them occasionally.

The evening was pleasantly spent in dancing and card playing with music supplied by Messrs. Donald Beamish, James Beamish and Richard Williamson.

band. But, taking it by and large, a woman helps her husband best when she makes him a comfortable home and lets George do all the rest."

DEAR MISS DIX—Two men, A and B, want to marry me. I have been A's mistress. B does not know of my past. If I accept A, my past would not worry me. If I should tell B of my relations with A I do not know the consequences. Would he ever find out? Which man should I marry?—PROBLEM GIRL.

ANSWER:

There is always somebody who sees your trodding the primrose path and they always gossip about it, so it is virtually sure that B would find out about your past indiscretions. I should think that your best chance of happiness would be in marrying A, who, at least, is in no position to cast stones at you.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO STOPPERS VITAL

MOST TREATISES on the bidding of no trump game contracts prescribe two stoppers in the suit bid by your opponents as an essential requirement. There are times when this may be departed from safely, especially when you are able to run nine tricks as soon as you get the lead. Another time is when you are in position to take finesses toward the partner of the suit bidder, so that you may be able to keep the dangerous hand out of the lead after his suit is set up. But when finesses have to be taken toward the man with the suit, two stoppers of it are usually required.

The difference between thoroughly sound bidding and that which is a bit venturesome was illustrated on this deal at two tables of a duplicate game in Omaha. At both it began with 1-Diamond by South and 1-Spade by West. Then the course veered. At one table East bid 2-No Trumps and at the other he decided to show his suits, calling 2-Hearts. In the latter case West then bid 2-Spades, East 3-Clubs, West 3-Spades and East, now knowing his partner, after three bids of spades, had a six-card suit, raised to 4-Spades, at which only one trick was lost in each side suit.

Where East bid the 2-No Trumps West rebid at 3-Spades and East bid 3-No Trumps. West properly passed this because his suit was solid. In the play East held up his A until the third diamond, ran six spades and then, to get the other needed two tricks, finessed the clubs. When this failed, South took two more diamonds to set the contract. If the diamond bid had been at East's right, so that a finesse in clubs would have been marked as likely to succeed, his No Trump contract, with a lone diamond stopper, would have been sounder.

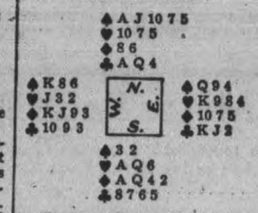
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

With the club A and Q knocked out of dummy, if the No Trump declarer then takes a heart finesse and leads the spade 3, what card should West play, and why?

RED CROSS DOGS.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—(CP).—Toronto Red Cross officials announced to-day they were working on a plan whereby two trained dogs will accompany every military unit which leaves Toronto for active service. The dogs will be trained to find wounded men, take them medical supplies and to lead search parties. Carl Emsley, a dog trainer whose life was saved by a dog in the first Great War, has volunteered to train the animals.

Lindsay Is Given Rebate On Street Lighting

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Nov. 16.—It has been announced by the local Hydro Commission that a rebate of $968.75 on street lighting would be returned to the town. This will be used to improve the lighting conditions about town. Mayor Claxton has suggested the establishment of a lighting sinking fund, which could be added to each year until it grew large enough to possibly improve the lighting on Kent street, the town's main thoroughfare.

Deer in Backyard

Wm. Welsh, who lives south of Lindsay, opened the kitchen door of his home last night and found a deer in his backyard. It jumped over the fence at his approach and disappeared in the bush behind Curtin's brickyard.

The Industrial Committee of the town council has reduced the salary of Industrial Commissioner, B. L. McLean, from $250 per month and expenses to $100 and expenses for the month of November. At the end of that period other arrangements will likely be made. The Toronto papers were severely criticized by members of the council for its misleading account of a special meeting held in conection with industrial matters. One alderman accused the papers of trying to make a political issue where there is no politics.

Minister's Wife Hostess To Y.P.S.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 16. — Wed- Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lakefield, spent a very pleasant evening when twenty-four of its members motored to the home of Rev. J. M. and Mrs. Young. Omemee, for the election of officers and a social evening.

The opening exercises consisted of a hymn, followed by the Scripture lesson and a prayer by Mr. Young.

A committee was appointed, consisting of Mesdames J. Young, C. Lee, and A. Clarke, to complete the slate of officers recommended at the nominaion meeting held previously. The following officers were elected:

Hon. president, Rev. J. M. Young; president, Ethel Blakely; vice-president, Mary Blewett; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. J. Rosborough, Mrs. A. Boyce and Phyllis Webdale.

A program of interesting games and contests was followed by refreshments.

Rev. and Mrs. Young were extended a hearty vote of thanks for their kind hospitality and the singing of "Blest be the tie that binds" and the Mizpah benediction brought the evening to a close.

Wreck Signs

TITUSVILLE, Fla., Nov. 16—(AP)—More evidence of a disaster at sea was reported today by Titusville residents who said they found oil drums, electric light bulbs and perfume bottles stamped with the name of a Paris firm along the ocean-front.

Parts of radio apparatus bearing German names were found on the sands near Daytona Beach, and a 45-foot ship's spar was washed ashore near Jupiter yesterday.

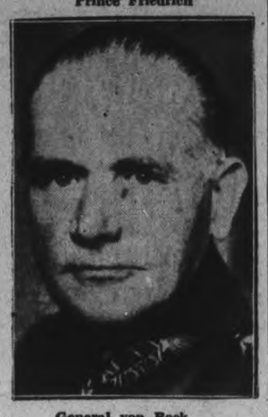
Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm Charged With Engineering Munich Assassination Attempt

Crown Prince Wilhelm

Field Marshal von Blomberg

Kaiser Wilhelm

Prince Friedrich



General von Bock

Agents of the Nazi Gestapo are reported to have commenced an anti-monarchist purge as blame for the Munich beer cellar explosion was laid to ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, at present in exile at Doorn, Holland. Scores of palaces and mansions are reported to have been raided by the Gestapo, who, according to reports from Brussels, have arrested five princes and nine generals. Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, grandson of the ex-Kaiser and often mentioned as a leading candidate for the German throne should the Nazi party collapse, is reported to have been shot without trial to avenge the attempted assassination of Hitler. Former Crown Prince Wilhelm, father of Prince Friedrich, has variously been reported beheaded and held by Nazi authorities on his Potsdam estate. Among the generals reported to have been arrested are listed Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg, former German War Minister, who was forced to resign his position following his marriage to a plumber's daughter, and Col.-Gen. Fedor von Bock, who is reported to have incurred Hitler's displeasure following the annexation of Austria.

MILLBROOK

Grace Church Holds 105th Anniversary

MILLBROOK, Nov. 16.— Capacity congregations were present, morning and evening, on Sunday, November 12, for the one hundred and fifth anniversary of Grace Presbyterian church, the minister, who has but recently come to the charge, Rev. Dr. A. R. Gibson, preaching at both services.

The congregation at Centreville worshipped with that of Grace church for the special occasion and the evening service at St. Andrew's United church, was withdrawn, to allow its members to attend the anniversary of the sister church in the community.

The choir has special music for both services, Miss Grace Johnson, A.T.C.M. presiding at the organ, and the Centreville choir augmenting that of the local church for the occasion. Solists were Miss Vanita Ingram, who sang in the morning, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," and Mr. Raymond Rivers, whose solo followed the sermon at night.

Within the altar railing, chrysanthemums in orchid and gold shades, were banked.

Following his usual custom Dr. Gibson read his scripture lesson, then chose his text from among these verses, the morning theme being "The Man of Galilee," and in the evening he chose the good king Hazekiah to bring out strongly the fine influence on a man's life that a Godly mother and wife may have, providing heed is given to their teaching and example. Fitting reference was made to the Armistice Day occasion the previous day, conditions in present times being compared with those prevailing in the history of Judah and Israel centuries before.

KILLING CORN BORERS.

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Nov. 16.—(CP).—District farmers said to-day they expected to score major advances in their fight on the corn borer this season through feeding their cattle shredded corn. They said the cattle would eat the corn, infested with the European corn borer, because the entire corn stalk has been shredded.

The corn borer, which usually spends the winter in the stalk of the corn, will be destroyed during the shredding process or will be eaten by cattle.

Textiles, Foundries And Iron Firms Lead In Employment Situation

TORONTO, Nov. 16 — (CP). — War-time efforts are reflected in the weekly statement issued by Hon. Norman Hipel, Ontario Minister of Labor, to-day.

The statement says that textile firms, foundries and iron companies are seeking more help than is usual, while many women are looking for office or factory work rather than domestic service.

Hamilton, Guelph and Woodstock report there are steady demands for workers in the knitting and hosiery factories. Machine and moulding plants in Hamilton, Kingston, London and Guelph are also looking for skilled tradesmen and machinists.

Building trade is not so active although a new building is being erected in Trenton for the Canadian Air Force, and work is being rushed on the new Federal building at Ottawa, calling for skilled construction workers.

In some places domestic help is scarce. Kingston, Guelph, London and Oshawa all seek more domestics caused by girls wanting factory or office jobs, while other places report that there is a sufficient supply of this help.

Chatham reports there are no employable men on relief and local industries there have all the help they want.

Pulpwood camps at Port Arthur are filled up but experienced pulp cutters find no trouble getting work at Kenora. Only experienced bushmen are wanted in Sudbury.

In the mining districts the demands for miners is falling off. There is a demand for cabinet workers and upholsterers in Stratford, and in Timmins a demand for house, day, hotel and restaurant workers.

Two Canadian Fliers Killed In Training

LONDON, Nov. 16 — (CP Cable). —The Air Ministry to-day announced the death of two Canadians with the Royal Air Force and the capture of a third.

Acting Pilot Officer E. E. Crofton of Verdun, Que., and Flight Lieut. W. I. Hammond, Montreal, were killed in training on November 11 and November 13, respectively.

Pilot Officer Robert Maxwell of Calgary has been made a prisoner of war.

The Air Ministry said that Flight Lieut. R. C. Lewis, whose death was reported on November 11, was not a Canadian. He had been described as from Toronto. The Ministry said the mistake was a result of two officers of the same name and initials serving in the same squadron.

2000 Czech Students Shout Against Nazis

PRAGUE, Nov. 16—(AP).—Two thousand Czech students demonstrated to-day against the German protectorate government, but were dispersed before clashing with the police.

The youths attempted to escort to a railway station the body of a 24-year-old student who died of injuries on October 28. The demonstrations extended from the medical school where the funeral was held to the station.

When police prevented the funeral march, the youths, singing Slavic songs, tried to enter Wenceslas Square and Karl's Square from side streets.

Finland's Fate?

Moscow, Nov. 16 (AP)

A SUGGESTION Finland may meet the same fate as Poland was made today in a cartoon appearing in the Communist party newspaper Pravda.

The cartoon, a commentary on the breakdown of negotiations between Finland and Russia, pictured Polish Premier Wladyslaw Sikorski and former Foreign Minister Joseph Beck entering a French hotel in tatters with the ruins of Poland behind them.

Sikorski was represented as saying: "Let's wait for Errko (Finnish Foreign Minister Eljas Errko); he's following in our footsteps."

Allies Creating Balkan Bloc Says Red Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(AP).—A Soviet army newspaper "Red Star" charges the Allies are seeking to create a Balkan bloc under their domination and also to gain control of the Dardanelles.

Achievement of such a scheme would be a blow to Germany and an obstruction to Communist politico-economic expansion. But many disagree with the newspaper in interpreting the Balkan situation.

Hungary and the Balkan States are in process of being welded into a neutral bloc which presumably would be of a defensive nature. The moving spirit in this far-reaching enterprise, however, is Premier Mussolini of Italy who has his own interests in that region. Somewhere in this picture the Allies fit.

It is probable the Fascist leader has the blessings of Britain and France. The friendly gestures made by the Allies toward Rome lead some to suspect they are giving Mussolini more than moral support in his venture.

Improved Outlook.

Relations between Italy and the Allies aren't so touchy as they were not long ago. Britain's First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill, made what seemed like a significant statement in his speech Sunday. He said that "Italy which we feared had become separated from its historic association with England and France in the Mediterranean—an association which will become still more fruitful—has adopted the wise policy of peace."

He was criticized by Virginio Gayda, Italian editorial writer who speaks with authority. Gayda said it didn't become Britain to speak of the historic association of the three countries in the Mediterranean while the British control the sea's two gateways—Gibraltar and the Suez Canal. However, one suspects that in a back-handed manner he was telling England that Italy insists on greater rights.

That Il Duce doesn't intend to let Italy get caught between the Allied and the German millstones in the war seems apparent. He definitely is out to improve his country's position while the going is good, and his drive to create the Balkan bloc is part of his program.

Milbrook Women's Institute Now Busy At Red Cross Work—Kniting And Collecting

MILLBROOK, Nov. 16.—Mrs. T. G. Harkness was hostess for the November meeting of the Women's Institute, Saturday at 8 p.m., with the president, Mrs. E. C. Richards, occupying the chair.

Reporting on war work, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong gave $5.75 as the result of a euchre held at her home, Fourth Line, Cavan, for this purpose, and Mrs. E. C. and Mrs. B. L. Richards who had also held a euchre, turned in $2.45 on the war budget.

A collection is being taken now at each meeting, and with the two amounts already mentioned, practically ten dollars was received to be expended on yarn, etc, for the members to do their 'bit' in knitting and other work, the whole to be donated, in finished articles, to the local Red Cross. According to instructions from Toronto, all W. I. war work is to be kept track of in the local societies, while the socks, hospital supplies, and other articles made, will be given to the community Red Cross organization. The committee to purchase supplies is Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, Mrs. W. C. Thorndyke, Mrs. E. C. Richards, and Mrs. H. W. Hilton. No delegate will be sent to the provincial W.I. Convention at Toronto this month, the money thus saved to go toward war work supplies, the report covering the gathering to be secured in some other way.

Mrs. G. O. Fallis took charge for the program, and after community singing, gave an excellent paper on "Legislation," of which department she is convenor. Mrs. H. J. Armstrong read "Lest We Forget," in recognition of Armistice Day, and Mrs. H. Blakeley had also a fitting reading along this line.

The December meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Melville Ball, when afternoon tea will be served, the proceeds to be devoted to buying supplies for war work. Mrs. G. O. Fallis will be point hostess, and the members are asked to bring donations for the Christmas Cheer Baskets, as an answer to the roll call.

The National Anthem dismissed the meeting.

Anti-Aircraft Guns Rout Raider, No Bombs Dropped

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(CP Cable)—Anti-aircraft guns went into action in Cheshire today as the West of England and North Wales experienced their first air raid warning of the war.

An unidentified aircraft was sighted, causing alarms in southwest Lancashire, Cheshire and North Wales. The all clear signal was given within a few minutes. A Warrington man said he saw the machine about 1,000 feet up.

Raider Over Shetlands

The Press Association said anti-aircraft guns went into action in Cheshire and at one town shortly after the all-clear signal three British pursuit planes sped westward after the unidentified craft.

The Air Ministry said the German place which flew over the Shetlands dropped no bombs.

The ministry later announced: "An enemy aircraft, apparently a Heinkel reconnaissance plane, was detected by the Royal Air Force observer corps. Anti-aircraft guns were in action near Manchester and at Merseyside, where British fighters went up and drove away the enemy aircraft. No bombs were dropped."

TWO SOVIET publications chided the United States today, holding up to ridicule American policy toward Europe.

The Soviet youth newspaper Komsomol Pravda published a cartoon showing Uncle Sam contentedly puffing a cigar, counting money bags surmounted by skulls and saying: "Oh Lord, let us have continuous war."

The newspaper Trud, organ of the trade unions, attacked American administration of the Philippines while, it said, the United States was "shedding crocodile tears over the fate of small states in Europe."

Daladier Rushes To London War Conference

PARIS, Nov. 17 (AP) — Premier Daladier left unexpectedly for London today to attend a meeting of the Allied supreme war council.

The session was understood to have been called for a discussion of the war's economic aspects.

A meeting of the French cabinet, scheduled for this morning, was postponed. The high command's morning communique said only "a quiet night on the whole front."

It was announced that a pilot and two other Royal Air Force fliers were drowned when a British military plane from the Orly base fell into the Seine near Villeneuve-Saint-Georges Wednesday. The town is nine miles above the

Boys, Girls Taken Off In Bus Loads By Nazi Guards

PRAGUE, Nov. 17—(AP).—Czech high schools and the Karlovy University Technical Institute were occupied early this morning by German Schutzstaffel (SS) detachments, and about 1,200 students, boys and girls, were hauled away in buses.

Shooting Reported

Reasons for this action by Adolf Hitler's blackshirt elite guard were vague. Shots were heard at Masaryk College, but apparently no one was injured.

About noon SS armored cars were seen passing through the city which then was reported quiet.

On Wednesday, about 2,000 Czech students demonstrated against the Bohemia-Moravia protectorate government set up by Germany in the dissolution of Czecho-Slovakia.

Funeral Starts It

Sixteen of the throng were reported to have been arrested that day. The large body of students attempted to escort the coffin of a fellow student who died of injuries October 28. Police dispersed the demonstrators, but they tried to force their way into Wenceslas Square and Karl's Square from side streets, chanting Slavic songs.

From The King

London, Nov. 17 (CP Cable)

MEN serving in the Canadian navy as well as those in the British and other dominion navies, will get Christmas cards from the King and Queen, the Admiralty announced today.

The royal cards for the navy will be sent to all personnel serving in warships flying the white ensign, including mine-sweeping and anti-submarine trawlers and armed merchant cruisers and to those serving in hospital ships and men ashore in hospital from ships of these types.

Hold Peace Talk Is Dangerous At Present Time

LONDON, Nov. 17. — (CP).—Warning against danger of peace talks and demands for clarification of war aims during the present phase of the conflict with Germany, is sounded in a message issued by Lord Queensborough to members of the Royal Society of St. George.

The veteran leader of the society declares that temporary cessation of hostilities at the present stage of the war would only mean another triumph for Hitler, providing him with a breathing space in which "the assassins of freedom, mercy and truth," could re-organize their forces in readiness for a renewed attack.

"Those who cry 'peace, peace,' where there is no peace and those who use the confusion and difficulties of war as a means of gaining their own ends, political or otherwise, deserve the distrust, if not the contempt of every honest man," Lord Queensborough says.

Hitler's peace proposals following the dismemberment of Poland have deceived nobody. In England, he adds, they have been welcomed only by Sir Oswald Mosley and his Fascist followers on the one hand and the Daily Worker, the Communist newspaper, on the other.

Generals Balk Fearful Of Sacrifices

Think Chiefs Caught Without Plan For Drive In West

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Nov. 17 — (CP Cable).—There is great dissension between Adolf Hitler and the German high command over conduct of the war, in the opinion of military circles here.

"The military inactivity is evidence of that," a high military authority declared. "The Germans simply do not know what to do, with the Nazi leaders demanding action and the army generals refusing to sacrifice their men."

From evidence gathered from all sources not only in France and neutral countries but from Germany itself, this conflict of opinion between Hitler and his generals becomes more apparent, it was stated.

Hitler and his Foreign Minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, guaranteed to the German general staff that Poland could be crushed without war in the west involving Great Britain and France. But they were wrong. Now the army is telling Hitler they cannot crack the Maginot Line without sacrificing hundreds of thousands of men.

No Plans of Attack?

The national characteristic of the Germans is to hit quickly but that did not happen in the first few weeks of the war. The best explanation is that the German High Command did not have plans for attacking in the West, so sure were they that general war could be avoided.

Although they must have realized that time was against them,

Representatives Of 400 Million People Pledge Resources Of Vast Empire, Men, Goods, Wealth To Defeat Hitler

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(CP Cable)—If Adolf Hitler had sat in a large grey-walled room in London today he would have heard Government representatives of 400,000,000 people pledge their countries' wealth resources and manpower to defeat him.

One after another the representatives of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India pledged the "last ounce" to the common war effort with Britain.

They interrupted discussions of economic, strategic and financial problems among themselves to greet a roomful of newspaper correspondents.

Dominion Secretary Anthony Eden described the informal conversations proceeding in London as "many, many times worthwhile" in solidifying and unifying the war effort of the British Empire.

Canada In With Her All.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, Canadian Minister of Mines and Resources said "Canada has chosen to throw her full effort into the present struggle on the side of the Western Democracies by the practically unanimous decision of the Canadian parliament, which met in special session almost immediately following the outbreak of war."

"I wish to make it clear beyond any question of doubt that on constrain from any source whatever was placed upon us," Mr. Crerar said. "Our action was entirely voluntary and our effort in support of the Allied cause will be exerted to the maximum of the power of the Canadian people.

"May I add further that among the Canadian people as a whole there is a unity of spirit and determination of purpose that has never been surpassed on any issue that has hitherto come before them.

"If I am asked what lies behind all this I would reply that there are two reasons. First, the natural desire to stand by the side of Britain, to whose stock a considerable majority of Canadians trace their ancestry and upon whose example we have almost entirely based our political and educational ideals and institutions.

That Pioneer Spirit

"I would give as a second reason the issues involved in the present war as we see them in Canada. We have still much of the pioneering spirit that opened up for settlement half the continent. We cherish freedom, liberty, the right of the individual to plan his own life and develop his own personality within the framework of ordered liberty.

"We believe that in the present struggle these are the great issues at hazard. If the philosophy of Nazi Socialist Germany triumphs in Europe we realize that sooner or later its shadow will be thrown across our Dominion.

"In the few weeks I have been in Britain there has been an opportunity to see at first hand the magnificent effort that is being made in this country to carry the war through to a successful conclusion. A visit of several days to France convinced me that the French nation is making a splendid and equally successful effort.

"In both France and Britain there is a determined will to vic-

Rome's Press Lashes Bolshevism

Advises Italy Watch 'Imperialist' Aims Of Russia

ROME, Nov. 17—(CP-Havas).—The Italian press today resumed attacks on the Soviet Union and Bolshevism.

The Corriere Padano lashed certain Rome weeklies for presenting the Soviet Union in a relatively favorable light. The Italian public is tired, the Padua paper said, of hearing "certain agents who would always like to find historical and moral justification for Bolshevism."

"Italians are and will remain anti-Bolshevists," it proclaimed. This was echoed by The Tribuna, which insisted that "Fascist Italy remains fiercely anti-Communist."

The Turin Gazeta Del Popolo asserted "it is evident and indisputable that the Moscow Government is the 'secular arm of Bolshevism'."

"Italy Be On Guard!"

"It is well for Italy," The Gazeta Del Popolo of Turin warned, "whose position is very clear, to be on guard and not lose sight of the so-called 'imperialist' aims of Russia. The policy of the Kremlin has lost nothing of its barbarous and anti-European virus."

The Gazetta Del Popolo of Turin, which was founded by Premier Mussolini, said that Russia's advance in the Baltic was but a step in it simperialist progress, and that the "western door" has been opened to Soviet expansion which now threatens the Balkans.

(Reports from Balkan capitals in recent weeks have indicated that Italy is discussing formation of a Balkan block of neutrals designed to insulate the Mediterranean area against the war and Soviet encroachment.)

"The policy of the Kremlin has lost nothing of its barbarous and anti-European virus," Gazetta Del Popolo said.

New Polish Fleet Sikorski Dream

LONDON, Nov. 17 — (CP). — A future Polish fleet which will establish a watch over the Baltic Sea was envisaged to-day by the Premier of the Polish Government in exile, General Wladyslaw Sikorski.

Accompanied by Count Edward Raczynski, Polish Ambassador in London, and his staff, the Premier went to a Scottish port to decorate Polish sailors who have distinguished themselves in the war.

Twenty officers and men received the "Virtuti Militari" Medal and the Cross of Bravery. General Sikorski received an ovation from the Polish sailors.

He told them they had found marvellous hospitality with "the greatest fleet of the world, the British Fleet." He urged hem to show themselves worthy of this hospitality.

F.D.R. Says Finns May Borrow From U.S. Banks

HYDE PARK, N.Y., Nov. 17 — (AP).—Finland has a perfect right to borrow money from United States banks, President Roosevelt said today, but he told reporters there was nothing to storie sthat the Baltic Republic had stiffened her attitude toward Russia after obtaining promises of economic and financial aid from the United States.

No such help was promised, he said in response to questions.

Admonishing newsmen to check up on his memory, he added that the Finns sought a loan about two months ago for some specific purpose, perhaps for a railroad. They were referred to New York banks, he said. They have a perfect right to seek loans from the banks.

Oshawa Opposes Election Change

OSHAWA, Nov. 17.—Oshawa voters will hold no plebiscite on the Provincial Government's proposal to curtail civic elections for the duration of the war, City Council in committee decided last night. Council, however, were unanimous on a resolution opposing any change in the present system of elections.

Aldermen Finley M. Dafoe, E. E. Bathe, James Haxton and Clifford Harmon went on record as favoring a plebiscite. "Certainly we should have a plebiscite on this. There should have been a plebiscite taken to see if this country should have gone to war. Let it be the will of the people and not a minority," stated Alderman Dafoe.

Fear Madoc Lad Drowned On Deer Hunt

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 17. — A cap and a rifle found near a hole in ice over a large swamp, three miles from the hunting lodge, implied the fate of Donald Gordon, 16, of Madoc, who has failed to return to the camp after being missing for more than 24 hours.

John Gordon, father of the youth, found his son's cap and rifle near the hole late yesterday afternoon while searching for the missing youth with the other members of the party.

The lad, who was to have been 16 years of age yesterday, is an experienced hunter, and had accompanied his father and two other men from Madoc on the trip. The hunting lodge was situated about thirty miles north of the Village of Madoc.

It is believed the youth, who was last seen about 4 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, fell through the ice as he was returning home. He had been hunting by himself throughout the afternoon, while the other members of the party had been together.

When he failed to return to camp on Wednesday night the members of the hunting party organized a search party, but failed to find any sign of the missing youth. The search was taken up again yesterday, but no trace was found until late in the afternoon, when the searchers came upon the hole in the ice.

The ice was thin, according to the hunters, and was dangerous to walk on. Efforts were made to reach the hole, but the warm weather had weakened the ice and on several occasions the men broke through the thin sheet. Force had to be used on Mr. Gordon to restrain him from further attempts to reach the hole.

Provincial Constable A. Dymond, Madoc, was called to the scene and dragging operations early to-day were begun.

Last Minute News Flashes

BERLIN.—Belgium, which is negotiating a trade agreement with Germany, today became the object of a Nazi warning against becoming an "accessory to the British blockade." Belgians were asked to be more energetic in getting their ships released from the British contraband control.

THE HAGUE—(AP)—Netherlands planes and anti-aircraft guns drove off foreign aircraft sighted today at various places along the coast going westward. Nationality of the planes was not determined. None was damaged.

BERLIN.—(AP)—A Prague dispatch to the German news agency today said that nine persons had been shot to death and a large number arrested in connection with student disturbances there. The dispatch said Prague academies and universities had been ordered closed for three years.

Conant Pushes Clarion Head's Case Under Rule With 5-Year Penalty

TORONTO, Nov. 17—(CP) —Immediate action to institute proceedings by indictment against Douglas Stewart, business manager and editor of the Clarion, Communist weekly, will be taken by Hon. Gordon Conant, Attorney General. Trial by indictment would provide penalties, if a conviction is registered, up to $5,000 fine or five years' imprisonment or both.

In stating the action would begin immediately, Mr. Conant revealed differences between his office and that of Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Federal Minister of Justice. In a letter to Mr. Lapointe Mr Conant suggested "that in future your department be good enough to communicate to this department any further regulations or amendments to the present regulations that may be passed."

Shortly after Stewart's arrest under a breach of the Defence of Canada regulations arising from the November 11 issue of the Clarion, Mr. Conant wired the Federal Government asking permission to institute proceedings whereby Stewart could be tried by indictment. By summary trial the maximum penalty would be $500 fine and one year in Prison.

Regulations Changed.

Today Mr. Conant said he had received a telegram from the Deputy Attorney-General of Canada stating the Defence of Canada regulations had been amended, giving Provincial Attorney-General power to take such action without waiting for approval of the Federal Government. The amendment, the wire said, was published in the Canada Gazette.

Provincial and City Police raided the plant of the Clarion for the second time in a week yesterday and seized 8,000 copies of the November 18 issue, which was being published yesterday.

Sergeant of Detectives William and Detective Daniel Mann of the Toronto "Red Squad" and Constable Alex. Wilson of the Provincial Police C. I. B. conducted the raid. The seized newspapers were taken to police headquarters. It was stated also that police raided several Toronto stores and seized papers on the stands.

Humor Helps

Toronto, Nov. 17 (CP)

SUCCESS in marriage depends on "growing together spiritually," Richard S. Hosking, secretary of the national council of the Y.M.C.A.'s in Canada, told a group at a "marriage and parenthood" course here last night.

"If this development takes place, the union will withstand the loss of bank accounts, or of jobs, and will survive any depression," said Mr. Hoskins, a former judge of the family relations court in Toronto.

A sense of humor also helps to keep marriage happy, he said.

Garner 'Sinners' Toast In Milk

DALLAS, Nov. 17—(AP).—Spittoons were placed 40 feet away from tobacco chewers and snuff dippers as a bunch of "Evil old men and wicked old women" toasted Vice-President John Nance Garner with milk.

The vile occasion was "dedicated to sin and corruption by the friends of the Honorable John N. Garner of Texas, Vice-President of the United States of America.

If it smacked of decency or of law and order, "such incident or incidents were purely co-incidental and had no reference to nice persons, living or dead," the bunch roared after a few rounds of milk.

The rowdies, members of the Texas Editorial Association and friends of the Vice-President for 20 years, started "sinning" precisely at 7.30 p.m. last night.

The dinner was inspired by a remark made by President John L. Lewis of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. He called Garner "a poker playing, whisky drinking, evil old man."

Garner was not there. He was down in the brush country banging at deer.

Through fire and brimstone and those scorching milk cocktails, the oldtimers waded. Then they emerged in a political field of daffodils, convinced the Democrats will nominate Mr. Garner in 1940 and elect him president.

Dewey Expresses "Contempt" For Fritz Kuhn

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP)—District Attorney Thomas Dewey, called as a defence witness, testified today he felt "contempt" for Fritz Kuhn, German - American Bund leader, on trial for the alleged theft of Bund funds.

Dewey was called as a witness in an attempt to support the defence assertion that the prosecution of Kuhn was a "persecution" based on politics and was for the purpose of "destroying him."

Judge James Wallace interrupted Defence Counsel Peter Sabbatino's questioning of Dewey, regarding the District Attorney's knowledge of Kuhn, to ask:

"What is the object of this inquiry—illegal seizure of records?"

Sabbatino replied he was not proposing to go into circumstances surrounding Dewey's seizure of the Bund's records, but Dewey said he wanted to answer the question.

Nuisance To Community

"Never having seen this man," he said glancing at Kuhn, "nor ever having had personal contact with him, I cannot say that I have animus against him, but I must say that I regarded him as a nuisance to the community and a threat to the civil liberties of the community if he became more important than he was."

"You have hatred for Kuhn?" asked Sabbatino.

"If you want to use the word contempt, I'd say I have," Dewey replied.

Sabbatino then said that "such a feeling of hatred and hostility has been created against this defendant that it has affected the district attorney of New York."

The defence subpoenaed Mayor Mayor La Guardia for an appearance possibly today and Monday. The mayor was directed to present all correspondence he may have had with federal, state or county officials relating to Kuhn.

France Is Faced With Budget Of $1,759,000,000

PARIS, Nov. 17 (AP)—Finance Minister Paul Reynaud today outlined before the Chamber of Deputies finance committee a 1940 civil budget of 79,000,000,000 francs (about $1,750,000,000) which he said would be balanced by receipts.

The total ordinary budget, on civil and military needs, already has been set provisionally at 349,000,000,000 francs (about $7,770,800,00). In addition there will be an extraordinary budget, which amounted to 40 per cent of the ordinary budget last year.

The official journal today carried decrees raising the general salary tax from two per cent to five.

But men between the ages of 18 and 49 years who have not been mobilized will be forced to pay a 15 per cent "war chest" tax effective Jan. 1.

These taxes are in addition to the regular graduated income tax.

Baby's Condition Is Reported Critical

Only surviving one of four children who were trapped in the blazing hom of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lytle of the 12th Concession of Dummer eight miles north of Norwood, 7-month old Helen Lytle was reported near death this afternoon. Her condition was said to be extremely critical and her chances of recovery were slight.

Three of the children have already died of burns and shock following the fire.

G.M.C. Violation Costs $5,000

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 17 (AP)—Judge Walter Lindley imposed fines of $5,000 each today on General Motors Corporation and three affiliates convicted last night by a jury of violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

Prior to imposing the fines, the maximum provided by law, the judge overruled motions for a new trial and arrest of judgment.

The three affiliates convicted were General Motors Sales Corporation, General Motors Acceptance Corporation and General Motors Acceptance Corporation of Indiana.

The judge ordered that General Motors and General Motors Sales Corporation each pay half the costs of the prosecution.

Government lawyers hailed the conviction as a victory in the broad anti-monopoly drive of the government and a blow at the factory control of car financing.

Prairie Pioneer Dies

TRAIL, B.C., Nov. 17—(CP). — George Herbert Marlatt, 79, pioneer of the Prairie West before coming to British Columbia 31 years ago, died at his home here last night.

A native of Jonesville, Wis., he moved to Canada with his parents, settling in Oakville, Ont, in 1874 he moved to Portage La Prairie, Man., where he joined the Hudson's Bay Company. His widow, formerly Martha Grey Fortune of Listowel, survives.

Canadian Copper and Resin Vital To U. K. Shell Chain

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Nov. 17 — (CP Cable).—Canadian copper and resin are playing a vital part in the mighty British effort to produce an endless flow of ammunition. The role of both was displayed in a visit to a huge shell factory which is turning out vast quantities of all types.

Copper is essential for the bands of the shellbase. It is necessary for firing. Resin is used to solidify shrapnel in the shell tip. Round shrapnel bullets resembling bull's eyes in the candy shop are carefully weighed and dropped in the shell. Resin is poured in from a teapot.

The factory, one of Europe's largest, has been working day and night making shells for the last two years. It makes 27 types up to 250-pounders.

Shells are forged in a roaring inferno where it is necessary to watch to prevent stubbing the toes over red hot billets. In the midst of all the hubbub a dart board was in place and a worker sharpened a dart for a luncheon game.

The manufacture of 250-pounders is a real thrill. Ruddy billets are tossed around like footballs. They are pointed and left lying on the floor like nightmarish cigars. The guide said these monsters are treated like babies. After forging and knocking into shape by a 1,250-ton press they must be bedded with sand for a week to prevent chill, as the steel is sensitive.

Must Keep 'Loveless' Bride Duped Hubby Discovery

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 17. — (CP)—Story of a love which flowered by mail from Fabianhaza, a small town in Hungary, to die when the lovers met in Hamilton, was unfolded before Mr. Justice John Keiller MacKay, in Supreme Court here today.

The husband, a young Hungarian resident in Hamilton, sought a declaration from the court that his marriage with the pretty girl, whose passage he paid from her native land, was null and void.

The young woman, the husband claimed, married him "solely for the purpose of having her passage paid from Hungary to Hamilton, so that she could not be deported." Remarking that the circumstances were "most unfortunate," His Lordship refused the declaration, and the marriage was ruled valid.

"One's knowledge of human nature, and women, limited as it may be, leads one to the belief that women want to marry," Mr. Justice MacKay said.

"She saw an opportunity of coming to a new country, where her sister was living, and her imagination constructed in her brain an appreciation of this man, who, in the common parlance of the day, was her Prince Charming. That was the picture in her mind when she left Hungary.

"She comes to this country, wants to spend as much time as she can looking over this man. She becomes faced with a serious situation; she must marry this man, or face deportation."

It was his lordship's opinion that "the young woman is not in love with this man, and never was in love with him after she saw him."

Hint Nazi Artillery To Speak Out In Coming Weeks

BERLIN, Nov. 17—(AP)—Authorized German sources said today any general mediation offer by President Roosevelt at this time would be "uninteresting" so far as Germany is concerned.

France's injection of Austrian restitution into the issues at stake in the war these sources declared, shows the Allies regard all peace talks as futile.

However, should President Roosevelt ask both sides to disclose war aims to him with a view to finding some common basis for mediation, Germany would be most likely to respond, these sources intimated.

(The President of the United States has indicated no intention of taking either step—offering "general mediation" or asking the belligerents to outline their war aims to him.

(France, in her reply last Sunday to a Belgian-Netherlands offer of mediation, demanded as a precondition that Germany repair "injustices which force has imposed on Austria, Czecho-Slovakia and Poland." Great Britain put it up to Germany to assure an end of "aggression.")

tory which assures one that it must in the end triumph. And so with gallant Poland, France and Britain, we are putting our full weight into this struggle to maintain and afford opportunity for further development of that state of human society pictured by the Hebrew prophet of old where every man can sit under his own fig tree, enjoying the fruits of his own labor and where none dare molest him or make him afraid."

All Stand As One

Similar messages were read by Richard Casey, Australian minister of supply; Peter Fraser, New Zealand minister of education; Deneys Reitz, South African minister of native affairs, and Sir Muhammed Zafrulla Kahn, finance member of the Viceroy's council in India. They pledged that the entire British Empire would stay in the fight until Hitlerism has been crushed.

Mr. Eden, referring to the joint effort of the component parts of the British Empire, mentioned the air training scheme in Canada.

"This scheme is unique," he declared. "It is probably the greatest example of empire coordination to be centred and carried out in a part of the empire other than Britain."

The Empire discussions now will take largely the course of talks between British ministers and Dominions representatives individually, and may continue for another two weeks.

Macon And Eggs

London, Nov. 17 CP Cable)

WE may soon be eating macon and eggs—yes, macon—for breakfast here. And in Scotland they'll be frying a couple of rashers of braxy.

No, Dr. Goebbels, it's not ersatz food, but mutton bacon, the coming wartime dish if the present shortage of bacon continues.

Alan Lennox-Boyd, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of food, told parliament last night that the ministry was making experiments with it as a substitute.

Food experts told puzzled reporters that smoked mutton was an article of English diet in some parts of the country half a century ago. Scottish farms sometimes cure their own supplies and even today call it braxy.

Londoners already have named it "macon" in anticipation.

Flying Fighters From U.S. Taboo

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — United States warplanes can be pushed or pulled across the border for delivery in Canada, government officials held informally today, but they can not be flown across under their own power.

This is their conclusion after days of discussion of one of the most intricate problems raised by the neutrality act.

The officials held that the export of airplanes to a belligerent is permitted under the neutrality act, but that under international law the flight of warplanes to a belligerent constitutes an "armed expedition."

It would be permissible, they say, to fly a plane to the Canadian border, bring it down on the American side, and then wheel it across. There would have to be customs officials present to receive affidavits that the title to the plane had passed to a foreign purchaser.

The shipper of the plane would have to exhibit the export licence of the national munitions control board.

Once a United States plane is in Canada, there is nothing in the law to prevent its being flown across the Atlantic to Great Britain.

Shipment of planes to Canada by sea or transport by train is permitted.

The manufacture is efficient—a company official said there is only one defective shell in 7,000.

The plant also makes oxygen tanks for high planes. These are made from a disc forced into shape and then shot from under the end of a plunger apparatus with a boom and the motion of a gun.

In another factory forging for shells is made from a process smuggled by a German refugee. Officials credited the process with speeding up manufacture. Forgings later are setnt to other plants for machining and finishing.

"It is most unfortunate," the judge said. "I have a great deal of sympathy for the man, but a court of law cannot be moved by sympathy."

Because the man had paid between $400 and $600 to bring his bride from Hungary to Hamilton where he married her 27 days after her arrival—in three more days she would have been liable to deportation — he dismissed the husband's suit without costs.

DAILY WAR SUMMARY

(By Canadian Press.)

Brief communiques from Paris and Berlin reporting "patrol activity" on the Western front tell of quiet days and nights for the main bodies of the French and German armies but plenty of excitement for a few men.

If some of the old Indian fighters of the French regime in Canada could come to life they would be right at home in the kind of warfare going on between the Maginot and Siegfried Lines and would make fine patrol leaders.

Over the greater part of the front the main advance lines of the two armies are a considerable distance apart. In between is a wide no-man's land and it is there the patrols do their work. Their main purpose is to maintain contact with the opposing forces, keep their own commanders informed of what the enemy is doing and perhaps take a few prisoners from whom more information may be squeezed or cajoled.

Thus a patrol may set out some night to reconnoitre a hill a mile or so in advance of its own line. It is important to know whether the enemy is establishing advance posts or concentrating troops on the hill. The men move forward as inconspicuously as possible, taking advantage of trees bushes and fences, keeping in the deepest shadows.

In all probability they will reach their objective and return without incident but they taste the thrill of danger. Perhaps they will meet at enemy patrol on the same mission. In that case it is often the man who sees the other fellow first who lives to tell the tale. Perhaps they may come within the range of an enemy advance post with a machine gun, a post established since the last patrol in that area.

Port Perry Lad Dies In Smash

WHITBY, Nov. 17. — Inquests will be held following two fatal automobile accidents which occurred in Ontario County on Wednesday and early Thursday morning, Crown Attorney A. F. Annis stated yesterday.

Earl Hood, 17-ear-old Port Perry youth, was instantly killed early yesterday when the car in which he was riding went into the ditch five miles north of Brooklin on No. 12 Highway. Hood and four other young men were returning from a dance at Brooklin.

Hood was catapulted from the back seat through the roof of the car and died half an hour later in Port Perry Hospital. Harry Carnegie, 20, said to be the driver of the car, and Archie McMaster, 20, who was riding in the front seat, escaped with shock and bruises. Garnet Weir, 21, suffered concussion and shock, while Allan Oke, 21, sustained back injuries and facial lacerations.

Seven-year-old Bernard Skelly was instantly killed on Wednesday afternoon when he stepped in front of a car while on his way home from school at Green River. The accident occurred on No. 7 Highway.

minister, he deplores the "nebulous" nature of suggestions for peace conferences and demands for a detailed statement of war aims.

Would End Empire

They also sought a transformation of existing social and economic systems on socialist lines and the liquidation of the British Empire in the interests of some form of international control.

"Are we," he pleads, "to declare now that our effort, undertaken in the name of freedom and the rights of the individual, is to end in the triumph of an arbitrary and polyglot governing committee, with the object of imposing some new form of political and economic regime on the diverse populations of the European continent?"

Britain's main objectives in the war are to eliminate the rule of force and to restore freedom in Europe. She seeks no material gains through conquest. In peace or war, the aims of the great mass of mankind are substantially the same, the more vital of which Lord Queensborough lists as follows:—

1. A home for themselves and families.

2. Freedom to earn their living and lead their lives according to the instincts and inclinations native to their environment.

3. Above all freedom from the horrors and misery of war.

Neither Hitler, Stalin, nor any other despot, Lord Queensborough says, can serve mankind so well as the perpetual example offered the world by a free and honorable people "with malice toward none, with goodwill toward all," ready to fight with all its might against every form of bullying or aggression.

"None can succeed if he leaves out of account the essential characteristics of humanity," he concludes. "We cannot fail if we cling to those which we have learned during our long and honorable history—if we 'put our trust in God and keep our powder dry.'"

Japs Claim Advance

HONG KONG, Nov. 17—(AP). — Japan officially reported today a steady advance in Western Kwangtung province toward China's "back door" links with French Indo-China and British Burma, but Chinese minimized both the effectiveness and extent of the campaign.

The Japanese said their forces, which landed Wednesday 45 miles west of the treaty port of Pakhoi, on the Gulf of Tonking, and 35 miles east of the Indo-Chinese border, had driven northward 30 miles to Yamhsien, about 25 miles from the border of Kwangsi province, one of their objectives.

Insurance Fraud Jails Six Toronto Men

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP) — Six Toronto men face charges today of conspiracy to defraud in various automobile accident claim settlements during the past five months. They are free on bail of $2,000 each.

The six, arrested late yesterday and last night, are: W. B. Coatts and Grover Leyland, insurance agents; G. Deans Buch and C. Wallace Pitt, insurance adjustors, and Homer A. Newall and H. S. Wegg, K.C., lawyers.

Acting on instructions of Attorney-General Gordon Conant, city and provincial police took the men into custody on charges of conspiring to induce claimants to accept in settlement of claims smaller sums of money than they might otherwise have obtained through legal redress.

Coincident with the arrests, Hartley D. McNairn, Ontario superintendent of insurance, said he had notified Buchan, Pitt and Leyland that their licences had been suspended. At the same time he notified the Provincial Service Agency, Ltd., that its licence and that of its officers, Coatts and Miss Louise Cain, "is terminated pending the lifting of such suspension."

"The prosecution now pending are no reflection upon insurance companies generally," Mr. Conant said. "Anything likely to disturb business or confidence in our financial institutions should be avoided, particularly in these troublous times."

Army Officers Are Welcomed

Adjutant Buckley and Mrs. Buckley, the new officers of the local Corps of the Salvation Army, received a cordial welcome at the Temple last night.

Rev. Fred W. Craik, president of the Ministerial Association, extended greetings from the ministers of the city. The service was conducted by Sergeant-Major D. Smith with a congregation of more than two hundred and fifty members, including the band and songster brigade who contributed musical numbers.

Sergt.-Major Ralph C. Braund and Sergt.-Major Gerald Routly, director of the band, were speakers at the meeting who expressed the welcome and loyalty of the Corps to their new officers.

Mrs. Buckley will conduct the services Sunday morning, and Adjutant Buckley will be in charge in the evening at the Temple.

One of those who joined in the greeting to Adjutant Buckley on his arrival here Thursday was Henry Illingworth, who was surprised to learn that the Adjutant was a fellow Yorkshire man, and had come from the same city, Leeds, which he had left.

Rescued Germans Reward Skipper

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 17—CP).—Three German fliers gave valuable presents to officers of a Scottish fishing tug who rescued them when their bombing plane was shot down in the recent Nazi air raid on the Firth of Forth, Miss I. E. Watt, of Prestonkirk, Haddingtonshire, writes to a relative in this city.

Miss Watt, who lives near the Firth, relates that the bomber plunged into Aberlady Bay and sank in five minutes, taking with it the body of the fourth member of the crew. He had been killed by machine gun fire.

One Captain Dickson, skipper of the tug, saved the three surviving airmen. One had received a chest wound, and a second flier a broken arm and a badly injured eye. Later in hospital, they presented Captain Dickson with an expensive wrist watch, and his first mate with a gold ring. Two of the fliers spoke English fluently, writes Miss Watt.

The Nazi airman who lost his life was said to have been only 17 years old, according to Miss Watt.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Slight easiness at Chicago offset the rallying influence of moderate export buying on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day and weakened wheat futures prices ¼ to ⅝ cent. November closed at 70⅝, December 70⅝, May 75½, and July 76½ cents.

Cash wheat trade was confined to light export buying in No. 1 Northern and minor mill interest in Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 Northern and No. 4 Special. Domestic buying in oats, together with some purchases of Winnipeg rye against sales at Chicago, provided most of the action in coarse grains.

Farmers of Western Canada delivered 1,310,000 bushels of wheat to country loading points yesterday compared with 709,000 bushels on the corresponding day last year.

Peterboro' Presbytery Backs Move Ministers Must Resign Upon Enlisting As War Chaplains

HAVELOCK, Nov. 17.—(ENS) — The Presbytery of Peterborough of the United Church of Canada held its last regular session for the year at St. James' church, Peterborough, with morning and afternoon sessions Thursday. Rev. A. L. Sisco. B. Th., of Millbrook presided, with Rev. J. R. Trumpour as secretary. Rev. M. I. Robinson of Norwood conducted a devotional service before the business session. His topic was "Jacob's Ladder; Set up on earth and reaching up to Heaven"; and dealth with the importance of prayer in the Christian life "Not more Christians, but better" was his plea. Rev. E. W. Young, D. D., offered prayer.

Twenty ministers and 18 lay members answered the roll call. J. C. Keefer of Norwood was given an affectionate welcome back after absence through illness, and thanked the members for many kindnesses. H. G. Fox was accepted as delegate from Hastings; and Rev. E. M. Cooke of Foxboro and Rev. A. H. MacConnachie, former members of the Presbytery were welcomed as visitors The latter told the Presbytery of experiences in evangelism on a recent visit to Scotland.

Hour of Discussion.

The main item on the program was a period of an hour set by last Presbytery for discussion of the findings of last General Council on "The Church and Industrial Relations." Rev. Dr. E. W. Young, chairman of the Evangelism and Social Service committee presided over this period and presented the committee report first Three speakers took various aspects of the subject: Rev. G. F. Kelly of Lakefield on "The Approach" said the "Basic Principle is the inherent worth of human personality. Any system that outrages this is unchristian." Freedom of pulpit, press, speech are essential in the political realm; and in economics, "too much economic power is in the hands of a few persons." Rev. James Malcolm dealt with: "Fear and Insecurity"; discussing efforts to stabilize employment. and commending the National Research Board.

Rev. E. W. Young, D. D., spoke on "Unemployment Insurance" and outlined the main features of the British scheme, 8 leading nations have compulsory schemes and 9 voluntary "We favor the compulsory type of Unemployment Insurance" the Doctor said.

Views on Labour.

In the committee's report proper recommendations from a special meeting were presented. Attention was called to the national service being rendered by the British Labor party in the present crisis, and the suggestion made that their refusal to enter the British War Cabinet had strengthened rather than weakend Labor's position in Britain.

Commendation of the action of the Attorney-General Honorable Gordon Conant, K. C., in suppressing indecent and scandalous literature throughout the province was expressed. Also denial of the press access to court cases involving sex; recognition was given to the daily and weekly press of the province for their general high moral standard on this latter issue....and these commendations ordered sent to the Department in Toronto and to the Canadian Press.

The attention of the War Price Board in Ottawa was called to the increased cost of living since the war with little or no rise in wages or return to the farmer.

Committee work occupied the members for an hour before noon and after recess. Dinner was served by the ladies of St. James W. A. who were thanked by Rev. Fred Horton and Mr. G. J. Keefer. Their president, Mrs. M. Drysdale replied.

A distant innovation for this area was the decision of the Presbytery to inaugurate a "Presbytery Visitation of Pastoral Charges.' In a report presented by Rev. C. H. Ferguson of Bethany arrangements were made to visit the first seven fields on the roll with two ministers and a layman appointed to conduct the consultation with the congregations concerned along the lines of a questionaire which will reveal the condition of the work on the charge in its various departments. The convener of each delegation was empowered to present the result of the findings to each charge at the subsequent sabbath services.

List of Charges.

The following are the first list of charges, and the visitors....the first named being convener who will set a date before December 15 for the visit.

Apsley Revs. G. F. Kelly. J. R. Trumpour and Mrs. J. H. Porter.

Bethany: Revs. A. L. Sisco. W. E. Honey and Mr. W. F. Fallis.

Bridgenorth: Revs. Dr. E. W. Young, M. C. Parr and Mr. Alpine McNab.

Cavan: Revs. C. H. Ferguson, F. Horton and Mr. E. S. Beer.

Fraserville: Revs. G. S. Easton, J. F. Everson and Mr. R. J. Kidd.

Hastings: Revs. M. I. Robinson, F. Murray and Mr. J. G. Keefer.

Havelock: Revs. J. E. Glover, J. W. Wilkinson and Mr. J. W. Buck.

To co-operate with the Board of Evangelism in the forthcoming World Preaching Mission of 1940 Revs. F. W. Craik, A. McLauchlin and Mr. A. Stewart attended a Conference with the General Secretary and representatives of all presbyteries last week in Kingston. For this Rev. F. W. Craik reported under the theme "The Evangel in War Time". The church must sense again the evangelical imperative." As the first step towards the united observance of more than 20 preaching Missions in the Fall of next year under the leadership of E. Stanley Jones of India Presbytery will observe the Week of Prayer in the first full week in January. Preliminary plans were also made for 8-day Preaching Missions to be held after Easter.

Mrs. W. H. Morton brought greetings from the Peterborough Presbyterial W. M. S. of which she is president. There are still 28 congregations without W. M. S. auxiliaries. Presbyterial will meet next on January 23. Besides outlining the work of her organization in any way the women could help.

A Motion Defeated

A recommendation from the Evangelism and Social Service committee that ministers desiring to serve as chaplains in full time work need not resign but leave the arrangements between minister and people with the Presbytery, failed to carry. A letter from the subexecutive of the United Church had recommended that ministers accepting chaplaincies resign their charges. Considerable debate both in committee and the full court showed interest was keen. There are 150 United Church ministers enrolled as volunteers for Chaplaincy service. Appointments are made through recommendation of the War Service Board in Toronto. The subexecutive also recommended that chaplains receive only the salary of their military rank. The letter was filed for information without other action.

Reporting for the Religious Education Committee, Rev. C. H. Ferguson told of training schools being held; and plans for the fourth Winter school for Cobourg, Peterborough and Lindsay presbyteries at Lindsay, January 15 to 19. A meeting of the elders of the presbytery with ex-Principal J. H. Diddell of Winnipeg has been arranged for George Street Church on November 9. Peterborough Religious Education Council was commended for its holding of regular monthly meetings in the city for teacher-training.

Other reports considered were: Finance, presented by Rev. H. Wilkinson; Home Missions by Rev. M. I. Robinson; Missionary Education by Rev. M. C. Parr; Property, H. G. Walker; Records, Rev. F. Horton; and Missionary and Maintainance by Rev. G. S. Easton. The latter reported an increase of $280 in M. and M. support to date as on last year.

More Liberal Giving

In view of the dropping out of givers of large amounts, partly because of succession duty requirements, we must enlarge the base of giving. An every-member canvass would accomplish this. "Make our people stewardship-conscious," he urged.

Letters of sympathy were ordered sent to Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, D.D., General Secretary of the United Church; and to Rev. Robert Laird, D.D., treasurer, both of whom are unable to attend to their duties because of illness. The officials of St. James' Church, and Rev. F. W. Craik were thanked for their courtesies today and Rev. A. McLauchlin congratulated on his press reports.

An invitation to hold the next convention at St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough was presented by Alpine McNab and referred to the executive for action.

Letters commending the services during the summer on mission fields were read from North Bay Presbytery for W. W. Patterson and from Prince Albert Presbytery for Morgan Rowland, son of Rev. E. W. Rowland of Mark Street Church.

ENNISMORE—(ENS).—The funeral of the late Dr. Paul J. Moloney, an old Ennismore boy who died in Ottawa on Sunday last, was held from St. Martin's church on Wednesday morning, with interment in St. Martin's cemetery. At ten o'clock a solemn requiem mass was sung, with Rev. J. C. Moloney of the Sacred Heart parish, Peterborough, nephew of the deceased, as celebrant, assisted by Rev. Paul Costello of Hastings as deacon, and Rev. C. J. Carroll of Norwood, as sub-deacon.

His Excellency Most Reverend Denis O'Connor, D.D., LL.D., assisted at the mass, and Rev. J. V. McAuley of Campbellford, preached a most touching sermon on Death, a sermon full of consoling tthoughts for the deceased's sorrowing widow and family. Also present in the sanctuary were Rev. J. V. Masterson, D.D., and Rev. V. J. Corkery, of Peterborough.

The high esteem in which the late Dr. Moloney was held by the friends of his birthplace was evidenced by the numbers who attended his funeral as a last mark of respect to one of Ennismore's sons who so honored the profession which he had followed.

The deceased's veneration for the land of his birth was so great as to request his last resting place to be in its midst. Dr. Moloney was known as a constant benefactor of St. Martin's parish, and before ill health overtook him he was a frequent visitor wth friends here. Only abcut two years ago he and Mrs. Moloney, who was formerly Mary Scollard, sister of the late Bishop Scollard, of North Bay, surrounded by the members of their family, celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their marriage by assisting on that particular occasion at mass in St. Martin's church, Ennismore, the parish in which they had been married.

Those from a distance who were present at the funeral, other than the immediate family of the late Dr. Moloney, were David Scollard of Brantford, Dr. Michael Brick and son John of Windsor, Lieut. P. J. Moloney of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown of Scarboro, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moloney, Mr. and Mrs. James Guiry, Dr. Robert J. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Young, Dr. E. M. Crough, M. S. The Dummer Tragedy

If one wishes to record plainly and according to record the tragedy which visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lytle of Dummer Township, it can well be done by repeating the statement made in the story telling of the event:

Hazel Lytle, 12, died shortly before 9 o'clock last night of burns and shock.

Hilda Lytle, 4, died at 9.35 this morning.

William Lytle, 6, died at 11.15 this morning.

Charles Lytle was away from home, and Mrs. Lytle was at a hunting lodge cleaning the place. The last they saw of home was a place where the children were happy and well. When the mother returned the place was in flames, and when the father came home there were charred timbers and ashes.

Mrs. Lytle and her daughter Ruby, a girl of 14, exhibited that courage which is born of desperation when they rushed back after seeing the home in flames. The place was full of fire and there were four children in there, and they brought them out. They were burned, all of them, rescued and rescuers, and help was not easily secured.

Three children gone, and reports regarding the baby are not too encouraging. The home gone, the family car gone. If and when the new home comes it will be a place which will bear the shadow of the tragedy which passed over the old one. There will not be so many places at the table, nor so many going to bed for the night. A dull dead blank will be there which time may to some extent heal, but which in memory will remain to the end of the journey.

It is supposed that the girl wished to hurry along the fire, and in error used gasoline instead of coal oil. Even in the presence of the triple death it is not possible to omit reference to this. Coal oil is dangerous, and gasoline would not have been used had the child been aware of the nature of the contents of the container. So much better, safer and wiser to work with a fire for just a little longer and nurse it along with wood than to resort to coal oil. Families all over the country have paid such a price for this habit that the wonder is there is a home left where coal oil is used to build a fire. It may seem safe enough in the hands of many people, but the facts and the record are all against any claim for safety being successfully lodged.

Mr. and Mrs. Lytle can know with assurance that the people of the entire district are whole-heartedly aware of the loss they have suffered. For the moment they walk along a road where the going is rough and the clouds are heavy; they have scraped bottom in the measure of human despair.

Only One Man Knows

Our candid belief is that those who try to explain what is actually taking place in Europe at the moment can do little better than guess. Perhaps the word speculate sounds better, but in effect it is much the same. One feels in the dark; like reaching out to see if there is anything in the way, or some familiar object on which a hand can be placed. In this case nothing familiar is found.

There has been much comment and much speculation on why Hitler has not long since started his offensive. It is known that he is an advocate of the policy of lightning war, and it was anticipated he would follow that plan when he struck at France and Britain. So far he has been striking mostly at Britain at sea.

So reliable a news agency as Havas forwards a cable from Amsterdam saying that the general staff of the German army is opposed to staging an offensive on the western front until there is some certainty of a military understanding or alliance with Russia. There was an alliance fixed up with Stalin but he was not inclined to go the length of placing his army at the disposal of Hitler. He has seized a portion of Poland, extended his influence and control over the small states of the Baltic, and has strengthened his position as the naval power in the Baltic, and perhaps that is considered sufficient for the time being, particularly so when he did not have to wage war to add considerable to his territorial assets.

Perhaps there is a tendency to look for straws in the wind, but if so then the straws are to be found. In a number of German papers there was sympathetic utterance regarding the plight of Finland in facing the power of Russia, and apparently there was never a word stating that Russia was right and should prevail in her demands upon the little nation.

But at the moment the whole thing is a puzzle and a question mark. And those who are close to the picture are just as much puzzled and just as much in the dark as those who are more remotely situated. The plain question is: "Why does Hitler not strike?" No person apart from Hitler himself has the answer.

They Have The Right Idea

There was a story in the St. Thomas Times-Journal about a farmer who was taken to the hospital to undergo an operation. It was at a time when he had not completed his fall plowing, and everything was left at a standstill.

Perhaps the man may have wondered at times what he was going to do about it as the season was late. When he finally reached home he found his plowing attended to. We read there were a dozen teams and plowmen from the district; they just came over and attended to the business.

Would they expect anything for their work? The answer would be a decided no. They were doing what they knew would be done for them under like circumstances.

We quite well realize it was not a great thing as such events are catalogued today; there was no parade and no propaganda; there was no banquet and no speech-making.

Just the same those farmer folk had the big idea in life. They had a good clean motive to begin with—they wanted to help some person outside the boundaries of their own land. They didn't want to make a cent out of another man's misfortune.

When one stops to think the thing through they had the way of life and of living which would cure a good deal of the canker which bothers this old world today.

It has often enough been done in the country and will be done again in the future. The pity seems to be—in fact it is—that the world and its people and its rulers and its people in high places have not yet seen the wisdom of doing what the farmers did when they hitched up and did the plowing for a neighbor who had gone to the hospital.

They Desire Only Peace

There may be a number of people from our country who have visited Finland, but we do not believe the number is great. That is the reason why it was easy to become interested in a little book filled with pictures. Just a picture book one might call it but it gives a fair idea of what Finland is like and what the people do.

The President Kyosti Kallio, looks out from the first page. Kind face, nice features and with the bearing of a gentleman. Cathedrals, academies, libraries, university—all attest to the manner of living and the preference of the people. Several studies showing the faces of the children; they look clean and pleasant. There are over 70,000 lakes and pictures of lake districts resemble closely what one might find in the Kawartha region.

Views of the city of Helsinki reveal a great land-locked harbor, and a community of great size and beauty of design. Jean Sibelius, the composer of world fame, is a Finn, and Paavo Nurmi, the runner, is the greatest personality of Finnish athletics.

And all this land and its people desire is to go along as they have been doing. They wish only to keep on working, attending to their jobs or their farm lands. They seek no territory nor have they designs on the happiness of others. And into that wholesome situation today comes Stalin of Russia with his threats and his demands.

The pictures make it clear enough that the Finns are a cleaner people than the Russians; their accomplishments and their culture are on a much higher plane, and their standard of education is so high that the rate of illiteracy there is the lowest in the world. It is a sad commentary on what we call the civilization of 1939 that such a nation cannot feel itself secure and free.

Not Working Regularly

Toronto like a number of other cities has a number of employees who do not work regularly throughout the year. Those who are employed by the Parks Department placed their case before the Board of Control because they were out of funds, had no fuel and no food and could receive no assistance. Under present regulations it would be necessary for the provincial government investigators to approve before the city could grant any measure of relief to these part-time workers. The investigators do not approve so the city can do nothing. But all that does not answer the question.

Toronto once made a rule that if a man were employed nine months out of the year and then made application for relief he would not be re-employed next year, but that rule has not been harshly followed because the city found no similar rule existing elsewhere.

The theory is that when a man works for nine months he should be able to save sufficient to put him through the three months when he is not working. How many could do that we do not know but our belief is the number would be small.

One man's case may be typical. He said he had worked for 7½ months during which he earned $940, and the investigator had told him he would have to make that do until he was again called to work in the spring. While he was working he was doing quite well, for it comes to about $125 per month. Taken by the year it would mean for 52 weeks he would have about $18 each week on which to live and keep his home and family. Trying to live in Toronto on that amount is cutting things rather fine.

Other men, some of whom have worked from 18 to 35 years for the city, said their maximum weekly wage was $26.40, but on the average they had earned $15. They are with the asphalt plant and have not been regularly employed. They have been laid off seven weeks earlier than usual, and now they find they have nothing left to see them through the winter.

The individual who works steadily and has a regular income is not in a position to judge the thrift of those who have long spells of idleness during the year. A married man working in Toronto for an average of $15 would certainly have nothing left over; more likely would he be in debt all the time. So it does not settle matters at all for a government investigator to tell such folk they should be saving money when working for the days when they will be idle. They have not done so because they couldn't.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In a large way the best method for combatting communism in this or any other country is to show plainly that we have something better.

At a church fowl supper at Zurich, Ont., it is stated there were 2,200 pounds of poultry used. They might make an ornamental fence around the place with the wish bones.

United States is bringing out a new plane which will fly 500 miles an hour. That speed was suggested by the treasury in order to keep up with the increasing costs of running a nation.

Man arrested at Mimico is charged with setting fires, seeking to scare relatives into a state of submission, and leaving a note demanding money or life. Before being placed on trial it has been decided to give him a mental examination, and that seems about the right place to start.

The Brockville Recorder and Times says some 30 new houses were erected there during the year; there is hardly a vacant place, and the Utilities Commission is serving more homes than before. And yet there is a reduction of 34 in the number of folk living in town. In this age when people so dearly love to have a probe the solution for Brockville's mystery might be found.

Mayor Wilson of Philadelphia died while in office, and in an effort to bring back financial stability he had for three years taken $3,000 of his salary and returned it to the civic treasury. When his estate was investigated it was found there was but $50 left for his widow, and Philadelphia council has decided to pay over to the estate $9,000 in salary which the Mayor earned but refused to accept. And that appears to be an entirely proper thing to do.

COUGH

¶ When cold sets in to visit me, I grow as wheezy as can be, so let the critics scoff; my tubes are buckled that I know, the troubles settled down quite low, and I begin to cough.

¶ I cough when I strike morning air, and friends begin to gop and stare, they tremble at my blast; they figure I am sick indeed, look like a bent and broken reed, and none too long I'll last.

¶ My neighbor stops to have his say, he had a cousin go that way, he started with a cough; he tells me it was really sad, the way he went was just too bad, in three weeks he was off.

¶ A farmer friend just come to town, pulled up his team and hopped right down, he heard that cough of mine; he had an aunt took down the same, he told me both her age and name, she passed out in decline.

¶ They brought me in both oil and grease, predicting how my cough would cease, and camphor came in too; they warned me I must not delay, for I'd grow worse each passing day, my chances would be few.

¶ Of course my friends are good as gold, I like to herd them in my fold, I thank them for their grease; but there are times when I get home, I wish they'd leave me there alone—so I could cough in peace.

The Professor Feels Barb Of Editorial Pen

NOT OFTEN does one who delivers an address at a Rotary meeting find that he has left himself open for a very nice spanking. As a rule the speaker receives a vote of thanks and the matter ends right there. It was somewhat different in Montreal where E. R. Adair, associate professor of History at McGill University, had some rather sharp criticism to make of Premier Chamberlain. The Montreal Star administered the spanking in the following manner:

Rightly or wrongly, the public has developed the habit of looking up to professors in our universities as men of responsibility, specially qualified through their individual studies to speak with authority upon matters of national or international import. As instructors to whom is entrusted the guidance of our youth, we have come to put faith in their moderation, their tolerance, breadth of mind and sense of fair play. When therefore, a university professor, speaking before the Rotary Club of Montreal, delivers an address the outstanding features of which are bitter political partisanship, bad taste, poor judgment and an astounding incapacity to grasp the significance of British policy as revealed by recent events, it comes somewhat in the nature of a blow.

Mr. E. R. Adair, who is associate professor of History at McGill University, was the man responsible for this lamentable exhibition, yesterday, when discussing "Poland, its weaknesses and strength!" Nobody challenges his right to his own opinions or to the expression of them. What we do challenge definitely is the timeliness or appropriateness of such expression. Had he specifically desired to provide material calculated to give the enemy food for jeers, he could hardly have done better. His attack on Premier Chamberlain, whom he characterized as "stupid," was not only an example of prejudice, but, coming from a man in his position so far away from the scene of action, was in the worst possible taste and woefully lacking in understanding. It would not be difficult, indeed, to take issue with Professor Adair on the purely historic side, but we are more immediately concerned with the graceless demonstration he gave of the extent to which even an associate professor of history can allow his prejudices to distort his judgment and to emphasize his tactlessness.

It may not be inappropriate to speculate that had he delivered this address in Russia and discussed Stalin in the offensive manner in which he criticized Mr. Chamberlain, there would very speedily have been a vacancy in the professional ranks. We yield to nobody in our defence of freedom of speech; but we are equally insistent that such freedom, when it is allowed to degenerate into license, ceases to be either a virtue or a right. Those who attended the meeting were not backward in giving expression to their disagreement even during the speech, and at the close the chairman expressed the general sentiment when he said that although the international service committee of the Rotary Club endeavoured to ascertain the true facts of the international situation from the various speakers who addressed it, "obviously one did not have to agree with all the statements that were made." Mr. Adair might ponder that word "obviously." It has a very special significance as applied to his address and the impressions created thereby on the spot.

Men occupying positions of responsibility in our educational establishments are naturally expected to display sound judgment in their public utterances. We are very glad to be able to state that in the main they justify our faith and expectation. That is what makes such a deplorable exception as was provided by Mr. Adair's address yesterday so distasteful to contemplate. He and one or two others who have in the past manifested a keener desire to shine in the spotlight than is either necessary or desirable for people in their position might consider the effect their biased utterances are likely to have on the youths whom the parents of Montreal entrust to the university for the moulding of their minds.

Mr. Adair seems to relish the use of the word "stupid." He certainly gave a masterly demonstration of the fact that stupidity is by no means the special monopoly of statesmen.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre. And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it....

An the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT"

THE BEER HALL BOMB

New York Herald Tribune: It was a grim comment upon the speech in which this supposedly idolized leader—whose life has to be guarded by every protection known to tryants—had in the name of "80,000,000 united people" just been flinging defiance at Great Britain in "the language they will probably best understand." He finished; and the bomb spoke in a language which can neither be drowned out nor misrepresented, and is understood the world over.

DEADLY WORDS

Philadelphia Bulletin: Herr Hitler's hint that a secret lethal weapon would be used if Britain forced his hand is now met by a British declaration that His Majesty's scientists have developed a surprise to match it. Deadly words have been the dependence of both sides during the intermittent diplomatic period now near its climax. If the psychology of secret horrors waiting to be unleashed causes any Englishman to breathe heavily, the counter - psychology should set a Nazi or two gasping.

WHAT ALTERNATIVE?

New York Post: Mr. Chamberlain still demands Nazi "deeds, not words" before accepting mediation offers towards a peace. What else can he say? How stable would a peace be that was extorted by threat of invasion against two neutral nations? How could European stability be served by paying another instalment on Hitler's long blackmail bill? Mr. Chamberlain's choice is a hard one. It is the same as the choice made by each British and French citizen who supports the war. They decide on the same basis: What else can be done?

ANOTHER REICHSTAG FIRE?

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Did not the Nazis fire the Reichstag to enrage a lukewarm Germany against the party's opponents? Could this have been another such plot to fan German sentiment into new loyalty to the Fuehrer and enthusiasm for the long war, which he did not plan, but with which he is now confronted? How quickly and with what unanimity press and police blamed the English Secret Service and, of course, the Jews! Or has German disillusionment already reached the point where patriots were willing to take a chance as desperate as this to rid themselves of Swastika rule?

• Gout Has the Doctor's Puzzled

AS IF to assure the world that Mr. Chamberlain is of the serious and sober temperament that the French call solide, the dispatches inform us that the affliction which confines him to his home is a "poor man's gout," unrelated to gastronomic pleasures or a pretty taste in Burgundy. The news will probably cause specialists to smile good-naturedly. No longer do they distinguish between poor man's and rich man's gout. Nor is it by any means so certain as it used to be that there is any direct connection between gout and living, whether high or low.

There are fashions in disease as there are in hats. For many years we have been told that gout is not so prevalent as it once was. The researches conducted by Dr. Paul D. Hench of the Mayo Clinic and Dr. Walter Bauer of the Massachusetts General Hospital cast considerable doubt on the validity of this verdict. The two have shown that gout is far more prevalent than is generally realized, that many doctors do not recognize gout when they see it and that some metabolic disturbance is responsible for the excruciating twinges that led our forefathers to encourage the design of special stools upon which their swollen and sensitive feet could repose. All this being so, the statistics which indicate that ordinary arthritis rather than gout accounts for so many of the joint diseases with which hospitals have to deal are not to be taken at their face value.

It is one of the minor disgraces of medical research that, despite the introduction of cinchophen and its derivatives, the only safe specific for gout is still colchicine, which has lately figured in the news of science because of its remarkable effect on the flowering of hybrid plants and which has come down from the Middle Ages. In other words, after centuries physicians know scarcely more about the medicinal treatment of gout than did that half-scientist, half-quack Philippus Aureolus Theophrastus Bombastus von Hohenheim, more widely known as Paracelsus.—New York Times.

RAILROAD TRIALS

I REMEMBER a trip I made, as superintendent, on the day we placed a new train schedule in effect. The train made an uncalled-for stop in the country and I walked up to the front end to locate the trouble. I found the train crew leading a mild-looking cow off the track and an irate woman waving her fist in the face of an unusually meek engineer.

I was a godsend to that engineer, who introduced me as the "superintendent," and then made a hurried exit. I was the very man that woman wanted to see. Would I change the new timetable. What was the idea of running the train past her farmyard an hour earlier than usual? Didn't I know that it had taken three years for Susan the cow, to learn the hours at which she could graze on the right-of-way? It was not fair to the cow to put an entirely new schedule in effect overnight.

I couldn't argue with the lady and I was forced to listen to one of the most comprehensive lectures of my life. Perhaps I was a wiser and better man when the train got under way again.—The late A. E. Warren on Early Railroading.

MOLOTOFF'S MASTER

We can be sure that Molotoff's speech said exactly what Molotoff's master wanted him to say, and we can also be sure that it refrained from saying a great deal that Stalin doesn't want said. When Hitler made a pact with Stalin, after years of saying that the Bolsheviks were the accursed of the earth, he must really have thought that he could get away with anything because he was he. Just try realize that state of mind. —Vancouver Daily Province.

New locomotives for Canada's railways have just been ordered. Why Not Make Sure?

It may be comforting, particularly in these times, to accept the belief that "what is to be will be." But would it not be wise to review your plans for the future security of your family in the light of present-day conditions . . . just in case.

All of us must realize that war brings many changes—perhaps in military service at home or abroad; perhaps in employment, in business, in family affairs. Now is the time to make absolutely certain that your life insurance will do all that you want it to.

Are you sure that your insurance money will be paid to those you have in mind? Do some of your beneficiaries no longer need as much protection, and others need more?

Do you know that you can probably increase the effectiveness of your present life insurance by anywhere from ten to thirty per cent without any additional cost to you?

Do you know how much of your present insurance will give you an income at retirement and what the amount of that income will be?

Many such questions might be asked. Others doubtless will occur to you. A thoroughly trained Canada Life man will gladly answer them for you with absolutely no obligation whatever. And he may acquaint you with other facts which you should know if you are to get the most out of your life insurance. Why not ask him?

Steel Tomb Of 34 Beaches On Shore In Wales

The British submarine Thetis, pictured after she had been beached in an unnamed North Wales bay after she had been hauled from the bottom of the sea to which she had sunk on June 1, carrying 99 men to their deaths. After the steel shell has been pumped dry the sub will be dry-docked. A mining crew has been assigned to recover the 34 bodies still in the Thetis.

Premier Smuts Explains Nazi Quotes As 40 Years Old

PRETORIA, Nov. 17 — (CP-Reuters). — Prime Minister Jan Smuts last night said the benefits achieved by South Africa as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations exceeded the aims of the Boers in their unsuccessful war with Great Britain at the turn of the century. In a statement broadcast by the Government information officer, General Smuts denounced a German radio broadcast for quoting excerpts from a book of which he was co-author forty years ago in an attempt to prove that he had abandoned his ideals.

"The words I wrote some forty years ago," said General Smuts, "were entirely appropriate to the circumstances then existing, but I am proud to think that through my efforts I have been able to help bring about since a state of affairs in this country that represents the achievement of the ideals I then expounded.

"To-day South Africa is a free, sovereign and independent State that regulates its own destiny. We have achieved a United South Africa and there is further prospect of our building a united nation.

"We have, too, the invaluable good-will and friendship of the whole British Commonwealth.

"Therefore my attitude of forty years ago not only has been vindicated by the course of events in South Africa, but much more so by the developments of policy and the generous good-will of the British Government and people toward the people of South Africa.

"In the forty years that have passed since those words were written, nothing that was fought or suffered for has in the end been lost; but, in addition, much more has been gained than we ever hoped for."

Jury of Little Men Hold GMAC Fate In Hands

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 17.—(AP).—A jury of "little men"—12 Hoosier farmers and merchants—today pondered its verdict in a Federal court fight of government against big business—the General Motors Corporation anti-trust case.

The jury went out here last night to deliberate charges that the automobile manufacturer, with three other firms and 17 officials in the General Motors family, violated the Sherman (Anti-Trust) Act through a plot to monopolize financing of instalment car sales.

The other firms are the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, G.M.A.C. of Indiana and G.M. Sales Corporation. William S. Knudsen, G.M. president, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the board of directors, are among individual defendants.

The trial, current offensive in the new deal anti-monopoly drive, started October 9 before Judge Walter Lindley.

Dealer witnesses for the government said they were ordered to finance with G.M.A.C. under penalty of losing their franchises. Corporation officials denied such orders were given.

Prisoner Of War

Calgary, Nov. 17 (CP).

PILOT OFFICER Robert Maxwell, 22, of Calgary, who according to a London dispatch is a war prisoner in Germany, is a former resident of Vancouver, where his parents are said to reside.

He left Calgary about two years ago to join the Royal Air Force and was given an extensive period of training before he was attached to a bombing squadron with the rank of pilot officer.

He is believed to have participated in a number of flights over Germany before his plane was finally cornered by a flight of German pursuit ships and shot down.

Nazi Planes Good But Inferior To RAF Fighters

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP).—An authoritative British aviation editor says Germany's aeroplanes are "jolly good," but don't stand up as well as British planes.

Answering a question "How good are these Nazi planes?" C. G. Grey wrote in the Sunday Chronicle and Sunday Referee: "To tell the truth the German aeroplanes are jolly good."

But while the Nazi planes have just about as good a performance as those of any other country in the same class, Grey says that "the general opinion of the best engineers is that although German aeromotors give a lot of power they do not stand up without cracking as long as ours do—which cannot be a comforting thought on long raids."

His verdict on the big German raiders is they prove a fairly easy target for British fighters and will only become a danger if they attempt indiscriminate bombing under cover of clouds. German fighters he reports, have been "well taken care of" by British Spitfires and Hurricanes.

Then, discussing the personnel of the German air force, Grey concedes them "plenty of guts," but says their weakness is lack of initiative. If their leader is shot down they become "lost mentally rather than geographically."

The greatest danger, he says, is that if target bombing fails and both sides become exasperated, "the bombers may take to going out over the clouds, fixing their position by star navigation, and then diving into the clouds and bombing by dead-reckoning—that is, by calculation of speed and distance—which can only result in what the bomber people call 'plastering an area.'"

Then Britain would have to do the same thing, "and the mere people of both nations will become genuinely annoyed."

Placed In Storage

Baltimore, Nov. 17 (AP)

THE WAR appears to have sidetracked Great Britain's crack train, the "Coronation Scot," 3,000 miles from home.

The luxurious train, which began a 3,100-mile tour here before going to the New York World's Fair, has returned and may remain in Baltimore indefinitely.

Shipping circles said the steamer Belpamela, which brought the "Scot" across the Atlantic, was busy elsewhere and expressed belief other locomotive-carrying vessels were too occupied with war duties for Great Britain to take the train home.

Avoiding Hysteria

TORONTO, Nov. 17—(CP).—By transmitting the news of The Canadian Press, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is avoiding hysteria and rumor in its war news broadcasts, D. C. McArthur, Ontario representative of the press and information department of the C.B.C., said Wednesday in an address to the Electric Club of Canada.

The corporation has accepted certain responsibilities of wartime, Mr. McArthur said. It has given up time for certain patriotic work and addresses.

Bookie Speakers Go Silent Over Continent

CHICAGO, Nov. 17—(AP). — The bookies loudspeakers were as silent as a tomb today.

In thousands of betting rooms from coast to coast in the United States, and in perhaps hundreds in Canada, the voices relaying information from race tracks were missing for the first time in many years.

Rendered inarticulate by the dissolution of Nationwide News Service, Inc., a wire network, the loudspeakers remained as silent testimonials to opposition of the United States Government to the bookie business.

On orders from M. L. Annenberg and his associates in Nationwide News Service, who acted because of Government opposition, the flow of turf information to clients throughout the United States, Canada and Cuba was stopped last night.

Many bookies apparently viewed the development as a challenge to their ingenuity and started devising new methods of getting turf news.

Some planned to relay turf information from track to betting parlors by private wire, others expected to payoff on the basis of reports in newspapers or racing publications.

Whatever method is chosen, bookmakers agreed there woud be a big drop in the amount wagered. The lively flow of information from the loudspeaker, giving shifting odds, calls, results and prices, has been an attraction for many patrons. Bettors generally waited for the results of one race before wagering on the next.

NATIONAL RED CROSS WAR DRIVE FOR $3,000,000

Again the Canadian Red Cross must build and equip several hospitals in England and France to care for our sick and wounded. Six overseas hospitals were maintained by the Canadian Red Cross in the last war.

X-Ray equipment, and thousands of cases of surgical supplies and dressings, must be provided to the Red Cross hospitals in England and France throughout the period of the war.

The Canadian Red Cross must be ready to send thousands of packages of socks, cigarettes, candy and comforts to the Canadian troops. Food, medical supplies, books, clothing and tobacco must be sent to Canadian prisoners of war.

THE NEED IS URGENT

DIG IN AND GIVE!

The need is urgent even now. The call again goes forth from the Canadian Red Cross. You are asked to give big-heartedly, to give willingly, to give enthusiastically, to give quickly. The work of equipping hospitals for Canadian heroes in England and France must be started at once in preparation for the suffering which is to come. Our delay will be measured in human agony. Nurses and ambulances must be waiting. Surgical supplies, X-ray equipment, bandages and countless other necessities must be on hand. Not a moment can be lost, lest we fail those who will not fail us.

Here is a great work in which we all can share. Thousands of lives will be saved and untold suffering will be avoided if only we are prepared. In the last war Canada gave nobly of herself in humanity's name. Without coercion, without the painful domination of a barbaric government, Canada gave a generous offering in recognition of her debt to those who so nobly represented her in the battle for liberty.

Once again has come the opportunity to display our devotion to duty. There is only one answer. We must be prepared. We must not fail. We cannot all go overseas, but we can at least be ready to help those who do—we dare not forget that they will be fighting for us.

Let us be watchful and waiting to save life, to alleviate pain, to give comfort. We have a definite part to play. Be proud to help those who make the greater sacrifice.

A corps of voluntary workers will make a canvass of as many people as possible during this drive. If one of these workers should fail to get in touch with you, please send your contribution to your local Red Cross branch. Give big-heartedly.

ENGLISH SOCCER TEAMS PLAN TO RAISE $222,500 FOR RED CROSS

Bud White Rolls 11 Strikes For High Single

In last night's City League Gordon's Beverage team smothered any ideas Tom Curvin's Duffus Recreation entry had of breaking their undefeated record to date. When the Duffus five dug themselves out from under the 3662 pins which were piled on top of them all hand unanimously agreed that Freddie Martin had quite a team.

Jack Playford was their public enemy number 1. He contributed 830 to the one-sided score. Another team to roll up in the big figures was the C.G.E. who turned in a splendid 3434 to down the Capitol Grill 3 to 1.

The individual star of the evening was young "Bud" White of Jay's Cigars who put on a special juggling act to make the pins dizzy. He not only tossed in the league high three to date, 856, but he also walked out with the best single so far this year. His 397 was a masterpiece, a head-pin in the second frame with the $100 wrapped around it was the only mistake he made, the rest were all strikes. White's score beat Grant's Cleaners out of a sure four points.

The Lock Works gave Chief Gimblett's Grafton squad a sudden jolt when they took the first game but Grafton's came back strong to win the next two in spite of Bert McCarrol's scorching 351 single.

Leaders To Meet Over Week-end

By The Canadian Press.

Two of the International-American Hockey League's highest scoring machines, Indianapolis Capitols and Cleveland Barons, promise to set sparks flying when they meet in an important home and home series this week-end.

Evenly matched on the basis of their games so far this season, the joint leaders of the league's western section play at Cleveland Saturday and Indianapolis Sunday. It should be a bang-up double-header.

Capitols gained the first place tie last night by whipping Providence Reds 6-2. That victory gave them a record of five wins in six games, the same as the Barons who won the league title last year.

No player got more than a goal but Conny Brown of Ottawa did more than his share for the Capitols. He scored the last goal and assisted in three others to take point-getting honors for the game.

SPORTS—DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Nothing doing here tomorrow at all in sports, but the P.C.I. senior gridders have an important melee down in Fort Hope. They tangle with Belleville Collegiate at 2.30 o'clock in the Trinity College School grounds, a sudden-death game for the Central Ontario senior high school championship. Victor to enter provincial semi-finals. Coach Bamforth's band should be at full strength, except for Scott, and the Garnet and Gray are fairly confident they'll knock the boys of Bella Villa into the discard. But one never knows in a sudden-death struggle. No doubt, a big gang of local rooters will make the trip as it should be an interesting duel and, besides, the P.C.I.-ers will appreciate some vocal support at this time.

* * * * * *

The local Aces, Bud Williams tel's us, may not operate this winter, though nothing definite has been decided yet. The Aces won their district loop last winter, playing home games in the Omemee rink, and then entered O.H.A. intermediate "B" playdowns—making a pretty fair showing, too, ere bowing out. They hold an intermediate "B" franchise for here now but are uncertain in their plans. The same is true of Omemee and Lakefield squads. Art Heal and Ike O'Leary were two of the best puckists on the Aces lineup last season, but there were other good boys, too, Pete Vitarelli, Cournyea, Mortimer, Wright among others.

* * * * * *

Any day now we expect the Hockey Club ossifers will name a manager and coach for the junior "B" Colts. So that the prospective squad can be partially lined up and maybe have a workout or two toward the end of the month. The Colts have things their own way this semester at the Brock, with no junior "C" Monarchs to divide players and fan attention with, the Monarchs not operating. There are a dozen good experienced juniors to pick a team from this winter, besides other ambitious lads up from the Church Loop and Southend League. Russ Carr, a junior goalie from Sarnia, is here, also—not brought in as an import, either. He may catch a place.

* * * * * *

Among the age-limit puckists who pop into our mind at the moment are: Pammett, Craig, Foster, Rochetta, Vitarelli, Connelly, Nicholls, McDonald, Cournyea, Curtin, Strickland Beggs and maybe Parnell and Wade—if they don't catch on in faster company. All the above gang are forwards except Goalie Cournyea and Defencemen Curtin Strickland and Beggs. With Parnell a possible blue-line bumper, as well. So, all in all, it looks like there ought to be enough junior hockey material loose around town for any sensible skipper to mould into a pretty fair puck squad. Yes, it does.

Petes Drill Again

Down the highway again tonight will go the Petes' prospects for their second workout in the Oshawa arena. Again some 20 gees will be taken and maybe one or two of 'em won't be making the trip next week! But there is no big rush to chop off possible players just yet as the locals won't be seeing any O.H.A. action for more than a month, at least. They may line up an exhibition tilt or two, in Oshawa and later here, and the Buckland band isn't going to be caught short on training this winter like the luckless gridiron Orfuns were the past autumn—nossuh, not so long as Oshawa's artificial ice is available. The bunch leaves this eve sharp at 5.30 o'clock from Playmor's, and anyone arriving about 5.35 is liable to be left in the lurch.

* * * * * *

Red Creighton, who shone for the Petes last cold spell, is going okay now with the Owen Sound Trappers. In a recent game against Collingwood—last year's intermediate "A" champs—Red figured in on five goals in the Trappers' 6-2 win. The Owen Sound paper says: "Creighton, the new centre acquired from Peterborough, turned in a standout performance and it is our hunch that the redhead will turn in many fine games this coming season. He scored two goals and assisted in three others this game." Red journeyed up through the north country recently with Pick Hines' Baltimore Orioles—when they were touring the province. Father Spratt is the Trappers' coach, and Shrimp McDougall used to play for him, too. Incidentally, the Petes may have an exhibition tilt with the Trappers in Owen Sound ere long.

* * * * * *

Trenton Fliers dropped a 10-4 decision in Oshawa last eve in an exhibition joust with the Generals, Memorial Cup champs. Gibson was in goal for the Airmen, while the Legris-Baldwin-McNab first line also looked familiar up this way. Otherwise, the Fliers have a flock of new guys out and no doubt they need more practice before they hit their true senior "B" stride. Fraser, who was with the junior "B" team of Oshawa last winter, and who was almost tempted to come here for hockey this semster, turned in a good game for the Generals and may make a junior "A" berth.

* * * * * *

As for the Belleville Redmen, they dropped their opener in the VanHorne Cup series in Kingston, the Artillery outfit grabbing a 4-3 nod. Quinte columnist claims it should have been a tie but a Kingston goal umpire thefted one for the soldiers. Redmen played neat hockey for a squad as out of shape as a sideshow fat lady. Watt was in goal with St. Louis and McCreary on defence, George Filion of Trenton also assisting at the blue line. Skipper Thomas has seven or eight good forwards to choose among, with the Jackson brothers and Robinson still his best snipers. At this early date — and taking a long-distance peek at the Redmen—it strikes us that the Bellevillains will be a tougher problem to solve this season.

Galento Says No

ORANGE, N.J., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Tony Galento finally has spoken in an effort to clear the air of rumors about his injured eye.

Confronted as he drove up to his home yesterday, the pudgy heavyweight boxer denied various reports he underwent an eye operation, and said a hemorrhage that occurred in his right eye after the Lou Nova fight cleared up, and no operation was necessary.

Cricket Opens Matches In Australia

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(CP Cable)—English football authorities hope to raise £50,000 ($222,500) for the British Red Cross. A series of unofficial international matches is being played and other representative conquests will be arranged later.

To date £3,500 ($15,575) has been realized and this sum will be augmented Saturday when England and Wales meet in a return encounter at Wrexham. Teams representing the two countries drew, 1 to 1, at Cardiff, Nov. 11.

Is Retiring

W. R. John, veteran Swansea Town goalkeeper, announced his retirement from the game at the week-end and his place on the Welsh eleven will be taken by A. Sidlow, Wolverhampton Wanderers reserve custodian. There will be one or two other changes in the Welsh team.

The eleven London club players who represented England at Cardiff will be replaced by men from northern and midland teams in order to save travelling expenses.

South clubs will be regrouped when the present schedule is completed, Feb. 3. The football league now proposes that first and second division teams in South "A" and South "B" sections should form one league and third division clubs operating in the two groups a separate division.

Race Horse Owner Loses Court Case

BRANTFORD, Nov. 17.—Jim Fair, widely known race horse owner of Brant County, whose horses have won on many of the Province's tracks and on tracks elsewhere, lost a claim he made in Supreme Court here before the Hon. Mr. Justice Urquhart for remuneration for feed and care of a mare and two colts and for training the animals for racing.

The animals belonged to the late George Foley, Buffalo. Fair entered the claim against the Foley Estate. Mr. Justice Urqhart ruled there was no actual contract between the parties concerned. Harry Devereaux also claimed against the estate for keep of the mare and the two colts. His claim was also dismissed.

HAWKS DEFEAT RANGERS 3 TO 2; CANADIENS TIE BRUINS 3 TO 3

Chicago Hawks Now At Top Of The League

By ROBERT CLARKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

A bar or two of soft music please, professor, while Yogi Lester Patrick goes into a trance in an attempt to discover the reason why New York Rangers are having so much trouble in their efforts to mark up their initial victory of the National Hockey League season.

With only two changes in the team which finished second in the N. H. L. standing last year, and scored 149 goals in the 48-game season, the Broadway blues have managed only two draws in four games. In comparison to their average of better than three goals a game in the 1938-39 schedule, Rangers have only a goal-a-game record.

Part of the trouble undoubtedly can be traced to the fact that Patrick's big three —Alex Shibicky, Clint Smith and Bryan Hextall — have failed to click off goals with the regularity of last season. So far they have a total of one goal in the present season.

That goal went to Shibicky last night as the Rangers dropped a 3-2 decision to Chicago Black Hawks in New York. The Hawks used the victory, their third against two losses, to go into first place in the standing over the idle Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal's Canadiens, who played a 3-3 overtime draw with Boston Bruins.

The Hawks suffered a blow, however, when it was learned that big Earl Seibert, backbone of their defence, had torn a leg muscle and will be out of action probably for three weeks.

All the scoring in the Rangers—Hawks game came in the final period with two rookies— Phil Hergesheimer and Doug Bentley— supplying the victory punch. Bentley scored the winning goal in the 15th minute with the veteran Bill Thoms drawing an assist on the tally.

The Stanley cup-holding Bruins, finding difficulty like Rangers in hitting a winning stride, only managed to avert defeat with a great last period rally against the flying Frenchmen. Down 3-1 as they started the final session, the Bruins tied it up with a quick goal by Bobby Bauer and another late in the period by Art Jackson.

The remainder of the scoring was confined to the middle period with Louis Trudel opening the scoring for Canadiens; Dit Clapper tying it up; and then Hector (Toe) Blake, leading point-getter in the N. H. L. last season, sending the Habitants into a seemingly safe lead with a brace of goals in the last two minutes of the period.

Remember When—

Queen's University defeated Hamilton Tigers 13-5 to move into Dominion rugby finals with Regina Rough Riders 16 years ago today. They defeated the Riders and took the national championship for the third time since institution of the Canadian Rugby Union title in 1892. They won it again the following year.

Rangers, As Usual, Were Covering Up Fast On This Play

Rangers were on the job to stop this rush as they opened the New York season by dropping a 1-0 decision to Toronto Maple Leafs. This wasn't a scoring effort, however, although Dave Kerr, Ranger netminder, had to move quickly to thwart the move. Gord Drillon (12) is seen sprawled on the ice and Syl Apps, the other figure in white, falling farther back. Falling over Drillon is Dutch Hiller (8) and standing, Art Coulter (2). Facing the camera on the far side of the goal is Muz Patrick, while skating in front of Kerr is Phil Watson. The other player in the right foreground is Bryan Hextall.

By JACK CALDER,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Look out for the lion when he's wounded and look out for the great football clubs when injuries seem to have silenced their roars.

Toronto Argonauts and the team they have beaten in the Dominion finals of the last two years. Winnipeg Blue Bombers, will lope into the lairs of dangerous opponents tomorrow for crucial playoff tests. Some of the strength seems to be gone from their lineups, but these teams have risen up before when the odds appeared against them.

The Bombers will end their Western Interprovincial Union Finals with the rampaging Bronks at Calgary and four first-string players are so badly injured none may start. In the opener of the total-points round at Winnipeg last week, Calgary scored a 13-7 victory.

Chunky Jimmy Farmer will be missing from the Argonauts array when they open the totalpoints finals for the big four championship with the Rough Riders at Ottawa. Farmer's absence and the game leg that Art West is toting will take much of the punch from the double blue's attack.

The resourcefulness of the Argos and the Bombers, though, seldom has known bounds in the last two seasons There are enough punches left in the Bombers to score a quick converted touchdown and tie the round with Calgary The Argos overwhelmed the Riders when they went to Ottawa as underdogs during the schedule.

Montreal Westmounts and the Imperials are alive and well for their opening of the Ontario Union finals at Sarnia and on the surface their total-points round looks to be a toss-up. The Westmounts topped the league during the schedule but the Imps, who have won the title the last eight years, have precedent behind them and a great young kicker in Hank Galloway with them.

Manager Joe Ryan of the Bombers at least claims he isn't dismayed at the prospect of meeting Calgary without backfielders Art Stevenson, Bill Bolvan and Wayne Sheley and outside wing Bud Marquardt He recalls that "we proved during the regular season that we can get points against Calgary when we really need them."

Dick Haughian, young coach of the Bronks, thinks the Bombers already are calling on some of their resources. He says all the Winnipeg talk about injuries is "designed to put us off balance" and he's preparing Calgary for a tussle with a full-strength Bomber team.

Argos Capture Five Places On All-Stars

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Ten members of the Interprovincial Rugby Union All-Star team, five on each side, will be on the firing lines to-morrow when the league finals open at Ottawa.

Only flying wing Bill Davies of Montreal Royals and half-back Bob Isbister of Hamilton Tigers were able to keep the Dominion champion Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders from snatching every place on the 1939 all-star twelve, selected by 14 sports writers and coaches in Big Four cities for The Canadian Press.

Flying wing—Bill Davies, Montreal Royals.
Half—Red Storey, Argos.
Half—Bob Isbister, Hamilton.
Half (secondary defence)—Tony Golab, Ottawa.
Quarterback—Bill Stukus, Argos.
Snap—George Willis, Argos.
Inside—Tiny Herman, Ottawa.
Inside—Len Staughton, Argos.
Middle—Dave Sprague, Ottawa.
Middle—Bunny Wadsworth, Ottawa.
Outside—Bernie Thornton, Argos.
Outside—Tony McCarthy, Ottawa.

The selectors took the best of tomorrow's finalists and added the marathon kicking of Isbister and the 60-minute fighting of the driving Davies for a team any coach could dream about.

In the main the team is young, and particularly in the backfield where only Isbister remains of the all-star backfielders of 1938. Herman, Sprague and Wadsworth are veterans of the Ottawa line and of all-star teams.

The voting was remarkably clear-cut. Of a possible 26 votes, Thornton obtained 26 and came closest to receiving unanimous election. The voting from each city was "weighted" so that equal voting strength prevailed in all, but there was little divergence anywhere from the general lidea that there were the 12 men for the 12 places.

Golab was the only condidate besides Davies given serious consideration at flying wing, but most selectors figured Tony's place was at the secondary half spot, where only Stan O'Neil of Ottawa was close. O'Neil had six votes there to the hard-plunging Golab's nine.

Big Bobby Pearce Turns To Wrestling

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—(CP)—Big Bobby Pearce of Hamilton, Ont., professional sculling champion of the world, turned to wrestling last night and defeated Al Dunlop of Toronto in a preliminary of a professional card after 10 minutes of the scheduled 20-minute bout.

Given an ovation by the crowd, Pearce, at 230, won with a reverse double leg lock. Dunlop weighed 232.

In the main event, Everett Marshall, 221, La Junat, Col., won two of three falls over Cy Williams of Florida, who weighed nine pounds more.

Guatemalan orders in Germany when the war broke out are estimated at $750,000.

Billy Conn Is Overwhelming Favorite In Second Fight In 4 Months With Lesnevich

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 — (AP). — Handsome is as handsome does — and in this case "handsome" (in the person of Billy Conn, the Pittsburg Adonis) should do very well for himself.

For Billy is an overwhelming favorite as he lays his light-heavyweight title on the line tonight for the second time in four months against Gus Lesnevich, the rugged Cliffside, N. J. scrapper in a Madison Square Garden show.

The fight is Conn's second defence of his title since he won it from Mello Bettina last July 13 in the same ring. Billy retained the title in a return engagement with Mello at Forbes Field in Pittsburg September 25, winning the decision after 15 gruelling rounds.

Promoter Mike Jacobs of the 20th century sporting club estimates that a sell-out crowd will watch the fight. The battle should draw a gate of about $50,000, Jacobs hopes.

PRO PUCK PERSONALITIES

GORD DRILLON
Toronto Maple Leafs
By Central Press Canadian

Three autumns ago Conny Smythe turned into the National league ice lanes a couple of youngsters who proceeded to burn up the league, Syl Apps and Gord Drillon. Apps won the Calder trophy as the year's best rookie for the 1936-37 season, and in second place was Drillon, the party we're discussing today. Gordie was born 23 years ago at Moncton, N.B., and thus has become known to some extent as the "Pride of the Maritimes." And no native of the Atlantic seaboard could resent that. In his second year under hockey's big tent Drillon scored 26 goals, was credited with the same number of assists, and wound up as N.H.L. scoring champion for the season. He tied with the Rangers' Cecil Dillon for right wing on The Canadian Press all-star team, and last year, despite a slump from his 1937-38 performance, was given the mythical right wing post alone. He's replaced Chuck Conacher as the Leafs' "Big Bomber," and, like his predecessor, he will probably never go into the records as one of the game's best back checkers. But when he gets that puck around the nets—look out!

"My Back is Killing Me"
It is said that more people suffer from backache than from any other pains or aches. When the back aches the cause is usually traced to poisons in the blood as the result of defective kidney action.
Relief can be obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills because they help to arouse the activity of the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.
The combined action of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on the liver, kidneys and bowels is a feature which makes this medicine so unique and entirely different to other kidney medicines. It is well to keep this in mind when selecting treatment, for naturally this feature accounts for the long success of this medicine.

they allowed France to mobilize, the British Expeditionary Force to land in France, and the Allied armies to construct vast defence works and build up air fleets.

Every day makes it more difficult for the German army to break through the Maginot Line—yet Germany does nothing. If it is difficult now, it will be impossible in the Spring—yet Germany still does nothing.

It is admitted that Germany may launch vast air attacks on Britain and France, but the war cannot be won that way. It would invite retaliation for every bomb dropped on British and French soil and would breed hate for Germany which would prove to be an irresistible force in the end.

Meanwhile the German Government contents itself with threats of "frightfulness." They do not alarm the British people, who see in them evidence of German weakness and dissension.

When asked if Britain intended to make any threats in return, military authorities to-day exclaimed, "Certainly not. We must preserve our dignity in this war," and, "We wish to retain our status as gentlemen."

The Case of Retaliation.

But just the same they pointed out that international law releases a victimized country from restraints if its rules are broken by another nation. There can be no doubt that if Germany uses gas, Britain and France will use gas, just as they did in the last war. It is equally true that prevailing winds blow from France to Germany, so Germany would be ultimate loser.

Sources close to the British Government claim there is considerable civic dissension in Germany which can be cleared away only by military successes. They do not believe this unrest is dangerous to the Nazi regime at present but a few more weeks of military inactivity and naval blockade will be bound to increase it despite the Gestapo, the concentration camp ,and Government propaganda.

British Government sources insist there is nothing like the solidarity in Germany there was in 1914. There are many contributing factors to this, including the Russo-German agreement ,the financial position of the country, strict rationing, the disappearance of all civil liberties and the domineering, crushing regimentation of the Nazi regime.

Another Raider Loose.

Meanwhile, a German stroke against British shipping in the Indian Ocean caused speculation today over where the Nazi pocket battleships are lurking as they avoid a clash with the British and French fleets.

Sources here advanced the possibility the 10,000-ton pocket battleship Admiral Scheer sank the 706-ton British tanker Africa Shell Wednesday off the coast of Mozambique, Portuguese East Africa.

The Ministry of Information said that the German raiders have caused little damage because they are reluctant to risk a fight with the British and French craft searching for them.

The Admiral Scheer has not been definitely reported since Sept. 30 when the British steamship Clement was sunk off the coast of Brazil —about 4,500 miles from where the Africa Shell went down—but it had been considered likely here that the German warship rounded Cape Horn into the Pacific ocean.

The Admiral Scheer and the Deutschland, another 10,000-ton pocket battleship, have been at sea for more than a month. The Deutschland was known to have been in the North Atlantic Oct. 14, five days after she placed a prize crew aboard the United States freighter City of Flint.

Only Three Victims.

British authorities have attributed only three sinkings to the two raiders up to Oct. 27, when a British report said they had been compelled by anti-sea raider naval operations to do "more cruising than raiding."

In a statement last night the Ministry of Information said:

"That the two German pocket battleships which are at large have done so very little damage to the seaborne trade of the allies must be ascribed to their reluctance to risk being brought into action, not only by British naval units, but also by French naval units."

Britain discounted her comparatively small naval losses as "the price we have to pay for command of the seas." The expression was used by Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in delivering for Prime Minister Chamberlain the weekly review of war progress.

Command of the seas meant that British merchant ships "continue to move in great numbers," he said, "while the merchant ships of Germany remain for the most part in their own or neutral ports." He pointed to Germany's loss of four ships in the past week—two, the Uehenfels and the Leander, captured, and two others, the Parana and the Mecklenberg, scuttled by their crew to avoid capture.

Canadians Arrive.

Arrival of a group of Canadian officers—the advance guard of the Canadian Expeditionary Force — caused interest. The Canadians were a group of nine officers charged with strengthening the existing Dominion military offices in the United Kingdom. Colonel P. J. Montague of Winnipeg, chief administrative officer and Assistant Adjutant Quartermaster-General, headed the group which also included 14 non-commissioned officers.

The Air Ministry in its 10th casualty list revealed that a Canadian aviator, E. W. Allison, acting pilot officer born in Brantford, Ont., has been killed in active service. It also listed Flying Officer D. F. Elliot of Vancouver as reported missing and Pilot Officer R. M. Coste of Calgary as reported a prisoner of war. Coste was previously reported missing.

The list raised the toll of Royal Air Force men killed since the start of the war to 165, a figure which includes those killed in action and those killed in training and other accidents.

Malcolm MacDonald, Colonial Secretary, derided Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop of Germany for his charges that most people in the British Empire were hostile to the London Government.

Silent, Sullen People.

Whereas the entire Empire has hastened to support Great Britain in the war, Mr. Macdonald said, Germany had "silent and sullen" people under her banner—in Austria and Czecho-Slovakia—who "felt the heel of the tyrant which had stamped out their freedom."

The people of the British colonial empire knew that Britain respects them, Mr. Macdonald said. "They know that so long as they are associated with British rule their freedom will be steadily developed."

The Daily Telegraph said yesterday that the important war aim of the moment "is that aggression must be shown to be unprofitable, and that nations must be left free to live their own lives."

"To discuss in detail what is to come after that dominating purpose is achieved is to presume a foreknowledge of the shape and condition in which the war will leave the world, and to sow seeds of dissension and controversy which can only weaken and distract the vital, urgent and not yet victorious war effort of the allies," the newspaper said.

The Telegraph deplored the campaign being carried on by opposition groups in England for a further statement of war aims, predicated, it said, on events that have not yet taken place.

In an article entitled "Why Hitler Hesitates," the Daily Herald said the Fuehrer's present "mood" of hesitation would pass, but meanwhile each day's delay "increases our output of arms, improves our already strong air force." At the same time, it added, "within Germany the indecision at the top must be having a crushing effect upon the morale of the mass."

Canada's Relief Lists Drop By 32 Per Cent

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Persons on direct unemployment relief throughout Canada totalled 541,500 in September, a decrease of 32 per cent. compared with the previous month and a decrease of 2.2 per cent. compared with the same month last year, according to statistics announced to-day by Labor Minister McLarty.

Unemployed but fully employable persons on relief in September numbered 121,000, a decrease of 11½ per cent. compared with August, but an increase of 5.6 per cent. compared with September a year ago. The increase, according to the Labor Department, is "traceable to the rise in the figure for the Province of Quebec, where this year direct relief largely replaces Provincial public works projects to relieve unemployment."

A total of 470,000 persons received relief, apart from the farm population, a decrease of 11½ per cent. from August and a net increase of 5.7 per cent. compared with Septemoer, 1938. "The rise in the total on non-agricultural relief was very largely due, likewise, to the changed policy in Quebec," the announcement said.

Farmers on relief numbered 15,000, and with their dependents the total of rural relief recipients was 71,500, a decrease of 73 per cent. compared with August and 34 per cent. lower than in the same month last year.

"The decrease in the total of farmers and their families on relief," said the announcement, "was due to the altered situation in Saskatchewan, where the number dropped very substantially. In that Province September showed a decrease of 80 per cent, from August, 1939, and a decrease of 81 per cent. from September, 1937. The Saskatchewan total on agricultural relief still represented, however, over 61 per cent. of the Dominion total.

A Prague radio broadcast last night announced members of the so-called Czech Legion—patriots who fought in Poland—would be shot whether taken as prisoners of war in the Polish cleanup or caught after returning home.

General Lev Prchala, former Czech army officer and commander of the Legion, escaped to France with a number of his men. Some, it was reported, returned secretly to the protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia, the Czech part of dismembered Czech-Slovakia.

An unconfirmed report says the Czech legion numbered more than 30,000 men.

Citizens Aid In Giving Chase To Driver

Hit-and-run driving has proved an expensive operation for an Otonabee man.

B. F. Wright of that township, who pleaded guilty in police court Thursday to failing to return to the scene of an accident, was this morning fined $25 and $4 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. On top of that Wright agreed to pay the cost of repairing the car his machine had sideswiped on George street on Wednesday night, amounting to $26.45.

Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., informed the court that Wright had not been similarly charged before and in view of his willingness to pay for the damage caused in the accident he was satisfied with the minimum penalty, a fine of $25.

T. J. Carley, K.C., appeared for Wright.

Citizens and Police.

A report was received at the police station at 7.50 o'clock that a motor car travelling at high speed had sideswiped the automobile of Thomas E. Lister, 546 George street, parked in front of that address and that the driver had sped off after the crash, the noise of which could be heard for several blocks. Constable Murphy investigated, found that Lister's car had been considerably damaged by the impact, and that the hit-and-run vehicle had dropped two hub caps as a result of the collision. The officer also managed to secure the number of the machine that had failed to stop from a citizen who had noticed the manner in which it was being driven several blocks south of the accident.

The owner of the car was discovered to be Wright and Detective Sergt. Meagher and Constable Murphy sped into Otonabee, found the driver in bed, placed him under arrest and brought him to Peterborough. At the Wright home they saw that his car was minus two hub caps and showed other signs of having been in an accident.

Citizens were evidently out that night to stop dangerous driving. Paige Rowell, 309 Boswell avenue, pursued the hit-and run driver after the crash but was unable to overhaul him. He did drive fast enough in the chase, however, to attract the attention of another motorist, who noticed the number of Mr. Rowell's car and repored it to the police as that of a motorist who had been guilty of driving recklessly.

"Oh, For The Wings Of A Dove"

"Birds do not see the color blue," says an oculist, "because tiny drops of rose-colored oil in their retinae act as filters absorbing the blue rays." So they see everything as it would appear to us if we looked at the world through rose-colored glasses—and who wouldn't like to be a bird, these days? Of course, there are birds—and "birds." Here, for instance, is a bird of an ad, a fine one. It saw like an eagle, sang like a nightingale, came early to the Examiner classified want-ads, and sold a pair of skates for Kenneth Burnham of 5 Cricket Place, size 5, in good condition.

BERLIN—AP—Three spies, convicted of treason for disclosing military secrets to a foreign intelligence service, were beheaded today.

They were Ewald Lakota, 29, of Beuthen Johan Sroka, 26, of Buthen, and Robert Schimpf, of Kehl.

BRUSSELS—(AP)— Belgian Air Defence Forces reported they had fired today at a German airplane about 18,000 feet over Ghent. The plane was believed not to have been hit.

A British plane landed on Belgian soil yesterday and the three members of its crew were interned.

BASEL, Switzerland—(AP)— A German propaganda bomber flew 60 miles into Switzerland today strewing thousands of anti-British pamphlets from Basel to Zug. The pamphlets were printed in French.

BRUSSELS—(CP-Havas)— Well-informed Belgian sources said today the Italian and Spanish Governments recently advised Germany, through diplomatic channels of their interest in maintenance of the territorial integrity of Belgium and the Netherlands.

It was presumed the representations were made because of reports of a threatened German invasion of the low countries.

15 Finn Ships Held.

HELSINGFORS, —(CP-Haavs)— Shipping authorities here disclosed today at least 15 Finnish vessels are being held in German ports. Most of them were seized by warships off the Swedish coast. The Finns complain the Germans are holding these ships for an unwarranted length of time.

BERLIN—(AP)—Germany is seriously considering placing all shipments of lumber on the contraband list even if apparently destined for neutral ports, authorized sources said today. Reason for the lumber ban is said to be Britain's alleged attempt to prevent neutrals from shipping anything whatsoever to Germany regardless of wether it is contraband.

MOSCOW—(AP)—Repatriation of about 115,000 Germans from the Western Ukraine, recently Polish but now Russian territory, already has begun, informed sources said today.

Informed persons said nearly 1,000,000 persons would be withdrawn from the German part of Poland to Russia, including Ukrainians, Ruthenians, White Russians, Russian Jews and Communists.

Rosebush Freed By Magistrate

"Taking all the circumstances under consideration, there exists a reasonable doubt thta the accused is entitled to the benefit of it," declared Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning in dismissing a charge against Smith Rosebush, 25, of having illegally been in possession of instruments of house breaking on the night of October 31.

Magistrate Langley had reserved judgment in the case on Wednesday after hearing the evidence and the arguments of counsel, Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., for the accused and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., for the prosecution.

In his judgment to-day the magistrate said that it had been shown that Rosebush had been in possession of tools which while they could commonly be used in lawful occupations could also be used for house-breaking purposes. The story of the accused that he had found them was not a lawful excuse as set forth in the section, the magistrate held. "I can't say that I am satisfied that the story of the young man is true," he added.

However in view of all the circumstances, that the occasion was Hallowe'en night when hundreds of people were wearing masks and roaming around and that the young man when arrested was somewhere in the neighborhood of his own home and had turned down a street that led directly to it, Magistrate Langley said that he considered there was a reasonable doubt and that the charge would therefore be dimissed.

Safety Leaders Meet In City For Convention

Warning against introduction of any political interference in the smooth-running mechanism of the Workmen's Compensation Board was given here last night by J. H. Vernor, general manager of the Western Clock Company here. As a past president of the Industrial Accident Prevention association he was speaking at the annual meeting of the Central Ontario division of that body in the Collegiate auditorium. More than 700 industrial leaders and workers were present.

"Probably the greatest confidence in the Compensation Board and its work comes from its non-partisan, non-political character," Mr. Vernor declared. "And here let me sound a note of warning. Once let politics influence the Board or its huge trust funds, and the very foundation of its equity will be shaken."

He said that Ontario today has perhaps the best Workmen's Compensation act in the world. "Workmen are protected and the cost is borne by industry which has through payments to the general fund, set up reserves of many millions of dollars in what amounts to a trust fund administered by the Compensation Board, which acts as trustee. Not a cent has come from taxation of the public and in fact by eliminating from the courts a mass of damage suits, the public generally has benefitted."

Lack of Leadership.

He said that the formation of Accident Prevention Associations had lagged behind the Compensation Act, which provided for their establishment, because of lack of leadership, "and meanwhile accidents grew worse and worse," until they reached a point where immediate action was necessary.

"Something had to be done and it became a job for management just as much as the operation of industry itself. It is a fact, indisputable, that wherever management is wholeheartedly interested in accident prevention, we find a plant with accidents few and far between."

He said that the management of a firm was interested in accident prevention chiefly from the standpoint of alleviation of human suffering, and secondly from a matter of cost. But he pointed out that costs in the aggregate are small as compared to the total of business and that "it is human suffering and the hardships created by accidents which appeal to us most as the reason for helping our fellow man.

Safe Practices Needed.

"I respectfully suggest that any man who is responsible for the work of others and who does not give safe practices their legitimate share of his thought and attention, has no business to occupy a supervisory position," he charged. He said that safe practices are a matter of organization, that they cannot be imposed on people, but must be sold to them.

He reviewed causes of accidents and methods used to prevent their occurrence. "It is my earnest hope that you may carry away with you one thought—that accidents do not "happen," but are caused and therefore can be prevented."

H. T. Cranford, vice-chairman of the Central Division of the I. A. P. A., presided at the meeting and W. L. Ferguson of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company introduced Mr. Vernor. J. J. Turner moving a vote of thanks

A talking picture "The Life Guard" was shown afterwards, with F. H. W. Brooks, inspector in Central Ontario for the I. A. P. A., operating the machine. Six uniformed members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade were in attendance.

Trustees Action Is Dismissed

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP)—Mr. Justice Greene, in a judgment at Osgoode Hall yesterday, dismissed an action of trustees of union school sections 16 and 18, townships of Murray and Brighton, Northumberland County, against the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. The school board claimed $1,178 for the transportation of pupils to and from its continuation school at Wooler. Mr. Justice Greene finds that the power of the board is limited in this respect.

Dr. Wilfred Preston Joins Dental Corps

Dog Trapped In Blazing Livery Is Rescued As Fire Threatens Wellington Village

TWEED, Nov. 17 (ENS).—Trapped in the second storey of a blazing livery barn in Wellington, Prince Edward County, shortly after eleven o'clock on Thursday, Peter, a handsome thorough-bred collie dog, was rescued from the flame-swept building by Norman Clinton, local dog fancier, who scaled a ladder, smashed a window, and hauled the terrified animal to safety.

The dog, owned by Wilson Burd, daily crept to the hay-strewn attic of the barn to sleep, and was imprisoned in the blazing building, when flames that swept the ground floor prevented its escape. The livery barn, owned by George Garratt, was totally destroyed by the flames, together with an automobile and a large quantity of stored furniture.

The flames got out of control, and threatened the entire business district of the village. Residents quickly formed a bucket brigade, but were unsuccessful in saving the building. Nearby fire stations were called and equipment rushed to the scene soon brought the fire under control.

Belleville Manufacturers Protest Increases Made In Assessments

While some members of the city council, Roland Denne and other citizens who take an interest in Peterboro municipal financing have expressed the opinion that local assessment of all property could be reduced ten per cent, Belleville has encountered some assessment objections from manufacturers.

J. Owen Herity, Industrial Commissioner for Belleville, one of the most widely known men in Central Ontario, refers in a comprehensive report to his council to some incident as follows: "A serious situation arose some weeks ago because of the ardent dissatisfaction of several Belleville manufacturers on account of increased assessment."

While the totals of the proposed new assessment were well within the statutory limitation, there were in several instances drastic advances over the moderate assessments previously enjoyed.

Strong objection was made by both the local management and the head office executives of some of the American corporations represented here, and there were fears some of them might be induced to accept some of the tempting offers to move their plants elsewhere."

An afternoon and evening were devoted to interviews with the industrial representatives. Results were gratifying. There seemed to be a desire upon the part of everybody to adopt a reasonable attitude and to promote good feeling and arrive at an amicable understanding.

Mr. Herity mentions trips and interviews in various cities. In Buffalo the Millfay company, world's largest manufacturers of hosiery, promised to consider Belleville's considerations whenever the company decides to locate in Canada.

Because of war conditions upsetting the normal activities of business, Mr. Herity suggested there was little use in spending money on travel and investigation for the present.

"Basing our judgment on the experience of the World War of 25 years ago, it seems certain that both the United Staes and Canada will enjoy tremendous industrial activity for the duration of the war and probably for years afterwards. The World War ended in 1918 but unexampled demand for manufactured goods continued until nearly a dozen years later.

"It therefore would seem sound policy that our industrial department should be unusually alert and active in the months and years that lie ahead, There will unquestionably be many corporations which will have to provide for expansion and to seek favorable locations for new branches. To establish contacts with the heads of such corporations and to endeavor to present to them the advantage of locating at Belleville would seem beyond doubt to be the part of wisdom."

RED CONTAINERS

Containers of gasoline should be painted red, a dealer informed the Examiner today. A change in the law applies particularly to garages and others selling gasoline. It is intended to be an element of warning in the keeping of gasoline on any premises, and a helpful means of preventing its use in such circumstances as those which caused the tragedy in the Lytle family on Wednesday.

SHOT ONE DEER.

Five days' hunting at Gull Lake, twelve miles north of Buckhorn, rewarded a local party with just one doe. Fred Marshall and John Russell of the city were accompanied by George Marshall of Toronto, and Mel Hull of Buckhorn. With two experienced woodsmen like Fred Marshall and Mr. Hull, well known guide, it seems that other members of the party feel considerably disappointed over the material result of their hunt. Otherwise their outing was greatly enjoyed. They camped in tents, had good weather, tracked bear spoor, but came out with just one doe.

Man Complains That His Pet Gold Fish Has Been Poisoned And Blames His Wife

The police department has many complaints in a year, some of them off the beaten trail, but they ran into one Thursday that in its unusual nature struck a new high.

A married man reported to the police station that his pet gold fish had been deliberately and with malice aforethought poisoned by his wife and he wanted to know what the police proposed to do about it. The officers were willing to accept his statement that the fish were dead, they were even ready to go so far as to believe that the wife was the guilty party, but from there on they were up against a problem. Somehow the code has failed to take cognizance of the fact that gold fish exist and some day may be murdered.

It was suggested that the Ontario Fish and Game Department might be interested in the slaughter of fish out of season but Overseer I. J. Lyons refused to be drawn into the argument.

Carley Evidence Most Vital Judge Declares

"It is impossible to set the will aside in view of the evidence of Mr. Carley," was an assertion in the finding of three judges of the Court of Appeal who unanimously sustained the will of the late Lorenzo Humber.

The reasons for judgment are set forth by Mr. Justice Middleton with the agreement of two associates as follows:

"The relations between the plaintiff, the testator's only child, and the testator have been for some years most peculiar.

In 1936 the testator's sister died and left to his daughter her entire estate, some $17,000. Her father was offended and took the position that the sister had no right to prefer the daughter to himself.

A year later the testator's wife died. Testator employed a Mrs. Palfrey as housekeeper. Before long he had executed a will leaving everything to his housekeeper. This was without the housekeeper's knowledge. The will was dated in October, 1937. Mrs. Palfrey quarrelled with him and left him on March 9th, 1938, and the will was subsequently destroyed.

On the 10th of March, 1938, the testator wrote his daughter apologizing for the condition of affairs that had existed, and stating that she was the only one living having any claim upon him or his property, and asking reconciliation. This letter was received by the daughter, and she went to see the testator the next day. Apparently there was a complete and satisfactory reconciliation. She took the testator home to live in her house.

A will was prepared in her favor.

At this time the testator was ill. He had cancer of the throat, and the disease progressed rapidly.

On June 8th, 1938, the testator requested that he be taken back to his own house. He said this would not affect the will that he had made—he simply desired to die in his own property. He was at once returned to his own house and became surrounded by the remoter relatives. He seems to have reflected very seriously upon the situation, and to have concluded by forming an adverse opinion on the daughter at her conduct. He prepared, unassisted, apparently by any one, a full memorandum of instructions for a will, divided the property away from the daughter and giving the daughter $1.00 and an expression of opinion as found in the will. He was convinced by that time that she was not a true daughter to him, and reverted to the old grievances in relation to her conduct towards her mother and her failure to attend her mother during her last illness and to attend her funeral.

Mr. Carley, K.C., a barrister of good reputation and of considerable ability was sent for. He reduced the will to writing, discussed many matters contained therein, and particularly advised the testator concerning the treatment of his daughter. Mr. Carley was a witness at the trial, and certainly performed his duty as testified to, but the testator was unchangeable in this respect.

The result was the will of June 21, 1938 which has been pronounced against by the Trial Judge.

The Trial Judge regarded this document as being a most unnatural will, failing to understand that which actuated the testator.

The testator had, we think, testamentary capacity and the property was his to deal with so long as he was free from undue influence. There is no evidence on which the will can be attacked upon this ground, and it is impossible to set the will aside in view of the evidence given by Mr. Carley.

The learned Judge in the Court below gave no costs. We think that this provision should stand so far as the Court below is concerned, but we think that the appeal stands on a different footing, and that the respondent should pay the costs of the appeal. November 16th, 1939."

At the trial of this action Mr. J. W. Pickup, K.C. and Mr. Wilmot B. Gordon were counsel for the plaintiff Eva Seymour; Mr. J. V. McElderry, K.C. appeared for the defendant, David Humber; and Mr. C. G. Frost, K.C. and Mr. Ralph O. Standish appeared for the executors, D'Yon Snelgrove and Gordon T. Puffer. On the appeal the Hon. Frank J. Hughes, K.C. and C. G. Frost, K. C. appeared for the appellants; J. W. Pickup, K.C. and Wilmot B. Gordon appeared for the respondent.

The beneficiaries of Lorenzo Humber's will, as drawn, were Mrs. Robert Snelgrove and her son D'Yon Snelgrove and Mrs. [illegible] deceased.

Kennedy Estate Action Settled

WHITBY, Nov. 17.—The action between the executors of Robert Kennedy estate, who are J. A. Marchen of Peterborough and Robert E. Kennedy of the Township of Belmont, and Mrs. Bertha Kimmerley of Oshawa was settled last night.

Mrs. Bertha Kimmerley, formerly of Bancroft and later living at Trenton, moved to Oshawa, and claimed that she had kept a home for Mr. Robert Kennedy who was formerly a lumberman employed by the Rathburn Company whenever he came to Oshawa. Mrs. Kimmerley claimed that Mr. Kennedy bought the house for her at 196 Burke street, Oshawa, and she did not pay any rent for it since it was purchased in 1936, and that he had agreed to give it to her when he died. Mr. Kennedy died in Peterborough on the 13th day of April, 1939, and did not make any provision for Mrs. Kimmerley in his will, so she brought an action which was partly tried before the Honorable Mr. Justice Kelly yesterday, when he intimated that the plaintiff's case was not a strong one and some settlement should be made.

The executors of the estate agreed to give her $175, which was about the value of a garage that Mrs. Kimmerley put on the property, and she is to give up possession of the property with all the fixtures at the end of the month. The house is valued at $4,000 and it now becomes a part of the estate of Robert Kennedy, deceased.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., of Peterborough appeared for the late Robert Kennedy's executors, and Mr. F. A. Annis and Mr. Ernest Marks of Oshawa appeared for Mrs. Kimmerley. It was agreed that neither party should ask for costs against the other party.

Service Club Council Is Formed In City

Formation of a Service Club Council, with each of the city's five organizations represented, was announced at the Kiwanis club today by President W. A. Richardson.

The newly formed council will coordinate the work of the various clubs during war-time, and will eliminate duplication of effort and bring closer cooperation between clubs in their effort to raise necessary funds.

Ross Dobbin of the Rotary club, has been named president, and J. A. MacDonald of the Kinsmen club, secretary.

Each service club will have two representatives on the council, President Richardson said, and expressed the opinion that in future the work of each club will be more intimately known to the others and help will be freely given as each makes its yearly effort to raise funds.

First result of the council's formation was seen to-day when Jack Nicholls, president of the Y's Men's club, was present as a guest of Kiwanis at the weekly luncheon meeting in the Empress hotel. He came to ask for support of the concert to-night of the Wooding Southland Singers in the Collegiate auditorium. He told club members that proceeds will go towards supplying shoes for needy children. "You would be surprised," he said, "to know how many fathers there are in this city who are working every day in the week, yet are unable to provide footwear for their children in winter months." He asked that members of the Kiwanis club attend the concert.

Kiwanians to-day saw motion pictures in color taken in Jamaica by Dr. F. C. Neal. Dr. Neal was introduced by Fred Johnston and Charles Saunders expressed the club's thanks.

The club's annual charter night will be held next Friday at 6.30, but the locatiton is not yet known. It is expected that Lindsay club will turn out in almost full force to celebrate the occasion with Peterborough members. The speaker is being brought by the Lindsay club and there will be special musical numbers, stunts, and booster prizes.

EXECUTIVE MEETING

C. G. Kingan has called a meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association for next Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock at the Empress Hotel.

Germans Switch Propaganda To Whisper Lies

PARIS, Nov. 17—(AP).—A minimum of war activity on the Western front was reported today by the French general staff, which announced in a communique that there was "no notable news during the night."

News of war on the sea was confined to a statement by Blockade Minister Georges Pernot that 223,297 tons of merchandise consigned to Germany had been seized by the French navy up to November 10.

Pernot, reporting to the Chamber of Deputies Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday, said the seizures included 100,000 tons of raw materials and 35,000 tons of petroleum.

With land operations practically at a standstill, the Germans are giving wider scope to two other arms—aerial reconnaissance and a propaganda which is different from that employed earlier in the war.

Whispering Campaign.

The propaganda no longer consists of loudspeaker broadcasts and posters proclaiming Adolf Hitler's desire for peace. It now is carried on through dissemination of false "whispered" reports in neutral countries which are taken up and amplified by other nations. The purpose of the campaign is to maintain tension in Europe and cause uneasiness among the Allies.

In line with this campaign, the Germans during recent days have sought to magnify the importance of various really minor clashes on the Western front.

Intensified German reconnaissance flights have coincided with these developments. Throughout the early part of this week German planes flew over French territory, some of them cutting across Belgium. Some of them carried out continuous "shuttle flights" over the Sambre and Meuse valleys.

Large German forces are still massed along The Netherlands and Belgian borders. Each day that passes permits the threatened neutrals, as well as the Allies, to improve their defence preparations.

Shot Down Into Sea.

Reports received today indicated that a German military plane seriously damaged by anti-aircraft fire on Armistice Day when it flew over Dunkerque later fell into the sea. The pilot was drowned and three other members of the plane's crew picked up by a Netherlands freighter.

A pilot and two other Royal Air Force fliers were drowned when a British plane fell into the Seine River near Villeneuve - Saint-Georges last night and sank. The town is nine miles above Paris.

The body of one flier was fished out of the river but the two others could not be found. Firemen from Paris were attempting to raise the plane from the river bed.

The accident was attributed to loss of speed after the take-off.

Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson and Billie left early Friday morning for Essex and spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Bud) Inkster (nee Fleda Thompson).

Not a Prisoner

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP Cable).—Pilot Officer Robert Maxwell of Calgary is not a prisoner of war in Germany and presumably is still with his Royal Air Force squadron.

In a list of casualties issued by the air ministry yesterday, Pilot Officer Maxwell was confused with another former resident of Calgary, Flying Officer Robert Maxwell Coste, who was shot down over the North Sea in October and spent six hours in the water before the Germans rescued him.

100 Persons Dead In Oil Town Fire

One hundred persons were dead as a raging oil fire destroyed the village of Lagunillas, Venezuela. The town, built on stilts on the edge of Lake Maracaibo, was one of the major oil terminals in Venezuela. The flames rapidly spread over the oil-coated surface of the lake and roared through some 2,000 wooden shacks, built out over the water as homes for the oil workers. The TOP picture was taken during a previous fire which swept the important oil field. Both pictures were transmitted by phonephoto from New York.

President Lebrun Extolls Strong Tie With Britain

PARIS, Nov. 17—(CP-Havas). — Franco-British unity in the face of aggression was emphasized today by President Albert Lebrun and the new British ambassador when the latter, Sir Ronald Hugh Campbell, presented his credentials.

"His Majesty the King asks me to assure you of his profound feeling of friendship for France," Sir Hugh said. "He and the Queen have the most tender memories of the welcome given them by the French people during their visit to Paris last year, as well as of your stay in Great Britain in March.

"When my predecessor had the honor of handing his credentials to your excellency, France and Britain had but one idea, one hope—peace.

"Despite all efforts of the two governments, this hope was disappointed. Today the two peoples are obliged, for the second time in 25 years, to take up arms against the aggressor. Heirs of the time-honored traditions of faith and liberty, they know that their soil and future, their sons, are at stake.

Victory Only Hope

"They know that only their victory can assure to the countries of Europe the right to live and work in peace. To achieve victory we must consolidate the union of our hearts and our efforts.

"Today as in 1914, Great Britain shares the sufferings and hopes of France. It admires its coolness and its courage. It ranges itself at its side with all its resources. It will be proud to continue to maintain this indivisible union on which depends our fate and that of Europe."

President Lebrun replied as follows:—

"This absolute community of thought and action and this total solidarity which in such a remarkable manner characterize the relations between France and Great Britain rest on the unshakeable confidence felt by the one toward the other as to the equal determination which stirs them to continue the struggle to victory.

"In order that peace may no longer be troubled by a power avid of hegemony, they face all efforts and, closely associated, the sacrifices which less than a quarter of a century ago were imposed on them for a first time."

Vessels Collide

The steamship Brulin, which collided with the Huronic off Whitefish Point, was en route to the Ontario locks. The United States coast guard cutter Ossippee left Sault Ste. Marie Mich., just before dark to offer possible assistance to the Brulin.

Doctor Proves Flight Possible Each Day

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17—AP)—Dr. John D. Brock, has flown every day for 10 years, and now that he's shown it could be done he's going to stay on the ground a little more.

He got started on his daily flights one stormy day in November, 1929. One of a group of pilots remarked that that was another day in which flying was impossible.

"I contradicted him," Dr. Brock recalled, "and to prove my point that some part of every day was fit for flying I offered to make a daily flight for a year.

"I showed them it could be done, but at the end of the year many pilots said I had been lucky and couldn't do the same thing over again.

"Our old argument began all over again. I offered to continue the daily flights for nine more years."

The pilots still scoffed, by Dr. Brock, head of an optical concern, did it. He has used seven planes but has never had an accident.

Dr. Brock said he would continue to fly on business trips.

Royal Tour Film Is Previewed

OTTAWA, Nov. 17—(CP).—With the exception that the meeting of the Dionne quintuplets with Their Majesties at Queen's Park, Toronto, is not included, the Dominion government film on the royal tour of King George and Queen Elizabeth across Canada, previewed here to-day, gives in motion picture most of the highlights of that historic visit.

The task of editing the picture down to a screening time of an hour and a half must have proven difficult and a few of the towns and one or two cities Their Majesties visited will be disappointed at being passed up. But for the most part the shots have been well selected and the film will enable Canadians to relive the stirring days of last May and June.

Visits to all the provincial capitals are comprehensively covered in the record as well as other larger cities, Montreal, Windsor, London, Hamilton, Vancouver and Saskatoon.

The dramatic visit at Melville, Sask., late at night is shown and the night visit to Windsor, Ont. One of the most beautiful views is the harbor at Vancouver when the King and Queen set sail for Victoria.

The running of the King's Plate at Woodbine, Toronto, and the unveiling of the National War Memorial at Ottawa are action shots which will be prized.

Clarion Manager Has His Bail Boosted $3,000

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Charged under the Defence of Canada regulations, Douglas Stewart, 36, printer and business manager of the Clarion, Communist weekly, wa sarraigned before Magistrate R. S. Browne to-day and remanded a week with bail raised from $2,000 to $5,000.

Stewart, arrested yesterday, was charged under Section 39A, which prohibits the printing or circulating of any document containing statements "intended or likely" to cause disaffection to the King or interfere with the success of His Majesty's forces or Allies or which might be prejudicial to the safety of the state or successful prosecution of the war.

Stewart's bail was raised after it was announced that Hon. Gordon Conant, Ontario Attorney-General, had written a letter to Crown Attorney W. F. McFadden saying he was no satisfied with the $2,000 bail set following the arrest.

Mr. Conant said also that he is asking permission of the Attorney-General of Canada to proceed against Stewart under indictment rather than under summary trial.

Under summary conviction by a magistrate the penalty is a fine of not less than $500 or 12 months, or both. Under an indictment, the penalty is a fine of not less than $5,000, or five years in prison, or both.

"I take a very serious view of this," said Mr. Conant. "We can't fool with stuff like this."

Britain To Take Half Usual Quota Of Canadian Apples And Pears

OTTAWA, Nov. 17. —(CP). —Under an agreement between the Dominion and British Governments exports of Canadian apples and pears to the United Kingdom for the current shipping season will be restricted to 50 per cent of the average for the last two crop years, and the British market for these fruits will be closed to all except Empire countries.

Announcement of the agreement came yesterday from the Agriculture Department, while advices to the Trade and Commerce Department from London stated that imports of apples and pears from other than Empire countries would be under licence and that no licences would be issued until further notice.

The Canadian quota for apples and pears would permit export to the United Kingdom of approximately 1,332,000 hundredweight (112 lbs.) of apples, and 18,000 hundredweight of pears. (Standard weight of a barrel of apples is 155 lbs).

The British Government proposed that restriction to these totals be effected through issue of export certificates by inspectors of the fruit and vegetable division of the Agriculture Department rather than by imposition of import licence control in the United Kingdom.

Advices reaching the Trade and Commerce Department today announced that, starting November 20, fresh apples and pears consigned from Empire countries may be imported into the United Kingdom under general, open licence and that British importers will not require individual licences.

Immediately after the outbreak of war steps were taken by the Government in cooperation with the growers and shipping agencies to meet a situation which seemed likely to seriously handicap normal apple exports to the old country. A large processing scheme was worked out.

45-Mile Whistle Upsets Capitol

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.— (CP). — When Engineer C. E. Butler comes to town he comes aroaring and that's what Butler and Fireman Harry Creighton did yesterday, to the consternation of many folk between here and Kazabazua, Que., some forty-five miles from Ottawa.

Near Kazabazua something went wrong with the whistle of their Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive and from there to the Capital the ride was something they'll never forget. Butler, a little weak at the knees and weaker in the eardrums, said he and Creighton stuffed up their ears, but it did little good. The whistle just kept on whistling with a little extra chirp whenever the fire was refuelled.

Residents of little towns and villages along the tracks ran from their houses to see what was the matter. For miles before the train reached Hull, Que., its stentorian roar could be heard. Telephone calls deluged police and fire stations, and across the river, in Ottawa, people also heard, wondered, and rushed to their telephones.

Finally, in the Ottawa yards, mechanics climbed aboard old No. 2112 to quiet the offending whistle and let Engineer Butler and Fireman Creighton hear themselves talk for a change.

British Soldiers Known As Tommy Atkins Since Battle of Waterloo Pay Book Reveals

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(CP).—One explanation of how Tommy Atkins came to be used to describe the British soldier has been found in the prosaic pages of the army pay book.

When the war office issued the first "soldier's account book" in the year of Waterloo, the specimen form sent to each serving soldier to show how the book should be filled in bore the name "Atkins Thomas."

Another tradition says the Duke of Wellington was asked by the war office for the name of a typical British soldier. The Duke recalled a private of his old regiment, the 33rd, who had died at his feet on a Flanders battlefield years before. He took a piece of paper and scrawled on it, "Thomas Atkins."

Another account says the original Tommy Atkins was a gunner in the Royal Artillery, a born accountant, who in the 18th century gained the admiration of his comrades and the hatred of the pay sergeant by keeping a private ledger in which all his accounts were accurately balanced each month.

4 DIE IN AMBUSH.

LONDON, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Three British soldiers were killed and two wounded, and one Gurkha officer killed and two Gurkha soldiers wounded in an ambush by tribesmen near Razmac on the North-West Frontier of India, it was announced here to-day.

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

DOROTHY DIX

Girls Are Foolish When They Begin to Pick Husbands While They Are In The 'Teen Age And They Live To Regret Their Action.

A NOTED authority on love and marriage says that by the time a girl is 16 she should not only have decided on whether she wants a husband or a career, but have made up her mind about just what kind of a man she wants to marry. She should know what she wants him to look like, the kind of occupation she wishes he would follow and the amount of money he should be earning.

Fine, only that is superfluous advice to any sweet sixteen. She has already decided these problems in her life. She is dead set on matrimony and would rather die a thousand deaths than be an old maid. Also, she has a perfect mental picture of the man she would like to marry, his work and his finances. He is a composite portrait of Robert Taylor, Buddy Rogers and John D. Rockefeller. Later on she may fall in love with the freckle-faced grocery clerk who makes $25 a week but when she is 16 only Fairy Princes come up to her expectations. No lesser prospects need apply.

Now no doubt it would a lot of disappointments and disillusion in marriage and put a crimp in the divorce statistics if girls knew before marriage the kind of husbands they wanted and would be satisfied with instead of waiting to find out after marriage that they had guessed wrong. But the trouble is that when we are 16 we have no way of knowing today what we are going to want tomorrow.

Neither our characters nor our emotions nor our desires have had time to jell. They are still in a fluid state, and the thing that we are perfectly crazy about one hour and think we will die if we don't get we wouldn't have on a bet the next. Thus it inevitably happens that no schoolgirl, unless she has had the luck to be born a prophetess, can possibly foretell at 16 what sort of a husband she is going to want when she is 26.

There is no force in nature over which we have so little control as our tastes. They change without our desire or our connivance, often against our will and our interest. The one we have thought beautiful suddenly becomes homely and commonplace. The one who has fascinated us gets on our nerves. The wit becomes a bore, a wearisome monologist. The one we loved is stripped of charm and glamor. Yet nothing has happened except that inexplicably our tastes have changed and what once thrilled us now leaves us flat.

This is what makes a schoolgirl marriage such a terrible risk. She is gambling her whole life on the hunch that she will like the same looks and qualities in a man when she is grown up that she does as a child. Of course, sometimes she wins out, but the odds are tremendously against her, and generally she loses out and her Dream Man of adolescence becomes her Nightmare of maturity.

And another tragedy of the early marriage for a girl is that she misses her playtime of life. She is pushing a perambulator when she should be dancing with the kids of her own age. Her shoulders sag under burdens too heavy for her to bear. She is too young to have learned self-control and forbearance and tact, and the result is that she so often becomes peevish and fretful and hard to get along with, and her marriage ends in disaster and divorce.

The truth that we cannot balk is that marriage is no game for children. It is a serious undertaking for adults, and nothing in our inconsequent civilization is so curious as that we let boys and girls sign a marriage contract when we consider them mentally unfit to enter into any other binding obligation.

And as for girls picking out at 16 the kind of men they would like to marry five or six years hence, that is surely love's labor lost. For by the time little Mabel is ready for the orange blossoms her fancy may have shifted from he-beauties to strong, bold, rugged individuals, or she may have perceived that plumbing is a more lucrative business than writing poetry, or she may have decided that better is a husband who can be bossed than a cave man.

When most women at middle age meet the boys they were in love with at 16 they shudder and thank God for deliverance. Probably so do most men when they encounter their boyhood sweethearts. There is nothing on earth less to be trusted than the love dreams of youth.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—We are a happily married couple whose only trouble is about our son, a boy 4 years old, whose pronounciation and grammar are being ruined by the children with whom he associates. We both speak good English, have good manners and are teaching our son to speak correctly, but there isn't a child on our block who doesn't say "aint," "got," "will" for "shall," etc. I cannot keep my child in, and each day it is correct him and correct him until I am exhausted. You would think we were living among very illiterate people, but we are not. They are supposedly educated, but they are careless about their speech. What can be done about it?—F. L.

ANSWER:

Nothing, I am afraid, except to submerge your child in a bath of "purest English undefiled" while he is at home. And that won't do very much good while he is little, because children are far more influenced by the children they play with than they are by their parents, but later on in life your instructions will come home to save him.

It is a pity that something can't be done to modify the Americanese that most children acquire in their early youth. Perhaps after a while our educators will discover that it is just as important to teach children to speak correctly as it is to learn how to spell and read.

DOROTHY DIX.

ELEGANCE AT TEA

By ALICE ALDEN

WINTER IS always a season of elegance and entertaining, but with more than one holiday in the offing, now is the time to think seriously of a tea gown. It should be lovely; otherwise, one may as well get into shirt and slacks. Many a hostess is charming because she is charmingly dressed, her costume having an effect on her as well as her guests. A house known for its beautiful robes shows this model in sea green silk satin, the front panel embroidered, over a satin slip and under a frothy silk chiffon coat. It's one of those wardrobe luxuries a woman uses for years, making certain only that it goes to a reputable cleaner ever so often, and that it's carefully put away between wearings.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ELIZABETH SCHOOL

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe was guest speaker at the Religious Education meeting of the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association. He first delighted the gathering with a solo, "May Peace Prevail." The words of this number were written by Mr. Wm. Rome, and the music by his brother, Mr. Roy Rome. Miss M. Rome was accompanist.

Much food for though was provided by Mr. Sutcliffe's address in which he spoke of "the things that matter," chief of these things being character. He reminded the parents of their responsibility in creating right attitudes to direct the character of their children.

Several musical numbers were enjoyed, including a solo, "The Old Rugged Cross," by Mrs. F. Davies, with Mrs. W. Frize at the piano. Pupils of the school who helped to provide the entertainment were Marjorie Brown and Beverly Frise, who played a piano duet, "Rose Petals"; Helen Boyer recited the 95th Psalm; Victoria Zinston, Shirley Allison, Donaldson Wilson and George Bedford sang "When Mothers of Salem Their Children Brought to Jesus."

The meeting was well attended, and was under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Allen Brown.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, November 18.

Rather adverse conditions prevail on this day, according to the auguries of the ruling planetary aspects. There may be sudden and disagreeable upsets, with friction, inharmony, or quarrels with superiors, strangers or others of erratic temperament. Generally restive, unsettled and turbulent conditions are indicated, and these may be best side-stepped by close attention to rigid details of business, employment or hard work, which hold promise of recognition and suitable reward. Patience and perseverance win the day.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of sudden upheavals or turbulence, coming with whirlwind velocity and ending in quite unforeseen and possibly disagreeable denouements. Avoid disputes, friction with superiors, employers and strangers, and shun all manner of eccentric or revolutionary indulgences. Patience, hard work, close application may help in mitigating adverse and regrettable circumstances. Let prudence and restraint hold sway, with the intuitions a guiding factor.

A child born on this day may be studious, industrious and earnest despite erratic, restless, and ill-tempered moods or outbursts. It may be fond of sudden moves, change and adventure.

Women Outweigh Men In Worries

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Functional nervous diseases are three and a half times more prevalent among female civil servants than among male, Dr. F. S. Burke, chief of the medical investigation division, department of pensions and national health, reports.

In his report for the year ending March 31, 1938, Dr. Burke comments on the loss in working time through "functional nervous diseases" blamed on such conditions as nervous diseases" blamed on such conditions as worry over failure to get advancement, monotony of work, fear of errors, worry at home and financial difficulties. Neuropsychiatric assistance is important in such cases, he says.

The trend in absences caused by these diseases has been downward for the past four years.

"It is three and a half times more prevalent among females than males," the report says. "The highest concentration for females is again between 30 and 40 years. Males show a slight but steady increase with age.

In the year under review there were 11,336 illnesses from all causes involving 8,335 of the 35,140 persons covered by the report. In the previous year there were 13,256 sicknesses for 9,545 of the 35,053 civil servants.

We Noticed

. . . That Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth have set a royal example of leadership to the Empire in every possible way and when the time comes for rationing, they will be the first to rigidly comply. Even now, their menus have been restricted to homely fare and a visitor at Buckingham Palace recently recorded in her diary that the Royal menu consisted of "mince and a very plain rice pudding." Herring, too, has recently found its way to the Royal table.

. . . The King's father and Queen Mary also complied most fully in the last Great War in rationing for food, heat and in every other way.

Efforts are being made in Britain to maintain motion picture production during the war.

I.O.D.E. Plans Camp Libraries For Soldiers

Camp libraries for soldiers is the latest evidence of continuation of the tradition which the Daughters of the Empire established in the first Great War, to give prompt response to the requirements of the soldiers. Arrangements have been made by the order to install camp libraries for the benefit of the Canadian soldiers in training. The first of these will be opened in the camp at Barriefield, near Kingston, early next week.

Libraries will consist largely of fiction, history, travel and technical books. Several cases of books received at the I.O.D.E. Headquarters are being sorted for distribution. Contributions to these libraries will be gratefully accepted at the I.O.D.E. office, 182 Lowther avenue, Toronto. Either good used books or subscriptions for new volumes are acceptable. The order plans to place libraries in the camps so that books of an up-to-date entertainment and informative value will be always available. Mere discards will have no place in the soldiers' libraries.

Miss Mary Plummer of Toronto, a member who served overseas as an officer in the Field Comforts Commission in 1914-18, has undertaken the task of Director of Camp Libraries for the War Service Department of the I.O.D.E.

Pack Overseas Food With Care

LONDON, Nov. 17 — (C P) — Experience gained during the First Great War helps in instructions to women who want to send parcels to the soldiers overseas.

Bottled fruits and perishable foods are often broken and useless by the time they reach the troops. It is pointed out, so the best thing to send are "extras"—pickles, potted meats, tinned herrings, and tinned tongues, accompanied by tiny tins of mustard if available.

In all cases parcel-senders should take into consideration what foods are scarce and what would be extras for the men.

Neuropsychiatric assistance is important in such cases, he says.

The trend in absences caused by these diseases has been downward for the past four years.

"It is three and a half times more prevalent among females than males," the report says. "The highest concentration for females is again between 30 and 40 years. Males show a slight but steady increase with age.

In the year under review there were 11,336 illnesses from all causes involving 8,335 of the 35,140 persons covered by the report. In the previous year there were 13,256 sicknesses for 9,545 of the 35,053 civil servants.

Evolution Of The Wine Bottle

Glass of varied types and age, excavated from historic areas in the Colonial National Historical National Historical Park, Virginia, form a large part of the archaeological collections displayed at Jamestown and Yorktown. Heavy wine and rum bottles, thin-sided Dutch gin containers, delicately fashioned perfume vials and drinking goblets, and window panes are included in the exhibit.

There may be traced the evolution of the wine bottle from the globular form with high tapering neck and disk-like collar, commonly used at Jamestown in the early Colonial period, to the final development of the moulded cylinder of the late eighteenth century. Some of the pieces were manufactured at the early Jamestown glass works.

Older Women Must Choose Clothes With Distinction

In discussing the clothes which she chose here and abroad the Grand Duchess Marie, recently talked in New York about clothes for women who are past the flush of youth. Her statements include "For some years somance and glamor in fashion has been almost wholly confined to apparel for young girls. Perhaps largely due to the cinema, clothes for young matrons and women have been patterned after those worn by glamorous screen stars. Some of the results have been pretty sad....

"It has long been my opinion that there is a great need for more distinction and style in women's apparel.

"It is very difficult for girls of to-day to realize the great distinction that used to exist between clothes worn by the younger and older generation. They were vastly different and it was considered extremely bad taste for a mature woman to wear models designed for a young girl.

"All this was done away with during the World War, when women in large numbers began to assume the work done by men and were forced into more practical clothes. Thus the line that distinguished clothes worn by the older or younger woman became hardly perceptible.

"Here's where taste, good sense, and discretion should step in.... An older person should watch every detail most carefully....the length of skirt, length and shape of sleeves, drapery, back of neck, fit of back, colors...."

FASHIONS

Your suit jacket should sport the new longer cut for smart town and country wear. Black tweed or broadcloth makes this suit in the more formal version for town. Then in the country or for more casual occasions checked or plaid tweed can be cut from the same pattern. If you plan well, the same skirt can be worn with both jackets, making two different suits. Wear your suit on warmer days, with your furs, and when it is very cold, it serves as a smart dress under your coat.

Style No. 2970 is designed for sizes, 12, 14, 16, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 1¾ yards of 54-inch material for double breasted jacket; 1⅞ yards of 54-inch material for skirt.

Large mushrooms, broiled and stuffed with savory corn, make a tasty garnish for roasts, fish, or fowl.? Use up the part of the mushrooms scooped out for sauces or soup the next day.

An old method of repairing a tear in a dress quickly is to put dress flat on table and smear some egg white on wrong side. Take a piece of fine linen or a piece of the dress goods, if possible, and press down with a hot iron over the torn place. This patch will last for some time, and the rent will not show.

To test a piece of silk to see if it is weighted, burn a small sample. If it is heavily weighted, the material will blacken and char but will not blaze and the edge will be flat and smooth, with none of the small balls characteristic of unweighted silk.

Local Council Of Women Prepares For Nominations

Nomination preparations for the slate of officers of the Local Council of Women were made at the Thursday meeting in the Y. W. C. A. Recreation Room, at which Mrs. E. Wand, president, presided. Returns are to be made by December 14. Copies of the annual Year Book were on hand and available for distribution.

Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser of Burleigh Falls, whose family was associated with the National Council many years ago, joined the Local Council yesterday as an individual member.

Announcement was made of the Provincial Convention in Toronto on the 7th and 8th of December. Mrs. N. Stanger was appointed transport convener, and transportation is being arranged for members who wish to attend.

Mrs. Frank Merrett read a cinema letter from the national convener, and letters on Publication were presented by Mrs. J. Simpson. Due to a lengthy business discussion, reports of other conveners will be read at a later date.

'The Art of Living' was the subject of an address by Mr. A. H. Kennedy, guest speaker. He was thanked by Mrs. H. Jocelyn. Mrs. James Goldie sang delightfully, with Mrs. Wilfred Boorman at the piano. Dr. C. M. Scott and Dr H. A. Mitchell were present to explain the new system of Associated Medical Service in the city, and answer numerous questions regarding its method. Announcement was made that there will be no meeting until January.

CCF Claims Party Loyal To Cause

VICTORIA, Nov. 17 — (CP)—Co-operative Commonwealth Federation members "recognize our duty to make every effort for a successful conclusion of the war, but maintain our right to criticize," the group's British Columbia leader said in the Legislature Tuesday.

"We are not seeking martyrdom by being jailed or banned from the floor of this House," said Harold Winch, C.C.F., Vancouver East. "We are determined to speak in the best interests of the people. We are determined that while Canadians are fighting Hitler overseas, no little Hitlers will arise here.

"We are opposed to Hitler and all he stands for, and we accept the war as a battle for freedom, liberty and democracy and express the hope that out of this conflict will emerge some form of co-operation that will make future war impossible.

"Because we had the courage to speak we have been open to attacks from the press and on the floor of the House. We could have come here waxing eloquent in patriotic utterances.

"That was the easy way to evade our responsibilities. But we chose the hard road which other speakers have misinterpreted.

"It is quite reasonable, logical and consistent that an individual or an institution can support the government's efforts to win the war,, yet retain the right of criticism.

"We have pointed out mistakes of the past and have asked that they be not repeated. Prime Minister Mackenzie King is on record as adopting that attitude.

"It is considered the opinion of the C.C.F. that economic support is the best form of aid that Canada can give to Allies. Sending large bodies of men overseas would disrupt those very industries now being utilized to help the Allies."

Siamese Twins Give Guild A Puzzle

Should the famous Siamese twins, Violet and Daisy Hilton, be classified as one person, or separate individuals Should they be required to apply separately for Guild membership and pay individual dues."

Thomas D. Senna, Guild business agent, taking the position that the girls, now circus performers, were separate persons, argued the matter with them for hours, unsuccessfully.

The twins asserted they had been denied marriage licences in 20 states on the ground that they, jointly were one.

Senna refused to issue them a joint membership card.

The girls refused to sign separate applications.

Result: The Guild executive committee was called into session to decide the case tomorrow.

Fire Losses Higher

TORONTO, Nov. 17—(CP).—Fire losses in Canada totalled $237,950 for the week ended Nov. 11, according to the Monetary Times Estimate, released today. The figure is slightly higher than the average weekly loss but is less than the $330,850 for the previous week and well under the loss of $550,600 for the corresponding week a year ago.

Stimulate Car Sales

QUEBEC, Nov. 17—(CP)—Automobile licences for 1940 will be issued shortly by the Quebec government to stimulate the sale of new automobiles, it was announced here last night. The government will make available to motorists 1940 automobile plates which were ordered by the Union Nationale government before its election defeat. Normally automobile licences are renewable in Quebec Province in March. The licences put on sale early will be valid until March 1941.

N.H.L. STARS

By The Canadian Press

Hector (Toe) Blake, Canadiens, bagged two goals as his team played a 3-3 overtime tie with Boston Bruins.

Art Jackson, Bruins, fired the goal late in the third period that brought Bruins even with the Flying Frenchmen and meant a split in points.

Doug Bentley and Phil Hergesheimer, Chicago—Former scored winning goal and latter tying goal as Black Hawks wiped out a 2-1 deficit to win 3-2 over New York Rangers.

Lakefield Club Elects Officers

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 17.—(ENS)—The Lakefield Badminton Club met at the Inn on Tuesday night for the annual election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Rev. Geo. Kelly; vice president, Wm. Edworthy; secretary, Miss Helen Burgess; treasurer, Miss Marguerite White; social convenors, Miss Bessie Dunn, Miss Marion Comrie and Miss Mary Davis.

Arrangements are being completed in order that the games may be started as soon as possible.

35 Horsewomen Make 80-Mile Ride, 4 Days

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Nov. 17—(AP)—Thirty-five horsewomen of this desert resort were back at home today with hardly a ruffled curl to show for a four-day 80-mile ride.

The lone man who accompanied the first annual trek of the Vaqueros Rancheritas reported little trouble with his feminine charges, who included seven grandmothers.

Mrs. William Gargan, wife of the motion picture actor, fell from her horse as she was descending a dangerous trail to help some of the less skilled riders, but escaped injury.

Possibly the fact that the caravan was joined each night by four or five cowboys, to look after the horses, and by a squad of chefs, waiters, a bartender and an orchestra to care for the wants of the riders, had something to do with the sucess of the expedition.

Men, Boats, Alcohol Figure In Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17—(AP)—Men, boats and alcohol figured today in the mass of testimony Rodney Pantages is presenting in his attempt to gain a divorce.

Pantages said his wife, Beatrice, once broke a world speed-boat record, then tried, on the Salton Sea for a new record on a mile straightaway and "ran all over the course—just like a serpentine. I know she was intoxicated." Pantages said her drinking caused most of their domestic troubles.

Mrs. Marjorie Heatherington, a nurse, testified Mrs. Pantages was friendly with the captain of the Pantages' yacht, La Pan, and helped pay rent on an apartment where she visited him.

Mrs. Pantages has filed a countersuit and also is suing Pantages' mother and others for alienation of his affections. Each asks custody of the two children.

Bowling At Duffus'

With M. J. Duffus hitting a 775 high three and Alex Watson a 334 single in his 747, the Automobile League had a slight edge for bowling honors on Wednesday night. During the evening three other men hit big scores: Roy Lewis of the Raybestos-Nashua-Sealright stepped out with a fine 774 and G. Millen and H. Guppy of the Westclox 759 and 726 each, Millen's included a 344 single.

The ten-team Quaker shift and Westclox office girls eased up somewhat after last week's outburst of heavy hitting. M. Caccavella was high man for the Quakers with 694 (306); E. Guerin hit 685; K. Ferguson 671; J. Ferguson 627; W. Hill 624, and Lee Dickson 429 for two games.

Miss Martin was high for the Westclox girls with 520 (238); Miss Ackford and Miss Johnston chalking up 227 and 206 singles. R. Maniece of the Westclox's men's section hit 608; Joe Watson 608; A. Delahaye 603, and R. Kitchen 601.

Good scores for the Raybestos-Nashua league included: S. Gilmore 654; C. Simpson 639; H. Davis 635; I. Haines 610; P. Collins 607; W. Crary 604, and L. Cowling 601. Ike Batten was the only bowler with any luck in the Peterborough Canoe League. He levelled off 645.

The Automobile League had other good scores such as Fred Watson's 667; Harold Minion's 662, and Vern Read's 609.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

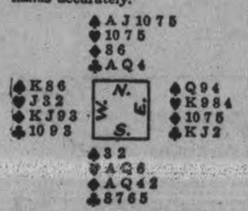
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

PROMPT ACTION DOES IT

IN SOME bridge situations you must bide your time, holding up your high card or cards until the psychological moment arrives. In others, prompt action is necessary, going up with your big card as the sole means of breaking connections between the two hands of the opponents. This is one kind of spot in which "second-hand low," the old whist maxim, has to be reversed. Usually it is done only by the careful and thorough player who counts the exact or probable distribution of his opponents' hands accurately.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

After West's pass here, North opened the bidding with 1-Spade. South answered with 2-Diamonds, North bid 2-Spades, South 2-No Trumps and North 3-No Trumps. West led the club 10 to the Q and K, and East fired back the J to knock out the re-entry for the spades. The declarer let this win and then took the third club in dummy. He entered his own hand with a finesse of the heart Q, then tackled the spades.

The first spade trick was the 3, 6, 10 and Q. After refusing a finesse of the returned diamond, South then finessed the spade J successfully, dropped the K with the A, ran two other spades and completed game with the heart A and club 8.

Had West thought, he would have counted South for exactly two spades; with three he should have supported the rebid major; with one he should not have tried No Trump. Upon this reading he could have deduced that play of his K on the first spade round would have killed the suit and beaten the contract by enabling East to keep his Q to kill a second-round finesse or to play it on the third round if North used the A on the second. In fact, this play would have held South to either five or six tricks, setting him either three or four, dependent on whether he took a trick in spades or not.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

With the heart Q led against North's 3-No Trumps here, why should the declarer not take the first trick?

Britain Buys 400 U.S. War Planes

$20,000,000 Contract Will Supply Schools In Canada

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — (AP). — A contract for 400 to 600 North American aviation training planes and extra parts for an undetermined number of planes—an order aggregating approximately $20,000,000—was signed to-day by representatives of the Inglewood, Calif., Company and the British Purchasing Commission in the United States.

The contract was the first aircraft order made public since repeal of the United States arms embargo. Britain contracted last year for 400 planes of the same type and 325 of them were delivered before the arms embargo went into effect.

The majority of th newly-ordered ships probably will be sent to Canada to be used in the "Empire Air Scheme" which embodies training of 25,000 men a year for service in the Royal Air Force.

Wheeled Over Border.

No details of delivery plans were given, but it was understood the planes would be flown to an airport adjacent to a Canadian airport and wheeled across the border to comply with the new Neutrality Act.

The United States Army has accepted 174 of the same type of plane, known as the BC-1. Although called trainers, they can carry a light load of fragmentation or demolition bombs and are built to provide for installation of one fixed machine-gun firing through the propeller.

They are two-seated, low-winged monoplanes with metal fuselage and fabric wings, are powered by single 550-horse-power Pratt-Whitney radial motors, and have a top speed of 240 miles an hour.

Admiral Scheer Named In Raid

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(CP)— A Reuters news agency dispatch from Lourenco Marquez, Portuguese East Africa, said today that survivors of the British tanker Africa Shell had identified the German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer as the raider which sank their vessel.

The 706-ton Africa Shell was sunk Wednesday in Portugese waters off the coast of Mozanbique. Reuters said survivors identified the Admiral Scheer from photographs.

Whereabouts of the Admiral Scheer had been the subject of speculation since September 30, when the raider was reported to have sunk the British steamship Clement off the coast of Brazil. It had been considered possible that the pocket battleship since had rounded Cape Horn into the Pacific Ocean.

8 U. S. Ships Held, Searched During War Zone Trips

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — (AP). — The State Department today reported 48 cases in which belligerents detained United States ships for examination of papers or cargo since the outbreak of war.

Of the total detentions, Great Britain was responsible for 33, France for 10, Germany for four, and an unidentified vessel for one.

The report included information received between September 3 and November 17. Forty-four ships were detained, but four of them were stopped twice.

In most cases, the Department reported, American ships were not stopped by warships on the high seas, but were detained when they docked at belligerent ports. A Departmental statement said:

"As a general practice, for reasons of their own, the vessels which cleared from ports of the United States on or before November 4, the effective date of the Neutrality Act of 1939, ordinarily put into belligerent ports en route to their destinations, and the principal difficulty thus far has arisen in connection with delay involved in the examination of the vessels and their cargoes before being permitted to proceed on their voyages."

Three Victims Of Fire Are Laid To Rest

School children from Norwood bore the remains of the three little victims of the Dummer fire to their last resting place in the Norwood Cemetery. Dummer Fire Victims Laid To Rest

NORWOOD, Nov. 18 (ENS)—The bodies of the three little victims of Dummer township's worst tragedy were laid side by side in graves at Norwood cemetery yesterday afternoon while many from far and near attended services at Tedford's funeral home and again at the graveside. They were Hazel 12, Hilda 4 and William 5, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lytle of Dummer township who died as a result of burns sustained when the Lytle home was reduced to ashes Wednesday. Hazel died Wednesday night, Hilda died about nine o'clock Thursday morning and William succumbed two hours later. All were burned badly.

The accident occurred when Hazel attempted to light the stove in their farm home and inadvertently threw gasoline in the stove in place of coal oil. An explosion followed and the girl received full force of the blast which trapped herself and three young children in the burning kitchen.

The home was levelled to the ground. Still surviving the disaster but in a critical condition is Helen, seven-month old baby, who received less burns than her brother and sisters.

Three white, flower covered caskets borne by fourteen school children of Norwood schools were removed from the funeral home following services. So badly burned were the victims that no one was allowed to see the bodies.

Rev. A. C. Price of Norwood, pastor of the Church of the Four Square Gospel, officiated at the services. Interment was made in Norwood cemetery.

Surviving the three victims are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lytle, parents of the children, an elder sister Ruby aged fourteen and Baby Helen.

$50 Reward

TORONTO, Nov. 18 — (CP). — Lawrence Owen, Toronto taxidriver, was presented with a reward of $50 yesterday for his action last April 29 in attacking an armed youth who attempted to rob him. Owen was shot during the scuffle and Chief Inspector John Chisholm, in relating the facts, said it was an "act of Providence he was not killed."

Another Angle

London, Nov. 18 (CP)

SOME London underwriters are insuring British manufacturer against an early end to the war at the rate of 10 per cent a month of the value o fthe stocks insured, well informed circles in the city said today.

They explained that producers are anxious in case an armistice should leave them with large stocks of war goods on their hands. Some underwriters therefore have agreed to insure fully the stock of any merchant or producer against the war coming to an end before Dec. 31. The charge for this insurance is 10 per cent of the value of the stock insured.

France Buys Up Copper Supply

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Wall Street Journal said today the French Government has made a final agreement for the purchase of its war-time copper supply from foreign mines of leading United States owned companies and from a Belgian-controlled African producer.

Banking arrangements have been completed, it was said, for initial shipments over six months, beginning in December of 150,000 long tons valued roughly at $42,000,000.

Export copper has been quoted around 13 cents a pound.

The group consists of the foreign subsidiaries of Anaconda Copper Mining Co., and Kennecott Copper Corp., operating in Chile; the Cerro De Pasco Copper Corp., with mines in Peru, and the Union Miniere Du Haut-Katanga, the African producer.

Poilus Digging In Along Moselle

BERLIN, Nov .18 (AP)—French troops were reported today by the German news agency to be digging in east of the Moselle River during a lull in fighting on the western front.

Emplacements for long range artillery have been constructed by the French in this sector, the agency said.

The entire northern end of the front from the Moselle to the Rhine was reported quiet yesterday except for occasional artillery fire at isolated points. The upper Rhine also was quiet save for intermittent French machine-gun fire directed against the German bank near Breisach.

German scouting planes, the agency claimed, yesterday penetrated into France as far as Bordeaux and executed reconnaissance missions over the Shetland and Orkney Islands. It further claimed that three British planes, which the Germans assumed had intended to attack the naval base at Wilhelmshaven, were driven off by coastal anti-aircraft fire.

(The British air ministry announced last night that Royal Air Force planes had successfully photographed an important German naval base.)

The morning communiqué of the German high command said:

"In the west, local unimportant activity. An attempt by three British planes to attack Wilhelmshaven failed through timely action of anti-aircraft. No bombs dropped. Several planes made scouting trips over France."

Never Declared Neutrality Fascists Warn

ROME, Nov. 18—(CP Havas)—Italians were told by the Fascist press yesterday that they must not become pacifists and that their country never had declared itself neutral in the present war.

Insisting that Italy would intervene in the conflict if her fundamental interests were threatened, Fascist organs declared the situation is particularly delicate in Ethiopia, which faces Arabia and is bathed by the Indian ocean, and in the Balkans, where any Russian thrust would not find Italy indifferent.

"Italians are and will remain anti-Bolshevists," the Corriere Padano said. The Gazzetta Del Popolo declared the "western door" has been opened to Russian expansion in the Balkans, the Black Sea and the Mediterranean itself.

New Brunswick Vote Drive Calms Down

FREDERICTON, Nov. 18—(CP)—The intensity of New Brunswick's brief election campaign eased today as the 98 candidates who seek 48 seats looked forward to a quiet Sunday before their immediate political fate is decided at the pools Monday.

Campaigning reached its peak last night when Premier Dysart and Conservative leader Squires made their final radio addresses in the battle for election. Each spoke here over a network of stations.

Broadcasting has been used extensively by both parties during the campaign. The contest over the air ended last night, as no political speech may be broadcast with 48 hours of an election.

3 More Czechs Are Shot In Reprisal

12 Executed, 2 Days For Violence Against Germans

PRAGUE, Nov. 18. — (AP).—Three more Czechs, including two policemen, were shot to-day for "acts of violence against a German," it was announced officially.

The identity of the third was not disclosed.

With the nine Czechs shot yesterday, the total executed for anti-German actions reached 12.

Only meagre details were disclosed officially about the executions but it was stated the nine included two policemen and seven Prague university students. They were charged with assaulting German citizens during an anti-German demonstration.

Whether any Germans had been killed could not be determined.

Treason Laws In Force.

Laws Against Treason

Officials spurred by "rebellious activities" in the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia, were reported to-day to have followed up the execution of nine Prague students by clamping German laws against treason on the provinces of dismembered Czecho-Slovakia.

Hacha Reported "Ill."

At the same time, Adolf Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter reported that Dr. Emil Hacha, president of the Bohemia-Moravia protectorate, had been taken ill and that his recovery was expected to require considerable time.

(Dr. Hacha, 66, was elected president of the shrunken Czecho-Slovak Republic on November 30, 1938, to succeed Dr. Eduard Benes, who resigned after the September 29, 1938, Munich conference on partition of his country by Germany.)

Berlin officials remained silent concerning the executions, which were disclosed last night by DNB.

Four Men Held In Theft Case

The fourth arrest in connection with thefts from the Canadian General Electric Company was made on Friday afternoon when Detective-Sergeant W. E. Meagher took into custory John William Frizelle, 24, Murray Street.

This morning Frizelle appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court and was charged with having stolen during the first ten months of this year and up to November 13, a number of electric motors from the Canadian General Electric Company, of which he has been an employee.

The accused elected summary trial and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was remanded until Monday for sentence. On that day Clarence Harrison, who has pleaded guilty to theft from the C.G.E., and Thomas and Harold Wynne who have pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods will also be sentenced.

Nazis Busy Waging Ferocious War On Paper Allies Wait, Pondering Adolf's Strategy

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Cable Editor.)

Germany is fighting a ferocious war on paper.

Almost daily in the 11th week of hostilities Nazi spokesmen and Nazi newspapers reiterated the old theme that the British Empire must be destroyed, that England must be shown "what it means to be at war with Germany."

It was an offensive of words. There was no sign of devastating war from the air. There was no move to storm the Maginot line, or to push through the Netherlands and Belgium.

Dissension in the German councils of war was reported with increasing persistency. The Generals were said to be unwilling to undertake a campaign in the west. There were reports of reviving monarchist sentiment, of Czech student demonstrations in Prague, and of separatist activity in Bavaria.

Excitement subsided on the Netherlands frontier where the massing of German troops had caused the opening of dykes and other defensive measures in Holland. There were reports of reviving monarchist sentiment in the Reich and of separatist activity in its Bavarian province. Czech student demonstrations testified to mounting unrest in the protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia.

The Belgo-Netherlands mediation offer came to naught. Britain said the menace of Nazism must be removed in any settlement. France introduced a new factor in allied war aims by declaring for the first time that Austria, as well as Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, must be restored. Germany replied negatively, holding the Allies had "sabotaged" the peace plan.

Winston Churchill in his broadcast last Sunday challenged the Germans to unleash the frightfulness they have so often threatened and pictured Adolf Hitler as "a cornered maniac" not knowing which way to turn.

And while the Germans temporized, the Allies went steadily ahead with preparations to meet whatever is in store. Conversations continued between Empire ministers from overseas and United Kingdom ministers. On Friday Premier Daladier and General Gamelin crossed to England for a meeting of the Supreme War Council.

The week's principal military development was the loss of a British destroyer on Monday. Only two lives were lost. German aircraft flew over the Shetland Islands and the Mersey Estuary

Undercover Fight Against Nazi Overlords Daily Waxes Stronger, More Bitter As Czechs Resent Ever-Increasing Yoke

ON THE AUSTRIAN-YUGOSLAV FRONTIER, Nov. 18—(CP-Havas).—A bitter undercover fight against German domination preceded the open Czech demonstrations which culminated yesterday with the shooting of nine Prague students by the Nazi Elite Guard.

In the past three months, according to confidential reports by Czech police in Prague, at least 30 bodies of Nazi Elite Guards have been pulled out of the Vltava River, which runs through Prague.

German reprisals are said to have been increasingly fierce. In a single day after the bombing at Munich, which Adolf Hitler just missed, 6,000 Czechs were arrested, and 600 of them were reported sent to concentration camps.

Two Provinces To Be Completely Absorbed

At the same time the German government has intensified its drive to absorb Bohemia and Moravia completely into the Reich—economically, politically and culturally.

The German administration has taken advantage of the anti-semitic laws to introduce German commissioners into every business firm which formerly had one or more Jewish directors. These commissioners discharge Czech employees in favor of imported German workmen. This is especially true of armament works such as Skoda.

Germans brought "home to the Reich" from Poland and the Baltic States are being used to take over these factories.

Advise Officers To Bring Families Over

German officers with the army of occupation are encouraged to bring their families from Germany.

Both the schools and the government administration are being Germanized. Study of the German language is compulsory.

Czech hostility toward these German innovations has grown stronger and better organized. Individual non-co-operation with the German program has become practically unanimous.

Ernest F. Mason Is Mourned By Great Throng

Attended by a mourning legion of his friends from all spheres of Peterborough's community life, the funeral of Ernest F. Mason Friday afternoon was a notable and memorable testimony of that golden intangible of esteem and affection which men recognize as the fruit of manly and grateful fellowship in all its personal relations and useful activities.

Peterborough has seldom witnessed such an eloquent tribute of respect paid to one of its home-staying sons and citizens as that final and silent farewell to the man who had been so much more than the successful merchant in the long vocation he had entered as a boy in a day and business age of which he was one of only a handful of survivors in his own city.

The large congregation which almost filled St. Paul's Church to its capacity was especially striking in the fact that it was composed mostly of men, associates, from the city and county who had been engaged with Mr. Mason through the years in some or other of the many enterprises to which he had given his practical interest and effort in promoting. And most noticeable, perhaps, in that great gathering around his flower banked bier were virtually all the business men of Peterborough, men with whom he rubbed elbows in the daily round of merchandizing, many of them young men as he once was when he entered upon the responsibility of carrying on the Mason store on George street as a youth in the early phase of its expansion which was marked a year or so ago by its sixtieth anniversary.

Corn Cribs Full, U.S. Hogs Drop To 5-Year Low

CHICAGO, Nov. 18—(AP).—Hog prices today were the lowest in five years.

It was bad news to livestock farmers whose corn cribs are bulging with feed grain and whose pens teemed with a new fall crop of pigs.

The drop in prices marked the elimination of the last vestige of the war boom which lifted hog prices about $2.50 in a single week — the sharpest rise in the history of the Chicago stockyards.

During the past week best hogs lost 55 cents a hundredweight here and before the opening of the market to-day were $3.35 under the September 6 war market peak of $9.40 and 90 cents under the August 31 top before hostilities broke out in Europe.

Top price a year ago was $8 and in August, 1937—when hogs reached their post-drought peak—$13.75. From that peak prices gradually declined and supplies increased.

40,000 Recruits Are Called For Service

LONDON, Nov. 18 — (CP Cable). —The War Office sent out a call to-day for 40,000 recruits for the Auxiliary Army Forces—20,000 men and 20,000 women.

The women are wanted to double the strength of their present organization and to release men for fighting services. They are clerks, cooks, drivers, orderlies, and messengers, who are paid two-third of men's rates, privates receiving one shilling and fourpence a day.

The men are wanted for home defence battalions, which are used to guard strategical points, such as power houses, bridges, and railway stations.

Allies To Pool Majority Of Resources

Bulk Purchase Plan Means Big Saving, May Hasten Victory

LONDON, Nov. 18—(CP).—British spokesmen today said that the decision of the Inter-Allied War Council to pool British and French economic resources was the most important step taken in the economic field since the war began.

It was stated Great Britain and France will reap the benefits of bulk purchases and eliminate the possibility of bidding against each other, since nations exporting food, raw materials and manufactured products will deal with a single organization for the two allied nations.

The program also will facilitate transportation and delivery, it was stated.

1. To establish joint committees to assure common action in aviation, munitions and war materials, oil, food, shipping and economic warfare.
2. To create joint committees for each of these categories to work under an Anglo-French co-ordinating committee which will be similar to the Allied Supply Council set up after three years of the first Great War.
3. To adopt new measures to improve production and tonnage.
4. To share all products on which a shortage exists in either country.
5. To draw up joint import programs to avoid competition in purchases abroad.
6. To provide for extension of their joint measures to other countries if they enter the war on the side of the Allies.

Newspapers hailed these decisions as not only likely to hasten victory but also to have a favorable effect on the economic organization of the

Montreal Seeks Missing Officer

MONTREAL, Nov. 18—(CP)—Police are investigating the week-old disappearance of Col. George E. Beauchamp, Medical Officer in the Quarantine Service of the Pensions and National Health Department, who last was seen when he drove away from his office November 11.

Inspector Armand Brodeur said no trace has been found of the 58-year-old officer or of his automobile. Brodeur said Col. Beauchamp left his office for the waterfront at about six o'clock last Saturday evening, ostensibly bound for the waterfront to meet a ship.

Police believe the man, who complained of illness the night before, may have accidently driven his automobile over the edge of a wharf into the river.

CAMERON, Ariz., Nov. 18 — (AP). — "No name, no pay," the paymaster of a movie studio told the parents of two Navajo papooses used in filming "Virginia City," co-starring Errol Flynn and Miriam Hopkins. Members of the company promptly had the six-months-old girl christened "Miriam Hopkins" and the eight-months-old boy "Errol Flynn."

Lad 13, Wings Killer 3 Times Fighting For Slain Dad

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 — (AP). — Pasquale Addante, 13 years old, sat behind the counter of his father's small grocery store last night reading a school book when a Negro robber entered.

"Give me your money," growled the robber, pointing a pistol at Pasquale.

"We haven't much money here," protested the boy. "You wouldn't take it would you?"

The gunman took $10 from the cash drawer and turned to go when the boy's father, Vito, 32, emerged from the rear living quarters with his wife and two small children.

"Push the kids on the floor," shouted Addante to his wife as he fired a small calibre pistol at the robber. Simultaneously the gunman fired. Addante slumped to the floor mortally wounded with a bullet near his heart.

Pasquale picked up the fallen pistol and fired three shots. Crying with pain, the robber staggered through the doorway, with Pasquale in pursuit. The boy fired four more shots at the man, who escaped after returning two ineffective shots.

A few minutes later the gunman appeared at a hospital. He had been shot in the side, knee and arm. Before the nurse could summon a physician there was a commotion at the receiving room door. Someone was bringing in the body of Addante. The robber leaped from the table and staggered into the darkness.

At a police station Pasquale, a seventh grade pupil, gave an unemotional account of the shoot-

Move Shortly On Seaway Is U.S. Hint

War Call For Power Held Likely To Swing Canada

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP).—The war may prove a powerful ally in bringing to fruition one of the greatest peacetime projects on the North American continent—the long-discussed St. Lawrence seaway.

Although they have not been informed officially of any change in Canadian sentiment for the project, State Department officials say privately they expect "some developments" shortly in the seaway negotiations.

Prospective industrial expansion in the Dominion to meet war needs is expected to increase the demand for Hydro-Electric power and transportation facilities. In view of these circumstances, officials admit they would not be surprised if the Canadian government replied soon to the draft of a proposed seaway submitted to the Dominion in May, 1938, by the United States.

Recent reports reaching Washington have encouraged Washington officials in their belief that negotiations for construction of the great navigation and Hydro-Electric power development might be renewed.

Whether the seaway could be constructed in time to be of value

Blood Donation Gives Girl Hope

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18—(AP).—New hope in a mother's heart and new strength in her daughter's weakened body sprung today from blood which a childless woman gave to the girl on the chance it might save her life.

But science still shook its head and declared that Kathryn Felt, 8, can never recover from the blood disease—acute lymphatic leukemia—which has been draining her life away for four months.

From Westport, Conn., came Mrs. Joseph Root, 56, a stranger to Kathryn and her parents until she responded to their appeal for blood donors.

Mrs. Root, wife of a tank car company executive, believed she had been cured of the disease which afflicts the Felt child, a rare malady causing a breakdown of the body's blood-making machinery. She was treated for it in New York 15 years ago.

One hundred cubic centimetres of her blood streamed yesterday into the dying girl's veins. And last night Kathryn's mother, Mrs. Charles Felt, reported from Germantown Hospital:—

"She had something to eat for the first time in days. She's stronger. Her condition is satisfactory."

Tweed Woodcutter Hurt As Axe Slips

TWEED, Nov. 18. —(ENS.) — While splitting wood at the home of Mr. T. C. Graham, Mr. George Thompson, Tweed, met with an accident which might have had serious consequences. The axe caught on the clothes line, and flying back struck him a terrific blow on the forehead, knocking him to the ground in a semi-conscious condition. A passer saw Mr. Thompson lying on the ground and took him to a local physician. It was ascertained that although there was no skull fracture, there was a slight concussion, a fractured nose and a severe cut in the forehead which required several stitches to close.

THE old fashioned, long-time courtship has not gone entirely out of fashion. Fay Smith and her mother walked into the auditor's office and dumped 450 pennies on the counter. They represented 450 visits by her intended, Ernest Faler. "Every time he came to call he left a penny to pay for the licence," she explained.

Presbyterial Visits Hastings

HASTINGS, Nov. 18 (ENS). — This year, instead of representatives of W.M.S. auxiliaries of the Presbyterian churches in Campbellford, Havelock, Norwood, Hastings, and Warkworth meeting in one place for the sectional rally, the officers of the Presbyterian W.M.S. of the Peterborough Presbyterial have conducted meetings in each of the churches of this section, and on Thursday it was the privilege of the W.M.S. auxiliary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Hastings, to act as host to the Presbyterial officers.

Mrs. John Storie of Campbellford occupied the chair and opened the meeting with a call to worship and prayer. The roll-call was answered with Scripture passages which formed the basis for the missionary work of the church. The Scripture lesson was read and a comment made on its spiritual import by Mrs. D. K. Perrie of Hastings.

Mrs. A. J. Thompson, the Presbyterial president, led in prayer.

A solo, "The Stranger of Galilee," sung by Mrs. Milne of Campbellford was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. E. Meiklejohn of Warkworth gave a talk on "National Work in Missions" under the following sub-topics, Hospitals, Educational Work in both Day and Resident Indian Schools, Chinese Missions in Canada, Deaconesses, and Work of Welcome and Welfare Committees.

Mrs. A. J. Thompson gave the highlights from the Provincial W. M.S. board meeting.

Mrs. Storie, on behalf of the visiting executive, thanked the Hastings auxiliary for their hospitality, and the president, Mrs. Charles Dodd, replied, and voiced the enjoyment of all for the splendid program presented. The meeting concluded with the Mizpah benediction and afterwards afternoon tea was served.

Eight more children's railways are to be constructed in Russia.

Canadian Air College Classes Open Within The Next Few Months

OTTAWA, Nov. 18—(CP)—Classes in Canada's "air colleges," endowed to train the young men of the British Empire how to fly and fight, will open within a few months, it was learned today.

Representatives of Canada, Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand have about completed organization details as wel las arrangements for financing the giant training project, and a general description of the plan is expected to be announced next week.

An initial order for 1,500 advanced training planes has already been placed with a United States manufacturing firm, it was reliably reported, and approximately 5,000 aircraft will be in constant flight from about three score airport "campuses" by the time the air training scheme is in full swing.

Diplomas for graduates of the air colleges will take the form of Royal Air Force Wings attached to the tunic of fledgling flying men all over the Empire.

Canadians will predominate, it is understood, just as Canadians proved outstanding in the Royal Air Force during the first Great War, when every third man of the R.A.F. personnel at the end was a Canadian.

The training project is one of the major events developing in Ottawa as Canada throws her resources and men into the war but the government and the various British missions also have plans, which may be made public soon, for vast purchasing and construction contracts for munitions and war materials.

Empire airmen who come to Canada under the training scheme will have learned the ABC's of flying at home, and will receive only advanced flying instruction here with their Canadian colleagues.

Young Canadians will first attend preparatory schools here and the 22 amateur clubs of the Canadian Flying Clubs Association will play a prominent part in this preliminary training.

Use R.A.F. Standards.

The standing curriculum of the R.A.F. will be adopted in the Canadian air colleges. Newcomers to the force will study advanced aerobatics, the teohnique of air fighting, gunnery, bombing, wireless telegraphy, mapping, meteorology and air navigation.

Much of air force work is specialized, and those assigned to spe-

British Air Film Reaches Canada

TORONTO, Nov. 18—(CP).—Recognizing the cinema as the most effective of all propaganda media, Great Britain has scored a "direct hit" with the new film, "The Lion Has Wings," produced by Alexander Korda with the speed of a new editor making up a front page and flown to North America. A press preview was given here last night.

Within the next week or two the feature length film will be on view in picture houses throughout the Dominion, dramatizing the British Air Force and its motto: "Through Ordeal to the Stars."

"The Lion Has Wings" contains many sequences of historic and dramatic interest, including a movie version of the Royal Air Force raid on the Nazi naval base at the Kiel Canal, in which Canadians played an outstanding part. It is the only motion picture the King and Queen have attended since the outbreak of war.

A Help To Thos Past Middle Age

When men and women get past middle age their energy and activity in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and, here and there, evidences of breakdown begin to appear.

Now is the time when those who wish to maintain their health and vigor, and retain their energy unimpaired should take a course of Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills.

They brace up and invigorate the system, and help stall off the decrepitude of advancing years.

SERVICES IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES TO-MORROW

J. Stewart McGill Re-elected President S.S. Association

SPRINGVILLE, Nov. 18.—(ENS)—The fiftieth annual Sunday School convention of Cavan and Monaghan was held in the Springville United church on Thursday afternoon and evening. The president, Stewart McGill of Centreville, presided for both sessions. Miss Lois Windrim acted as pianist in the afternoon and Clairmont Morgan in the evening.

Rev. J. T. Everson of Springville conducted the worship period in the afternoon. He chose as his subject "How God Estimates Men" and read Luke 18 for the scripture lesson. Mr. Everson left with those present the thought, "that only when we feel that what we are doing is a special task set for us by God, can we render our greatest service." The worship period also included a very fitting solo by Mrs. Everson.

A solo "Living for Jesus" by Bernard Preston was rendered.

The guest speaker at this session was Rev. C. C. Boyter, of Park St. Baptist Church, Peterborough, who gave a most inspiring address on "The Challenge of this Generation." The first part of his service dealt with the challenge of the children and young people of to-day. "If children are lost in three generations, all is lost," he said. The teachers were urge dto study the Bible for information regarding Child life. When a child is old enough to understand the love of parents he is old enough to understand the Saviours love.

"Why is it hard to reach the young people of to-day" the speaker asked. Some of the reasons suggested were (1) lower standard of home life (2) indifference of older church members. (3) greater freedom and independence because of self support (4) possible lack of appeal in church programs (5) failure of church to give them something to do (6) sinful companions (7) spiritual laziness of the day. He pointed out that it is the adults of the day who provide the temptations for the youth "who is it." he said, "that produces undesirable picture shows, prints immoral literature, operates road houses and manufactures liquor and tobacco?" ('Certainly not the young people."

Church and The Home.

The concluding part of the address dealt with the responsibility of the church and home The adult church members were asked to deal with these young people with understanding and to realize that there are more causes to go wrong now than there used to be. We must see the bright side of the situation which is evidenced by the increased number of young people seeking education. Also the young people of to-day assume responsibility in an ever increasing way.

The older members of the church must make the program of the church and the pattern of their own lives inviting to the younger members

The responsibility of parents was stressed. There are three institutions necessary to society—the church, the school and the home and the most important is the home.

The church and home must work hand in hand,—the church teaching fundamentals of the home and the home teaching reverence for the church and that for which the church stands. In this way will a solution to our problems be found.

Much helpful information was brought forth at this time, including a discussion on material available for teachers and the method of presenting temperance training to Sunday Schools.

Supper was served in the basement of the church by the Springville W. A.

Rev. Sisco of Millbrook had charge of the devotional period at the evening session. Mr. Sisco in his remarks pointed out that all ought to be ready to do God's work and then when the call comes the answer, may be given, "Here Am I Lord, take me"

Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge gave the report of the nominating committee and Rev. Mr. Honey of Cavanville installed the following officers:

President—J. S. McGill.
Vice-president—Rev. Sutton.
Sec.-treas—Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge.
Children's dept.—Miss E. Sharpe.
Boys' dept—Oakley Carley.
Girls' dept.—Mrs. K. Syer.
Missionary dept.—Miss P. Kidd.
Teachers training dept.— Miss Hetherington.
Adult dept.—R. C. Hanbidge.
Dept. of home religion—Mrs. Gr[illegible] Shield.
[illegible] people's dept.— Jack Whitting[illegible]
Temperance dept.—R. F. McIndoo and Gomer Robinson.

Rev. G. S. Easton of Trinity United church, Peterborough, delivered the address for the evening.

Mr. Easton first congratulated the group on the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of such a convention. He also congratulated the officers who were carrying on the work so splendidly. He said that although it has been said that the church consists of two classes, one, those who sit back and give, and two, those who sit back, this group of officers proved a third class—those who come forward and give.

Mr. Easton centred his thoughts on 'Preparing and Training of Character." "Life begins with its ends." the speaker said. What are you aiming at? The goal of all S.S. teachers ought to be to make Christ-like characters out of the boys and girls whom they teach. Two things are necessary for a Christian character, grace and truth. "Honor," Mr. Easton said, "is greater than either hunger, sex, love of money, or preservation of life." Honor is something more than response to the approval of society. It is something in the consitution of a person that keeps them from doing wrong. D. L. Moody said "Character is what you are in the dark."

"Is honor enough," the speaker said, "to save society and the world?" It was pointed cut that something else was necessary. We mus have goodwill in the world and a reconstruction of personal relationships. More men are needed of the calibre of Shaftesbury, at whose funeral along with princes and peers were groups of chimney sweeps, costermongers, and reform school students carrying banners, saying: "I was hungry and ye gave me meat" and "I was in prison and ye visited me."

Also more men are needed of the type of Abraham Lincoln who, after the Civil War, was able to go to General Pickett's home, and without any trace of enmity discuss the problems confronting them.

Sunday School and church work develops character in curselves, and boys and girls. This character goes out to make character, honesty, and good-will in the world.

Mr. Easton quoted "The House by the Side of the Road," and said only when this spirit of honor and good-will pervades the earth can we have universal peace.

A vote of thanks was extended to the speaker, to the Springville ladies, and to the Springville choir, which gave two anthems at the evening session.

The singing of the hymn, "Oh, Master, let me walk with Thee" and the benediction by Rev. Mr. Everson, brought to a close this very successful and helpful convention.

Highlights Of S.S. Lesson

WARNINGS AND PROMISES.
(By Newman Campbell.)

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for November 19 is Matthew 7. the Golden Text being Luke 6, 31: "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

Exhortations as to how we should live with our fellow men and how our personal problems should be handled according to Jesus Christ, are contained in the lesson to-day. Probably not all the sayings contained in this lesson were uttered by Jesus at one time, when He was on the Mount, but the disciples "treasured these things in their hearts" as Jesus' mother did His early sayings and wrote them down as they thought of them.

The first saying concerns our criticisms of others: "Judge not, that ye be not judged."

It is very easy to find fault with others, and not at all easy to "take it" when others criticize us. It is an odd thing, too, that very often the very things we object to in others are faults of our own, only we do not realize it. When we tell them of their faults, they may be thinking that if we only would turn our thoughts to our own shortcomings we would see that this is so.

The Beam in Your Eye.

This is what is meant when the Lord said, "How wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote (a small splinter) out of thine eye; and behold, a beam (a large piece of wood) is in thine own eye." We should concentrate on our own sins, therefore, and not on those of others.

"Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before the swine, lest they trample thm under their feet." That means that you should not talk of sacred things to those who will be sacreligious or they will treat them with disrespect, for they cannot appreciate such.

Then Jesus promises that they who seek after righteousness and comfort shall find it in religion, and they who knock at the door of faith, it shall be opened to them. Surely, He says, we, who are far from good, will not give harmful gifts to our children. "What man of you, if his son ask bread, would give him a stone? Or if he ask a fish, will give him a serpent?" Then surely our Heavenly Father, who is all good, will give good gifts to us when we ask Him.

This is the Golden Rule which we should strove earnestly to follow: "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them; for this is the law and the prophets."

Then Jesus points cut how wide is the gate and broad is the way to destruction, or wrongdoing. But "strait is the gate, and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it." Meaning of course, that it is easy to sin, but to follow Jesus' teachings is hard. bu in the end we gain eternal life by doing it.

Jesus Tells a Parable.

Jesus was always telling little stories to illustrate the point he wished to make. They are called "parables," as you know. To show the wisdom of trying to lead a good life, after His precepts, He told the story of the two men who builded houses.

"Therefore," He said, "whosoevr heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built h's house upon a rock. And the rain descended, and the floods came and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not; for it was founded upon a rock.

"And everyone that heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell; and great was the fall of it."

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins By Rev. E. R. James

THE MAN WHOM JESUS LOVED
He had great possessions.—St. Mark 10:22.

Have you ever been moved when you read these words: "Then Jesus beholding him loved him"? There was something most attractive in the face and manner of the rich young man that St. Mark, who received the story from the lips of St. Peter, was moved to put it down in this most practical of the four Gospels. It is a word picture of a very devout, highly cultured young man. He had a deep desire to possess God and to inherit eternal life. The Carpenter, Who knew what was in man, said: "Go, sell all and give to the poor and come follow Me." At that test "his countenance fell and he went away sorrowful for he had great possessions."

Also hearken to the eye witness: "Jesus looked round about and saith unto His disciples, how hardly shall they that have riches enter into the Kingdom of God. And the disciples were amazed at His words."

"In all time of our wealth, Good Lord, deliver us" is a very familiar petition to some of you. It is placed betwen tribulation and death. Those ancient Christian teachers would have us learn the profound truth of the peril of possessions, small or large. For wealth is a relative term. A few hundred dollars may mean wealth to you and poverty to the ma nacross the street.

Our forefathers applied the word "possessed" to those who were insane, unbalanced mentally. You may be clear minded, shrewd and capable in business. You should honestly ask yourself the question does your business or money possess you. Are you possessed by your wealth?

Like this young man, you may be a most devout churchman, giving generously to every cause and the needs of the church. But He, Who sits over against the treasury watching you looks into your heart and says: 'Give, give, till it hurts, and thou shalt have treasure in Heaven."

Our Lord never teaches that money is evil in itself but He warns against the danger of putting your whole trust and confidence in money.

The Master does not command Nicodemus, the rich member of the Sannedrim, to sell everything he had. That was not his spritiual sin. Money does not possess him. His spiritual pride in his churchmanship his blameless life is his evil and so Our Lord says: 'Except a man be born again he cannot enter into the Kingdom of Heaven."

In this time of war we are told that Canada will have a time of great financial prosperity. Good times are coming, they tell us. Very likely. But do you enjoy the thought of making money at the cost of life, blood and tears of multitudes. That through the throwing away in battle the lives of the cream of our generation men will become rich? The writer saw many become rich in the last war and then the horrible crash of 1929. We have no statistics of the suicides—men and women who lost their money and life was not worth living. Their money possessed them.

Again perhaps you have the business ability to make money. It is your talent. What are you going to do with it?

In ancient Athens the wealthy citizens freely gave their wealth to build beautiful buildings for the city, or other purposes of state. It was called "a service" and such men were very proud of the privilege. You will have many opportunities of doing such "service" for the country.

We have to offer God our best. All who really loved him did so. Mary with her costly box of ointment; Zaccheus giving half of his goods to make amends; Nicodemus and Joseph of Aramethes giving the Lord's dead Body a kingly burial.

Are you detached from your wealth, or are you possessed of it?

'LAY UP FOR YOURSELVES TREASURES IN HEAVEN."

History Of Reformation

The story of John Knox of Scotland will be told in St. Andrew's church on Sunday night. There is no doubt that Knox was a world maker. The battle of the Protestant Reformation was fought out and won in Scotland rather than in Germany, at least as far as the Anglo Saxon race is concerned.

Next to nothing is known about the early history of John Knox. He was born in Haddington in the year 1515. He sprang from the commoners of Scotland, was a papal notary, and in priests orders in 1540. This is all that is known of him before he was called to stand forward as a preacher of the Reformation in Scotland.

Knox found in the well known 'Lords of the congregation" a body of men resolute and determined that they would secure liberty to worship God in whatever manner they chose.

Here is their slogan or battle cry: 'Before the majesty of God and His congregation, that we (by His Grace) shall with all diligence continually apply our whole power, substance ,and our very lives, to maintain, set forward and establish the most blessed word of God and His congregation and shall labor to have faithful ministers purely and truly to minister Christ's evangel and sacraments to His people."

One would have thought that there would have been no hostility shown to men with this noble purpose.

In 1558 a number of elders were chosen "by common election." This too was an epoch making decision. It brought laymen into the counsels of the church, encouraged them to pray in public and even to preach to others.

Scripture—Matthew 7.

Judge [illegible]ye be not judged. For with wh[illegible]ent ye judge, ye shall be judged; [illegible] with what measure ye [illegible]me, it shall be measured to you again.

Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone? Or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent?

If ye, then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Father give good things to them that ask Him?

The Censors Passed It

The censors must have passed a story written by J. F. Sanderson, a Canadian Press writer stationed in London. The story was to the effect there existed bitter and deep dissension between Hitler and the German high command regarding what should be done to attack the Allies, particularly on the Western front.

Mr. Sanderson says a high military authority declares Hitler desired to make an immediate move against the Maginot Line, while the army commanders refused to sacrifice their men.

Mr. Sanderson does not state his authority, but he makes the plain statement that Hitler and his Foreign Minister, Von Ribbentrop, guaranteed to the German general staff that Poland could be crushed without bringing on a war with Britain and France. There is the known fact, attested to by reliable people who were in German official circles prior to the war, that Hitler depended entirely on his Foreign Minister in London, Von Ribbentrop, to interpret British public opinion to him, and the advice he received was that Britain would not fight, and for that reason there would be no action taken by France.

We have become so accustomed to believing that Germany was at all times prepared for war that it has been taken for granted that the German generals would know at once where to strike. Hitler himself in all his bombastic addresses created that feeling. There was nothing which would have to be considered and decided because everything was ready, the plans all made and agreed upon. Nothing left but to go ahead.

The Sanderson story cannot be entirely wrong even if it is not entirely right. The weather is growing hostile to a great drive, and Britain and France are adding to their strength each day at a greater rate than is mechanically or humanly possible in Germany. There may be more truth than is generally credited in the statement that Hitler was certain he could invade Poland without having to pay for it by war.

Columns For a Criminal

If there is any good or substantial reason for the amount of publicity which is being given to that individual known as "Scar Face" Al Capone then we must have missed it in its entirety. For years he was chief of gangland in Chicago; he was a criminal, and yet the reason United States sent him to prison for seven years was that he had not paid his income tax. And that appears to be major crime.

The other day he was released and once again the flow of printed matter began because Capone was afraid some of his old enemies would be waiting for him and all primed to shoot on sight. In some of the American papers within recent days there have been columns used to review once more all the exploits of Al Capone, to tell of the sickness which had finally come upon him while in jail. All about how he was finally transferred to a hospital and how the gang leader was playing cards with his brother. It was even recorded that the nurses coming and going found him quite pleasant. Rats!

It would appear that Al Capone is a national figure, and we are making of him an international figure by allowing this drivel to slop over the border into our Canadian papers. He is and has been for years nothing else but plain scum, not fit to be dished up on the daily menu of newspaper readers.

Doing The Thing Legally

It was suggested in these columns a few days ago that the plan to be followed for getting United States planes into Canada would probably be by pulling them across the line by tractors. And that is how it will have to be done.

International law is a strange thing particularly when a nation desires to observe it according to the letter. Reports from Washington state the matter has been under discussion there for days. The export of airplanes to a belligerent nation is permitted under the altered Neutrality Law, but under international law the flight of warplanes to a belligerent constitutes "an armed expedition."

It is all right to fly a plane under its own power to the international border and bring it down. There would have to be customs inspectors present to receive affidavits that the title of the plane had passed from the U.S. manufacturer to the foreign purchaser. Planes could be shipped to Canada by sea or placed on a train and be delivered in this country, but they cannot be flown over the international boundary.

The ultimate landing of such a plane in Canada is all that matters. Whether it came here by its own power, or was shipped by rail or boat would not affect that in the least. It would be landed in this country where it would be used for war purposes.

But international law is something which is not to be disregarded. You can get your fighting plane this way but not that way. So United States will need a landing field close to the border, and Canada will need one similarly situated. We will also have to have tractors there to pull the things across the border. And that will be as legal as can be. Great is the law, but it is no greater than the means by which people can get around it or through it.

She Wants To Write Home

There is a young lady from Poland who works in Peterborough. She has been in this country five or six years and her parents are at home. At least they were the last the daughter heard of them.

Recent months have been ones of anxiety. Poland has been invaded by Germany and by Russia; the death list of defenders and of others who were not in the army has been high, and thousands of families have had to flee from the place which for a long time they had called home.

The daughter in Peterborough has written to the home address of her parents just the same as she has been accustomed to doing in other times before the invasion, but she has been getting nothing in the way of reply.

The other day she had word there was a registered letter or some such thing for her at the local postoffice, and she believed that at long last there was a letter from home.

One can well believe it did not take long for her to go for the long-awaited letter.

But what she received was her own last letter written to the folk at home and a note explaining that no mail matter was being forwarded to Poland, and none was coming out. Her last letter home had taken a long journey and had come back to the place from which it started.

What's going on at home? How have the parents and family been getting along during those troubled days? The Polish girl in Peterborough does not know. Mail travels faster today than ever—but not to Poland, and not from Poland to Peterborough.

Land For The Peasants

When reports tell us that German land barons do not like the idea of having anything to do with Russia it can be accepted as a plain fact. There is friction already because the Russians have taken possession of the broad acres of Polish princes. Pictures have been published and they show the Polish peasant people looking on while surveyors divide the land. The peasants are going to have a portion of it and of course they like that idea. Many of them never owned anything before.

Not far removed is East Prussia and in there are the old German Junkers, the large land owners, and they are disturbed. Word has spread regarding the manner in which Russia is cutting up the land for the peasants in Poland and that is rank poison according to the old German idea. For that reason they are protesting to Hitler that his alliance with Russia is no good.

No doubt it would be a splendid thing if the peasants of Poland did get land under the Russian system. They have not yet progressed far enough to know exactly how it works out. They do not know that a portion of what they produce will go to the state, nor are they aware that such portion may become very great. They are for the moment suffering from the pleasant belief they are to become land owners in their own right. So there you have a nice internal difference which Hitler has to face from a rather powerful class of his own people.

Where Is The Control?

Trades Council in Windsor went on record by way of protest asking closer control over beverage rooms in that city. The Trades Council of London endorsed the protest which claimed minors were allowed access to the beverage rooms; closing hours were openly violated; hotel requirements for travellers are inadequate, and dances are held to attract beer parlor patrons.

Figures were given indicating there are 65 licensed hotels and 30 licensed clubs in Windsor, and that number seems amazingly large. Windsor has a present population of slightly over 100,000 and that is coming dangerously close to having a licensed place for each 1,000 of population. Peterborough is a place of some 25,000 population, and at the Windsor rate we should have 23 or 24 licenses but we have eight beverage rooms and one club license, and the feeling has been openly expressed in City Council that we do not wish any more in this community.

It is reasonable and right to ask why it is Windsor has so many places. There is no indication of "Control," and the thing smells entirely too much like a deliberate attempt to sell a great deal of beer in order to secure the revenue for the government.

Picked a Poor Season

This business of getting out literature or leaflets is growing dangerous, and the reason possibly is that it has become associated with the activities of the wrong sort of people.

For example: The police at Kitchener are quite active now in chasing down literature which may have something to do with war and our participation in it. Within recent days we learn they have seized some German-language newspapers published in United States.

More recently they removed copies of the communist paper, Clarion, from the news stands of the city and then started in search of other game. Then it was they came upon copies of "The New Democracy" issued by Hon. W. D. Herridge who has been forming a new political movement in Canada. Mr. Herridge was formerly Canadian Ambassador to Washington under the Bennett government.

So Mr. Herridge's literature has fallen upon evil times. It has been placed upon the desk of the police chief in Kitchener and appears to be regarded with a degree of suspicion. It may be the policemen in the bailiwick of Hon. W. D. Euler to regard all men as being Grits or Tories, and if they are not within such confines then they must become open to suspicion. Just how Mr. Herridge will rescue his papers from the police at Kitchener is something we do not know at the moment. It appears he has selected a rather poor season in which to go into the business of distributing literature.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The nurse of the Dionne quints is engaged to be married. That was to be expected as she had a sort of five-to-one chance.

Experts say if United States went into another war it would cost $30,000,000,000 a year, but in such a case they would at least know where the money was going.

Home in Brantford was entered by burglars, and it was found that one bite had been taken from a pie. That seems to be a rather unkind thing to include in the report.

Dr. Manion says Canada would be a rich prize for a victorious enemy to take. But if they had to take our bets as well said enemy might be inclined to think the matter over.

Al Capone, one of the greatest criminals in United States, is to be released from prison and fears for his life. A man coming out of prison needs friends, but not the sort who have guns in their pockets.

Hamilton merchant tried to smuggle a $21.50 suit to a customer in Buffalo. He was fined $25, the suit was confiscated and the car in which he was riding was seized. If he intends to remain in business it would be better for him to concentrate on customers nearer his store.

PROFOUND

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My friend Thadeus sprung to fame, long letters decorate his name, and he is most profound; and when I stop to chat with him, why wisdom rattles from his chin, and makes a learned sound.

¶ He knows so much Thadeus does, the wheels within his head must buzz, he rounds out every word; and now and then he talks to me, and I am ready to agree, of things I never heard.

¶ But when Thadeus launches out, I don't know what it's all about, although he speaks quite slow; for he'll use phrases here and there, when sitting forward in his chair, in tongues I do not know.

¶ For he'll speak English for a spell, and then he interjects to tell, "or as the French would say"; and then the lingo starts to come, and I would like to jump and run, and let him have his way.

¶ At other times Thadeus' praise is cloaked in some old Latin phrase, and there he goes once more; in French and Greek and Latin too, I know no more when he is through, than what I did before.

¶ Thadeus' knowledge is profound, it makes a fine and sturdy sound, his brain cells are well manned; although with him I feel quite meek, I think I'll ask if he would speak—in words I understand.

A Bit Of Nonsense

A Fair Offer

As they ate their dinner, two workmen were discussing the state of affairs.

"Heard the latest news?" said the first man solemnly.

"No," replied the other eagerly.

"Well, our Government have told Hitler he can have all he had in 1914."

"You don't say!"

"Yes. One whitewash brush and a ladder."

Long Past That

Draining his third glass of brandy, the retired colonel ordered another and went on telling everybody how the war should be run.

"I say old man," said a friend. "All these brandies! Haven't you any regard for the lining of your stomach?"

"Eh?" snorted the colonel. "Lining of my stomach? I've been working on the lining of my waistcoat for the last twenty years!"

Uplift

"It is great fun at our choral society. We have a drink, we play cards, and if our wives come, we dance."

"And when do you sing?"

"On the way home."

"It's the only way I can get her to do the shopping."

• The Powerful Position Of Turkey

Emrys Jones in The London Daily Mail

TURKEY proves a loyal friend. Her shrewd, clever Foreign Minister, M. Sarajoglu, quits Moscow without signing any agreement with Russia because Turkey would not break faith with Britain and France.

The decision comes as an inspiration in these days of diplomatic double dealing, whose spirit still lives on in that nation today.

A loyal friend, and a powerful one too. Look at the map. Few other countries occupy so masterly a position in the Western world. No wonder that for years the diplomats have been as busy as beavers in Ankara, trying to win her friendship.

The friendship of Turkey is of the greatest value to all Mediterranean Powers, vital to all the States whose shores wash the Black Sea.

Russia has been the most ardent suitor, and her present decision not to sign a pact with Turkey does not mean that the friendship between the two countries is at an end. Rumania, too, has sought and gained the good will of the Turks. The reasons will be made plain in a moment.

Turkey's power has soared since 1936, when she received permission to refortify the Black Sea Straits. The Abyssinian war revealed the inability of the League of Nations to protect small states.

Turkey made her request in the orthodox manner, and, backed by Britain and Russia, the right to fortify the Straits was conceded. So new fortresses were built on the banks of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles, increasing her diplomatic and strategic strength a thousandfold.

Thus Turkey is the watchdog at the gates of the Black Sea, and "We can bark, too," said a Turkish diplomat to me a few weeks ago in Sofia. He was referring to the Army and the excellent fighting capacities of the Turkish soldiers. "Some of our people would rather fight than work," he said with a smile.

Now, the army manning these guns is well equipped and reliable, breathing the spirit of Ataturk, perhaps the greatest soldier of our time. It is the pride of the Republic, the soul of Ataturk the great Ghazi—the victor in the field.

Why should we rejoice in the statement that mutual assistance pacts are to be signed between Britain and France and Turkey this week?

Look at the map again. Consider our guarantee to Rumania against Nazidom, and note that can only be made effective if Turkey admits warships, and, if need be, French and British troops to the Black Sea.

If that should happen, then the Allies would be in position to attack the Nazis in the rear. That was the idea of Gallipoli, which cost us so much in blood and tears.

Now, with Turkey's friendship, we have gained in peace that which we failed to achieve in war.

There are other and equally vital considerations.

Take petroleum. Because of its weight and volume, petroleum, whenever possible, is taken by sea. Now the Turkish guns frowning down command that passage through which must pass the whole of Russia and Rumanian oil, from the ports of Batum and Constanza.

Then the wheat exports of Russia—a vital source of supply for Italy—must also pass through the Strait and through the same passage, of course, must pass a vast bulk of Russian imports in return.

Wheat and oil—no country gets far in this modern world without them. Turkey produces no oil, but since she is within easy reach of three oilfields — Rumanian, Caucasian, and Iraquian—it is assumed that she will always be able to get it from one of them.

That is apart from the fact that her neighbors who do not have the oil can't get it out without the permission of Turkey. Truly, she is the keeper of the gates.

• For Those Who Watch Air Raids

(From an article by the Military Correspondent of London Times)

WATCHING an air raid, even if it seems to be a long way off, is not a safe occupation. Bullets and pieces of shell may fall two miles away from the actual scene of the fight.

A rifle or machine-gun bullet fired straight up into the air returns to earth with a velocity of 300 feet a second. It weighs 174 grains, and the blow it gives when it strikes anything on or near the earth's surface is about that of a 40-pound weight falling one foot. A spent cartridge case dropped from the same height as that reached by the bullet which is fired straight up—about 10,000 feet—gives a much less severe blow. Though its weight is about the same, its larger surface allows greater air resistance to the pull of the earth.

Similarly pieces of burst shell weighing the same as a bullet are likely to have less energy when they hit the earth because they are in the form of flakes and will meet considerable resistance from the air as they turn over and over.

It is the weight and shape of a missile dropped from a great height which determines its terminal velocity. A heavy bomb which does not explode will bury itself to a considerable depth if dropped from 10,000 feet into a field. A bullet dropped from the same height will hardly bury itself at all. If dropped from 20,000 feet or 50,000 feet a bullet's remaining velocity, and consequently its energy, are the same as if dropped from 10,000 feet.

Except against low-flying attacks machine-gun bullets are not fired from the ground. The machine-gun from fire is from the air between opposing aircraft. The bullets are fired from all possible angles, many of which will be toward the earth. In such a case the velocity at the earth's surface will be much greater than if they are merely dropped, and the blow is sufficient to cause a severe wound or death.

In the absence of a properly constructed shelter, the ground floor of a two-storey house is well protected against any of this small stuff which comes down during an air raid. A roof and one floor will also afford considerable protection against falling nosecaps, though not against an unexploded anti-aircraft shell.

Fortunately anti-aircraft "duds" are rare today, and, even with the vastly increased number of guns and rate of fire which meet the raider as compared with 1914-18, the unexploded shell should be a rarity. The two-pounder guns used against low-flying aircraft have a self-destroying shell.

NAPOLEON'S IDEA

IT IS A new phase of the war that we are entering. We had the Polish phase, when that independent nation was overrun and obliterated in ruthless war, while the forces of the democracies were mobilized on Germany's western borders. Then came the diplomatic phase. It has been a desperate jockeying for position. Fighting went on, but it was less important than the conferences between statesmen, the messages that passed from capital to capital. One by one, the neutral nations of Europe are subjected to blackmail for the purpose of compelling them to take the German side. The neutrals resist. They don't want to be Hitler's bodyguard. They want to be neutral. The Germans sink their ships, seize their ships, and offer them trade deals by which all their goods will be shipped to Germany and none to Britain—a Continental economic system boycotting Britain. That was Napoleon's reply to the British Navy. It is Hitler's—if he can manage it.—London Daily Express.

THERE WAS AN ATTACK

(From the London Spectator)

It would be well not to be too satirical baout the German airman who was decorated with the Iron Cross for sinking the Ark Royal. It is true that the Ark Royal is unscathed. But it will be found, if the story is ever told, that the airman who attacked her displayed quite astonishing daring, meriting, as an appreciative English airman put it, not one but about seven Iron Crosses.

QUINTS AND HANDS

MANY PEOPLE have made a mess of life because they never learned to use their hands. The effort made to guard the famous Dionnne quintuplets from that error has lessons which parents may well note.

These young ladies now more than five years old, are being taught to drive nails into planks, to pile up blocks, and draw with crayons. Thus they are beginning very young to acquire a mastery of the world's most marvellous tool, the human hand.

People who can use their hands skillfully don't often go wrong. They find pleasure in the clever work they do with those hands, which enables them more easily to find ways to earn a living. Countless homes are wrecked because the wives were not competent in household arts, the beginning of which is skilful work with the hands. In times of war as at the present, men and women who are clever with their hands are in great demand, as mechanics, motor transport drivers, munition makers etc.—Aylmer Express.

NO DETERRENT

IT IS QUITE TRUE the average driver whose carelessness costs a human life is not of the "professional criminal" type. He will regret his act to the last day of his life, no matter what the court may say of it. But that is no consolation to his victim or his victim's family and friends. Vain regrets cannot restore a life taken. The punishment that comes from conscience is not enough for the protection of society, however, and it does not deter others. On the other hand substantial penitentiary terms, a reasonable certainty of severe punishment, ought to be a powerful deterrent of criminal recklessness. At least it is worth trying—and the plan has never been tried out consistently in this country.—Ottawa Journal.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy; and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly. And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly. Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.

Behold, I shew you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump; for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.—I Cor. xv, 48-53.

WHAT DOTH IT PROFIT

WHEN Al Capone was sentenced to 10 years in prison for income-tax evasion, a good many people felt that justice had been short-changed.

They did not know, and neither did the sentencing judge, that another and far more inexorable law was moving toward punishment for Chicago's fallen crime king.

About to be released, a press dispatch from Los Angeles describes Capone as partially paralyzed from paresis, crinkly skinned from loss of weight, totally bald and sometimes talking gibberish—victim of a disease discovered after his imprisonment.

And he is said to be "afraid that if he ever sticks his nose through the gates of his Florida estate the underworld 'typewriters' will clatter and turn him into one of those bullet-riddled bodies Chicago police used to scoop up from the pavements 15 years ago."

The law of the jungle is ready to take what little the law of nature has left.

With his his health gone and his ill-gotten wealth no longer enjoyable, Scarface Al Capone will come out of prison a pitiful creature.—Detroit Free Press.

Holdup Suspects Nabbed In 90 mph Chase

NORTH BAY, Ont., Nov. 18. — (CP). — Arrested last night following a 90-mile-an-hour chase through North Bay streets and on the North Bay-Callander Highway, Lorne Uttly, Alfred Dietrich, and Donald Boekler, all of Kitchener, Ontario, are in custody here as a result of the alleged holdup of a Powassan service station last night. Uttly and Deitrich are charged with robbery and Boekler with armed robbery.

The youth were arrested by Constable N. C. Smaill, N. Chartrand and L. Needham of the Provincial Police, on the highway a few miles south of the city. The trio were driving a car allegedly stolen in Kitchener. The arrest followed a holdup at Donald A. Caddeh's service station near Powassan on Thursday night, when gasoline, oil and cigarettes were taken.

Gun shots were fired as the police chased the stolen car. The youths were met by the officers a short distance south of the city and a chase ensued which took them into North Bay, around several city blocks, and back on to the Callander Highway. They finally stopped when Constable Chartrand fired at the tires of the speeding car. Because of the crooked highway and the traffic, the officers were unable to pass. Police said a toy gun and a mask were found on Boekler.

The trio will likely appear before Magistrate J .H. McCurry to-day.

Sunk By Nazi Cruiser Says British Crew

LAURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, Nov 18—(CP-Havas)—A German cruiser sank the British tanker Africa Schell in Mozambique Channel, crew members said today after landing at a point on the East African coast.

The crew members were quoted in messages reaching here as saying that the cruiser — which was not identified in the report—fired a shell across the tanker's bow to stop her.

A German officer boarded the ship with a squad and after taking off all the ship's provisions ordered the ship's crew to take to its boats. The captain was taken prisoner. When they were clear the tanker was sunk.

Hopes Revived

Doorn, The Netherlands, Nov. 18 (CP-Havas)

DEVELOPMENTS in Germany have revived the hopes long dormant in the breast of former Kaiser Wilhelm, that a Hohenzollern again may sit on the throne of the Reich, according to informants close to the former ruler of Germany.

The former Kaiser was described as being disturbed by reports of the arrest of the former Crown Prince Wilhelm. Nevertheless, rumors of the increase of monarchist tendencies in Germany have strongly revived his hopes of a Hohenzollern restoration, this informant said.

Japs Are Anxious For Peace With The Soviet

TOKYO, Nov. 18—(AP). — A Foreign Offic spokesman asserted today relations between Japan and Soviet Russia had changed to a point where the situation was more favorable "than ever before" for resolving outstanding differences.

He said the change was due to the September 6 truce which ended fighting on the border between Outer Mongolia and Manchoukuo, the European situation and Japan's "fundamental policy" for conclusion of the conflict with China.

"Japan is sincerely anxious to ameliorate relations with the Soviet," the spokesman asserted.

The main questions before the two countries are the demarcation of frontiers on the Asiatic mainland and Japanese fishing rights in Soviet waters.

Some observers said they believed Japan might use the prospect of friendship with Russia as a means to put pressure on the United States and Great Britain for straightening out her problems with them.

Diamond Thefts Near Solution

PARIS, Nov. 18—(CP-Havas).—News from Montreal that a cache of $20,000 supposedly stolen diamonds has been found there to-day caused Paris police to believe they will soon close the case of Benjamin Bercholtz, held here as a suspected gem thief.

Following complaints of seven Parisian diamond dealers, Bercholtz was arrested last July aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain when it stopped at Cherbourg. Although he carried a United States passport he is believed to be a native of Warsaw.

The dealers said they were mulcted by a man who represented himself as the agent of wealthy clients, obtained a number of diamons and then fled.

Inspector Isale Savard of the Canadian Department of National Revenue, announced at Montreal last night that the $20,000 worth of unset diamonds had been found there. They were discovered after a search in which officers of the United States Treasury Department took part.

Remembrance Theme Of Roseneath W.A.

ROSENEATH, Nov. 18—(ENS)—With remebrance as the theme a devotional period was observed during the opening exercises at the regular meeting of the W.A. of the United church on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mesdames E. and C. Sandercock.

Mrs. M. Davey contributed a paper on the theme, Mrs. E. Beech gave a talk describing the Peace Tower at Ottawa, concluding with Col. John McRae's "In Flanders Fields," and Mrs. L. Tucker read an article, "Unfinished Business." These were followed by a brief comment on world conditions by the president.

The sales committee announced orders for several quilts, pillow slips and other articles.

A guessing contest was held on the amount contained in the coin gathering apron, and was won by Mrs. C. Sandercock. Her guess was $13.75, just 22c over the correct amount.

Mrs. M. Davey offered her home for the December meeting and Mrs. W. Robins and Mrs. L. Tucker volunteered as a program committee.

Mrs. Alfred Braithwaite had charge of an interesting program including readings, 'Our Hired Girl' by Fern Blodgett, 'Little Things' by Mrs. W. Robins, a 'Mother's Prayer' by Mrs. C. Grigg, and 'Grand mother's Privileges' by Mrs. C. Sandercock. Mrs. S. Thackeray arranged a contest and Mrs. Andrew Brown won a lucky chair prize.

Young Horse Dies In Farmer's Well

NORWOOD, Nov. 18 — John F. Fleming, Hastings Road, lost a valuable two-year-old colt when it fell into a well on his farm some time on Tuesday night or Wednesday morning.

When the colt was missing on Wednesday morning, Mr. Fleming started searching for it and finally located the animal where it had broken through the covering and landed tail down in the well.

Stewart's service truck was called but the animal died from the shock and exposure before it could be hauled out.

Balkan Countries Reported In Peace Block

A peace bloc of the six Balkan nations of southeastern Europe is reported in informed circles to have been set up for the duration of the present conflict between Germany and France and England. By the reported peace bloc, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Hungary, Greece and Turkey have agreed to make no hostile move against one another, and to refrain from pressing any territorial claims for the duration of the war. Hungary and Bulgaria are not dropping their territorial claims against Rumania, but have agreed that the times are too turbulent for pressing them.

Fever Outbreak Shuts The Schools In Kapuskasing

KAPUSKASING, Nov. 18 — Kapuskasing schools were ordered closed yesterday morning when the Kapuskasing Board of Health took prompt measures to check an epidemic of scarlet fever which has broken out in Kapuskasing.

Six cases have been reported in the past few days and local authorities, fearing a general outbreak of the epidemic, have ordered schools and public buildings closed to children until November 27 or until it is decided that the malady has been checked.

Other steps were taken to discourage the congregating of children during this precautionary period. Co-operation of school principals, ministers, managers of public halls and others has been sought and promised.

Special instructions were given to the school children before the closing of the schools. The children have been asked to remain away from church services and Sunday School for the next few Sundays. The local Community Club and theatre have announced no children will be admitted to the club or shows.

Parents have been asked to exercise strict supervision over the movements of their childrn outside the home and to report immediately any signs of illness.

It was arranged that several members of the local A.Y.P.A. should attend the District Council banquet to be held in Peterborough on November 23. An invitation from the Omemee A.Y.P.A. to join with them in a meeting on Monday evening next was accepted, and arrangements were made for transportation.

As this is the first meeting of this branch since the delegates returned from Provincial Conference at Hamilton, reports were given regarding the program, which was found pleasant and profitable. Misses Muriel Hannah and Marjory Page presented their reports in a most interesting detailed manner.

Following the reports a recreational period was enjoyed, during which several games and contests were sponsored by the president and Miss Marjorie Page. The contest winners were Miss Muriel Hannah and ex-President Lawrence Staples.

The hostess' family served dainty refreshments and a happy social time enjoyed. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Page family for their warm hospitality, by the young people.

An invitation to hold the next regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hannah and family on December 2 was accepted.

Congregation Holds Pot Luck Supper

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 18.—(ENS)—An enthusiastic gathering attended the congregational pot luck supper staged at St. John's United church, last evening. More than one hundred and seventy five attended the affair to which each was invited to bring his favorite victuals. One of the most musing parts of the program for which Rev. G. N. Maxwell was the chairman was an impromptu debate in which four enthusiastic debaters attempted to solve the problem of which is the better half in the family. The subject "Resolved that the Wife is the Better Half" found two married men, C. W. Palliser and M. S. Mowatt the affirmative side of the argument and Mrs. E. C. Roberts and Mrs. A. D. Bennett very capably handled the negative angle. The fact that the three judges Mrs. R. Fox, Miss Helen Partridge, and Mr. S. A. Maguire reserved judgment gave adequate proof of the delicacy of the subject under discussion Other items on the program which was arranged by Mrs. A. G. Watson included a vocal solo by Jack Bleecher; a reading by Marjorie Mills; vocal solo, Miss Jean Tubbs; piano solo, Mrs. Ward Archer; vocal solo, Miss Helen Nicholson; vocal trio, Misses Dorothy Henson, Gladys Stephen, and Ferne Weatherill. Mr. G. W. Lucy lead in community singing and was assisted at the piano by Mr. Arnold Bates.

OBITUARY

MRS. WM. P. FITZGERALD.

BANCROFT, Nov. 18 (ENS). — A pall of sadness was cast over this community when it was announced that Mrs. William P. Fitzgerald had passed away at her home at Mont eagle Valley on Monday morning. Although the deceased had been in poor health for some time, her condition did not become serious until two days before her death, when she suffered a paralytic stroke, and despite loving care and medical attention, she passed away, fortified by the rite sof the Catholic Church of which she was a devoted member.

She was sixty-one years and nine months old, her maiden name was Bridget Anne McAlpine, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James McAlpine. She was born and reared in Monteagle Township a few miles from where she resided at the time of her death.

Surviving are her husband, one daughter Mary of Cheddar, Ont., and two sons, Gregory and Patrick at home, three sisters, Mrs. William Lynchock of Maynooth, Mrs. Patrick Fitzgerald of Green View, and Miss Margaret McAlpine of Bancroft, and four brothers, John J. McAlpine of Maynooth, Francis, Michael, and Thomas, all of Bancroft.

The funeral took place from her home on Wednesday to St. Ignatius Church, Maynooth, where Rev. Gerald Buckley of Pembroke was the celebrant of the Requiem Mass with Rev. L. J. Kennedy of Bancroft present in the sanctuary, while Rev. T. J. Brady of Maynooth presided at the organ and preached the funeral sermon.

The pall-bearers were three brothers. Francis, Michael, and John McAlpine, two brothers-in-law, Joseph Fitzgerald and William Lynchock, and a nephew, William McAlpine.

Discussion on activities for the coming season took place, but the greater portion of this work will fall on the shoulders of the new executive which will be appointed at the next meeting.

Interesting films which were screened during the course of the evening were those of ancient historic scenes as well as some of a more humorous nature.

DAILY WAR SUMMARY

(By Canadian Press.)

The marriages of kings may still be a factor in European politics. In an earlier day wars were sometimes avoided and sometimes caused by the relationships between different royal families.

Yesterday came word from Brussels to the effect Italy and Spain had made representations to Germany in favor of continued neutrality of Holland and Belgium. This despatch recalls the hurried visit of King Leopold of Belgium to Queen Wilhelmina of Holland last week and the subsequent abatement in the alarm felt for a time about German intentions towards Holland and Belgium.

King Leopold's sister is married to the Crown Prince of Italy. The Belgian King is considered one of the best informed men in Europe by reason of his connection with the Italian royal family and the friendly relations he maintains with other kings such as Boris of Bulgaria and Carol of Rumania.

Did Belgium King Warn Queen Wilhelmina

It is not improbable the King learned something from his sources of information which he felt bound to impart to the Queen of Holland without delay. Perhaps it was a warning. Perhaps it was a suggestion that by taking a certain course he might avert danger. The fact that the prospect of a German invasion of Holland was mentioned in the strictly controlled Italian press is also not without its significance.

While Italy has not actively supported its axis partner in the present war and, again according to the controlled Italian press, reacts unfavorably to Germany's alliance with Communist Russia, against which both countries were once pledged to fight, Premier Mussolini and his government still remain benevolently neutral with regard to Germany.

Italian ports provide Germany with access to Mediterranean trade routes. It would hardly pay Germany to take a course which would incur Italian hostility.

Canadian Unit War Cries Recall Spring '18 And King's Initiation In Varsity Whoops

OTTAWA, Nov. 18—(CP).—The Canadian Active Service Force is going collegiate with various units stationed here developing yells that someday might astound Hitler's legions.

At various army gatherings where strict formality is not required, the Royal Canadian Artillery have announced their arrival with a roof-raising cheer like a college yell in a football stadium—"R.C.A.! R.C.A.! Rah! Rah! Rah!" and the Cameron Highlanders have their stentorian "C-A-M-E-R-O-N! Cameron!" To show a healthy espirit des corps.

There is a record of a memorable occasion when a Canadian unit went collegiate in the first Great War and made the headlines in every London newspaper.

The 21st Canadian Tank Battalion, mobilized in Ottawa in the spring of 1918, consisted of three companies with one each from Toronto, Queens and McGill universities with representation from other Canadian universities. Shortly after their arrival in England in the late summer, the battalion was inspected by King George V at Lulworth Cove in Dorsetshire.

The ceremony terminated with the usual cheers for His Majesty and then there was the inevitable anti-climax while the King and his staff prepared to leave the ground and the battalion stood at ease.

Suddenly No. 1 Company commenced to ask the world "M-C-G-I-L-L—what's the matter with old McGill" and No. 2 Company followed with "Toronto, Toronto —Toronto-Varsity." Then the boys from Queens whooped out the Gaelic yell of the tricolor.

The royal party was first astounded and then amused. The London papers featured the demonstration by references to the Canadian war cry.

Varied Program Well Presented By Wooding Southland Singers

A colored vocal orchestra that in its rhythmic singing was as up to the minute as a modern dance band delighted a large audience in the Collegiate Auditorium, Friday night, when the Wooding Southland Singers, were heard in a varied program under the auspices of the local Y's Men's club. This ensemble, organized two years ago by the Philadelphia Baptist Union proved a well-balanced chorus of negro women and men, equipped with fine voices, giving evidence of capable training and directed by a conductor who had his own ideas and knew how to put them to work in novel arrangements that were decidedly effective.

Samuel Wooding was formerly the leader of a well-known orchestra and he used his vocal combination in producing surprising effects. He did not hesitate to interject a swing arrangment of several of his numbers, even treating such standards as "Suwanee River" to a stream-lined rendition.

The chorus sang four groups, two of them composed of negro spirituals, some of which were heard for the first time. It was at its best in these characteristic negro songs, particularly in the concluding group which was more serious in trend than the opening spirituals. The sheer joy of singing which seems inherent in colored artists was exemplified by the Wooding Singers in their rendition of such popular spirituals as "Great Day", "The Old Ark," "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray" and "Certainly Lord and was emphasized in the final group which included "He Arose from the Dead," "Little David," "There'll be a Great Camp Meeting" and "Go Down, Moses," the latter with a solo by Joseph Williams, who was the meatured soloist of the ensemble and displayed a resonant baritone voice which he used to the fullest advantage.

Sandwiched between the two offerings of spirituals were a number of plantation songs and a few modern numbers including "Old Man River' from "Show Boat,' the solo by Joseph Williams, and a novel arrangement of "St. Louis Blues." The Southland Singers showed how new beauty and charm could be obtained from such barber shop harmony selections as "In the Evening by the Moonlight" and the piccaninny lullaby number "Kentucky Babe" while what they did to that favorite of service club community singing leaders "Old MacDonald's Farm' had to be heard to be appreciated. It was about as funny a demonstration of musical fooling as has been heard here. The ensemble scored too in the perennial favorite of all negro combination "Oh Dem Golden Slippers," in the railway work song "The Song of the Extra Gang" and in what Mr. Wooding called the "tall tale number" "Fourteen Men."

Jack Nicholls, president of the Y's Men's club, in a brief introductory speech, thanked the audience for its support and said that the Y's Men's club, in addition to assisting the Y. M. C. A. had branched out into another field of community service and had undertaken to supply shoes to children who otherwise would be unable to attend school because of the lack of the necessary footwear.

Jail Door Fixed. Drunken Cell Parties End

ORILLIA, Nov. 18 — (CP). — Prisoners won't stage any more drunken parties in Orillia jail—anyway not if the contractor made a good job of fixing the cell door.

Twice in as many weeks prisoners smashed into a cell containing liquor seized on raids, and staged parties. But Police Chief William G. Carson said it wouldn't have happened the second time if the contractor he hired to fix the cell door had not been two days late.

The five latest celebrators were sentenced by Magistrate C. F. Bick yesterday to five months' imprisonment on charges of shopbreaking. The men were transients and they sampled the jail-stored liquor on November 10 last. Previously three youthful prisoners staged a similar party and earned three-month sentences.

Sergeant John Abernethy testified yesterday that he went to the jail from he police office early in the morning "because of the big noise the transients were making." He said he found the five men "under the influence of liquor."

"The contractor I had hired to fix the cell door with steel after the first offence was two days late in coming," said Chief Carson, explaining how the cell-breaking had happened twice. "But the cell is like the Rock of Gibraltar now."

Japs May Court Russians To Work Britain

TOKYO, Nov. 18—(AP).—Observers expressed belief today Japan might use potential friendship with Soviet Russia as a lever for straightening out her problems with Great Britain and the United States.

This view was offered after a foreign office spokesman described Japanese-Russian relations as more favorable than ever before for settlement of outstanding questions, such as Japanese fishing rights in Soviet waters.

Another interpretation was that Japan might be seeking assurances of a Russian source for oil and other war materials in the event an embargo followed the United States' abrogation of her 1911 commerce and amity treaty with Japan.

(The United States announced July 26 the treaty would be terminated six months from that date.)

The foreign office spokesman, ascribing a "distinct amelioration" to war in Europe and the truce of Sept. 6 in the Mongolia-Manchoukuo strife, declared Japan is eager to improve her relation with Russia.

FASHIONABLE SALUTE

By ALICE ALDEN

THERE'S MORE than one way to dress for the Army and the Navy but don't forget that artificial flowers are out of the competition on this big football day. A plaid suit with topcoat lined in matching plaid cries for chrysanthemums. A dressy coat, such as this wine-colored model with beaver trim, allows a little leeway. Why not epaulets of carnations; or, if preferred, the same arrangement in tiny orchids or gardenias? The coat, incidentally, is this season's version of the Edwardian silhouette with its tiny waistline, and the doll-like hat is in beaver to repeat the trim.

Don't Take Chances On "Pickups"—Be Good, Or You May Be Dead Is An Axiom That Holds Fast, Especially In These Days Of Seeming Irresponsibility By Young People.

DEAR MISS DIX—What do you think about girls "picking up" boys on street corners, in parks and other places, and about them getting into automobiles with strange men who offer them a ride? I have the habit of doing it. So does my girl friend. What should we do about it?—LORRAINE.

ANSWER:

Are you an imbecile, too dumb to know what you are doing? Or are you a foolhardy dare-devil who is willing to risk everything, even life, for the sake of having a little fun? You must be one or the other or you would realize that for a lamb to walk into a lion's den is not so dangerous as for young girls to pick up men on the street, and particularly to go off riding in cars with men whom they have never seen before.

It is a thing that no decent girl would do, and when a girl does show such an utter lack of all feminine modesty and reserve, a man naturally concludes that she is no better than she should be and feels free to offer her any kind of insult. Aside from all questions of morality and propriety, I wonder that girls don't refrain from picking up boys on the street, because it is the most hazardous pastime in which they can engage. Every newspaper in the country is filled with the accounts of the bruised and beaten and broken bodies of young girls that have been stuffed in a sewer or hidden under the refuse of some deserted house and almost without exception when the murder is traced to its source it is found that the crime was committed by some boy or boys the girl picked up on the street.

Don't you girls, who think it is a gay adventure to pick up loafing lads on a street corner, or benchwarmers in a park, or any man with a car and go off with him to some cheap beer hall or dance place, ever read the newspapers? Didn't you read that story of which the papers were full only a few weeks ago that told of the two girls who went off with a strange man who brutally murdered one and beat up the other one until she was almost dead? And did that tragic story serve as no warning to you? Didn't it make you realize that such a fate might be yours, and that the end of your joyride might be death and worse than death to you?

In all the accounts of the murdered young girls that fills the papers I cannot recall even one in which the victim was a good girl, a girl who watched her step and was careful of her conduct and who took the trouble to investigate the character of a man before she honored him with her society.

So it is hardly too much to say to girls in these days: Be good or you will be dead. Don't go out with any man of whom you know nothing if you value your life. Every time you make a pick-up you are taking a chance of becoming one more girl in the morgue waiting for identification.

DEAR MISS DIX—In a marriage where there are just two children and no more expected, which should be elder, the boy or the girl? We are looking at it only from the standpoint of the children's value to each other. My wife says that the boy should be the older than the girl, since because girls mature earlier than boys each child will have the benefit of mutual interests, friends, etc. I say that if the girl is the older her early maturity and consequent worldly experience would prove to be a basis for the mutual interest and thus both children would profit; that is, the girl could pass on to the boy what she has learned about life and that would be helpful to him in his growing up. We seem to be stalemated in this discussion. Can you give us some point that we may not have thought of?—TWO AT ODDS.

ANSWER:

I can certainly give you one pointer that will end the discussion, and that is that neither one of you will have the slightest say-so in deciding whether your first child will be a boy or a girl. That is on the knees of the gods, for chief among the mysteries that science has never been able to solve is the determination of sex.

Hundreds of people have thought that they could control it, but not one has been able to do it. You will recall that one of the laughs of last Summer was on the gentleman who was so sure that he could foretell exactly the date on which his son would be born that he announced it before-hand in all the papers. And then a girl baby was born a couple of weeks later than she was scheduled to arrive.

Personally, it does not seem to me to make much difference whether the boy or the girl is the elder child unless there is to be a long space between the two. I think a brother five years older than a sister could be a great help to her when she begins to go about in society, because he would know the boys whom it would be desirable for her to know and introduce her into the right set. Also, an elder brother is the best chaperon in the world, because he knows what the young people are doing and Mother doesn't.

But if the girl is the elder by even two years she is so much older in reality than her brother that they have little in common. About all the effect she has upon him is to nag him about combing his hair and washing behind his ears. Older sisters are generally pretty tyrannical and quite unpopular with Little Brother.

However, you will find when you have children that it isn't the brothers and sisters who form each other's characters and are mutually helpful, it is the outsiders—the other children with whom they go, the boy across the street and the girl next door.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — Some years ago my girl friend came to me crying and begged me to marry her because her parents were going to turn her out of her home. I did not love her, but I married her through pity and because I was only a boy of 19. I have made a nice living and provided a good home for my wife, but she is insanely jealous and does not want me out of her sight. I have told her that I did not love her and never did, and have offered her everything we have and agreed to support her the balance of her life if she would give me my freedom. I don't ask for a divorce, but for her just to let me alone. I have stood her nagging as long as I can. Please tell me what to do?—C. W.

ANSWER:

Go to see a lawyer. He will arrange a separation for you. There is no reason that you should stand for the persecution of this woman who forced herself upon you in the first place.

Beautify Double Window

So handsome are these fringe-trimmed curtains with their graceful swags! They make an ordinary window the high point of the room.

In rose or silver rayon damask they are especially lovely—and the fringe trimming is effective in either a matching or a contrasting hue.

The formal swag valance for each window is cut the width of the top casing plus a generous allowance at sides for turn-ins. To allow for draping, cut the material twice the depth of the finished swag, shape lower edge and slant ends as the diagram shows.

Valances and side draperies, too, will look richer if lined with an inexpensive sateen. Then you apply the fringe with a simple running stitch, hang draperies on rods, tack valances to valance board.

How to make the lovely frothy glass curtains, cut them so they'll hang full and even?

Follow the easy directions and diagrams given in our 32-page booklet. Tells how to make glass curtains, drapery-curtains, draperies, casement curtains, valances, cornices. Gives tips on fabrics, colors, trimmings.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of NEW IDEAS IN MAKING CURTAINS AND DRAPERIES to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

....That Madame Schiaparelli of Paris has designed her new dresses, coats and suits with pockets of all kinds, pockets in the coat lining that zip for safety; underneath the hem of a wool dress a huge pocket; large saddle pockets graduating to smaller ones; huge shirred pockets right across the front or side-front of a frock.

....These are to take care of what the Parisienne calls "the butter," meaning all her valuables, insurance papers and what not. Purses and handbags will no longer do for these, since they can be too easily dropped in the excitement of an air raid.

....Weeks of carrying a gas mask in the orthodox fashion, the strap swung across the right shoulder and the mask hanging from the left hip has given the Paris women a new cross-shoulder line in clothes, also, with the suit jacket fastening on this slant, and the jacket-back following the same cross-shoulder swing line, from right shoulder to left hip.

Courses Planned For Training Of Prairie Girls

SASKATOON Nov. 17—(CP) — New fields will be opend up for country girls shortly in Saskatchewan when courses in housekeeping home and convalescent aid and dressmaking are begun in the rural districts.

Arranged primarily for girls from 18 to 30 from farms, villages and towns of not more than 1,500 population, the courses will be conducted at residences in Humboldt, Kamsack and Cadillac.

Enrolment for the specialized training is under the direction of Miss Bertha Oxner of the University of Saskatchewan who is in charge of the womens section of the provincial youth training program organized by the University in conjunction with the provincial and Federal governments.

"It's a sort of co-operative life idea," Miss Oxner explained to interviewers. In Humboldt and Kamsack, large houses will be used as residences for the girls. The housekeeping group will be in charge of the cooking and housework and the dressmaking students will make uniforms for the housekeepers. At Cadillac a floor of the hotel has been obtained for the students. Following such practical experience it is hoped the girls will be placed in small town hotels, homes and hospitals.

Transportation from any part of Saskatchewan to the training schools is provided under the plan for the girls who wish to take advantage of the courses. "Because a girl does not live near the towns in which the schools are located, she need not feel reticent about applying," Miss Oxner said.

The Stars Say . . .

For Sunday, November 19.

Sunday's horoscope holds testimonies of a contradictory nature. While there are auguries of happiness, success and much activity of a social interest, with much visiting, probably comradeship and courtship or other sentimental relations, there also are signs of turmoil, strife and recklessness.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a productive and progressive year, with the fortunes favored and with many pleasant business and social contacts. But these may be put in jeopardy by rash, impetuous and ill-governed behavior. Moderation and restrain should permit the auspicious auguries to rule.

A child born on this day may be energetic, practical and have good creative abilities and fair ambitions, but it also may be tempestuous, passionate, and wilful. Early direction and discipline would help a promising career.

For Monday, November 20.

Monday's astrological forecast is for sudden and surprising developments. There may be unforeseen change, journeys or removals, with new matters and distant interests uppermost. And while there are favorable auguries, at the same time there are conflicting and adverse signs. Be cautious with business as well as private correspondence, and avert unhappy complications.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of unexpected change or adventure, involving new objectives, persons and environs. With caution and vigilance, trouble, trickery or fraud may be avoided. Social and domestic activities may give much pleasure. Be prepared for surprises in all affairs.

A child born on this day may be talented in unusual lines, with much originality and independence in thought and action. It may be fond of adventure and frequent change in residence and employment.

DON'T GIVE YOUR CHILD

A "Bargain" Remedy You Don't Know All About

A child's life is beyond the price of pennies

Ask your Doctor before giving your child doubtful "bargain" remedies. No family need take this chance today.

Wait. Think first. Are you absolutely sure you should give a single dose of that drug to your child? Internally? It was sold, you recall, as "something just as good", for a few pennies less.

A very dear purchase it could be! For your own peace of mind alone, give no home remedy you're not quite certain about without getting your own doctor's opinion. And never go against it.

Even in the case of the common children's remedy, milk of magnesia, ask your doctor what he approves. And when he says "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" see that you get exactly that by asking expressly for "Phillips'" when you buy . . . never ask for just "milk of magnesia".

If your child prefers Phillips' in the newer form—tiny peppermint-flavored tablets, give it this way. But whether you get liquid Phillips' or Phillips' Tablets get the genuine Phillips'. Look for the name "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" on bottle or box.

Absence Leave Is Given Dr. G. M. Fraser

The Board of Health Friday night granted leave of absence to Dr. G. Murray Fraser, Medical Officer of Health, during the period of his war service as Medical Officer of the artillery brigade of the First Division. He was directed to report for duty next Tuesday.

Alderman Dutton expressed regret that Dr. Fraser's work with the Board was being interrupted, and also hoped for him a safe return. "We know that Dr. Fraser will acquit himself well wherever he goes," Alderman Dutton said.

Dr. Fraser, who was in the Great War with the 21st Battalion, said he had been recommended for the appointment by headquarters of Military District No. 3 subject to passing medical fitness test. He went to Kingston on Tuesday, and was found to be medically fit.

"I am sorry in a way to be leaving," Dr. Fraser said. "I hope whoever follows me will carry on the work we started, especially the inoculation of children.' He referred particularly to the work that had been done in the Separate Schools of the city.

The Board decided to wait until their meeting next Tuesday night to consider the appointment of a substitute Medical Officer of Health. Mayor Hamilton said he would ask Dr. Waite to look after any emergent calls. Alderman Stocker presided, and the other members present were Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen Dutton and McCannan.

United States Entrenched In South America

Despite all talk of Nazi and Fascist penetration in South America, the United States is the only country that has more than scratched the surface of that vast land, according to LeRoy Toll, who lectured at George Street United Church Friday night.

One of the two Toll brothers who hitch-hiked their way through the countries of South America, arriving back in Canada this summer, he said in an interview, last night, that he had found some suspicion of the United States' plans by South Americans, but that they were nevertheless firmly entrenched there. Gravest suspicion of people with whom he talked was that Roosevelt's Good Neighbor policy was a blind for domination of all economy and culture—although none went so far as to claim it would lead to armed domination. The inference was rather that armed force would be unnecessary after economic invasion.

But that attitude, although held by many people in different countries, did not mean that penetration by the United States was not seeping into every corner of the land. He said that everything was becoming Americanized—even to culture.

Fear and Distrust.

On the other hand, the Nazis are continually inspiring fear and distrust in South American people by their methods. They inspire ill-timed revolts that wreck Germany's aim by their very failure. And news of the methods Germany and Italy have used toward smaller countries is not endearing them there, he said. He admitte dthat the Nazis had made definite advances of late in their planned penetration but compared it to "an advance from perhaps seven to nine per-cent by the United States." And he argued that only the Nazis barter policy had permitted that. For while the United States wants gold for her sales of manufactured goods to South America, Germany is only too willing to trade her manufactures for raw products that she needs at home—raw products that would be a glut on the U. S. market. "Germany would have made far greater economic gains in South America by remaining at peace with the rest of the world, than she can ever hope to make by war of conquest in Europe,' he declared.

Addressed Pupils.

LeRoy Toll lectured to a full auditorium at George Street church after addressing pupils at the Collegiate earlier in the day.

He had excellent photographs and moving pictures to illustrate his colorful lecture and the large audience gave rapt attention to the tale of two young Canadians, sons of Rev. S. T. Toll and graduates of Victoria College, who completed their 16-month hike through Latin America last June.

It was a romantic tale of adventure and determination that came from the lips of the young traveller. The journey carried him and his brother through the United States, across the Rio Grande into Mexico, Central America and Panama and then on into South America.

Disputed Territory.

They penetrated the jungles to the headwaters of the Amazon in the disputed territory between Ecuador and Peru, home of the notorius head-hunting Jivaros Indians; they crossed the mighty Andes, where often there was not even a trail, fording the dangerous rivers, sleeping in Indian grass huts, or huddled by night over a smudge fighting off the dreaded malaria-bearing mosquito. They slept in the deserted Inca Temple at Machu Picchu and visited inland Boliva; were shaken by the great Chilean earthquake of January of this year. LeRoy Toll had countless stories of romance and adventure to relate to their audience and he did his subject full justice.

Condition Of Baby Remains Unchanged

Alparka Cinema Staff In Morning Hop To Toronto To Film Santa's Parade

Alparka pictures-in-color may be a contribution to, if not a development of, cinema art any day.

Get ready for the surprise of seeing on the film, may be on some film or other, the legend: Photography by Bert O. McLeod.

Fred Roy and the Toll Brothers and all the brotherhood of the Haliburton yearning had better look to their laurels, for the head of the Alparka emporium is probably being strongly tempted these days to pack a bag and sling his Cine Kodak over a shoulder and head off for new and far places to catch in motion and color.

According to reports from the Alparka neighborhood it seems that on odd nights down there the boss trots out some of his pictures for the last stragglers of the nocturnal coffee club, shots of the Woodbine, and the Royal Tour, stretches of summer and autumnal glories of woods and field and lake, action bits of the Orfuns. Any one who buys a Cine usually hooks a projector up with the purchase.

The next showing may include considerable footage of the Santa Claus parade in Toronto this morning. Somebody mentioned it last night, and one thing led to the other, with the result that the boss wheeled off about daybreak this morning with a couple of his staff to see Santa Claus in all his big town glory; and got back here by noon without any of the customers being aware of the morning absence on the Cine trip or even suspecting this Hollywood hobby of the Alparka merchant.

'Denholme' Gift To Nuns By T. H. G. Denne

T. H. G. Denne has given three islands and his beautiful summer lodge "Denholme" at Stoney Lake to the Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital,—"as an appreciation of the many kindnesses of the Sisters to me and mine."

In confirming the splendid gift, Mr. Denne was reluctant to discuss it, simply saying "All I hope is that the Sisters enjoy it as much as I did.'

Mother Mary Esther, Mother Superior of St. Joseph's Hospital, informed the Examiner Friday of Mr. Denne's benefaction to the Sisters of the hospital, intimating that it was to provide for them a summer vacationing place for them at the lake.

Mother Esther, Sister St. Joseph and several other members of the hospital staff were beaming with delight in the very agreeable surprise of Mr. Denne's present to the Sisterhood, when the Examiner called Friday afternoon.

"Denholme" is one of the largest summer residences at Stoney Lake. It is the only cottage on an island located a short distance from Juniper Island store on the Burleigh channel. Between the cottage and Juniper is a small island of this group, and the third one is on the opposite side of "Denholme" site.

Farmers To Mark Silver Jubilee

Members of the county council, representatives of the Ontario Milk Producers and U.F.O. Club are planning to attend some of the meetings that are being held in Toronto next week in connection with the Silver Jubilee of the United Farmers of Ontario,—the U.F.O.

The quarterly meeting of the Ontario Milk Producers is slated for Monday in Toronto, and local delegates are likely to remain for the Tuesday sessions of the program that is open to all farmers of the province. The first speaker Tuesday morning will be the Hon. Mr. Dewan, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture. He will be followed by ten short speeches by the heads of various farm commodity groups.

The feature of the morning is likely to be the address by H. S. Arkell of Ottawa who spent two years in making a special study of marketing conditions and problems around the world.

The afternoon is being assigned to a general discussion of plans for agricultural organization in Ontario not only as a war time economy but as a permanent policy if the conversations can arrive at that stage of progress.

The business meetings of the U.F.O. Co-operative are being held on Wednesday and Thursday, marking the 25th anniversary of this farm movement.

Among those going from Peterborough may be the members of the county council who are especially attracted by the prospect of discussion of the Chamber of Agriculture Tuesday.

LONDON.— Convicts in Exeter prison kept up a night-long chorus last night of "we're Englishmen, we want to fight." Prisoners were confined to their cells and all guards recalled. About 20 prisoners serving sentences of less than three years were involved.

MOSCOW.— The Russian press continued its thrusts at Finland today, printing a Tass (Russian News Agency) dispatch from Helsingfors describing the "pititful plight" of the working class of that country. The government announced award of more than 16,000 decorations "for valor and merit" to Red Army soldiers and political organizers.

BALTIMORE—Five attack bombers left the Glenn L. Martin aircraft plant yesterday bound for New York and trans-shipment to France. A company spokesman said the plant was turning out three planes daily to fill the French government's order for 245 ships.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana.—British Guiana will stand on its own feet for the duration of the war, Acting Governor Sir John Waddington said yesterday as he announced plans for turning a deficit into a surplus in 1940. With an estimated deficit of $210,467, the government hopes to have a surplus of $87,533 by boosting income and export taxes.

The Philippines' eight-hour labor law has been temporarily suspended.

Youth Awakens To Find Room Full Of Smoke

Leo Emery, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Emery, 285 Wolfe street, had a narrow escape from death this morning when he woke in his home to find himself suffocating from smoke.

It was shortly before four o'clock in the morning that the young man, alone in the house, woke coughing from smoke and rushed outside to sound an alarm. He rang in the alarm at a box at the corner of Wolfe and Townsend streets and firemen soon had the blaze extinguished. Damage from flames and smoke was estimated by Fire Chief George Gimblett at approximately $200.

The blaze started in a clothes closet and remained confined to that place, but smoke had filled the house. Had it been unnoticed for a short time longer, the home would probably have burned to the ground. Emery came close to death from either asphyxiation or burns. None had been at home all the preceding afternoon or evening until Emery went to bed and firemen are investigating the origin of the fire.

TUTOR IS WINNER OF MANCHESTER NOVEMBER HANDICAP RACE

Gambling Briton Sighs Relief As Races Go On

LONDON, Nov 18—(CRP)— The gambling Briton, who thinks it unsporting not to back his sentiments with a bob or two, has been fidgeting since the outbreak of war—trying to find something to bet on.

When racing, football and "the dogs" were cancelled originally, he sought other fields for speculation. A slave to habit, the Briton went to great lengths to find a spot for the cash budgeted for "a good 'un in the 1.30." But he didn't get much kick out of backing horses he'd never heard of in obscure Irish meetings and even wagering on unknown baseball teams in a world series—a game he refuses to recognize as anything but "rounders," played by sissies.

So it was with great relief that he heard restricted race programs would be started, followed later by the announcement the "tote" would resume operations. Totalisator betting had been suspended because of the early curtailment in racing fixtures In the meantime the older trade of bookmaking made a brief comeback at meetings which included the lucrative Cambridgeshire and Cesarewitch. Hundreds of retired bookies dug their bright umbrellas out of the attic and shouted their odds with a new vigor.

Meanwhile the 10,000,000 regular British football pool patrons—who spent about £50,000,000 on forecasts last season—and the 25,000 pool employees, prepared to resume operations under slightly different conditions.

At first the Government turned thumbs down on the pools on the ground they caused too great a strain on the Post Office in wartime, though in normal times the Post Office was glad to handle pool mailings, a considerable source of revenue. However, the Government finally permitted resumption of the pools, the entry blanks to be printed in newspapers instead of mailed to clients.

The sport faring best in the transition from peace to war has been "the dogs," or greyhound racing. Blackout regulations forced promoters to agate their fixtures—normally held under the floodlights—in the afternoon. But patrons soon got the "daylight dogs" habit. In the first few weeks gate and totalisator figures at one big London stadium showed only one-third decrease compared with the peak period of pre-war night meetings.

The stadium's average Saturday afternoon attendance has been 12,000, of whom 3,000 are women. The tote turnover has averaged £5,000 for each of the eight races, totalling £40,000 for an afternoon or about £3 a person.

The other big medium of chance money—the Irish hospital sweepstakes—has also taken on a wartime complexion. It will be reconstituted to benefit Red Cross war efforts.

And once again the newsboy shouting "all the winnahs" finds a ready market for his wares in this sandbagged city, tired of reading "all quiet on the West front."

Northern Reindeer Start New Herd

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 18 — (CP). — With nine caribou captured in Northern Saskatchewan forming the nucleus of a new herd the United States Soil Conservation Service is attempting to rehabilitate his almost extinct species in the heart of a 2,000,000-acre bog in Minnesota.

The fight to save the caribou on the western plains was begun by W. T. Cox, biologist for the Conservation Service, who discovered in 1937 that only three cows were known to exist in the "big bog" where previously mighty herds had roamed. The climax of the experiment will be reached next year when all the imported beasts have been released from the 2,000-acre "acclimatizing" enclosure on the shore of Upper Red Lake.

Already one mature Canadian bull has been set loose with the three native cows and has been travelling closely with them, giving hope of offspring early next year.

In 1938, Cox appeared to the United States Government for aid in the rehabilitation and was granted funds to purchase 10 animals from the Canadian Government provided he arrange for them himself.

Two months of trapping finally netted 10 caribou, eight of which were calves, one an adult bull, and one a yearling bull, in the Canadian Montreal Lake area.

Transporting the animals from the wilderness proved arduous. Each had to be tied and carried on horseback. At intervals the caravan stopped to exersise the caribou and ward off weakness due to loss of blood circulation. At Prince Albert, reached in June, the animals were individually crated and shipped by rail to Hsudette, Minn., on Lake of the Woods. Shortly after arrival one of the calves died.

PRO PUCK PERSONALITIES

EDDIE SHORE
Boston Bruins

By Central Press Canadian

Not much can be said about Eddie Shore from any angle that hasn't already been said, not once, but a few dozen times. The mighty Boston Bruin defenceman is only making N.H.L. appearances for the Bruins' home games (at $200 per) this year, spending the rest of the time at his job as owner of the Springfield team in the International - American league. He's just about a unanimous choice for an all-time all-star berth, and has made The Canadian Press annual every year since it was inaugurated except once when he played in less than half the scheduled games. The record books list him as being born at Fort Qu' Appelle, Sask., in the neighborhood of 36 years ago, and he came hurtling into the major league picture in 1926. Eddie shows no quarter to the opposition and expects none for himself. And the opposition has been very obliging in the latter respect. He has come battling through aches, pains, cuts, bruises and mental and physical turmoil with his brilliance undiminished. He doesn't rush with the puck as often as he once did, but as an all-round defenceman he had no equal in the league last year. He has posted 101 goals, 174 assists and 17 hours and 14 minutes on the penalty bench during his carer.

SPORTS—DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEL PERDUE

P.C.I. senior gridders got away in good time today for their sudden-death playoff melee with Belleville Collegians in Port Hope. The game was billed for 2.30 o'clock, and arrangements have been made to get the quarterly scores wired back to The Examiner. It was expected that quite a flock of followers of the Garnet and Grey—mostly students—would journey down the highway and ring the gridiron at Trinity College School, whooping it up for deah old alma mater. Something about these high school rugby frays that tingles the blood and drags out the fans even in freezing weather. It all depends on today's tilt whether or not there'll be another football game seen in Peter's borough this autumn.

* * * * * *

On several fronts will the pigskins tower toward the sky this afternoon, and a very fine afternoon it should be for the sport, too. Local grid enthusiasts will be interested in that senior O.R.F.U. playoff in Sarnia, Westmounts being the visitors—and mayhap the victims. It's first of a two-game series, points counting, for the Ontario Union title. We like the Imps' chances by a narrow margin. Impartial fans through the province will also wonder how the Argos are making out in Ottawa—and, not being a grid expert, and not having seen these teams play, we wouldn't hazard a guess.

* * * * * *

Just A Little Yelp

Falling in line with sports writers of a lot of towns—maybe we ought to have a union and stage a sit-down strike (Ed. Note: What do ya do every day?)—we wish to add our yelp to sports organizations for not having proper press facilities. We mean good press boxes for games, steady pre-game information, and transportation facilities. Not just to please the writers—who would sometimes prefer to be somewhere else, anyway—but for the benefit of fans, who read pre-game dope and the follow-up accounts. It is the least one would expect for the newspaper gees. They usually are treated okay, and several of the sports bodies here handle this item with due consideration, but others aren't bustin' their necks to assist the writers. There are four or five sports writers in this town, counting the Toronto correspondents—and their feelings must be considered.

* * * * * *

Just a reminder, we'd like to say that scribes should get passes for all sports events, eliminating any possible argument at the gate. They certainly deserve elbow room in a fairly comfortable and fairly private press box. And clubs looking for advance publicity cannot expect the writers to chase all over town digging up pre-game plugs. Also if clubs want decent coverage through a season they should make arrangements to transport the sports scribbler with 'em. If they don't, he'll simply wire the town where the game is and ask for a brief story on the game—and it'll be written up by another writer who has no sympathy nor interest in that team. Oh, well, we just thought we'd shove in this reminder between seasons.

He Wants Work Here

Percy Bond was telling us yesterday of a gridder and puckist who would like to come here. He is Bill Crossen, a 24-year-old lad scaling 180 pounds, and at present he's playing rugby for Cobourg. Comes from Manitoba and was a sub with Winnipeg Bombers. And a re-instated pro from the Tulsa hockeyists, Mr. Bond states. Bill is a son of Lyle (Jimmy) Crossen who used to play hockey for St. Andrew's College and was known here. The youth it seems, wants to settle down and get work with a future to it—and Mr. Bond believes he'd be a good bet in this town, not only as a clean-cut athlete but an ambitious worker. He is a flying wing in rugby and defenceman in hockey.

* * * * * *

Down in Oshawa last e'en, the Petes had a stiff workout which included half an hour of scrimmaging. All on deck but Les Burton, who has a sore foot, and Jim Ellis—away hunting. Both are expected out at Tuesday's drill. Harding and McNabb were in goal, while one defence pair was Don Crowe and Drake Jopling and the other was Jack Gardner and Dude Brady. A trio of forward lines, Tompkins, Kingdon and Jack Jopling on one; Starr, Heal and Coughlin onsanother; and Blewett, Parnell and Ouimet on the third. Also several other puckists in action. The players are beginning to get their second wind and their ice legs now, with workouts next week probably becoming more stream-lined. Anyone wanting to take some of the gang down (getting paid for gas) the rest of the month might notify Bill Jackson.

* * * * * *

Boosts For Clapper

Baz O'Meara speaks highly of Dit Clapper, Hastings gift to pro hockey. Says he: "You saw Dit Clapper in the greatest of many fine games that he has shown on Montreal ice. A smooth competent workman sparking the Boston attack in a manner that Shore could not excel. In fact, you saw one of the finest all-around games on attack and defence offered by a visiting player in many seasons. Clapper is a big handsome fellow, as fine a proportioned athlete as you will meet in any dressing room in mufti or monkey suit. To those who have been weeping bitterly in their beards over the imminent passing of Eddie Shore, we would say to stay their tears. Eddie will be missed, we think, more at the box office than on the ice. If you must have a successor—and every king, president and great player has one—we give you without reserve Aubrey Clapper. You can take him, which will be more than many of his forward line opponents will do throughout the winter."

* * * * * *

Quite a crowd enjoyed the successful water meeting in the Y.W. last p.m. when the senior city championship swims were held. Ethel Barnes copped the Morrow Cup as the senior winner—and seemed to be popping up regularly for prizes at the presentation period. In the intermediate diving competition Angeline DeCarlo came first to take the Comstock Trophy. And the babies' championship, for the Wood Trophy, was won by Margaret Curry. In the life-saving race, Ethel Barnes and Jean McLeod teamed up to take first place. A bunch of Y.M. boys took part in the excellent aqua show, put on by Miss Caroline Littlefield, and as usual the ornamental water work of the Silver Finnettes pretty nearly stole the performance. A good meet all around.

"Rose Man" Dies

KEARNEY, Ont., Nov. 18—(CP).—Harold J. Mills, 51, of Richmond Hill, 10 miles north of Toronto, recognized as one of Canada's foremost "rose men," died Wednesday at his hunting lodge in this Parry Sound district.

One of his outstanding contributions to the profession he served with sucess for 30 years was the production of a rose in 1938 which achieved immediate popularity and won a gold medal at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, as the best unnamed variety on display.

Argos In Ottawa Attack Line Badly Crippled

OTTAWA, Nov. 18—(CP)—Toronto Argonauts, a little ragged around the edges with injuries but still carrying all the prestige of Dominion champions, re-open a grim inter-city football feud here to-day with Ottawa Rough Riders in the first game of the two-game, points-to-count Big Four playoff.

The Scullers came to town last night without Jimmy Farmer, their ace plunging back, and it was announced he will be out of the game for the season, seriously crippling the double blues attack. There is also some doubt if Art West will play this afternoon.

Coach Lew Hayman, whose mother is seriously ill in New York, flew to Montreal from Manhattan and took a train to Ottawa to be on the bench when his Argos tangle with Ottawa.

Riders appear to be in their season's best form and were slight favorites in the capital to take the first game but there was only a little betting and then all at even money.

They haven't forgotten the trimming Toronto handed them in the playoffs last season and know only too well the Scullers seem to play their best football when it counts most.

But co-captain Bunny Wadsworth went out on the limb with this pre-game forecast. "Today is going to be our day," commented the huge middle wing. "This team is in better physical and mental shape than I have ever seen any Ottawa team and it isn't going to fool with Argonauts this time. Take it from me, we're going to town today."

Neither coach would announce his lineup before the start of the game.

Remember When—

The $10,000 Diamond Belt the citizens of Boston presented to John L. Sullivan in 1887 was sold at auction in New York for $5,900, 36 years ago today. Sullivan won the London Prize Ring bare-knuckle championship in 1882, and defended it for the last time in 1889, against the challenge of Jake Kilrain. Sullivan retired three year safter defeating Kilrain and carried the title until his death at the age of 60 at Abington, Mass., in 1918.

Elephant Returns

HULL, Que., Nov. 18—(CP).—The "big game" hunt for the 35-pound ornamental china elephant which disappeared yesterday for the third time in the past few weeks from the lobby of a local hotel apparently was successful, for the little pachyderm last night was seen in its accustomed place. But nobody came forth to claim credit for its "capture." Police and hotel employees would not say how it was recovered.

South Australia Leads In Cricket

ADELAIDE, Australia, Nov. 18.—(CP Cable)—Close Sheffield Shield cricket matches being played here and at Brisbane showed South Australia ahead of Victoria by 54 runs at the end of the first innings and Queensland leading New South Wales by three runs.

Replying to Victoria's 207-run total, South Australians today compiled 261 runs. Going in a second time the Victorians had scored 104 for one wicket.

At Brisbane, Queensland hit up 290 runs and 156 for four wickets. New South Wales' first innings closed for 287 runs. W. A. Brown had made 90 not out for Queensland today to add to a first-innings score of 87.

Soda is now being recovered from Lake Magadi in Kenya Colony.

ETHEL BARNES WINS SENIOR CITY GIRLS' CHAMPIONSHIP SWIM

Keenly-Contested Water Meet Held In Y.W.C.A. Pool Before An Appreciative Audience

Ethel Barnes won the Morrow Trophy, emblematic of the senior girls' city swimming championship, last night at the water meet in the Y.W.C.A. A good-sized crowd of spectators enjoyed the fine meet with its excellent lighting effects in the new pool in the Simcoe street building.

Miss Barnes and Jean McLeod teamed up to come first in the life-saving class, while Angeline DeCarlo came first in the intermediate diving championships to win the Comstock Trophy, while the Wood Trophy was taken by Margaret Currie in the babies' division.

The meet, staged by Miss Caroline Littlefield—girls' swimming instructor—was one of the most successful ever put on in Peterborough. Competition was keen and interest, before the large gallery, high throughout the well-balanced program. Mrs. J. H. Vernor presented the prizes at the conclusion. A number of Y.M.C.A. swimmer and divers, under direction of Coach Gordon Minty, also performed These included: Stan McBride, Tom MacDonald, Gerald Corbett, Allan Marshall, Ed Prete, Jim Brown, Don Pinch, Len Smith and Ralph Rogow.

Ornamental Work

The noted Silver Pinnettes also entertained the gathering to a large extent with some excellent water work. They put on the trio breast stroke, marching cadets, formation and planking swimming, pyramid float, double smoke, ladder, spirial eight, sunburst float, shadow swim, star dolphin, thrilling new centre work (moving patterns), pin wheel and the final float wheel. Those performing were: Hazel Bradley, Jessie Pattison, Pansy Forbes, Shirley Zacks, Ruth Dalliday, Isobel Young, Jean McLeod, Lily Long, Queenie Hope, Peggy Lawless and Ethel Barnes.

Little Nancy Page Rowell swam across the pool at the start of the program. In the babies' championship cup competition, Margaret Currie with 44½ points was first, followed by Katherine Graham with 40½ and Margaret Elizabeth Rowell with 39. Barbara Brown was next with 34½. There was an open Y.W. pigeon race, taken by Isobel Young and an individual medley by Y.M. C.A. juniors.

Senior Honors

In the senior girls' championship, Ethel Barnes was well in front with 290½ points, followed by Shirley Zacks with 274½ and Jean DeCarlo with 272½. Next were Ruth Dalliday, J. McLeod and Isobel Young. The intermediate girls' diving event was taken by Angeline DeCarlo with 149½ points, while Joan Foster with 147 was second and Lorraine Bradley with 146 1-3 was third. Iris Forbes took fourth place and Betty Braund fifth.

Stan McBride and Allan Marshall performed for the Y.M.C.A. in some exhibition racing, and then came the entertaining work of the Silver Pinnettes, weaving wondrous patterns in the pool to earn hearty applause. Stan McBride and Tom MacDonald demonstrated diving in fancy fashion, with the Ontario ladies' life-saving race proving interesting right afterward. This was won by Ethel Barnes and Jean McLeod, in 1:20, followed by Ruth Dalliday and Hazel Bradley in 1:22 3-5, and D. Anderson and L. Bradley third in 1:38 3-5, and Doris Fanning and Iris Forbes in 1:44.

There was a keenly-contested mixed relay with Y.M. and Y.W. girls, Ralph Rogow spelling the difference in the final heat. The grand treasure hunt, open, won by Shirley Zacks and Lorraine Bradley, was a fitting conclusion to a fine girls' water meet.

Two Tough Tilts Facing Leafs

(By the Canadian Press.)

Although some coaches may disagree with the formula, canny Conny Smythe likes to have his Toronto Maple Leafs in tip-top form from the very start of a National Hockey League season. The Toronto manager likes the idea of piling up early points, believing it makes the task of finishing well up in the standing a lot easier than coming through with a late season rush.

The heavy pre-season campaigning undoubtedly is the reason that the Leafs have looked so good in winning two and drawing one in their three starts this season.

The finely-trained Toronto squad swings into action twice this weekend against Detroit Red Wings. The teams play at Toronto to-night and then switch over to Detroit for a Sunday contest.

In all, five games are up for decision during the week-end. In another Saturday encounter, New York's two teams—the Rangers and the Americans—clash in their first scheduled game. Before the start of the schedule, the clubs played an exhibition series in Western Canada.

To-morrow night Montreal Canadiens, boasting like Leafs of a record of two victories and a draw in three contests, take on the Rangers at New York. It is the first away game of the season for the Flying Frenchmen. The week-end schedule is rounded out with the Bruins playing the Black Hawks at Chicago.

Not Spring, But Fall, Tra-la, Tra-la

If it wasn't for the uniforms you might think this was one of those "dance of the Greek godesses in spring" affairs that are so frequently featured pictorially on the beaches. However, there's a ball in the picture and the three "dancers' are trying to get at it, the one in white to catch it (it was a forward pass) and the two in black to knock it down. White is for Cornell, black is for Colgate. Cornell won this one, 14-12.

Goodyears Edge Out Hamilton 5-4

(By the Canadian Press.)

Toronto Goodyears had things pretty much their own way last season in winning the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" crown, but things are going to be tougher this winter—a lot tougher.

Goodyears, just as good if not better than last season, are up against classier opposition. Witness their game last night with Hamilton Dominions in Hamilton.

The champions won—but not by their usual margin. They eked out a 5-4 win and were lucky to do so in the face of a spirited last-period rally that gave Hamilton all their goals. It was Goodyears' third win in as many games.

Port Colborne Sailors stepped into St. Catharines and handed the Saints their first defeat of the season. The score was 3-1 with the Saints handcuffed so effectively they did not score until late in the third period.

Just to make it an all-round dismal night for the home folk, Niagara Falls Cataracts ran in five goals in the final period at Galt to defeat the Moose team of that city 6-5. By the loss Galt fell into the league cellar with no wins against three defeats.

Toronto In Lead

The standing shows Toronto in first place with Port Colborne, Hamilton and St. Catharines tied for the second rung with four points, two less than the leaders. Niagara Falls are third.

Jimmy Drummond, Turney, Eddie King and Captain Frank O'Brien counted for Goodyears before the Hamilton attack began. Dinning, Brunnell and Ab Conick scored for Hamilton in the third before King snared his second goal of the game. Hamilton rallied again but could score but one goal, that by Miocinovich with one minute to go.

Galt, leading by four goals starting the final period, went to pieces in the face of a determined Falls offensive. Scorers for the winners in the hectic third were Tony Pavone, with two counters, and Phillips, Morrison and Astle, each with one. Hero of the piece, however, was George Brown in the Galt nets, who played sensationally throughout and had no chance on the shots that beat him.

A goalie also was to the fore in the Ports-Saints tilt. He was Art Child of the Sailors who stopped many goal-labelled shots as his mates fashioned out a win. The game was rough and wide-open.

Mac McKelvie, Al Allan and Tommy Thompson were the visiting marksmen, with Red Reynolds netting for St. Kitts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — (AP). — The New York Fight Managers' Association is trying member Hymie Caplin for stealing Lew Jenkins, Texas lightweight, from Frank Bachman. . . . Green Bay Packers (pro football) didn't practice for Brooklyn to-day because Coach Curly Lambeau had to go out to the Polo Grounds to see his son, Don, play for Fordham vs. St. Mary's.

You go see this week's newsreels. then write us a 50-word piece on how Missouri's footballer Paul Christman can be left off any Guy's All-America....By the by, a big Mid-Western paper is getting ready to debunk what it terms Christman's "purely fictitiond Dizzy Dean antics."

Attention scouts: Penn High School at Greenville, Pa., has a six-foot-six pass-catching defensive wizard named Ed Kochis (who also kicks off and carries the ball from the fullback spot) ready for delivery soon....The Willard-Dempsey fight films will be ready for distribution on January 15 under the caption, "The Birth of a Champion."

Last week we chronicled that Dale Isaacs of Washburn went hog wild and completed eight straight passes against Drake....Whereupon, Bobbie Stephens, captain-elect of the Michigan Tech squad, went out and gave Brother Isaacs and friends something to shoot at by completing 11 in a row.

Mike Jacobs, James J. Johnston, and John Roxborough, one of Joe Louis' managers, were in a 45-minute huddle yesterday....It ain't true, is it, that a couple of California slickers peddled off a phoney citrus grove to Jim Londos, one of our 24—or is it 25—burping champions?

Billy Conn Mops Lesnevich Up In 15 Rounds

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A shanty Irish kid who always says mister and sir to sportswriters, an outsize middleweight who weighed 171¼ pounds in defending his light-heavyweight championship—that is Billy Conn, the Pittsburg Adonis who soon will be battling among the heavyweights and eventually against champion Joe Louis.

By winning a 15-round decision over Gus Lesnevich in Madison Square Garden last night Conn just about mopped up all the suitable talent in his class and Manager Johnny Ray is remaining in town to talk business with Uncle Mike Jacobs, the promoter.

Their talks may touch upon many things, but they're bound to come upon a possible heavyweight bout with bicycling Bob Pastor sooner or later because Conn himself wants it. And it's a logical step toward the heavyweight heights that Conn and his manager have in mind.

That Irish Spirit

The fact that Conn will be tackling concrete pillars with a tack hammer instead of a sledge is passing off with a quaint remark that "you can't have everything."

Unquestionably Conn has something—a handsome face, an Irish spirit and a great left hand that has made him the champion in his class.

He swarmed over Lesnevich for a $45,000 near-capacity house last night. For three rounds he stalked his foe cautiously. Taking meaningless punches that raised a rosy blush on his young chest he had no other effect whatever.

Then he began taking the brakes off his darting left jab, the hook that time after time jarred the Cliffside, N.J. fighter to a standstill, and the right cross that never, never missed.

In the 11th and the 13th rounds he had Lesnevich dull-eyed, hanging and clinching, and couldn't finish him. The outcome never was in doubt, but it was the ineffectuality of these punches that caused Conn afterward to smile wryly and say:

'It was a stinkin' fight. I couldn't get going."

Bombers Invade Calgary Singing

CALGARY, Nov. 18—(CP— Football speculation reached a new peak as the champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers, singing the "blues" rolled into this foothills city hopeful of overcoming Calgary Bronks' six-point lead in the final of the Western championship total-points series today. Calgary won the first game in Winnipeg 13-7.

Several hours before the teams trotted onto a solid dry gridiron, Albertans wondered just how strong the highly-touted reserve power of the Bombers might be and whether Bronks can lengthen their three-game winning streak to break the jinx Bombers have held over them in three title pousts in four years. They wondered too, whether Calgary would make football history by packing more than 4,000 fans into Mewata park for the first time in Bronk's five-year history.

HOLD UP AT THE START

WHEN ABLE to take the top tricks in the opponent's suit, he overage player seldom does so. The difference between taking the first and third. holding up on the second, holding up on the first, end, and holding up on the second and third. The taking the ace on wreck your whole first plan may be, by letting the No Trump game suit-holder knock partner of the stoppers while the out one of your re-entries are undissuit-holder's second makes that turbed. The dangerous man use up one of his side entries in order to knock out your second stopper, leaving him perhaps other re-entry to bring in his suit after it is set up.

South bid 1-Heart here at both tables of a team game. Each West answered with 2-Clubs, North bid 3-Diamonds and South bid 3-No Trumps. In each case East led the heart Q because of his side suit. One declarer took the trick and the other ducked it, the declarer therefore being set and the other making his contract.

Where the first trick was taken by the declarer with the heart K, he then led the club 10, West winning with the Q and leading the heart 9. East covered with the 10 and the A was held up, but on the next trick knocked out by the J. The club 8 was led from dummy to the J and A, and East then cashed two more hearts, beating declarer.

Where declarer ducked the heart Q, a second one was led to the K and then the club 10. West won this with the Q, but had no heart left to knock out the A, so tried the spade 7 to the K. Now the club 8 and the J fell to East's A, but his heart suit was not yet set up. Hopelessly he returned another heart to the A, but declarer got the rest of the tricks.

Janetville Fowl Supper Clears $100.60

JANETVILLE, Nov. 18.—(ENS)—Mrs. R. J. Burns presided for the regular meeting of the Women's Association in the United Church on Wednesday afternoon when the bale for needy families in the north, was packed. It included new and slightly used clothing, new quilts and a layette complete with crib quilt, all of which was valued at $100.

The treasurer, Mrs. A. Heaslip, presented a most gratifying report. This included the receipts and expenditures of the recent fowl supper and it was found that $100.60 was realized after all bills had been paid.

The president, Mrs. Burn, expressed the sincere thanks to all who had helped in any way toward the success of the supper.

On motion of the meeting a letter of thanks is to be sent to the Kiwanis Club of Lindsay for their very excellent program which was presented following the supper, and also to Jamieson's Bakery at Port Perry for a generous donation of bread for the supper.

On motion of Mrs. Andrew McGill and Mrs. E. A. Bradburn $100 was voted to the church treasury.

After some discussion it was left in charge of the parsonage committee to purchase some storm windows for the parsonage and the church committee are to have the church windows repainted and puttied on the outside.

Cards of thanks for flowers received during illness were read from Mrs. N. W. McGill, Miss Viola Henderson and Mr. W. Robinson. Mrs. Blathewick expressed her thanks in person.

A letter from the Deaconess Order in Toronto requesting financial help was read and $2 was voted to this worthy cause.

Mr. E. A. Bradburn and Miss Ada Morgan were named as the committee in charge of the December meeting which will be in the church on the 13th when there will be an election of officers.

Mrs. Joblin presided for the program when the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. J. Thornton.

This was followed by a vocal duet, "Jesus and I" by Mrs. P. Hamilton and Mrs. M. Armstrong accompanied by Mrs. F. Joblin.

Miss Ada Morgan, Reg. N. of Bella, Bella, B.C., was heard in a splendid address basing her remarks on the theme of the program, "The eternal unchanging law of God meets every condition. He who has understanding knows and the knowledge brings him peace."

The meeting closed with a hymn and prayer offered by the pastor, Rev. Mervin Bury, M.A.

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, a plainly solemn profession of Christian faith in eternal life and God's plan for mankind here and hereafter, was an epilogue to the tale that was told as evoked and reviewed by Dr. Barr from the text of his address.—"We spend our years as a tale that is told," quoted from the ninth verse of the 90th Psalm.

"Life as 'a tale that is told' is the original opportunity," Dr. Barr said, or we go down into the oblivion which is the just reward of selfishness. For no two people write the same tale, since the breath of life given at birth is the only common factor in a changing variety of personality and amid a changing environment. But there may be a common purpose dominating such a tale; and the tale will be worthy as it is lived in the service of one's fellows.

The tale of a lifetime depends on vision and how vision finds its way to achievement. Not all have the power to make dreams come true; but of those who do, some wander far afield to the horizons of the world, while others remain at home and expand the vision for the benefit and blessing of the home community. And this makes us realize the truth that a man can live a full life in his own home town, and find avenues for the display of talent and ability among his own people. Indeed, it is hard to measure achievement in such contrast since the struggle is often harder at home where the prophet seldom finds honor because of the jealousies and prejudices of mankind. Possibly the really greater achivement belongs to the home environment.

Christian Gentleman

Belonging to this type of Christian gentleman was Ernest F. Mason. Possessing ability and vision above the ordinary, he had the sort of genius that is characterized by "an infinite capacity for taking pains." He used to tell me of his earlier days in Peterborough, when a day's work began at sunrise and lasted into the midnight hour. There was no eight-hour day for him; nor is there for anyone who is to write a tale of successful living. And possibly that is why he managed to enter into so many spheres of the city's life, and there gave of his best for its advancement and welfare.

He was a man of shrewd insight, visioning possibilities hidden from many of his fellows. He saw changes coming before they became actual, and he anticipated them. In this his good sense stood out, for his business life became a growing experience, so that the tale never became uninteresting, nor did it ever become likely to enter into a rut. And the glory of it all lay in the fact that he found time to give to the institutions of the community similar devoted service.

Probably more than one might think, the late Mr. Mason was a man of deeply religious conviction. Never one to put his religion on parade, he held steadfastly to certain fixed beliefs which constituted a worthy life purpose. Devoted to his church, he was always willing to assist in any worthy object for its advancement and well being, and often this was done so unobtrusively that the credit he deserved was frequently withheld.

Finis Not The End

When we face the fact that the tale has been told, the word finis, which we find at the end of any drama, does not mark the completion of any worthy life. For, life goes on, and the Christian knows that just around the corner is the richer experience of the life hereafter. The glory of the life here is to know that one has played his part faithfully and fairly by his fellows. The glory of the life beyond lies in the knowledge that the fruits of joy and peace are abiding, not spasmodic. The sunset glow dies in the west, but is only the herald of the brighter day yet to be."

After the concluding hymn, the congregation remained standing while the Dead March in Saul was played on the organ by Martin Chenhall. The pall bearers coming out of the church passed between the rows of honorary pall bearers, and nearest the hearse were similar files of the employees of Mr. Mason, the managers and clerks of the local chain of stores he had established, their association with him in the daily round of business remembered at the end by this mark of honor.

The active bearers were Wm. J. Thompson, E. B. Fowler, George A. Macdonald of Chicago, Fred Hills, Robert Abbott and D. B. Falkner.

Honorary bearers were Mayor Hamilton, A. Mowat, W. J. Kent, Harold A. Morrow, E. A. Peck, K.C., R. L. Dobbin, Dr. H. M. Yelland, Thomas Brown, Robert Ross, Roland Denne, Gordon S. Matthews, Chas. Lacheur, R. G. Kingan, H. C. Sootheran, T. H. Hooper, James Harkness, Dr. J. M. McCulloch.

Among those noticed in the congregation were representatives of three of the municipal bodies of which Mr. Mason had been a member, the City Council, Board of Education and Utilities Commission; members of the Peterborough Exhibition Board from the city and county and others representing the trustees of Nicholls Hospital of which Mr. Mason was chairman at the time of his death. And also present were the men of the Ketchecum Hunt Club with whom Mr. Mason was spending an outing holiday in the northern part of the county a scant week ago when he was stricken with the fatal illness which caused his death. The funeral service at the graveside in the Little Lake Cemetery was conducted by Rev. Dr. Barr.

Cleanse BIG BOWEL When Constipated!

Don't Upset All 25 Feet Of Intestines

Most constipation occurs in the big bowel—marked X—after body waste has almost reached the point where bowels should move. So why take doses like calomel which act on the other end of the bowels, salts that flush their way through, or oils that work in the small intestine? For quick, sensible relief, take a laxative that works where the waste has jammed!

That's the action you get from CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS. They work on the big bowel, moving piled-up body waste those last few inches to bring blessed relief overnight. They can do this because they contain cascara, said to give "nearest to natural action" of any cathartic, which acts to cleanse the big bowel in 10 to 12 hours.

Try CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS. Each foil-wrapped tablet is a gentle, effective dose, and like milk chocolate in taste. All drugstores. For free sample, write "Cascarets," Windsor, Ont.

be impaired. The future of the Port Perry-Peterborough Highway, and all other works not directly associated with war effort, was dependent on the war and what may be required for its successful prosecution, he said.

Must Win The Fight.

"The continued existence of Canada as a democratic country with free institutions and representative, responsible government depends entirely upon the outcome of this war," continued Mr. Conant. "If we fail in it, we will undoubtedly be subjected to the same despotism as Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland and all other nations which the European bandits have overrun. In the final analysis, it is my confident belief that success will depend upon resources. Let us make sure, therefore, that we devote all our resources to overthrowing the enemy before we divert them to the construction of public works."

Last year the Ontario Government spent $40,000,000, or 42 per cent. of total expenditure, on social services, said the Attorney-General.

"It is unthinkable that we should discontinue or even seriously curtail such expenditures because they have become such a vital part of our life and well-being," he said.

The energetic and intelligent prosecution of the war must be the first consideration until it is successfully concluded, he declared.

"Let us be certain that we preserve the nation before we spend our resources in the material things which make it a more desirable country in which to live, but which are of secondary importance until Hitlerism, barbarism, paganism and all that they signify have been entirely and completely overwhelmed," concluded Mr. Conant.

A wax model of Hitler has been placed in the famous Madame Tussard's exhibition in London.

Surrealist Items Scarce At Art Exhibit

MONTREAL, Nov. 18—(CP).—A variety of skilfully-executed canvases was featured today at the 60th annual exhibition of the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts but there was a scarcity of surrealist items.

Delicate watercolors, powerful portraits and spirited landscapes and marines held the spotlight of the exhibition which opened last night with a private showing for members.

From the deft brush of Sir Wyly Grier of Toronto came four soundly-painted subjects of men, all of which displayed the competence habitually shown by the artist. Another outstanding piece, by Allan Barr, also of Toronto, showed a family group of William Perkins Bull, K. C., his daughter and grandsons.

A skilful piece of work came from Kenneth K. Forbes of Toronto in "The Orchid"—depicting a woman in a red dress, graceful in line and arrangement. Marion Long of Toronto presented three portraits—"Bill" a man with a soft hat, smoking a pipe "The White Collar," a sympathetically painted girl, and "Jean in Green," happy in arrangement and harmonious in tone.

The technique of Fred S. Haines of Toronto was shown in three manners—"Apple Blossoms," a decoration with trees and sheep cropping grass, "Blue Water," a bit of wild country and hills and water, and "Haliburton Beeches," three noble trees near water, with a rounded hill beyond.

J. W. Beatty of Toronto had a characteristic scene in "Old Bridge, Port Hope," while F. H. Bridgen, also of Toronto, showed an effective piece in "Spring at Newtonbrook," depicting a wide sweep of country.

world both during and after the war.

"It is pointed out," said the diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph "that by the steps now taken the way is being paved for that post-war economic ordering of world affairs which Great Britain and France would have sponsored at any time during the past few years had Germany shown any disposition to co-operation instead of preferring to risk everything in a great aggressive military gamble."

The Times said in an editorial entitled "the full alliance":—

"What was hardly achieved after nearly four years of war in 1918 in the war of unity of effort between Great Britain and France is now well on the way to attainment within three months, and, owing to the unexpected course of struggle, before the armed forces have actually come to grips.

"The lesson of 1914-18 has been learned. This is a full alliance."

The air ministry announced last night that "an important German naval base" was successfully photographed by the R.A.F. today.

The announcement said the planes flew over northwestern Germany and encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire.

German aircraft were driven off England, Scotland and Wales yesterday without dropping bombs or inflicting any damage.

Delegates to the empire war conversations paused in their deliberations to welcome a group of newspapermen who were told by the dominions secretary, Anthony Eden, that Canada's empire air training was a "magnificent material contribution to victory."

The dominions secretary added that "as an outstanding example of empire co-operation, it will have a considerable psychological effect on our enemies who have been anxious—rather super-anxious in fact—to demonstrate how rapidly the British Commonwealth of Nations is disintegrating."

Hard For Nazis To See

The enemy, he said, "cannot realize that any unity can exist except in subervience to the will of a dictator. They cannot understand the strength that is derived from joint efforts of free peoples, each making their own decision but uniting their efforts in a common cause."

Hon. T. A. Crerar, Canadian delegate to the empire meeting, declared Canada had decided without constraint from any source to "throw her full effort into the present struggle on the side of the western democracies."

One of the principal reasons why Canada joined in the struggle was because "we cherish freedom, liberty, the right of the individual to plan his own life and develop his own personality within the framework of ordered liberty."

Germans Extend Scouting.

Anti-aircraft gunfire and shrill sirens sent civilians scurrying to shelter in four European countries Friday as German planes covered thousands of miles in their most extensive scouting flights since the outbreak of war.

Anti-aircraft batteries opened fire on the Nazi squadrons in Great Britain, France and Belgium and alarms were sounded in seven districts of Switzerland.

The German planes were sighted in localities within a vast area stretching from Switzerland to Western England and from Shetland Islands to the Mediterranean.

Propaganda pamphlets written in French and containing bitter attacks on Britain were dropped in France and Switzerland but no bombing attacks were carried out by the planes.

Thirteen cities in England, Scotland and Wales had alarms and a solitary plane was sighted over the Shetland Islands. Six Swiss cities and towns reported that they had sighted Nazi planes and alarms were sounded in 10 French cities.

In most of the British towns and cities, business continued as usual and there was little interruption in street traffic. In one police tribunal, however, the Judges suspended court. Pupils of some schools were taken to underground shelters.

Extensive Mexican government orders placed in Germany may be transferred to the United States.

Trent River Area Women Register

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 17—(ENS).—The booth for voluntary registration of Canadian Women, held at the residence of Mrs. M. T. Lean presented a patiotic spirit Wednesday, morning, afternoon and evening. The recently dedicated Union Jack, the gift of Mrs. E. H. Fairbrother, Toronto, was hoisted at the entrance for the event, while the interior of the booth carried out decorations of red, white and blue, while the large Union Jack purchased by the Institute and also recently dedicated, was draped on the wall. Miss B. G. French and Mrs. George Brooks were in charge of the registration, for which a splendid response was given by the women of the immediate vicinity.

A number were willing to take British refugee children into their homes for payment, several for emergency first aid work, while others signified their intention for service clerical work, intelligence work or censorship, and one brave one wished to secure training for an air-pilot. A number of registration forms are being sent out to those who were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Lean, Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks spent Thursday at the deer hunt at Lake Tongamong.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hay and Mrs. Morton Stewart visited Miss Alice Hay (nurse in training at Nicholls Hospital), Wednesday, owing to her being confined to bed suffering from tonsilitis.

cial duties will attend different schools. Crews of army co-operation planes will train at Ottawa in artillery spotting, reconnaisance, delivering food, ammunition and messages to ground troops and other duties.

Men selected to fly the high-speed single seater fighting planes and 300-mile-an-hour bombers will receive specialized training at Trenton, Ont., and Camp Borden, Ont. Pacific coast air stations will likely see the majority of training for the big flying boats and the seaplanes for patrolling Canadian coastal waters.

Long before war broke out, the rush to the Canadian flying clubs for preliminary training was in full swing. In the first nine months of the year, flying time of the clubs was 19,083 hours, an increase of 17 per cent. compared with 16,303 hours for the corresponding period of 1938. The club at Halifax showed an increase of 130 per cent., St. Catharines, Ont., 90 per cent., Vancouver, 70 per cent., and Regina and Toronto 35 per cent. each.

When the full scheme is in operation, however, Canada will need more planes both for preliminary and advanced training. The clubs have about 100 aircraft, all of light types. The R.C.A.F. placed orders for additional primary trainers before the war, but many more are needed now.

Few From Britain

Bulk of the aircraft, both primary trainers and the advanced type will probably be built in Canada and the United States. Great Britain needs at home all the trainers it can turn out from the factories. Some Canadian factories are turning out primary trainers now, but in relatively small numbers.

The North American Harvard, a two-place low-wing monoplane with retractable landing gear will be the standard advanced trainer for fighting pilots, it is generally conceded. With a top speed of about 250 miles an hour, the Harvard provides a good intermediate between the 100-m.p.h. primary trainer and the service fighter, which hits a clip of between 350 and 400 miles an hour.

Avro Oxfords, twin-engined planes imported from England in some number recently, will be the standard advanced training craft for bomber and reconnaissance squadrons, and various types of somewhat slower airplane will be used for training army co-operation units.

in the war is a debatable question. Estimates of the time to complete the project range from four to seven years.

The Senate Stand?

Also debatable is the question whether a new seaway treaty could win approval of the United States. Senate, which in 1934 rejected a previous treaty. Although the power facilities would make possible a vast industrial development in northern New York, there is strong opposition to the project in other parts of the State. In 1934 both New York Senators, Copeland and Wagner, voted against the seaway, which Copeland denounced as an "all-British" waterway.

Copeland, who died last year, has been succeeded by Senator Mead of Buffalo, a district where there is also strong opposition to the seaway. Buffalo commercial interests fear it might threaten its position as New York's dominant Great Lakes port.

Some state department officials believe that changes in the senate since 1934 have eliminated much of the seaway opposition. But there was evidence only the past week that a new treaty would run into a hard fight in the senate. Illinois' two senators, Lucas and Slattery, called at the White House to express the misgivings of their state government at reports that the project may be revived.

Ottawa Interested.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18—(CP)— Busy Canadian Government officials, working overtime on war and kindred problems, learned with interest today that Washington was expecting "some developments" shortly on the St. Lawrence Waterway project but had no formal comment.

But the discussions which have taken place over this huge inland waterway and power project for many years were revived six weeks ago and the project is again a life issue even if little progress is being made at the moment.

Premier Hepburn of Ontario, long an opponent of the project on economic grounds, indicated to Prime Minister Mackenzie King early in October that in the face of changed industrial conditions he would alter his stand.

This removed the chief stumbling block to a reply to the latest United States proposals which came to the Government here in May, 1938.

A second development paving the way to renewed negotiations was the Provincial election in Quebec last month when the Liberal party won an overwhelming victory.

With the Liberal party in power federally and in the two provinces most directly affected by the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes project, and the objections of the Ontario Government removed, action is expected as soon as circumstances permit.

Information obtained from a foreign official in Prague shortly before telephone communication with the former Czecho-Slovak capital was cut off, indicated the city was quiet.

Reports in informed Prague circles were to the effect that the executions followed a raid on an illegal printing establishment in the home of a former Czech official.

Claim Nazis Assaulted.

DNB said the executions, which were accompanied by numerous arrests, were ordered because of assaults on Germans on October 28 and November 15 by students described as followers of Dr. Benes.

Czechs celebrated the 21st anniversary of the founding of their republic on October 28, defying a German ban on public demonstrations. Several clashes with police resulted, and many arrests were made.

The funeral of a Czech student who died of injuries suffered in one of these clashes was made the occasion for a mass demonstration, which resulted in more arrests.

Heavy Grain Rush Seen By Rail Via Georgian Bay

OTTAWA, Nov. 18—(CP).—Canada's war-time wheat policy is receiving the constant attention of the Dominion Government, but as yet no final decision has been reached on the most advantageous method of marketing Canada's 390,000,000-bushel wheat export surplus, it was learned reliably to-day.

The current wheat situation is closely connected wit hthe Empire war consultations in London and any decision by the Government will be influenced largely by advices received within the next few weeks from Hon. T. A. Crerar, Mines and Resources Minister, who is representing Canada at the Empire parley. George McIvor, chairman of the Canadian Wheat Board, is also in London with Mr. Crerar.

The British Government has been handling its wheat buying as a monopoly since the outbreak of war, and would probably prefer to deal with a similar monopoly in Canada, it was learned.

Canadian elevators still are congested and this has been a main factor contributing to the close scrutiny of the wheat policy by the government. The Canadian wheat crop has been estimated at 479,000,000 bushels and with a 95,000,000 bushel carryover from last crop years, the total reaches 574,000,000.

390,000,000 Surplus

About 125,000,000 bushels will be needed for domestic uses and around 60,000,000 have been exported since August 1, leaving an export surplus of approximately 390,000,000.

British buying in the past few weeks is just beginning to cut into the visible supply figures which touched a peak of 351,000,000 bushels for the week ended November 3, and then declined to 350,000,000 for the week ended November 10, the last figures available.

The time necessarily taken by the British Government to organize its war wheat buying policy has delayed buying in Canada somewhat and prevented normal use of the autumn St. Lawrence navigation period in moving wheat into export positions.

This probably will lead to winter rail movements from Georgian Bay ports to Halifax and Saint John, which should have an active winter season.

HEAVY PURCHASES.

LONDON, Nov. 18—(CP). — The Ministry of supply has made purchases totalling more than £160,000,000 ($712,000,000) since the beginning of the war, it was disclosed to-day by Supply Minister Leslie Burgin. Orers by the ministry during the week ending Nov. 7 amounted to more than £20,000,000, he said.

Mr. Burgin emphasized there was "nothing half-hearted about the allied war preparations."

"CONCHIES" REVERT

Predict Poles To Feel Nazi Wrath

British Press Fears Prague Slayings Will Be Repeated

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(CP).—British newspapers to-day condemned Germany's repression of patriotic demonstrations in Czecho-Slovakia which the Times called "another proof of the utter incapacity of the Germans for ruling alien races."

The news Chronicle predicted that the disorders and bloodshed witnessed in Prague would soon be repeated in Poland.

"His mind is set upon turning the Czechs from the region which they have occupied for centuries and then incorporating it in the Greater Germany," said the Time of Hitler.

The Daily Herald:—

"All other peoples, as they look on, will be strengthened even further in their determination not to allow the monstrous apparatus of terror now tormenting central Eufope to survive one day longer than it must. The Czechs have again helped to bring its collapse nearer.

"Though disarmed, spied on and overwhelmed by superior force, they strike against Hitler from within repeatedly, persistently and heroically. Therefore they are as true allies of Britain as the people

Nazi Dreams?

BERNE, Nov. 20 — (CP-Havas).—A Nazi broadcast heard here yesterday said Germany will expand its borders to the limits of its "historic interests" and will establish a new political system in Europe following its victory in the present war.

Among the war aims of the Reich were given as follows:

1. Germany will put an end to the injustices which Great Britain desires at any price to maintain.

2. Germany will establish the frontiers to which it is entitled by virtue of its historic interests.

3. German security will be definitely fixed in the north south, east and west.

4. The Reich intends to establish a new Polish state "which shall not be an instrument in the hands of powers dreaming only of checkmating Germany's plans."

5. At the close of the war, from which Germany shall emerge victorious, the Reich will establish a new system for Europe.

"France and Britain declined the peace offers of King Leopold and Queen Wilhelmina" the announcer said. "It is with an absolutely clean conscience that the Reich takes up the gage of defiance which has been hurled at it."

Neutrals Lose 5 To U.K. 4 With 177 Toll

Shipping Lanes Across North Sea Prove Death Traps

LONDON, Nov. 20—(CP).—Nazi mines at least temporarily supplanted submarines as the leading sea menace off the British coast to-day as the floating explosives added still further to the war's greatest week-end toll of merchant shipping.

Nine vessels were reported sunk in the North Sea over the week-end with 177 persons dead or missing.

The sinkings included the 345-ton British trawler Wigmore with a crew of 16, the 1,267-ton British collier Torchbearer, and the 4,258-ton British ship Pensilva. The last mention was sunk "by enemy action", the Admiralty announced, while the first two ran onto mines.

Four survivors of the Torchbearer's crew, reported to have numbered 13, were landed at an English port. The crew of Pensilva were saved.

Neutrals Chief Losers

Neutrals were the chief sufferers of the week-end havoc, losing five ships to Britain's four.

The sunken vessels were:

	Tons.
Pensilva, British	4,258
Simon Bolivar, Netherlands	8,309
Grazia, Italian	5,857
Blackhill, British	2,492
B. O. Borjesson, Swedish	1,586
Carica Milica, Yugoslav	6,371
Kaunas, Lithuania	1,521
Torchbearer, British	1,267
Wigmore, British	345

Set Dutch Loss at 140

Authorities had not computed the full loss of life in the sinking Saturday of the 8,309-ton Netherlands liner Simon Bolivar, but the number was set tentatively at 140. Eleven were believed drowned or killed by explosions aboard the four other ships.

These four were the Grazia, Italian, 5,857 tons; the Blackhill, British, 2,492 tons; B. O. Borjesson, Swedish, 1,586 tons, and Cariva Milica, Yugoslav, 6,371 tons.

The sixth vessel lost was the Lithuanian cargo boat Kaunas, 1,520 tons, en route to Britain, which struck a mine near Zeebrugge, Belgium, with the loss of one man of a crew of 17.

Loss of life aboard the five smaller ships was less than preliminary reports had indicated. Twelve were believed to have drowned or been killed by explosions aboard the vessels, and 106 survivors were brought ashore.

Word of the Belgian loss came simultaneously with a report from Brussels that channel service between Belgium and Britain had Britain had been cancelled for the present.

An informed source said that five of the sinkings occurred at about the same place, 20-odd miles off the British East coast, indicating the possibility of an extensive mine field in shipping lanes used by British and neutral shipping.

A claim in Berlin that a German mine "could not have been responsible" for the Bolivar disaster was

Visitor Discovers Canada's Worst Worry Is Not Of Germans Or Of Bombs But Keeping The War From Scaring Tourists

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—(CP).—Just returned from a flying trip to Canada, Devon Francis, aviation editor of the Associated Press, writes that the physical evidences of the state of war existing between the Dominion and Germany are so meagre that a visitor is surprised to encounter soldiery.

In the story of his experiences, written for the Associated Press, Francis told the United States that "Canada is worried lest the United States look too much on the Dominion as a nation at war." Having found nothing to worry the visitor, he told his fellow Americans about it. His story, in part, follows:

Much of Canada's preparation for war, of course, is hidden.

Volunteer troops are in training, but information on their numbers or disposition must be kept from the enemy.

Young men are learning to pilot combat planes, but the character and extent of their instruction must remain secret.

Canada does not fear invasion or bombing raids. No one so much as suggests that the locks of the little canal which courses through the heart of Ottawa, are in danger from enemy bombs.

But Canada does fear saboteurs—and Canada, winter vacationland, is worried lest the United States look too much on the Dominion as a nation at war.

In both Ottawa and Montreal residents will tell a visitor "Oh, a few safeguards, yes, against sabotage, but Europe is a long way off and it would be sad if our being at war prevented citizens of the United States from coming up, just as they do in peace time."

Air service into, and within, Canada, like train service, ignores the state of war. Trans-Canada Air Lines, government-operated, shuttles back and forth between the Pacific coast and Moncton, eastern terminus, on regular schedule. Canadian Colonial Airways, with some planes of German registry, wings between Montreal and New York several times a day.

Noted Doctor, Soldier, Athlete Dies

Dr. A. W. McPherson Passes Away After Long Illness

The man to whom Peterborough owes her immunity to that once dread scourge, diphtheria, has passed on.

Angus W. McPherson, who as public health official, family doctor, teacher, soldier, athlete and all-round good citizen had made a most valuable contribution to the welfare of this community for more than four decades died at his home, 483 Water street, on Sunday morning, after a long illness from a heart ailment.

It was Dr. McPherson, a specialist in contagious and infectious diseases, who was responsible for this city's early adoption of the toxin anti-toxin method of preventing diphtheria and for the thoroughness with which the precautionary measure was put into force here. Peterborough was one of the first centres in Canada, as a result of Dr. McPherson's efforts, to immunize itself against a disease that formerly took a heavy toll of lives.

He began the inoculation in the schools and then extended it to children of pre-school age so that in recent years diphtheria has been virtually unknown here and there has been no cases on record in which a Peterborough child who had been inoculated afterward contracted the disease.

Born in Dutton.

Born in Dutton, Ontario, 68 years ago, Dr. McPherson taught school at Norwood before coming to Peterborough to live.

He had been a resident of this city for over forty years. At the turn of the century he was a member of the staff of the Peterborough Collgiate Institute in the old building on Murray street, under the principalship of the late Cortez Fessenden, teaching modern languages and having charge of cadet instruction. Then he entered the school of medicine at the University of Toronto

Seven-Act Pork

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 20—(CP-Havas).—Formalities in seven acts must be carried out by German farmers before they can use meat from their own pigs, German newspapers reaching here revealed today.

1. The farmer must prove that the animal was fed and raised on his farm for at least three months.

2. He must apply in writing to the local mayor for a permit to kill the pig.

3. A slaughter-house inspector must then examine the pig.

4. If all is in order, the farmer must pay a slaughtering tax in advance.

5. After the animal is killed, the owner must send his permit back to the mayor.

6. An inspector will then appear and weigh the meat.

7. The farmer may now use the meat and fat from his pig, but must turn over to the authorities ration card coupons for meat and fat representing 90 per cent of the weight of the animal.

German farmers this year harvested the largest crop in the history of the nation and they have already sowed large acreages of winter grains. Only today did Chancellor Hitler thank the farmers for harvesting the bountiful crop and for sowing the new one.

Pilot Dies In Crash; British Crowds See Guns In Action

ROERMOND, The Netherlands, Nov. 20—(AP)—A German military plane, apparently disabled by Dutch anti-craft guns, crashed in a meadow near here today, killing the pilot who was the sole occupant.

This was the third incident in three days in which the Dutch engaged German aircraft flying over the Netherlands.

The fact that the Dutch fired on the plane at Roermond before the crash was disclosed in an official communique from The Hague. The machine flew low over Roermond with its motors dead before attempting a landing.

Reports from Berlin indicated one German flier was seriously injured in yesterday's engagement over the Island of Schiermonnikoog.

Action Over England.

LONDON, Nov. 20—(CP)—Crowds gathered in southeastern England today to watch as anti-aircraft guns fired at a white airplane flying at great height over the region. No air raid warning was given.

Flying over the southeast coast at a great height, the plane was greeted with steady fire.

British chasers streaked in pursuit as the craft sped eastward.

Czechs Assured Complaints To Be Considered

PRAGUE, Nov. 20 — (AP). — Prague workers, despite agitation for a strike to protest conditions under the rule of Nazi Germany, went to their jobs as usual to-day with the assurance their complaints would receive consideration.

Anxious to avoid further disturbances following recent arrests and executions of Czech student leaders and others, the protectorate government appealed to the workers to refrain from striking.

The appeal was accompanied by a promise that protests occasioned by rising prices and other grievances would be studied.

Czech police also spread a warning through Workers' District in Prague and four other industrial centres that any strikes to-day in sympathy for executed compatriots would be suppressed sternly.

This action was taken in districts already under martial law, despite assurance from labor leaders to German officials that they had persuaded their followers against a sympathy movement.

The former Czecho-Slovak capital was reported generally quiet on Sunday after two days in which nine students, two policemen, and another unidentified Czech went before firing squads.

(In London, the former Czecho-Slovak President, Eduard Benes, and the Polish Premier, General Waladyslaw Sikorski, agreed to collaborate on measures to "repair the damage" done to their countries. Polish and Czech legions are being trained to fight with the Allies.)

Britain Aiming To Quadruple Army In France

LONDON, Nov. 20 (CP Havas)—A qualified source said Sunday that plans to quadruple the 158,000 British effectives now in France are responsible for the elaborate supply and transport machinery set up by the British Expeditionary Force.

British officials since the beginning of the war have built brick by brick an organization capable of caring for four or five times the present number of Tommies along the Maginot Line. The procedure was dictated by the following considerations, this source said:

1. Despite Britain's pre-war defensive preparations, she did not in September have an army answering the needs of a long and exhausting conflict. The general staff decided therefore to concentrate its first effort on establishing administrative and supply centres in France, thus paving the way for the army which was still in the making.

2. Polish resistance to the German invasion, together with later Reichswehr hesitation, gave the British unexpected time to create an orderly groundwork for a vast future military installation.

The Judge Helps

BERKLEY, Calif., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Claude M. Henrahan's car broke down on his way to police court to answer a traffic summons. A passing motorist gave him a lift. When Henrahan's case was called he looked up to the bench and saw the man who had helped him—Judge Oliver Youngs. Judge Youngs fined him $5.

2-Gun Woman Slays Stabber On Main Street

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A woman armed with two guns shot down Brooks Coffman, 39, a lawyer, on Main Street today. He died a half hour later.

Miss Corrine Maddox, 26, whom Coffman was charged with stabbing with an ice pick last May, surrendered to police soon after the shooting.

"I have just shot Brooks Coffman," Jimmy Martin, Assistant District Attorney, said she told him.

Coffman was under a charge of assault to murder for the ice-pick stabbing of Miss Maddox. Miss Maddox, found wounded in a gravel pit near Irving, Tex., recovered after several weeks in a hospital.

QUINCY, Mass., Nov. 20—(AP)—With blood of his three big brothers coursing through his veins, Joseph Nicholas, 15, rallied today after an operation for removal of a kidney ruptured when he fell while climbing a fence. To strengthen him for the operation yesterday, brothers Francis, 22, Robert, 18, and Paul, 20, gave Joseph some of their blood.

Ottawa Killing All Buffalo In Alberta Park

WAINWRIGHT, Alta., Nov. 20—(CP), — From 700 to 800 elk have been killed during the past two weeks as the work of killing off the animals in the Wainwright National Buffalo Park continues.

On Wednesday the task of killing some 3,000 buffalo gets under way. All animals in the big park 120 miles east of Edmonton are being killed on orders of the Dominion Government.

The name of Sam Purshell will go down in sport annals as the greatest buffalo hunter of all time. When the task of killing the 3,00 buffalo in Wainwright National Buffalo Park is completed he will have shot a total of 21,000.

Purshell has been the Federal Government's ace sharpshooter at the Buffalo Park for the past 15 years, and during that time has shot about 18,000, according to Park Superintendent A. G. Smith. He expects Purshell will add another 3,000 buffalo to his bag before the end of the year.

Security Tangle Is Unravelled

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(CP Cable)—After weeks of negotiation an agreement has been reached between the British Treasury and the Canadian Foreign Exchange control board relating to Canadian Securities owned by Canadians resident in Great Britain.

Under defence regulations the Treasury has the power to expropriate at its own price securities of which the principal, interest or dividends are payable in Canadian dollars. The Treasury issued an order requiring the owners of such securities to make a return of their holdings.

The Treasury has now agreed that "any order transferring securities to the Treasury shall not apply to securities which are shown, to the satisfaction of the Treasury, to have belong on August 26, 1939, to individuals resident in the United Kingdom who are Canadian nationals and are not more closely connected with the United Kingdom than Canada."

The agreement exempts Canadians resident in the United Kingdom from offering holdings of Canadian dollars and other foreign currency provided they can satisfy the Treasury they owned them prior to the outbreak of war.

Mistrial Denied Fritz Kuhn; Lawyer Rebuked

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Peter L. F. Sabbatino, counsel for Fritz Kuhn, German - American Bund leader, demanded a mistrial today when Judge James Wallace excluded the public from Kuhn's trial and rebuked the lawyer for disputing the order. The motion was denied. Kuhn is charged with grand larceny of Bund funds.

The order barring the public was understood to have resulted from the judge's annoyance at repeated outbursts of laughter and tittering.

An assistant district attorney, Milton Schilback, called by the defence testified that the German-American Bund leader's bail was raised from $5,000 to $50,000 last September because of fear he was about to flee to Mexico.

Previously Judge Wallace upheld the right of the district attorney's office to use in evidence records seized at the Bund headquarters last May even though the defence contended the seizure was illegal.

Schiback testified he asked Judge Cornelius F. Collins to raise Kuhn's bail after Lieut. William Grafnecker in charge of detectives attached to the district attorney's office, told him he was informed Kuhn intended to flee.

Sabbatino, in calling Schilback, said he wished to determine if a "deception" had been worked on Judge Collins "to make it difficult for the defendant to be out on bail or to prepare his defense, and as a part of the whole scheme to persecute this defendant."

Reds Said Giving Nazis Subs At Vladivostok

TOKYO, Nov. 20 (CP Havas)—The newspaper Nichi Nichi's Rome correspondent Sunday reported rumors circulating in Italy of a secret agreement under which Soviet Russia is ceding a number of submarines to Germany to be operated out of Vladivostok to harass British Pacific and Indian Ocean shipping.

The dispatch said Italian naval circles were following the situation with keen interest, realizing such a development would make Italy mistress of the Mediterranean by compelling Britain to transfer much of its naval strength from that sea to the far and middle east.

Informed Fascist quarters viewed the rumors skeptically, the correspondent reported, in the belief that it might be merely another Nazi propaganda manoeuvre to persuade Italy to join in an alliance with the Soviet.

Japs Increasing Kwangsi Drive

HONG KONG, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Reports from Chungking, capital of China, said today a Japanese force landed on the South China coast, in Western Kwangtung province, already numbered 10,000 and was being reinforced hourly, chiefly by cavalry.

The landing was started last Wednesday for the declared purpose of cutting the Chungking government's supply lines to French Indo-China and British Burma.

Chinese dispatches declared the Japanese units had not penetrated Kwangsi province north of the landing point, but acknowledged a drive of increasing intensity toward Yamshien, about 25 miles from the Kwangsi border. Last week, the Japanese reported reaching Yamhsien.

HALIFAX, Nov. 20—(CP).—Flying Officer D. R. Anderson of Montreal was killed as a Royal Canadian Air Force plane which he was piloting crashed near here to-day. Cause of the accident is uncertain. Flying Officer Anderson, with No. 115 auxiliary squadron at Montreal before the start of the war, was the only occupant of the plane.

Quizzed On Wreck Of Stolen Windsor Car Youth Whips Out Gun, Wounds Officer

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 20 (CP)—Donald Fleming, 19, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was charged today with attempted murder here following the shooting of Police Sergeant Percy Last while he was being searched at headquarters following his arrest on a traffic charge.

Sergeant Last was not wounded seriously. One of the two bullets fired by Fleming struck the officer in the right leg above the knee.

Fleming is also charged with stealing a car in Windsor owned by Deputy Fire Chief Hedley Coates, of that city. He was arrested this morning by Provincial Traffic Officer Burt Moore after he crashed the car into a telephone pole at Glendale, about three miles west of London.

After being booked on a reckless driving charge, Fleming was taken into a "search room" by Sergeant Last, accompanied by Traffic Officer Moore, and Constable William Snell.

Noticing that Fleming kept his right hand in a coat pocket, Sergeant Last asked him "What's in your hand?" And the youth whipped out a .32-calibre revolver and ordered: "Stick 'em up you——."

Sergeant Last struck at the gun, forcing it down, but the first bullet entered his leg. The second slug struck the floor, and then Fleming was quickly overpowered by the three officers.

Fleming at first said his name was James Ferguson and that he lived in Windsor, but admitted his identity when an operator's licence with the name of Donald Fleming was found in his pocket.

Deputy Chief Coates' auto was stolen from in front of his Windsor home about 9 p.m. Sunday. Fleming apparently drove into London, and was heading west again when he failed to negotiate the Glendale curve and smashed into the pole.

Riding with him at the time was Aircraftsman Ed. McIntyre, of Regina, now in training at the Royal Canadian Air Force school at St. Thomas. McIntyre said he was hitchhiking to St. Thomas and that Fleming picked him up just outside the city limits.

Fleming had removed the Deputy Fire Chief's red signal light from the front of the car, but the auto was still equipped with a large siren at the time of the accident.

Traffic Officer Moore said that his suspicions were aroused when he noted the siren on the wrecked car. Enquiry revealed that Fleming and his companion had gone to a garage on No. 2 highway, and he was quickly located by Moore. Aircraftsman McIntyre was not held by the police.

Sergeant Last was treated at Victoria Hospital and given serum injections. Then he returned to police headquarters, but later was removed to his home.

Treated Fine Says Prisoner But Asks Food, Clothes

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 20. — (CP)—Tom Reilly, 19-year-old musician formerly of St. Thomas, Ont., interned as an enemy alien Sept. 19 in Germany, has been given a good bed and is getting "plenty to eat," according to word received to-day by a sister, Mrs. George Wood of Windsor.

Mrs. Wood received a letter sent by Tom to his parents in England. The letter was dated Sept. 28 and did not reach London, Eng., until Oct. 17. The letter had to pass German censors, and Mrs. Wood was of the opinion that the favorable outlook by her brother was a plan to get it out of the country more than anything else.

Especially did she think this was so because Reilly said in the letter that he wished he had his overcoat and some warm pajamas and said, "you can send stuff here." He mentioned his woollen scarf, chocolates, biscuits and cheese.

Reilly said in the letter passed on to Mrs. Wood by his parents that he is living with English people and met two boys from Hamilton. He also asked his parents to drop cards to parents of Victor Hammett of Windsor and Frank Griffith of Nottingham, assuring them that the boys were getting along fine.

Reilly is a son of Capt. and Mrs. James Reilly, who lived in Guelph and St. Thomas for 20 years before they returned to London, Eng., four years ago. Tom travelled extensively through Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, France and other European nations before the war as a musician.

Tom plays the violin and harmonica and was a member of the Elmdale Harmonica Band which his father directed in St. Thomas. This band won many prizes at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Captain Reilly was bandmaster of the Elgin Regiment Band in St. Thomas for years.

Pacific Bases, Hornets' Nests Of Real Naval Activity

WITH THE ROYAL CANADIAN NAVY on the Pacific Coast, Nov. 20 — (CP).— There's a hum of activity at the Royal Canadian Naval Base on the Pacific.

Since the war, the personnel has increased by hundreds. Barracks are filled and more are going up along with other buildings for various training purposes and the all important task of keeping up supplies for men and equipment.

This is a self-contained, compact unit and despite the strain caused by wartime expansion all facilities are running smoothly and efficiently.

Here are schools for seamanship, signalling, wireless telegraphy, gunnery—in fact everything from teaching elementary seamanship to the finishing touches that fits new men to take their places as first-class seamen and fighters.

There are destroyers for patrol offshore in ocean waters; former fishing vessels manned by their crews under the fishermen's naval reserve enlistment who scout the bays and inlets; minesweepers and tugs which chug around continually.

The number of artisans and clerical workers ashore has grown over night.

Everywhere is activity, in storehouses, boat building works, machine shops and ordnance warehouses. There is the clank of concrete mixers and the hammer of carpenters.

Like all Royal Naval barracks, the Pacific has the name of a ship, H.M.C.S. Naden.

In the morning the "ship's company" assehmbles for roll call on the parade ground. Some are clad in dungarees ready for fatigue details, others are in uniform for regular duties, and still others appear in civilian clothes, latest recruits to His Majesty's Canadian Navy.

Cars Kill Seven Plane One, In Toll Of Ten

TORO... Nov. 20 — (CP). — Accidents claimed 10 lives in Ontario during the week-end, with seven of the fatalities due to automobile accidents. A flying officer was killed in an airplane collision, a youth drowned while skating, and an aged man was struck by a train.

Flying Officer G. P. Johnstone of Regina was killed on Saturday when his training plane collided with another 3,000 feet in the air over Rockcliffe Military Airport near Ottawa. Flying Officer J. D. Morrison, Regina, pilot of the second plane, parachuted to safety. Both planes were wrecked.

First "thin ice" fatality of the season in the province came on Saturday when 14-year-old Henry Thomas of Williamstown drowned while skating on the Raisin River near Cornwall. He ventured on treacherous ice at midstream and broke through into 15 feet of water. The body was recovered.

Victor Kulaski, 37, Detroit barrister, was charged with manslaughter and placed under police guard in hospital at London on Sunday, following the death of Mrs. William Wheaton of London on Saturday. Kulaski was driver of a car that collided with one driven by Mrs. Wheaton's husband eight miles west of London. Wheaton and Kulaski were injured and taken to hospital.

Car Hits Truck.

In the only double fatality of the week-end, Mrs. Lewis Fisher and Bernard Moore of Ingersoll were killed on Saturday when their auto collided with a transport truck allegedly driven by Romeo Ouellette of Windsor near Ingersoll.

Mrs. Fisher's husband was injured and Ouellette escaped burns leaping from the cab of the truck after gasoline ignited.

Alexander Collan, 81-year-old deaf resident of Lucknow, was killed on Sunday when struck by a freight train near Lucknow station as he walked along the tracks to attend the funeral of a friend. The train was an extra.

Pinned beneath the body of an auto in which he was riding, George Tyo, 54, farm laborer and veteran of the First Great War, was killed on Sunday near Cornwall. William Brownell, driver of the car which veered into a ditch then overturned, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

Canadian-Made Bren Guns Ready In April McNaughton Reveals; Proud Of Troops After Coast To Coast Tour Of His Forces

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.— (CP). — Canada's overseas military commander knows his troops and is proud of them. He is proud of their physique, their intelligence and of their serious view of the great moral issues in the present war.

Over the week-end Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the First Overseas Division, took a group of newspapermen into his confidence and told his impressions of the units under his command. He had just returned from a quick coast-to-coast tour in which he visited every First Division unit.

The General received the newspapermen in Defence Minister Rogers' office and the Minister, who served as a private in the First Great War, while the General held a commission and rose to command the Canadian Corps Artillery, was present throughout the conference.

Few details pertaining to the First Division were overlooked. The General answered questions on rations, training, physique, equipment, but shied clear of certain angles on which secrecy is desirable.

The General spoke frankly to the reporters and said he had asked the commanders of the First Division units to speak frankly to him on his recent tour. They had done so, had told him of their difficulties and in many cases suggestions offered had been adopted immediately.

General McNaughton's quick memory was displayed particularly when he said newspapers had recently dug up many of his old speeches and writings on military subjects. One correspondent said he had been looking for one without success and named it.

"Published in the Defence Quarterly of April, 1932," said the General.

Canadian-made Bren machine guns will be delivered before April 1, 1940, the date specified for first delivery in the contract with a Toronto firm.

The troops now have all the machine guns they need for training purposes, including Bren guns;

Men in the army under 19 and officers under 20, the minimum age for going overseas, will be kept in training until they are the minimum age;

Troops are getting excellent rations prepared by experienced cooks, show gains in weight after a short period in uniform;

Experiments are being made with an intelligence test;

The First Division will be as well equipped as possible and as well equipped as the British army when it takes the field;

In ordering Highland regiments to use battle dress instead of the kilt the Canadian authorities were following the example of the Highland units in the British army. The kilt could be worn on leave, some Highland emblems might be worn with the battle dress but the kilt was unsuitable for conditions in the theatre of war;

Canadian troops overseas will be identified by a khaki shoulder patch bearing the word

Visitor Discovers Canada's Worst Worry

A few soldiers patrol St. Hubert Airport at Montreal, coated against the late fall's 10-degree temperatures at night.

"I say," remarked a genial Customs official with a touch of wistfulness as I validated my ticket for the return trip to New York by plane, "were you well treated here? I mean the war—we didn't give you too much trouble, now did we?"

I agreed.

"Then perhaps," he said, "you will say so when you get back to New York. The United States should know that."

It is war but it is not war.

I tried to draw a taxi driver into a conversation about the war.

"Oh, the war" he exclaimed, recognizing it. "I've been reading about it. Will you be in town for the rugby game Saturday?"

At a club in Montreal a man in his 40's musingly poured water into two fingers of Scotch.

"I suppose my two boys will enlist," he conceded. "This is war, again. But I am not lying awake nights thinking about it."

It is at the airport training centres that the visitor is confronted with the real preparations for the conflict. In 1914 Great Britain asked Canada for foot soldiers. Today it is not foot soldiers but aviators.

At one airdrome I found aircraftsmen, young men enlisted to learn to care for warplanes, sharing quarters built for only half their number. At the bachelor officers' quarters two pilots shared a room normally reserved for one.

"We are only getting under way," explained the commanding officer. "But we shall go along fast now."

The goal is 25,000 fliers a year. Canada is the centre of the Empire air scheme. Contributing to the man-power will be the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and New Zealand. If the war in the air is to determine the course of the war in general, Britain is determined to achieve air superiority.

parade ground and report to commissioned officers. They in turn report to Commander A. C. Wurtele, executive officer, on the quarter deck, and the commander reports to the officer commanding, Commander R. I. Agnew.

"Attention, off caps." The men stand bareheaded while Rev. Arthur Bischlager conducts services. The Lord's prayer is recited in unison, followed by the chaplain's prayers for Their Majesties and for the Empire's forces.

A tour of barracks reveals comfortable quarters. Hammocks are "as good as beds, once you get used to them?" In the words of one young seaman.

The canteen has billiard tables, a piano and a separate room with a beer counter, but no youngsters are allowed the beverage.

That rule holds good for issue of the traditional rum ration. Daily the men are issued each a tot—half a gill—of grog, two parts water to one part rum. If they don't want the grog they receive six cents per day instead. Of the eligible men in barracks only 20 per cent draw their rum ration.

The Canadian navy has maintained a high standard of education and physical requirements. A good many of the recruits are from prairie provinces. High school graduate and university student alike heard their country's call and answered.

Some are specializing. Instance G. W. Taylor of Moosejaw, Sask.; O. H. Hodgess and J. E. Donaldson of Calgary, and R. J. McPherson of Edmonton. They will take up expert gunnery when they have learned seamanship.

A signal class holds flag drill on a promontory.

In workshops naval ratings do fine machine work, while across the road civilians are at forge, lathe and the welding machine.

In the warehouses are staples such as flour and sugar, utensils of every description, and uniform cloth. There are stocks of 81 naval flags. In fact there is everything from shingle nails to anchor chains, guns to coffee pots, engines to blankets.

Storerooms hold racks of torpedoes. There are mines, dull lookspheres with their deadly charge of explosive. And rows of gleaming barrels of big guns and the smaller pom poms.

And guarding the entrance to this storehouse of ships, men and munitions is a simple looking chain of empty oil drums. It supports a submarine cable that would spell disaster to any underwater raider attempting to penetrate the harbor.

C.I.O.-Chrysler Tieup Stands

DETROIT, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Hopes for an early settlement of the quarrel between the Congress of Industrial Organizations' and Chrysler Corporation dimmed again today in the face of a deadlock over wage demands.

During the weekend—until yesterday's stalling of negotiations — possibilities were seen of a quick peace to start thousands of workers back to jobs today. The Sunday conference, however, broke up without agreement.

Federal Mediator James F. Dewey said the two disputants were deadlocked on the wage question in such manner that a compromise probably would be difficult, but new talks will be held today.

The 46th day of the tieup of Chrysler's production of 1940 model cars, longest labor stalemate in the automobile industry's history, thus began with a pessimistic outlook after a hopeful weekend.

Originally, the C.I.O.'s United Automobile Workers asked a 10-cents-an-hour blanket wage jump. The union now is reported to have reduced this to five cents. The union also asks vacations with pay, based on a percentage of each employee's annual income, and various wage adjustments according to work classifications. . .

Since Dewey said only the wage problems remained to be solved, it was assumed that all other issues, including the U.A.W.-C.I.O.'s demand for a voice in production rates had been settled.

Group Registration and Census.

It is now the third week of November; three weeks since the census should have been returned. And three groups have not sent in cards. All that they need to do is fill out and drop the card into the mail box at the end of the street. There is a stamp already on the card and all the details printed on one side.

The three are Nos. 3, 7, and 11.

Four groups have sent in their complete returns and census, including renewal of group charter. These are St. John's No. 1, Cubs, Scouts, and Rovers; St. Luke's No. 2, Cubs and Scouts; Sacred Heart, No. 4, Cubs and Scouts; St. Andrew's No. 8, Cubs and Scouts.

Registration of St. James' No. 10 Cubs has also been received, but no Scouts or group charter.

Local Association.

The Local Association executive met on Wednesday and decided to start investigation toward the suggested permanent camp site. These investigations will be brought before the next meeting, and a tentative committee drawn up.

The question of Scout Library was again brought forward, and a sum of money allotted. It is hoped that the books will be purchased within a week or so. It was also decided to approach the Public Library Board to put in a Scout book shelf on the main floor for scout officers' use.

Another Scout Serves.

We note that our old friend and past president, Dr. G. Murray Fraser, has been called to the colors. Dr. Fraser served during the last war; he has been active in scouting for a number of years, and was a member of St. John's group committe for a long time, also president of the local association for nearly four years.

All the Scout personnel in this city joins in wishing Dr. Fraser God-speed and a safe return.

With 2nd Armour (St. Luke's)

Garth Choate gained another step to his second class badge when he passed tests for first aid. On Saturday the troop went hiking and stopped to light camp fire, during the rest time several boys passed cooking tests.

Several games were included during the regular meeting: First Aid Relay, Knot Question and Answers, Ball in the Box and Message Relay, and the old-established Kim's game.

The Parents' Auxiliary held their monthly meeting on Friday, and it was decided to hold a card party in the Parish Hall on Wednesday evening, November 29, at 8 p.m. A small charge will be made.

Bill Coleman Memorial.

Attention Cub leaders. The committee in charge of awarding the Bill Coleman Memorial Trophy wish to notify all packs that the Cub report must be in the hands of the chairman, Mr. Ottewell on or before November 30, for packs to be eligible for the award.

The report should give details of the following:

Attendance.—This, of course, being based on the size of the pack and other details.

Program.—This will be judged on the lay-out of programs, cub work and advancement. Log Book of all cub achievements. Total, 100 points.

Tenderfoot, 15 points; 1st star, 35; and second star, 50.

On receipt of reports, the committee will visit those packs and study log books, etc., for the final award.

Around St. John's

The pack had a large turnout and were pleased to welcome Baloo (Mrs. F. Ford) back into the cub jungle, and trust she will have good health to be with us for a long time.

Exchange the Bean Bag, and Candle Stalking were the games enjoyed following which an investiture was held, when Kenneth Barrett, Ted Robinson and Terry Hill were made tenderpad cubs into the great brotherhood of world scouts.

Akela announced that the new totem pole ribbons were made and will be presented on Friday, December 1, at 8 p.m. in a Ribbon Ceremony, to which all parents are invited.

Mothers' Auxiliary.

The regular monthly meeting of St. John's Mothers' Auxiliary will be held on Friday at 3 p.m. in the Parish Hall. All mothers please attend.

The Crew will hold its meeting in the den this week. Will the one who has the log book bring it along.

At All Saints'

A special Grand Howl opened the pack meeting. The boys were given a talk by Akela on the importance of the cub uniform. Games were taken by Bagheera and Baloo. A full attendance was on hand at the council rock, where several were welcomed to the pack.

The new chums are asked to meet Akela at 505 Bolivar street, at 7 p.m. Thursday night.

The Crew put over a complete program at Westwood last Tuesday. Skipper Cutmore was chairman of the entertainment and led in community singing, with Mr. Hodson assisting on the accordian. R.S. George Brooks gave a brief summary of his trip to the world rover moot in Scotland. The crew gave two musical numbers, following which Canon Paterson gave a talk.

Solos by Mrs. Cutmore and G. Brooks also accordian solo by Mr. Hodson brought the program to a close, after which refreshments were served.

Scouter Club Executive.

The executive committee for drawing up the constitution of the Scouters' Club wil hold a meeting, at the home of G. Brooks, 194 Hunter east, at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

'Peg Will Permit Non-Residents On Wheat Mart

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20—(CP)—Officials of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today issued a statement announcing that facilities will be provided on and after Dec. 1 to permit non-residents to deal on the Winnipeg market.

The statement follows:

Under revised instructions issued today by the Foreign Exchange Control Board, facilities will be provided on and after Dec. 1st to enable non-resident to trade on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Since the coming into force of the Foreign Exchange Control order, trading by non-residents has been restricted entirely to United States grain firms operating for their own account and the transfer of funds to and from the United States to cover margins, profits or losses arising from trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on this basis has been permitted by the board.

Under the new instructions to the grain trade, the same facilities are now to be afforded to any non-residents wishing to trade on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange provided margins are put up in the first place in United States dollars. If margins have been deposited in United States dollars the board is prepared to provide United States dollars for the payment to non-residents of any profits made on futures trading and for margins from time to time released.

This will permit non-resident individuals as well as grain firms to trade in Winnipeg grain futures.

A German reconnaissance plane also was sighted over North Scotland and was reported driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

BERLIN, Nov. 20 (AP)—Authorized German sources said today one German warplane fired on yesterday while flying over The Netherlands had "returned seriously wounded after the plane took a circuitous route to its home base."

The Netherlands and German governments are seeking to clarify the incident, these sources declared.

The weather prevented German reconnaissance flights, but planes already in the air returned safely, the agency said.

(Widespread scouting today over France by German planes was reported from Paris while in England anti-aircraft batteries went into action against an unidentified plane.)

Regarding mercantile sea warfare the report stated units of the German navy continued "to be busy in the Baltic, the North Sea and in all oceans."

As for the western front activity, enemy planes penetrated German territory only in the immediate neighborhood of the border, the agency asserted.

Heirlooms From Private Homes Are Shown at Club Tea

Interested guests who attended the novel Hobby and Antique tea of the business and Professional Women's Club Saturday afternoon were thrilled with the delightful collection of antique articles and quaint novelties from private homes—an assortment garnered from all parts of the world and loaned for the exhibit by club members and friends.

A number of brass articles brought by a member from the Scandinavian country of Lithuania, a section that is now very near the scene of the present European conflict was most interesting, and included a highly polished shamawar made in 1842; a stacial for chopping, and a solid brass bowl on which are carved the heads of Kings and Presidents of six different countries. A woollen table cloth, beautifully made by hand of vari-colored wool, and brought by this same member to Canada thirty-nine years ago, drew admiring comment. Candlesticks 150 years old and a boy statuette brought from Scotland in 1840 were also a part of the brass collection.

A plate of Holyrood castle that had been in a Peterborough family for 138 years; a glass cake plate, a souvenir of Queen Victoria's coronation in 1837; a cup and saucer 130 years old; a silver tea pot 150 years old; exquisite china figurines; a paper weight 135 years old; a Swiss tray of carved wood, and examples of pewter handicraft were among the exhibits.

Pieced quilts, one of tulip design copied from a block made by Mrs. Sedgwick in Otonabee 75 years ago, and one of countless tiny pieces stitched together by hand over sixty years ago by somebody's great grandmother were a centre of interest. Needlepoint, one piece covering a chair made 75 years ago, another lovely example in a wall hanging 85 years old, were truly museum pieces. A knitted afghan in a soft old blue shade had an unusual design and hooked rugs made by modern housewives still bore the beloved old-fashioned patterns.

Hung in the tea room were a tinted portrait of 85 years ago in an oval wooden frame; wall samples in crossstich; petit point pictures in tiny round frames; pen and ink sketches, and fine samples of amateur photography. The exhibit was collected and placed by Miss Myra Baird, assisted by Mrs. P. E. Telford.

Receiving the many who called during the afternoon were Miss Birdie Dawson, club president, and Miss Sarah Eastwood Pouring tea were Mrs. E. M. Leeson, Mrs. Bruce Gillespie, Miss Margaret English, and Miss Lillian Hall. Tea assistants were Miss Vida Foote, Miss J. Gillespie, Miss Mary Eason, Miss Rachael Young, Miss Agnes Dickson, Miss Mable Moore, Miss Tyler, Miss E. Thornton, Miss M. Rodney, Miss F. Corkery. Large yellow chrysanthemums arranged in a crystal bowl, and tall jade green tapers in crystal holders were used on the lace-covered tea table.

Delightful piano and violin music was played during the tea hour by Miss Agnes Grant, Miss Ann Deyell and Mrs. Ernest Gilchrist General conveners for the tea were Miss Aleitha Davidson and Miss Vera Hayes. Miss Jane Saunders was convener of the candy table.

FASHIONS

Background frocks are so practical, and terribly smart this season. Flatter your figure and your jewelry in this simple frock made up in dull crepe. The high draped neckline is becoming, and so easy to make, too. Just a few simple seams and before you know it you have one of the nicest dresses ever. Gay appliqued flowers on the sleeves add a brilliant touch, and a matching sash swathed about your middle helps to create that tiny waisted look we all like.

Style No. 3038 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 36, 38, and 40. Size 36 requires 2⅞ yards of 39-inch material for dress; 1 yard for short sleeved bolero.

They Use The Firing Squad

German firing squads have been active in Prague. Nine students of the University were shot, and two policemen suffered the same fate. The police were shot because they had not repressed the riots of the students.

In all there were 900 students arrested and what punishment may be meted out to others we do not know.

But that is the German method of making its presence and its will and its desire and determination to rule and govern felt. The firing squad.

Prague is an old city and the University there is old. It was in existence more than 600 years ago.

The trouble started near the end of October when the folk in Prague used to celebrate their "independence," something which has since been taken from them. The students would have no sympathy for the Nazi domination; they would not be Germans; they would not speak their tongue, and there would be nothing in common between them and the force which had come into their little nation to deprive it of its independence.

Students do much more demonstrating in European centres than has ever been attempted in this land. We have seen it in Vienna and also in Prague. There would be several hundred young men surging about some of the administrative buildings seeking to present some complaint or to have some grievance rectified. Often enough the residents of such cities, accustomed to such habits, paid little attention to what was going on. Or none at all. If they happened to be in the vicinity they would probably not turn aside to see what was going on as they witnessed similar disturbances many times before and attached no significance to them. It would be all over and forgotten in an hour.

Germany allows no latitude for youth or sentiment.

Germany would not realize it was an unwanted and an unloved power in a land which it had invaded.

No Nazi official even if he were desirous of doing so, could pause and conclude it might take a little time to prove to these students and others that there would come a time when they would change their minds and shed their hostility to the new master. Nothing like that at all. If students would not knuckle down and rub out memories of past dreams of independence there was only one way to do—rub out the students.

So they took nine of these young men and placed them over against a wall. There are many walls in Prague. Then they shot them.

And that is a fair enough sample of German thinking and German conclusion. Never could such a nation become a builder of an empire. Never could it bring a conquered people to a state of self-government. Nor could it breed in them that feeling of loyalty which would ultimately develop a genius for wise administration of their own affairs.

If Germany had deliberately planned to shock the world; if its worst enemy had charted a course by which Nazi thinking could be revealed in all its stark ugliness and naked depravity, nothing could have been more complete and damning than the move which Germany herself made when she lined the students of Prague against a wall and shot them. The crass stupidity which made that decision is capable of anything. Hitlerism in this one act has done more to make itself stand condemned in the eyes of the world than all the propaganda which the Allied world could possibly devise or bring into execution.

A Community Loss

Peterborough has suffered a heavy loss in the death of Dr. A. W. McPherson. In many fields of service he had done much for this community. It was he who as a public health official banished diphtheria and inaugurated many forward movements, it was he who as a teacher made a deep impression upon many young minds, it was he who as an athlete fought skilfully and courageously on the playing field and as an executive of sporting organizations helped to encourage a love for manly sport and it was he who as a soldier did much to build up Peterborough's infantry unit, the 57th Battalion.

Warm-hearted, enthusiastic, genial, a true friend and a great citizen, Dr. McPherson played many parts on the community stage in Peterborough and in all of them made a valuable contribution to the betterment of this city. In his public duties, his work as a family doctor, in his lodge, his athletic activities and in other fields he was a source of inspiration and encouragement to others who found in him fresh strength and new ambition. It was of just such a man that Shakespeare must have been thinking when he wrote "The elements so mixed in him that Nature might stand up and say to all the world—This was a man!"

Must Live In The City?

There was a long debate n Toronto on a motion which would have compelled all employees of the Board of Education to take up residence within the city limits. It was turned down by a vote of 12 to 3. The argument for the proposal was based on the plea that employees "should make the gesture of paying back to the city whatever portion of their wages they might spend on taxes or contribute to the municipality through rent."

It amounts to about the same thing as telling an employee where he or she would have to live, and that is something which most people like to settle for themselves.

This is not a new idea because it has come up at various places for years, and about as frequently dropped as being unreasonable and unwise. If a school teacher in Toronto found it advantageous to live within the city limits then that is where the teacher would live, and most of them do. If the teacher desired to live out in the country where there would be more room, and where the cost of maintaining a home would be less, then that is where the teacher would go. If it were found that many of the teachers were leaving the city then it would be high time for civic officials to start seriously on the task of finding out what is wrong with the city.

If Toronto Board of Education assumed an arbitrary view of the situation it would mean that employees living outside of the city limits and owning homes there, would have to dispose of their holdings and purchase or rent premises in the city. If they all started to sell their homes it is likely they would all have to take a loss because the market for real estate is not brisk. Apart from that they would be under compulsion to live where they could find premises in the city. It would be a form of regimentation similar to the old days when in mining or lumber camps workers were forced to deal at company stores, and it would be a form of compulsion which is not applied generally and which in our country should never be pressed or advocated.

Controlled From Moscow

There are several communists in the Winnipeg city council, and at the last meeting there was pointed discussion on where they stood today regarding Russian invasion of Poland. Possibly it is not strictly a civic matter, but it is not without interest.

The claim was advanced that "the communist party in Canada does not receive instructions from the Comintern (Moscow). We are affiliated with the Comintern, but not controlled by it."

And that is hard to believe. Communism, a corrupted form of which is claimed to exist in Russia, is the system which the Comintern has determined to spread over the world. The leaders of the movement in Canada have several times gone to Moscow. For what reason? To see the country or enjoy an ocean trip? Not much. They went to learn how the business of smashing democratic forms of government and all our institutions could best be accomplished.

As a rule we have been tolerant enough in this country; we have allowed the communists to go their way and have their say. We have also declared them an illegal organization and changed again from that. But when they rise today and say they are not directed from Moscow they are putting a strain on credulity which is too great.

A Strong Combination

It makes a strong combination when the Women's Institute joins up with the organizations of the young people from the farms in the world which centres in the agricultural representative's office. This is general over the province. A gathering in the community hall at Reaboro was typical of others which take place elsewhere.

It was the annual dinner or annual banquet, depending on what one cares to call it, and when it is announced the Women's Institute is attending to that it is not necessary to raise an eyebrow or ask a question. They take it for granted the average appetite is generous in dimension and preparations are made on the same standard.

The young people have not all left the farm. They gather at such a function. Young men and young women with the health of outdoors upon them. That is as well the color scheme of the young ladies, and they appear to need no artificial aid. These young folk have been working all year; they have been in competitions of one kind or another and the awards are to be made. The girls have been engaged in homemaking, in carving out—if that is the proper word—and putting together their own frocks, in the preparation of meals and the arrangement of kitchens and all such affairs. The young men have been studying live stock and grain and field crops and seed. They have been under expert guidance and instruction, and they too have been in contests, and the "high boys" have been selected according to the marks they have registered.

Everything about it seems entirely practical and worth while. Those young men know live stock; they are well aware of type and all such matters; it would take a real slicker to fool them on the selection of an animal, and that sort of knowledge is the basis of good farming.

When these young people propose or repond to their various toasts they do so readily and easily; they do it all with that simplicity and sincerity which is impressive. When they clear the floor and start a period of games there are none who hold back, and none who appear disinterested. No one has to be coaxed.

So here are two formidable forces which stand in the way of too many young people leaving the farms. The Women's Institute as the senior organization, and the younger folk joined with the efforts which find their common centre in the office of the agricultural representative. It looks like the last word in good organization, tieing up the day's work with the day's training and the evening's pleasure and good time.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Following the German policy of blaming the Munich bomb on the British, Premier Chamberlain should feel justified in explaining that his attack of gout was brought on by Hitler.

Answer to correspondent: In order to qualify for a municipal election it is necessary to have paid taxes in full at the time of nomination. Paying them by the date of the election is not sufficient.

Detroit strike in Chrysler plant has lasted 45 days and 100,000 workers have been idle that long. If $6 per day is allowed for each worker that means $27,000,000 which has not been distributed in wages.

War tracts and pamphlets of all sorts are being closely read and scrutinized today by officials, which is more than could have been said previously for similar literature.

At Ontario race tracks it is reported the amount wagered during the season was $12,858,640, but that does not give an accurate idea of the actual amount of money involved. The same money may go in several times as there are many who keep on betting until all they have left is a longing to go home.

An investigator in New York claims there are colored women in that city working for as low as ten cents per hour, and the practical solution for such a condition would be to insist that those who pay such wages should be made to live on them for a while.

There was one fine old phrase which came up for another airing in a despatch from Ottawa. How many cub reporters had their knuckles rapped for writing their first fire or police stories and saying the thing was "shrouded in mystery" is unknown, but the number would be large. The Ottawa report makes a slight change, and says that "activities of the War Supply Board are shrouded in secrecy." Did we hear the old-time city editor groan?

DEFECTS

(By A.R.K.)

¶ A friend of twenty years gone back, came in to greet me in my shack, some things he had to tell; he started in most right away, and then it was I heard him say, I wasn't looking well.

¶ Your hair ain't like it used to be, he shoved those words direct at me, I mind the patch you had; the way it's dropped out at the top, has left you quite a barren spot, that really is too bad.

¶ You used to have more color too, while now you're kind of grey and blue, I thing it's mostly gray; you used to look robust I know, and fit to pick right up and go, and you were rather gay.

¶ Perhaps you stayed up nights too late, for you have lost a lot of weight, for you were round and sleek; and you had muscles in your arm, as though you might well raise a barn, and fat upon your cheek.

¶ And you have wrinkles in you now, look sort of sunken in the brow, you've lost a lot of teeth; he worried quite a lot for me, and it was plain for him to see, I'd had long spells of grief.

¶ I noticed too when he came in, his fingers knotted 'neath the skin, he didn't look the same; he coughed when he began to talk, leaned hard when he got up to walk—upon a basswood cane.

Few Writers Ever Get Into Big Money Class

WHAT do front rank authors earn? Details are not always available, but from figures that are published from time to time the answer would appear to be, as the Americans would put it—plenty!

For instance, Sir James Barrie left £178,000, one of the largest fortunes of any British author. As Barrie financed a hospital in France during the war and in recent years had been a generous donor to charities, his literary earnings must have been very great. Rudyard Kipling was close up with an estate of £155,000.

The great Charles Dickens fell short of these money spinners with a paltry £93,000. George Moore, £75,000 and Thomas Hardy, £91,000, were right behind him. Stanley Weyman, whose historical romances had a great vogue a few years ago, left £100,000; and John Galsworthy of Forsyte fame, £88,000. The estate of Rider Haggard, whose writings cast a glamorous veil of magic and mystery over Africa, amounted to £61,000.

Turning to the earnings from single books and stories, Hervey Allen's Anthony Adverse was one of the greatest gold mines of all times. For the first four years of its publication it netted its author £40,000 per annum in world royalties. The Little Minister brought Barrie £50,000, while for one of her novels Marie Corelli received £20,000. Alice Hegan Rice's best seller, Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, also earned £20,000. As the book was only twenty thousand words in length this was a return of £1 a word!

Kipling, too, in his heyday, was paid some remarkable sums. On one occasion he got £240 each for the English rights only of a series of eight short stories. With world rights added this transaction must have netted him at least £8,000. For the English and American rights of Kim he was paid £5,000, and, for a single poem Collier's Weekly wrote him a cheque for £200! Among living authors, Somerset Maugham has earned as much as £1,000 with one short story.

The "Bulldog Drummond" books earned the late H. C. McNeile ("Sapper") £100,000 in seventeen years, and Beverley Nichols made £25,000 out of books written about his cottage and garden in Huntingdon.

In the field of biography, Lord Morley's Life of Gladstone brought the author £10,000, and for the life of his father, Winston Churchill received £8,000. "Trader Horn," whose real name was L. L. Smith, wrote a best seller at the age of seventy-three! His The Ivory Coast in the Earlies brought him a fortune in royalties and film rights.

Warwick Deeping and A. A. Milne have been credited with incomes of £30,000 per annum, while the American author, Clarence Budington Kelland, whose chief source of income is writing serials for periodicals like the Saturday Evening Post, is said to average £25,000 yearly.

Until fairly recently it was fashion for established authors to sneer at motion - picture producers and all their works. Now Hollywood attracts as scenario writers and adaptors some of the best writing brains in the world, including P. G. Wodehouse, James Hilton, George Kaufman, Hugh Walpole, Robert Sherwood, John Van Druten, and W. P. Lipscomb. This is where the real money is.

Few Hollywood writers draw less than £100 a week and most get from £200 to £600 a week! Here, too, is a golden market for the author in selling film rights of published books, plays and stories. Prices range from £1,500 to £15,000. Some bring more; Dodsworth, for instance, brought £32,000, Street Scene £25,000, Dinner at Eight £22,000, and Dead End £33,000!

It is well, however, to remember the other side of the picture. Guy Boothby wrote for ten years without a single sale, and W. W. Jacobs' first four years netted him only 34s.! Hall Caine, later a best-selling author, made nothing out of his first book and only a few pounds out of his second and third, and an author of the calibre of H. G. Wells was glad, in his early writing years, to earn an occasional guinea for an article in the Family Herald.

In writing, as in all the arts, "many be called but few chosen."

CANADA'S TREES

In Canada there are approximately 125 species or distinct varieties of trees Only 33 per cent are conifers, commonly known as "softwoods," but they comprise over 80 per cent of the standing timber and 70 per cent of the wood utilized for all purposes. While the number of deciduous-leaved or "hardwood" species is large, only about a dozen are of commercial importance comparable with that of about two dozen species of conifers.—Moose Jaw Times-Herald.

• Making Use Of Hatred

THERE is more than one way of finding out facts. Such a method is that of deduction. And reading the sensational and important book, "The Revolution of Nihilism," by Dr. Hermann Rauschning, former "inner circle" Nazi, we come across this significant passage: "Should terrorism produce discontent, there is always a public enemy to be discontent, there is always a public enemy to be discovered . Public indignation is poured over him from time to time, so that collective outbursts of rage may provide continual diversions, and never to leave the citizens to himself with nothing to do, is another tactical rule of general application."

The method is not a new one. It has been employed by unscupulous politicians ever since that day in the remote past when the scheming of tribal witch-doctors struggled up to the dignity of the designation "politics."

And now the Nazis, threatened indeed by discontent bred of their own terrorism, have decided upon an object for the "public indignation" they proposed to generate. Obviously—too obviously—that choice is Great Britain. Thus we are to have a "Gott Strafe England" campaign all over again, with the only difference that the present one is even more vicious in its conception than was the "hate drive" inaugurated by the Kaiser and his colleagues in 1914.

Yet hate is a poor and dangerous substitute for definiteness of purpose and a high resolve to carry it through. The people of Germany march and "Heil" at the behest of their Fuehrer like so many witless automatons. They are now to be goaded to fighting pitch by the fires of hate and these, let it be remembered, burn inside as well as out. Sooner or later the German people will find out how badly they have been deceived and then the searing flame Hitlerism has fanned will be turned to the Nazis' own destruction.

• Is Germany Well Equipped?

HOW DOES the Germany of 1939 compare in strength with the Germany of 1914? An answer to this question is sought in the Trade and Engineering supplement of the Times of London. Despite the natural tendency of an enemy journal to take an unfavorable view, the comparisons made in the supplement carry considerable weight.

The Germany of 1914, together with its ally Austria-Hungary, had 103,000 000 inhabitants, as against a present 86,000,000 for Greater Germany (including Czecho-Slovakia), a disparity offset of course by the current absence of an enemy on the Russia frontier. Considerable supplies of raw materials that were then within the boundaries of the two empires are now held by neighboring neutral nations. Although still largely available, they cannot now be paid for with German marks or Austrian crowns, but require German exports or foreign money, a requirement which, under present circumstances, raises serious problems for Germany.

As for raw materials, Greater Germany, even without Bohemia-Moravia, turns out 30 per cent more coal, more than twice as much lignite, 80 percent more iron and double the amount of steel produced in 1913. In coal she is self-sufficient, but even before hostilities began she was importing 68 per cent of the iron ore she used—a deficit that will doubtless be greatly increased by wartime needs. In certain commodities, such as rubber, textile materials and petroleum, she has developed a considerable synthetic industry, but in none has anything approaching self-sufficiency been attained, while the cost processes at present involved represent an undoubted drain on her resources.

Agricultural production in Old Germany, according to the Institut fur Konjunkturforschung, is about as great as in 1913-14, but at that time she was producing only about 80 per cent of her needs. Furthermore, neither Austria nor Czecho-Slovakia is nearly as self-sufficient in foodstuffs as Old Germany.

Financial resources today are much inferior. The transportation system is in notoriously poor condition. The general economic organization is, of course, more highly developed, but against this must be set the fact that the demands that were being made on it even before September far more nearly approached its limits than was the case before war began in 1914. Prior to September there was already a labor shortage—a difficulty that did not appear until some time after the beginning of the last.

That all these lacks will be decisive in a short war is improbable. That they will be determining in a long one cannot be said with certainty. But all the evidence available goes to suggest that Germany has entered the present struggle less well equipped for a protracted contest than twenty-five years ago.

J. J. DUFFUS COMPANY HAS SOLD AUTOMOBILES FOR 31 YEARS

Company Has Longest Record Of Continuous Business Of Any Auto Agency In Canada

Of the automobile agencies in Canada to-day, the J. J. Duffus Company has the longest record of continuous business, extending through the epochal period of the last thirty-one years.

The attainment of that solitary position has been perhaps the outstanding distinction of broad and many-phased career of J. J. Duffus, M.P. the founder of the company which has become an expansion of his own single-handed work as a pioneer in the distribution branch of the automotive industry.

Since his election to the Parliament of Canada. Mr. Duffus has withdrawn from active superintendence of the company, deciding from a sense of duty that his first responsibility demanded full time service to the people of Peterborough as their representative in the Federal Government. At that stage, however, the spade work had been done, Mr. Duffus having reached a place, by reason of the organization he had developed, in which he could transfer to his two sons the details of management which had been so long in his own hands.

Although the problems of the automobile business have been relegated into the background of Mr. Duffus' affairs, now dominated by Parliamentary duty, the company bearing his name seems still so closely attached to his achievement that in this anniversary his earlier experience in the days of doubt and scepticism of the future of the automobile retains a primary appeal looking back over all its advances to its present refinements of production and operation.

Opportunity Knocked.

The year 1909 stands out as the turning point in the life of J. J. Duffus. It directed his footsteps into new paths that lengthened and broadened under pleasant suns. In that year Mr. Duffus was elected an alderman of the City Council, and became attracted to the selling of the Ford car ,then emerging into the field of transportation and dubiously regarded by the general public in the phrase "horseless carriage," suggesting at that time the rather unpromising progress of the first engineers in the manufacture and use of the internal combustion gasoline engine.

Mr. Duffus was then in partnership with Duncan F. Drummond, joint agents of the Massey-Harris Company. Their farm implement shop was located on Simcoe Street in the premises of the Utilities Commission office. The partnership continued for two years more when it was dissolved, and Mr. Duffus went into the automobile business for himself in the old Taylor building on George Street, which was razed to clear the ground at Charlotte and George Streets for the C.D.S. store.

After two years in business on George Street, Mr. Duffus moved back to Simcoe Street, to the building now operated by W. R. Turner & Sons, its larger space reflecting the substantial progress in the sales of the old Model T Ford, by that time accepted as a new medium and machine of transportation. In 1918, after winding up two years of civic duty as Mayor, Mr. Duffus decided to erect a building that would accommodate his expanding business. He bought the property at the corner of Water and Charlotte Sreets, and moved into it in November, and in 1926 built the gasoline se and in 1926 built the gasoline service station on Water Street, as an annex to the main premises.

Some minor developments have taken place in the meantime, but they are dissociated from the main and central interest of the automobile agency, now extending into its fourth decade.

Crew of Teachers.

"All the changes that have taken place since the old Model T appeared on the scene make it seem like a past age," Mr. Duffus reminisced. "Books have been written and others will be written about the evolution of the automobile, and the vast changes in world ecenomy during those thirty-one years. But, to mention some of the simpler things that are now almost forgotten, the younger generation probably does not realize that an important part of the selling of cars in those early days of the industry was to teach buyers how to drive them, and also how they operated.

I can recall that at one time we sold cars to nine farmers in a row on one concession in Harvey Township, and we had five men back there as teachers. More or less similar experiences happened all through the country. People were buying a new kind of machine that was unfamiliar to them, and its working had to be explained to them until they could drive it safely and knew how it worked. Many a time I have stayed at farm homes two and three days training folks who had just bought their first cars. In fact, one of the most pleasant recollections of my life was the associations and friendships I was privileged to make at that time. People were exceedingly friendly and hospitable, and I have never forgotten those experiences.

I remember a South Monaghan woman coming into the office several days after she had bought a car and telling me she didn't like it. The upshot of the conversation was that she wished she hadn't bought it. I assured her that if she felt that way about the car she could have her money back. To cut that story short, she seemed so surprised that she was inclined to reconsider her feeling about the car, so I told her that if she would rather have another one instead of it, she could pick a new one from stock and take it, and that is what she did.

Cash Transactions.

In those days automobiles were bought for cash. No one had thought of instalment buying, and there was no trading in used cars, because it was years before the first cars reached the used stage, and any way it was a later development in selling methods. Men buying cars would write out their cheques even before the cars were delivered to them.

In those thirty years I suppose I sold 3,000 cars, but if we had thought of the later development in financing, I might have sold twice that number.

At the outset the district that had been assigned to me reached from Bowmanville to Belleville and Picton because there were no other Ford agencies in that area. The automobile had not yet been accepted as a machine of transport that was going to stay."

General Motors Agency.

Mr. Duffus recalled that he retained the Ford franchise until 1927. For the next three years until 1930 he sold the Willys-Overland, and in 1931 secured a franchise with the General Motor Corporation to sell La Salle, Buick, and Pontiac and G.M.C. trucks.

The first Fords of Canadian manufacture were produced from the Walkerville factory. Their earliest competitors were McLaughlin-Buicks manufactured in Oshawa, forerunners of the General Motors Company in that city; Russells made in Toronto and the Reo, imported from the United States. Mr. Duffus said that a Buick agency was located in the W. R. Turner & Sons building on Simcoe Street for some time before it was vacated and on its removal from that premises he obtained it.

"If it sounds all right to say so, I was the first man in Canada to buy a full car load of motor oil, seventy barrels," Mr. Duffus recalled. "I remember that so well, because it was featured in the trade magazines. I bought the car lot from Arthur Blade, who had taken over the Imperial Oil agency here not very long before that. In that connection, too, I was the first to buy a complete car load of automobile parts, the first at least in Ontario, and I remember that because the car load cost $10,000. Those were just some of the incidents of the early stages of the growth of the industry in this country."

Mr. Duffus said that one of the finest rewards of the agency business was the opportunity of making new friends throughout Peterborough County and at considerable distances beyond its borders. Many of the first buyers were men who have since passed on, and their sons and daughters who were only children at that time are now grown up, and in turn are the heads of families.

Of the building of new highways and the paving of roads to meet the requirements of motor car travel, Mr. Duffus said that development in itself was a long and interesting chapter. He recalled some of the Peterborough men who years ago thought that fifteen and twenty miles an hour were excessive speeds. In the meantime, virtually all of them have become used to fifty and sixty miles on level stretches of road in the country.

The "horseless buggies" have come a long way in those thirty-one years since the days of almost universal dusty roads, manually instead of pedally started cars, and the airiness of the touring type of tops—and no "trade-ins."

A MAN who had no flashlight carried two lighted cigarets in his hands as he was walking "somewhere in London" last night to prevent others from bumping into him.

Another pedestrian who carried no light saw the two glowing cigarets and, thinking he was approaching two pedestrians, tried to walk between them.

Both picked themselves up, engaged in a groping fist fight until separated by police.

The sons of J. J. Duffus, M.P., have assumed since his election to the Dominion Government the active management of the J. J. Duffus Company, the automobile agency with the longest, continuous record in business in the Dominion of Canada. Mr. Duffus is actually managing director, but since he became the parliamentary representative of the constituency of Peterborough he has left to his sons the responsibility of carrying on the business he founded. His elder son, Gerald M. Duffus, is president of the company, and Karl A. Duffus is vice-president, general manager.

AFL Leader Asks Public To Judge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Amid persistent talk of a new effort by the Roosevelt administration to bring the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations together, President William Green of the A.F.L. has asked the neutral public of the United States to place the responsibility for labor's internal feud "where it belongs."

"We believe that an attitude of neutrality toward the disputants in this case who profess to be anxious for labor peace merely serves to shelter and protect the side which is to blame," Green said in a statement last night. "Therefore, such an attitude hinders the attainment of peace.

"We are convinced that the facts show the American Federation of Labor did its utmost to prevent the split in labor and has since done everything in its power to effect peace."

Reports have circulated among union officers that a cabinet officer would make the new gesture toward bringing the two factions together.

John L. Lewis, the C.I.O. leader, is known to be opposed to any more conferences unless he can be convinced that a satisfactory settlement will result.

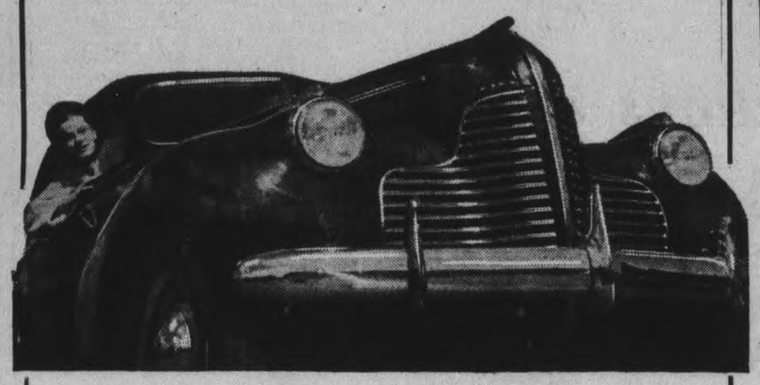
30 YEARS OF PROGRESS

1909—A gallant car in its day was this 1909 McLaughlin—even if it did have to be cranked by hand.

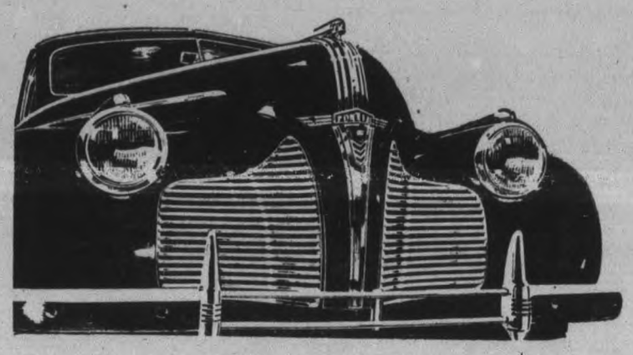
1939—Largest and most complete car ever built in Canada—one of two McLaughlin-Buicks used by Their Majesties on the Royal Tour of Canada.

McLaughlin-BUICK



For 1940—McLaughlin-Buick at its unbeatable best—22 models in five brilliant new series—new in style and design—new in advanced engineering. From the velvet velocity of its straight-eight Dynaflash Engine to the superb way it handles and answers controls, McLaughlin-Buick is also new in 72 features that spell pride, joy and satisfaction, to you. Easy to own, too, is this stunning car—priced lower than you ever imagined.

PONTIAC



For 1940—the most complete line of Pontiacs ever built—5 new series—27 stuning new models—thrifty sixes—thrilling eights—and prices start with the lowest. These big, luxurious beauties introduce over 60 advancements including Improved Safety-Shift Gear Control, Increased Visibility and the new Sealed-Beam Headlamps. A Pontiac for everybody—styled to make you proud—powered to give you the finest performance—priced to please your pocketbook.

You are invited to inspect the McLaughlin - Buick used by Their Majesties — on display at J. J. Duffus Company Showrooms November 21st and 22nd.

Both of the cars illustrated above are McLaughlin-Buicks—both exemplify leadership in their day. What a contrast between the 1909 model and the distinguished McLaughlin-Buick specially built at the Oshawa plant of General Motors for Their Majesties on their royal tour of Canada.

Here is reflected thirty years of progress and leadership. Here you see the great advances pioneered by McLaughlin-Buick in design and styling—safety and luxury—performance and dependability.

To-day, when General Motors joins in congratulating the J. J. Duffus Company—dealer for McLaughlin-Buick, Pontiac and GMC Trucks—on the 30th birthday of this progressive Peterborough organization, it is fitting to recall that for more than seventy years the name "McLaughlin" has stood for fine transportation—first in carriages and later in motor cars.

The approach of another year gives this occasion a double significance. General Motors joins hands with the J. J. Duffus Company in pledging themselves anew to your service and the determination to work together for a greater 1940.

GMC TRUCKS

For 1940—the most complete line of GMC Trucks ever offered—from half-ton Light Delivery to Super-Duty Trucks up to 15 tons capacity—Cab-Over-Engine and Diesels. GMC gives most usable power, best performance, longest fuel mileage. But there's another big reason why fleet owners find it profitable to standardize on GMC. Service and maintenance operations are greatly reduced—parts inventories are reduced—savings made on jigs and special tools. Let GMC cut your operating expenses.

ROYAL AUTO MADE IN OSHAWA PLANT OF GENERAL MOTORS

Cars For King's Use In Canada Dwarfed Everything On Road

Two beautiful maroon automobiles surpassing in size, beauty and magnificence anything previously produced in the Canadian automotive industry, were built at Oshawa for the King and Queen during their Canadian tour of May, 1939.

Selected for the honour of providing two of the four official cars to be used by the Royal party, General Motors of Canada assigned its most skilled designers and craftsmen to the task of creating vehicles suitable for the momentous occasion—the first visit of the King and Queen to Canadian soil.

Already familiar with the motoring tastes and preferences of the Royal family through having built six cars for its members in the past three years, Gerieral Motors of Canada incorporated into the two machines the ultimate in luxury and safety for Royal passengers, combined with a high degree of visibility enabling the occupants to be readily seen by the loyal citizens of Canada before whom they passed.

Work A Source Of Pride

To everyone connected with the work, the task of producing the Royal cars was a source of pride. From R. S. McLaughlin, President of General Motors of Canada, down to the hublest of the craftsmen engaged in assembling the cars by painstaking hand labour, the job was prized and regarded as an opportunity of expressing the deep devotion which they and all their fellow Canadians feel for their King and Queen.

A factor in the according of this double honour to General Motors of Canada by the Government was the fact that General Motors of Canada was able to offer an undertaking that more than 80% of the cars' content in labour and materials would be Canadian—as compared to the 55% which was stipulated by the Government in considering plans for the vehicles.

155-inch Wheelbase

The impressiveness and roominess of the vehicles is best visualized by considering the tremendous wheelbase of 155 inches. This is longer than the biggest stock car ever built in Canada, and means that the total over-all length was more than 20 feet from bumper to bumper. Details and specifications of the two Oshawa-built vehicles were identical, with the exception of upholstery colour.

McLaughlin-Buick "Limited" motors provided the power, radical changes in chassis dimensions, weight distribution and body style resulted in two finished vehicles which defied comparison in any respect with the most luxurious automobiles ever built.

The beautiful hand-made bodies —finished in a special shade of Royal Maroon which had to be perfectly matched in colour with the Royal cars regularly used in Britain—were of the Convertible Sedan type. Windows and ventilator extending almost to the back of the body of the cars formed a glass enclosure which, when raised, in no way impeded the public's view of the occupants. Furthermore, the convertible tops were so constructed that, when they were raised, no part of them obstructed the vision in or out of the windows.

Electrically Controlled

Amazing mechanical contrivances were devised to operate the special equipment of the two huge McLaughlin-Buicks. Between the auxiliary seats, which faced the Royal occupants, was a smooth flush-built assembly, housing the device which raised and lowered the centre glass partition electrically. A dual push-button control was provided, so that what normally was a stiff hand-cranking operation is reduced to the mere pressure of a finger, the upward or downward movement of the glass being automatically checked at the proper point. Two compartment were also built into the partition—a small one for odds and ends, and a larger one to contain the beautiful lap robes.

Among the items built into the cars was silver vanity equipment specially selected on the advice of Norman Hartnell, the designer of Her Majesty's wardrobe, and made by Asprey's of London.

The vanity equipment was installed in the folding arm-rest in the centre of the rear seat, nesting into white kidskin lined compartments, while at either side of the rear quarters were electric dictographs communication with the chauffeur by means of an amplifying unit connected to the radio grille in the front compartment.

Goatskin Mats

Painstaking effort was required to provide the pure white Thibet goatskin fleece mat which covered the entire floor of the rear compartment. This provided a strikingly beautiful contrast in the case of the one automobile which was upholstered in Royal Maroon broadcloth, the latter material being of such quality that it produced a truly gorgeous ruby-coloured sheen when viewed from various angles.

Ample head-room in the rear compartment was provided for the plumed headdress which His Majesty frequently wears on formal occasions. Reversed auxiliary seats facing the rear seat occupants were provided for the use of supporting dignitaries or other members of the Royal entourage. Interior hardware was finished in gleaming chrome, with Ruby plastic inserts carved out by hand.

Safety Tubes

Among the provisions for the safety of the passengers was the use of "safety tubes" in the six-ply white-wall tires with which the cars are equipped, and which renders the cars impervious to punctures.

Apart from their almost startling size, beauty of design and distinctiveness of colour, the two McLaughlin-Buicks carried traditional and unmistakable symbols of the regal use to which they were put. On each rear door there was a hand-painted Royal crest. A striking blue signal light was mounted above the centre post of the windshield, and the Royal coat of arms shied and standard were imposed as evidence that the greatest Dominion of the British Empire was playing host to her King.

These two McLaughlin-Buicks were the seventh and eighth which had been specially built in Oshawa for members of the British Royal family, and it may be truly said that they represented the ultimate in automotive style and perfection.

Spain's rehabilitation plans may be delayed by the present war.

That First "Raid"

London, Nov. 20 (CP).

THE "inside" story of the war's first air raid warning, which sent the populace scurrying for shelter only a few minutes after the prime minister finished telling the nation that it was at war with Germany, has been revealed by Hannen Swaffer, Daily Herald columnist.

"A mysterious airplane was sighted off the coast," said the official announcement.

And in it was none other than Sir Walter Monckton, on his way back from France after arranging for the return of the Duke of Windsor, says Swaffer.

French Fight Off German Patrols

PARIS, Nov. 20 — (AP). — The western front remained quiet to-day after a week-end in which the French reported great German aerial activity and minor patrol skirmishes between the lines.

The General Staff's morning communique said merely, "Nothing important to report during the night." Earlier, however, military sources said the French fought off German patrols near Blies, killing six Nazis and capturing one.

Summing up the war at sea during the past month, a French communique estimated German shipping captured by French patrols "certainly exceeded by several thousand tons the tonnage of French shipping lost because of the enemy." Flood waters stalled overland war operations along the length of the western front, forcing the Germans to abandon a number of inundated positions on their side of the Rhine.

Artillery Duel.

An artillery exchange started in the zone south of Saarbrucken by the Germans was one of the day's few features.

Air operations were equally reduced, but German fliers continued their long-range scouting flights — all at high altitude—over east and southeastern France.

Air raid alarms were sounded along the Rhine Valley and in Normandy. At Lon, in the Rhone valley, the alarm lasted from 9:35 to 10:20 a.m. At Rouen, Normandy, the alarm was given at 10:25 a.m. The "all clear' followed at 11:10 a.m.

French military sources asserted the rising waters of the Rhine had caused greater damage on the less-protected German side of the river. Abandoning some positions, German troops were reported raising dikes and attempting to pump out a number of flooded blockhouses.

In Alsace, the Lauter river was at flood crest. In Lorraine, the Blies and Sarr were swollen by waters from the many streams crossing the mountainous wooded country which marks the front.

U. K. Comfortably Winning War Says Secretary

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Somewhere in France, Nov. 20—(CP).—"Britain is comfortably winning this war," War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha declared yesterday on an inspection of the Western Front.

The War Secretary has been conferring with Viscount Gort, British Commander-in-Chief of forces in the field, General Maurice Gamelin, Commander-in-Chief of the Allied forces, and Premier Daladier of France.

"It is the type of war we do best —just digging in and sitting tight," he added. "It is the old boxing principle to keep a man at arms length and tire him out.

"I am greatly pelased with everything I have seen."

The War Secretary accompanied by Lord Gort inspected more than 100 miles of a French sector, neighboring that held by British troops.

After a sandwich lunch in his automobile, Mr. Hore-Belisha left for Paris, where he will confer again with Premier Daladier and General Gamelin.

On the inspection trip the War Secretary stopped in a village square where a number of French officers were presented to him, then went to a chateau on a nearby hill, where British and French General Staff officers gave him detailed explanations of the positions occupied by troops.

Village children brought him bunches of flowers.

The War Secretary studied with particular care bridges mined by the British Engineering Corps, several French observation posts, and a newly installed anti-tank defence of the latest model.

400-Pound Catch

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Nov. 20—(AP)—Olaf Olsson, film studio carpenter, went fishing Sunday off Malibu Beach in his 21-foot power cruiser. He baited a 500-foot set line with 200 hooks for cod and mackerel. Suddenly a tug swung his boat around. For two hours he fought alone to bring in his line. When he succeeded he discovered a 400 pound broadbill swordfish. The rest of the line was 300 pounds of mackerel, 50 pounds of cod.

Black Creek Yields Young Hunter's Body

TWEED, Nov. 20 — (ENS). — Matches and belt found near the jagged edges of a hole in the ice above the big dam in Black Creek, 12 miles north of Cooper, gave the clue to the efforts of 16-year-old Donald Gordon, Madoc, to save himself before he perished in the icy waters of the river. His body was recovered approximately 300 yards from the dam by a searching party headed by Provincial Police Officer Arthur Dymond, after a search of 36 hours, on Friday.

The body of the dead youth was brought from the scene of recovery by stretcher to the highway and taken to Madoc.

The youth was last seen at four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, when he left on a huting foray alone; and it is believed that he crashed through the ice while returning home. He had accompanied his father and two companions to the district on a hunting trip and had stayed in a cabin approximately three miles from the scene of the drowning.

The hunting party became alarmed when Cooper failed to return to the camp late Wednesday evening, and a posse was organized. The immediate district was searched, and the posse failed to locate the youth. The search was abandoned until Friday morning when the body was located ,after a cap and rifle identified as belonging to the missing youth were found beside the hole in the ice and it was learned that the articles belonged to the young hunter.

DAILY WAR SUMMARY

(By Canadian Press.)

The second great civilian sea tragedy of the war was the sinking of the Dutch liner, Simon Bolivar, with the loss of some 140 persons. In the destruction of civilian lives it outranks the first, the sinking of the British liner, Athenia, which took a toll of 112.

Nazi propagandists will no doubt attempt to lay the responsibility for the Simon Bolivar sinking on Great Britain as they did in the case of the Athenia, taking advantage of the impossibility of identifying the nationality of a mine.

Placed in Channel Used by Neutrals

The Athenia was sunk by a submarine and the Simon Bolivar by a mine, apparently placed without notification in a channel followed by neutral shipping. The fact that the channel was one used regularly by British ships is enough to convince anyone it was an enemy mine but will probably not deter German apologists from drawing other conclusions.

When they were able to advance the contention that the British Navy sank the Athenia, a British ship travelling between a British and a Canadian port with hundreds of British subjects on board they can be expected to produce some story about the Simon Bolivar.

Is It Start of German Campaign of Frightfulness?

The near future should indicate whether this tragedy is an isolated event or the start of a new German campaign of frightfulness on the seas, such as the German Imperial Navy carried on for a time in the last war.

Reports of the sinking of four other ships by mines tended to confirm the view German sea warfare was becoming more ruthless.

Since the sinking of the Athenia most of Germany's war activity on the seas has conformed fairly well with the rules of war and humanitarian considerations. Hints of intensified sea warfare have been dropped from time to time from German official sources and the resort to more desperate methods will not be wholly surprising.

Leave Japan To Open New U.S. Dealings

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The sands are running fast on the Japanese - American commercial treaty, and it is reliably predicted that when the treaty expires Jan. 26, no new one will have been negotiated.

The way then will be open for congressional action on the resolutions by Senators Pittman (Dem.-Nevada) and Schwellenbach (Dem.-Washington) to impose an embargo on the shipment of raw materials to Japan. There has been no indication whether a majority of the Senate and House of Representatives would favor this proposal.

Any move toward opening negotiations for a new commercial treaty, Washington officials say privately, will have to come from Tokyo. No preliminary talks on the subject have taken place in either capital.

It is freely granted here that the treaty was abrogated by State Secretary Cordell Hull not for commercial but for political reasons. The political reasons still exist, in the view of the United States diplomats.

Dionnes Buy Quints Toys In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—(CP).—With the back seat of their automobile piled as high as Santa Claus' sled, Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne ended their five-day visit to New York yesterday.

Because they didn't visit Niagara Falls on their honeymoon, the parents of Canada's beloved quints will view the scenic wonder en route to their home at Callander, Ont.

While here, the Dionnes did their Christmas shopping. Gifts for the quints are a sled for Emilie, an airplane of Annette, "a car like daddy's" for Yvonne, a doll for Cecile and a carriage and doll for Marie. And there were toys and clothes for the other seven Dionne children, including Pauline, who came here with her parents.

Pauline, 11 months older than the quints, who will be six next May, could hardly wait to get back to tell her sisters about New York.

The 1940 McLaughlin-Buick Has Complete New Styling

...Series—including the new 50 Super and 70 Roadmaster—the 1940 McLaughlin-Buick is introduced to the public with complete new re-styling and many mechanical innovations. Illustrated ABOVE is the Sport Coupe of the Roadmaster Series. BOTTOM LEFT is the safety door handle of the Super and Roadmaster Series, forming an integral part of the chrome body moulding. BOTTOM RIGHT shows the improved steering-column gear control, new instrument panel, and the new three-position ignition lock, now located on the instrument panel below the speedometer.

Advanced Lines Are Seen In New Buicks

Two striking and ultra-modern additions bring the 1940 McLaughlin-Buick family up to six Series of fine automobiles, in which are introduced no less than seventy new features.

Streamlined to achieve the ultimate in beauty and reduced wind resistance, the two new Series—the 50 Super and the 70 Roadmaster—reflect the modern engineering mode and bring additional distinction to the McLaughlin-Buick line.

Advanced in styling but by no means freakish, the new Super and Roadmaster embody the smooth curving contours of practical "torpedo" streamlining, with floors closer to the ground, lower overall height, elimination of running-boards, and greatly increased strength and rigidity of frame.

In addition to the two new Series, there are again offered the 40 Special, the 60 Century, and 80 and 90 Limited Series. In all six Series are incorporated the long list of mechanical and comfort features developed in the past year by McLaughlin-Buick engineers.

Improvements.

Among the many automotive advances built into the new cars are: New grille and front and styling, revolutionary Sealed Beam headlamps inset in fenders, new and smoother "ride," larger generator, improved cooling, better aero-type carburetor, "fore-n-aft" direction turn signal, safety steering wheel with horn ring, new front seat adjuster, safety inside door handles, under seat heater, improved clutch and many other items.

The 1940 grille is larger and wider, with heavier and more generously spaced horizontal chromium bars. The headlamps blend into the new front fenders, but by their location are not exposed to damage from incidental fender mishaps. Of the new Sealed Beam type adopted by the industry for 1940, the lamps themselves are said to illuminate the road 45 per cent. more brightly and farther ahead than conventional headlamps. Produced after years of experimentation, the new lamps consist of reflector, lens and illuminating filament all hermetically sealed in one single "optical package," which, impervious to the atmosphere, gives much longer trouble-free service, without loss of brilliance.

A greatly improved "ride" is accomplished by changes in the coil spring suspension. The angle of suspension of the knee-action front wheels has been rotated four degree backwards to provide better cushioning effect against road bumps, while a new rear sway stabilizer has been added, similar to that used in the front. Other factors in the achieving of smoother road performance are a longer torque tube and propeller shaft, larger rear coil springs, and relocated rear shock absorbers.

By means of a special radiator cap, and a valve in the overflow pipe, a constant pressure of approximately seven pounds is maintained in the cooling system, with the result that the boiling point of the cooling solution is raised, and tendency toward vaporization is reduced. A new aero-type carburetor affords constant supply of fuel to the intake manifold under the most extreme operating conditions, while quick starting—particularly in cold weather—is facilitaated by a new choke which automatically reacts to engine temperature.

Larger Generator.

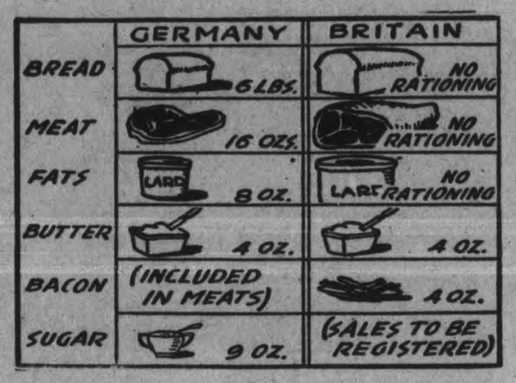
A larger and more powerful shunt-wound generator has been added to take care of the increased electrical load, while the starter switch has been improved and the clutch fitted with heavier and more durable facing. Improvements have been effected in the gear control on the steering column; steering action has been made smoother, and oil filters provided on all models.

In the field of safety, in addition to the new headlamps, McLaughlin-Buick for 1940 provides illuminated direction signals at the rear of the car and above the front lights, warning those approaching from both directions of the drive's intention of tuning to the left or right. These signals are automatically extinguished when the wheels are again straightened out. For the protection of children riding alone in the rear compartment, the Series 40, 50, 60, and 70 are fitted with the new safety "Free Reeling" inside door handles. Brake capacity has been increased on Series 60 and 80.

Motorists who have had to endure the direct blast of hot water heaters will welcome the new McLaughlin-Buick under-seat heaters, which supply an adequate but gentle current of warmth from the floor level upward. The ordeal of tire changing also is greatly simplified by a new type of jack which raises the car by means of outside wheel rim, after which a separate supporting member is placed under the axle.

Interior refinements include new and more comfortable upholstery and trim combinations, new and luxurious inside hardware, and redesigned instrument panel featuring an ignition lock with "three positions—"on," "unlocked off," and "locked off"—in any of which the key may be removed.

England's Rations Compared To Nazis'



England has followed Germany's example and adopted a rationing system, explaining that supplies from the continent have been reduced because of the war and that her food transport from overseas dominions is not yet working at maximum efficiency. As this chart shows, however, Britain is not feeling the pinch of war as severely as blockaded Germany.

Canadian Troops Are In Better Trim Than In 1914

OTTAWA, Nov. 20—(CP).—When the time comes for the first division of the Canadian Active Service force to go overseas old soldiers of 1914-18 will recall the departure of First Contingent of the Canadian Expeditionary force in the First Great War. While the two movements present contrasts and similarities, they rank alike as great gestures of Empire solidarity.

The first divison of the army Canada is readying has been so constituted that at embarkation time it will move in fighting formation, however much its training and equipment may need polishing before it takes its place in the theatre of war. Different was the 1914 contingent which went to England for training and organization.

On its arrival in England that first body of Canadian troops came under the command of British officer, Lieut.-General E. A. H. Alderson. It was not for some months that out of it a fighting division was organized and permanent divisional, brigade and battalion officers appointed.

From the first, the 1939 division operated under the command of Major General A. G. L. McNaughton and a staff of Canadian officers. Every unit in the division came ntact with its officers and organization from the permanent and non-permanent militia.

The safe transport of the first Canadian contingent of some 30,000 to England in the early months of the First Great War was one of the dramatic episodes of that conflict so far as Canada was concerned. It was the biggest force of armed men ever to cross the Atlantic ocean.

Weeks before the movement was to take place, Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, caller representatives of the large shipping companies to Ottawa and learned from them the vessels which would be available. Officers of the department inspected the ships, made their selections and contracts were concluded.

1,000 Beds Loaned.

The ships chartered were refitted for troop transport at Montreal. More than 1,000 beds with bedding were loaned to the shipping companies by the defence department.

Embarkation began September 15, 1914, and was completed Oct. 1.

Arrangements were made for the safety of the contingent on the high seas. The Admiralty provided an escort of fighting ships to guard it against attack.

The 31 transport ships steamed from Quebec to Gaspe Basin, where they met four British cruisers.

The escort was strengthened the following day when the battleship Glory took up a position on the south flank at a distance of five miles and the battleship Lancaster provided a further guard on the south below the horizon. Far to the south the old Canadian battleship Niobe, the battleship Suffolk and the auxiliary cruiser Caronia, kept a watch on the New York area.

Throughout the voyage the troops maintained something of a camp routine.

After the noon meal the troops were busy with parade, rifle exercises, squad and section drill, signalling, fire and boat drill.

Two more warships joined the escort on Oct. 10. The battle cruiser Princess Royal took up a position about six miles to the north of the flotilla and the battleship Majestic sailed out in front.

The original destination of the contingent was Liverpool, but owing to congestion there it was changed to Southampton. Reports of enemy submarines led to a further change and the transports put in to Plymouth Sound. The last transport docked at Plymouth late in the afternoon of Oct. 15, 12 days after the departure from Gaspe Basin.

Fatal Hunt

Kansas City, Nov. 20 (AP)

A MATCH lit by an employee searching for coins in the basement of the Grand Avenue Temple Building set off an explosion that injured 15 persons, one fatally.

Mrs. Lee R. Hardwick, 23, died last night, several hours after the blast. She was in front of the building when the explasion occurred.

She was hurled high in the air and fell into the basement through a large hole torn in the sidewalk.

"It seemed to me I went up to the second floor," she said.

The Netherlands Indies will obtain medicinals from the United States instead of Germany.

Off To Antarctic

Nazis Broadcast Summary Of Davies' Talk

LONDON, Nov. 20 — (CP). — A summary of a speech on conditions in Germany attributed to W. Rupert Davies, President of The Canadian Press, was broadcast during the English news period over the Hamburg-Cologne radio station last night.

Here is what the announcer said:

"The President of the Canadian news agency, The Canadian Press, Rupert Davies, stated in a speech in Toronto that all those journalists and politicians who talk about revolution in Germany should be described as silly fools.

"The authority of Hitler was not menaced in the home front. Why should a majority of Germany people not be prepared to support Hitler who has done so much for his country? Davis warned his audience not to believe falsehoods about starvation in Germany. It was very dangerous to underestimate the military strength and economic resources of the Reich."

The German home stations also broadcast the summary in German.

(Mr. Davies, in his speech to the Toronto Canadian Club, November 13, said he was convinced the German people were "right behind Hitler," but asserted that on that account the war guilt was not Adolf Hitler's alone, but had to be shared by the German people "who supported him and idolized him."

("I am sick and tired of hearing people say 'we must not blame the German people," said Mr. Davies. "Why not? They put Hitler where he is."

(Mr. Davies said that he expects a long war, which could be shortened only by "a revulsion of feeling in Germany against Hitler's iniquitous marriage of convenience with Russia.").

Noted Doctor

and after graduating from there and spending a year on the staff of the Hospital for Sick Children and at a Maternity Hospital in New York, returned to Peterborough and began his practice here.

In the field of public health Dr. McPherson had ably served the community in two capacities. For a number of years before the Great War he was Medical Officer of Health for the city and soon after his return from overseas service he was appointed Medical Officer of Health for Peterborough's schools and gave most valuable service in that office ever since.

Served Overseas.

When the call came to Canadians to serve in the World War, Dr. McPherson offered his services and went overea with the Canadian Army Medical Corp. He saw service with the Canadian division in France for some time and later was in command of the Canadian Convalescent Hospital at Bromley, Kent, England, where he came into contact with thousands of wounded Canadians. Returning to Canada in 1919 he was appointed inspector of military hospitals throughout the country and carried on in that capacity for some time. After his return to Peterborough he acted as doctor for the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, continuing in that capacity until ill health prevented him from serving further.

After the war he continued his interest in the militia as an officer of the 57th Battalion and eventually rose to the command of the Peterborough Rangers, retiring afterward to the reserve of officers. He was always keenly interested in the battalion and in military training.

A Great Athlete.

As an athlete Dr McPherson had Dominion-wide fame He first distinguished himself as a soccer player, playing with Norwood when that village had an eleven that was famous and then with the Toronto Scots, one of the celebrated soccer clubs of the period. From soccer he graduated to rugby and soon made a name for himself in that sport. He played on the half line of the old Peterborough intermediate team that won high honors and then while at college was a star of the brightest ray with the University of Toronto team, with such stalwarts as Bull Ritchie and Casey Baldwin. Dr. McPherson was playing manager of that great team which won the Dominion championship and his superb work on the back field was one of the big factors in the Varsity triumph. As a broken field runner there have been few players in Canadian football in his class, and his fighting spirit earned him the nickname "Fighting Mac." After his return to Peterborough he played a few games with the Peterborough seniors and then retired from active participation in the sport but retained his interest in rugby by coaching the Peterborough team for years acting in a similar capacity with the Peterborough Collegiate team after that institution entered organized rugby.

Held Many Positions.

He was active in other sports than rugby. He played lacrosse with the old Athletics here and hockey with the Peterborough seconds, was a fine tennis player in his youth and gave his services in executive capacities to many sporting organizations. In the Peterborough Hockey Club he held a number of positions, including that of president. He was a member of the executive of the Ontario Hockey Association for a number of years and later was appointed treasurer of the Ontario body. A keen believer in true amateurism in sport, it was natural that when the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association was organized a few years after the war Dr. McPherson should have been honored with election as its first president.

Possessed of a genial and wholesome personality, Dr. McPherson was widely known and admired wherever men gathered together. As past master of Corinthian Lodge A. F. and A. M., he took a keen interest in the organization and was held in the highest regard by his fellow Masons. One of the first to join the Peterborough Rotary Club, he inaugurated the admirable work for crippled children that has been carried on by the club and during the early years of the movement had charge of the crippled children activities and gave unstintedly of his time and professional skill to give handicapped youngsters a new start in life. He was a member of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club and of the Ketchecum Lake Club and will be missed by members of both bodies.

The sympathy of the community will go out to his devoted wife and the other members of the family, the daughter, Miss Mary McPherson who is attending Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, the three sons, William of Toronto, Douglas and Donald at home, one brother, Douglas McPherson of Vancouver, B. C., and one sister, Miss Mary McPherson, Toronto.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at St. Andrew's church and thence to Little Lake Cemetery for interment. Rev. Dr. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's will officiate.

The Grazia was the first Italian merchantman to become a war casuity. The Simon Bolivar disaster was the worst to civilian shipping since the war started, unless the death list of 140 is reduced in the final survey. The highest previous loss was 112 persons killed in the sinking of the Montreal-bound liner Athenia, on September 3.

The pres sannounced the week-end losses in angry headlines such as: "Nazi murder mines sink five more ships."

Indignation mounted as poignant episodes of the Bolivar sinking—mothers struggling to save children, passengers saved only to be flung back into the oily sea by a second explosion—were told by the survivors.

The Daily Express said: "humanity owes nothing to German leaders who sink ships bearing infants in arms and little children. When Germany is defeated these villians should be destroyed."

Enemy of All Mankind.

The News Chronicle said that by deliberate failure to observe international law and declare mined areas as danger zones, the Nazis "again show themselves enemies not merely of Britain but of all mankind."

The Daily Telegraph said: "the sinking of the Simon Bolivar is perhaps a foretaste of the terrible things with which Hitler has been threatening a world that is not prepared meekly to accept his will as supreme law."

Papers will filled with pictures of oil-stained women and children recovering from their ordeal.

Some of the 260 survivors of the Netherlands liner told of harrow ing experiences between the time two explosions rocked the ship and she settled in water so shallow her funnels showed.

"It was just like hell," a young Netherlander said. "The first explosion blew me down three decks. I saw people blasted dead, just like knocking down ninepins."

One survivor, a middle-aged man with a battered nose, said some passengers were smothered in their cabins when oil pipes burst, and others, unable to get into boats, slid or jumped into the water."

"Some others, though, just stayed," added a barefott shirtless British bank clerk. "They just stood on deck and watched us go. Maybe they didn't get off."

The Admiralty said a report the Clan Buchanan was in trouble was a "case of mistaken identity."

(Mackay Radio Marine Bureau in New York reported yesterday intercepting a message saying the 7,266-ton British steamship Clan Buchanan was being chased by a suspected vessel which represented herself as a French cruiser, and that two blank shots had been fired across her bow. The Clan Buchanan's position was given as about 250 miles off Portugal.)

Trapped, 4 Saved From Death In Blazing Car

HAMILTON, Nov. 20. — Hurtling through space more than 200 feet in a flaming car, after a collision at Clappison Cut Saturday night, four men, helpless to free themselves were saved from death when two service station attendants raced to their assistance.

Wilfred Gilpin, operator of Wilf's station, and Fred Truman, his assistant, who witnessed the accident, ran to extricate the occupants of the burning machine and rescued all after suffering slight burns themselves.

James A. Caldwell, teacher at Valley School, Dundas, and prominent church worker, was critically injured in the smash. His condition was only fair. General Hospital attendants reported last night. He was alone in his auto, which escaped the fire.

The two cars were wrecked by the terrific impact and in the machine which burst into flames were Peter Kecshjus, 385 Barton street east, who suffered a fractured clavicle; John Lasanczki, 74 Pearl street, Burlington, scalp and hand lacerated; Steve Biciski, 390 Birch avenue, forehead lacerations; Charles Posta, 73 Princess street, head injuries. All were cared for at the General Hospital.

Police investigation had not been completed last night. The name of the driver of the car in which the four men rode was not available. It was reported that Caldwell was travelling on the through highway when the accident occurred.

Leaps 20 Feet

"The blazing car jumped 20 feet into the air after the smash and flames shot from under the hood," said Gilpin. "It travelled more than 200 feet before it bounced back on the pavement again, and when it did the fire seemed to spread." In 1928 Gilpin was standing outside a service station at Pickering when a similar crash occurred and seven negroes were cremated. "I immediately thought of that and, instead of trying to extinguish the flames, we tried to get the people out of the wrecked machine," said the station owner as he described the rescue by himself and Truman.

The men were dazed by their injuries and those who were able to help themselves were jammed by the twisted wreckage, he said. Beating down flames with their hands they succeeded in reaching all four, then hurried back for fire extinguishers with which they put out the blaze.

Gilpin said Caldwell was travelling east on Highway No. 5, on his way to Waterdown and the other machine was travelling from Guelph in the direction of Hamilton. It caught Caldwell's car broadside. He said he saw the machine from Guelph bearing down and realized a crash was inevitable, but was too far away from the scene to signal the drivers.

Value Of Threats Is Doubted In Bringing Men To Christ By Rev. Wm. McDonald At Knox

There's little use telling a man of to-day he's going to burn eternally in hell fire in an effort to make him live a life of virtue here, was the conclusion of Rev. William McDonald of Thornton at Knox United Church last night. He doubted the efficacy of such threats on the grounds that men no longer believe them.

A former pastor of Knox Church, he was speaking at the anniversary services both morning and evening.

But while he doubted the value of threats, he did not believe that an appeal to cool reason should fail, contending that if it is obvious to men that a life of goodness or virtue carries with it certain concrete rewards, such as good health, then virtue's popularity will be enhanced.

"Does It Pay?" Is Uppermost.

He did not believe that, for the average man, an appeal to be virtuous for the sake of virtue alone, was enough. That was the idea, he admitted, but he said that the sense of "does it pay?" was uppermost in most men's minds. He offered as proof of that contention the history of the church, claiming that every successful break made away from an established sect had been done through an offer of reward—of spiritual reward other than that already possible under the particular religious institution with which they were associated before.

Because of man's nature, the church should be able to advance to him the argument that being good pays, he said, claiming that even Jesus in His teaching did not disregard the nature of man. He cited Biblical passages in proof of his theory that Jesus offered a reward for goodness. "I have no hesitation at all in making use of that truth, that here is a profit in piety—piety used in its proper sense," Mr. McDonald declared. "Goodness for goodness' sake is a very fine doctrine, but when it comes down to everyday life, people are human enough to respond to the appeal of a thing that pays."

Must Suffer Trial, Worry.

That a man is good does not mean that he will be rewarded with freedom from trials and worries and financial troubles, for the reward is not in the physical but the spiritual realm, he said. He believed that the word, goodness, is misunderstood by the average person who thinks of a good man a "goody-goody." "We get suspicious of that kind of goodness," he said, and expressed the opinion that many a man has been prevented from following goodness' path through fear of being thought among the number of hypocrites popularly conceived to be "good." His definition of goodness was much more profound, carried none of the superficiality of the other. It was a quality of heart and mind and spirit.

To youth, the question of "Why be good?" is a momentous one, he said. He asked the older people in his hearing whether they had found the investment they had made in their church had paid them, or whether they had found it paid them to propagate the teachings of Christ. Only the individual can answer that question, he said.

Career of Natural Desires.

Bue he believed that if a young man wanted to live only a "natural" life—to follow only the dictates of his desires with no belief in an ternal life—then it would not pay him to live according to the dictates of Christianity. But if he held a belief in a spiritual order, then he would pause before he embarked on a career dominated by only natural desires. "But first a man must have that belief before it will pay him to be a sincere, honest, conscientious, practising Christian."

To the Christian follower of a good life, he held out the rewards of the establishment of God's goodwill, peace of mind, and hope for an eternal life.

Special music was heard at both services, under direction of William R Potter, organist and choir leader. In the morning the guest soloist was William Gordon, who sang two numbers and the choir gave an outstanding rendition of the Pilgrim's Chorus by Gounod. In the evening John Fowler was soloist and Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt sang a solo part in one of the anthems, as did Mrs. Spicer. Mrs. S. Wedlock gave piano accompaniment to Mr. Potter in the morning and sang a solo in the anthem.

73-Year-Old Hunter Bags 175-Pounder

Probably the oldest hunter to take to the bush in this district this year was Simon Windsor of Apsley, 73. And he showed many a younger man up by bringing a 175-pound buck crashing to the ground.

"He's just like a cat in the bush," declared Charles Kingan, a member of the Windsor party, said today. "He has been around the bush trapping and hunting all his life, and he's one of the best men I have ever seen in the bush, despite his age." Simon Windsor is retired now but for many years was a storekeeper in Apsley. He and his two sons, Stan and Vern, were still hunting today.

Campbellford Club Gets Eight Deer

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 20 (ENS) —Eight deer was the total count brought out by a party of local hunters on Saturday after being in the woods northwest of St. Ola for the past twelve days. According to a spokesman for the party some of whom have been hunting back at Dickson Lake for more than ten years it was the earliest freeze-up in that part of the country they had ever seen. The lakes and streams were all frozen before the end of the season forcing them to walk back to St. Ola, a distance of fifteen miles.

The deer shot by the party this year were smaller than those brought back in 1938 and not so plentiful. Wolves are given as the chief cause for the scarcity and one member of the party, John Burkitt, of St. Ola will collect a bounty for a pelt he brought back with him.

Chief marksman of the expedition was Bennet Morton who brought down three deer. P. J. Sarginson and H. Atkinson both of whom are seasoned hunters shared in the shooting of three and Marshall West, Vince Farrell and Forest Dennis each got one.

The animals consisted of five bucks and three does, averaging somewhat less than 150 pounds. There was much small game including partridge, and rabbit as well as signs of beaver.

The party from here included F. R. Dennis, B. M. Morton, M. Atkinson, H. Atkinson, J. Heptonstall, A. Burgiss, P. J. Sarginson, V. Farrell and M. West, all of Campbellford and Cliff Maybee of Belleville and Warren Hagerty of Trenton.

Deer Hunters Return With Quotas

Boxed up by the onset of winter in their hunt camp in the bush north of Sudbury for nearly a week, the 10 members of the Peterborough Hunt club arrived home Sunday night after an exhausting trek, each with his deer, and with strong words to say against the opening date of deer hunting in that far northern district.

"Every other year or so we're frozen in up there during the hunting season," said Captain George Robertson. All members of the party want the government to move the season ahead a week or 10 days. "It should have the same opening date as north of the French river," said Eph Taylor. Other members of the party were Ralph Godfrey, Wally Davidson, Cloy Taylor, W. E. Taylor, Jack Brown, Harry Pinn, Bruce Payne, James Ellis, Jr. They shot six bucks and four does in six days' hunting, and said they could have down twice the number with ease, so plentiful were they this year.

It was a real tale of northern hardship that the party brought out of the bush. When they discovered they were frozen in they started to build sleighs early last week and by Friday were ready to start their 20-mile trek back to civilization, handicapped by the presence of a woman, wife of the camp cook, and a nine-months-old baby. They loaded all their equipment, their deer, and the woman and baby, on the home-made sleighs and drew them more than two miles to the water's edge. Then they found that the ice was not firm enough to support heavy loads and had to break it ahead of them for about a mile until they came to open water. Proceeding another two miles they found the ice become firm again—so firm it could not be broken. They lifted the boats from the water and portaged over the ice to a deserted lumber camp where they stayed the night, sending one of their number out by foot for horses. The rest of the way, more than 10 miles, they travelled through the bush on horse-drawn sleighs.

Not quite so fortunate so far as deer were concerned, but still better than average, were the Big Cedar Lake Hunt club members. There were nine in the party and they bagged six deer at their camp a few miles from Burleigh Falls. Members included Bart Allan, Pius McMurray, Robert McMurray, Charles Olaveson, George O'Dette, Fred Huot, Joseph O'Dette, Joseph Jones, and Henry Jones.

Get Seven Deer

Able hunters the Tedford party of Norwood proved themselves to be at Loucks' Lake, for all seven members returned home with an animal. They shot five bucks, all of them weighing more than 200 pounds, a 120-pound doe, and a fawn. Frozen in, it took them a day and a half of chopping through ice to get out again. Members of the party were William Steele, James Rathwell, Ronald Rathwell, Lorne Beckett, Richard Kirk, Kenneth Tedford, and Robert Tedford.

Another Loucks' lake party that met with outstanding success was that of the Browns—Roy, Stewart, and Duncan—who bagged 12 fine deer, one for each and every member.

Three bucks among six hunters was the report brought back from north Hastings county by another party of Peterborough sportsmen. Dr. Ralph Honey, Dr. H. A. Long, A. E. Chalmers, Vern Ferguson, Dan Goodwin, A. L. Elliott, came back Sunday with that score.

Eight members of the Bottle Creek Hunt club shot three bucks, Ray Best reported.

Shot Five Bucks

Five Lakefield hunters brought home their full complement of five bucks from the Eel'sLake district across the county border in Haliburton and eighteen miles north of Apsley. The members of the party were Dave Charlton, captain, Sam Charlton, Bruce Charlton, Percy Spence and N. A. Moore. They were away 10 days, report splendid weather, and had a thoroughly enjoyable outing.

Fifteen members of the Lakefield Hunt Club arrived home Saturday from Pakesley in the Parry Sound area with their legal number of deer, the local men in the party were E. H. Northey, Carmen and Jacob Payne, also Harold Coons, Ed and Gordon Hamblin of Dummer. The other men were from Dunsford and Omemee. Martin Thurston is captain of the club. They are all meeting Tuesday evening for dinner at the Lakefield House. Rufus Payne of Peterborough spent the first week of the season with the party, returning a week ago.

Tribute Is Paid Memory Of Dr. McPherson

The members of the Peterborough Rotary Club paid tribute to the memory of Dr. A. W. McPherson, at today's luncheon, when they stood in silence for a moment and then sang "Taps" as they recalled the man who had inaugurated their work on behalf of crippled children.

By a coincidence this was Crippled Children's Day with the club and the program was given over to that committee. President E. L. Sackville referred to the death of Dr. McPherson and to the fact that it was he who had launched the club's effort on behalf of youngsters handicapped by physical disabilities.

Rotarian J. Fred Reed gave the report of the Crippled Children's committee in the absence of Ian McRae, the chairman. In so doing he too eulogized the services that had been rendered by Dr. McPherson, assisted by Dr. Norman Buchanan and afterward by Dr. A. Moir and Dr. R. K. Magee. He also referred to the work that had been done by the late Andrew Brown, R. J. Kidd and other committee workers, including Chairman Ian McRae who was doing about 95 per cent of the work at the present time, he said.

Speaking of the crippled children movement, through the province Rotarian Reed said that twenty years ago only ten clubs were engaged in looking after crippled children, and only 75 cases were cared for in a year while a survey in 1938 showed 78 clubs interested in the work and a total of nearly 5,000 children in Ontario receiving attention.

The speaker said that the Peterborough Rotary Club had taken care of over 300 cases since the work started here. He told of the plan followed by which all cases that could be handled locally received treatment here while the more serious cases went to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. Rotarian Reed thanked the Standard Medical and Surgical Clinic for the assistance rendered here and the staff and specialists of the Hospital for Sick Children who have given skill and experience to the work without any charge, the only expense to Rotary being for the hospitalization of the patients.

Some of the cases treated recently were described by the speaker who gave the details of the treatment and the progress that had been made.

The charge to the five baby members of Rotary was given by Rotarian Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, who eloquently summed up the history of Rotary, its aims and objects, the benefits to be expected from Rotary membership and the obligations devolving upon members of the organization. The Peterborough club, he said, had been organized in 1921 with Fred L. Roy as its first president and now had a membership of 57.

President Sackville expressed the thanks of the club to Dr. Kenner for his eloquent address.

War Bulletins

STOCKHOLM — (CP-Havas) — The newspaper Tidmingen today reported that refusal of the Soviet Union to furnish metals badly needed by German war industries threatens success of trade negotiations between the two countries.

Soviet production in 1939 was under that of the preceding year, with the result that Russia requires for her own use metals and other products asked by Germany, the newspaper said. Some Russian industries have shut down for lack of raw materials, according to the Tidmingen.

AMSTERDAM — (CP-Havas) — The British and German versions of the Simon Bolivar sinking Saturday were published side by side without comment today by the Dutch press.

TIENTSIN—(AP)—The blockaded British concession, facing a growing coal shortage, will be without light, power and water within 10 days, authorities said today, unless the Japanese permit supplies to enter. The present flow of supplies, it was said, is confined to a limited ration for hospitals and bakeries.

Fear Mines

LISBON, Portugal —(AP)— Passengers in three Netherlands liners have been ordered to disembark here, it was disclosed today, rather than risk the dangers of the mine-laden North Sea. The ships, the Oranje, the Jan Pieterszoon Coen and the Johan De Witt, carried approximately 1,000 passengers bound for northern Europe. The vessels reached Portugal last week.

BERLIN — (AP) — With winter weather near, the housing problem in Warsaw—especially as it concerns Jews—has become a pressing consideration for the war-ravaged former Polish capital. Informed German sources said emergency housing had been provided for the Jewish population on certain streets, but they insisted there would be no ghetto. The emergency measures resulted from the lack of apartment houses, it was said.

THE HAGUE—(CP-Havas)—Periodic army leaves, cancelled 10 days ago when a German invasion of the Netherlands was feared, were restored today.

It Is Odd Tasting Meat But 'Tis Said To Be Venison Right From Apsley District

They say it is an odd-tasting animal that Squire Reg Doubt of Lakefield is serving up to guests these days as venison. It tastes strong—very strong.

But Squire Doubt is firm, so the story goes. He can tell you about the head he drew on the animal a great distance away and the utter amazement of other hunters when his single shot brought it down. He can, and if you press him he probably will.

But that venison still tastes odd, visitors say. You eat it and think back over Squire Doubt's plan to avoid carrying his game by buying a donkey to do the work. Then you reason with such careful treatment this venison should be tender indeed.

It's just about that time that you begin to get suspicious. And if you have plenty of courage you'll ask to see the mounted head of the animal. He probably won't show it, but if you scout around by yourself you may discover a neawly mounted head that will make you wish you had never tried that venison.

For visitors who have seen it say the head is a most peculiar one. From it hang long ears, and its mouth is distended wide in a horrible laugh, they say and shudder. If you have enough courage left you'll hunt up Squire Doubt and ask him in faint voice where the donkey is. And he'll tell you it died on the trip. After that you have courage for nothing.

Memory departs, and you have only a vague recollection that you heard somewhere that a donkey is an easy mark for a marksman like Squire Doubt. Particularly a dead donkey.

Church Of The Sacred Heart Observes 30th Anniversary

Celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the Church of the Sacred Heart was marked by large congregations at the morning masses and the evening devotions. Bishop O'Connor was a visitor in the evening with some of the priests of neighboring parishes. Rev. V. J. McAuley of Campbellford, the first curate of the church was present, and also Rev. Dean O'Sullivan of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. J. J. McCarthy of Douro, Rev. Paul Costello of Hastings and Rev. V. J. McFadden of Downeyville.

Rev. Father Fitzgerald preached the evening sermon from the text from St. Paul, Ephesians 2:19, "Now therefore we are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God; and are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ Himself being the chief corner stone."

Christianity was no more to cease with the passing of the twelve Apostles than it would be today, Father Fitzgerald said. Jesus had chosen the twelve from His followers, had appointed St. Peter as their head, had commissioned them to preach the gospel of mankind, and had promised to St. Peter that He would be the church He founded and that the gates of hell would not prevail against it.

The Apostles followed Jesus in word and deed for all of them shed their blood for the faith. During the first century, to be a Christian involved the risk of martyrdom. Christians gave their lives freely for the faith during those early centuries until Constantine defeated pagandom in 324 and transformed the Cross from a signal of contempt to a sign of reverence throughout the nations.

The parish church remained through all the years a means of sanctifying life as it had also been in the thirty years since the Church of the Sacred Heart was dedicated to the service of God, applying to the souls of men the merits of Calvary through the Blessed Sacrament.

Pt. Colborne Wins Over Barrie 11-8

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—Port Colborne flipped two forward passes for touchdowns here Saturday to beat Barrie 11-8 in a sudden-death game in the senior football series of the Central Ontario Secondary School Association. The Ports will meet the Bay of Quinte champions for the title here next Saturday.

Port Colborne outscored their rivals 5-2 in the first quarter and led 5-3 at half-time. A third-quarter touchdown gave Barrie an 8-5 margin which was wiped out by a converted Port Colborne touchdown in the final session.

The winners were deep in their own territory in the first quarter when Rogers tossed a 30-yard forward to Smith, who galloped another fifty to the goal-line. Fred Reynolds, Barrie's outstanding star kicked two singles before the session ended and added another in the second quarter.

Reynolds got away a 35-yard pass to Roach in the third quarter and Roach ran twenty for Barrie's lone touchdown. In the final session Port Colborne worked the ball to within ten yards of the Barrie line Smith then took Booker's flat pass to cross the goal-line standing up. Smith converted his own touchdown to end the scoring.

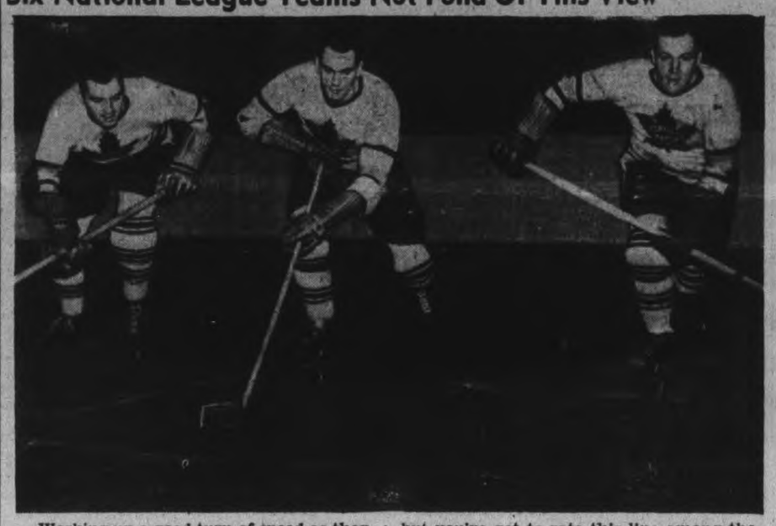
Six National League Teams Not Fond Of This View



Working up a good turn of speed as they head out at you are the members of Toronto Maple Leafs' ace forward line, Gord Drillon, right wing (shown here at the LEFT); Syl Apps, centre, and Bob Davidson, left wing. Maybe your preference lies with the Boston Dumart-Schmidt-Bauer "Kraut line"—or perhaps the Rangers' Shibicky-Colville-Colville unit—but you've got to rate this line among the best. Both Apps and Drillon won all-star rating last year and form the most dangerous attacking twosome in the N. H. L. Davidson is showing better than ever on attack this season, but his forte is as the back-checking member of the trio. They've been responsible for eleven of the Leafs' 17 goals thus far in the young season.

Regina Juniors Cop Their Third Successive Crown

REGINA, Nov. 20—(CP).—A record junior rugby crowd of close to 5,000 watched Regina Dales win their third successive Western championship from Winnipeg Young Men's Hebrew Association by a 2-0 victory in summer-like weather Saturday afternoon Rouges in the second and third quarters gave the Reginans their edge.

Winners of the unofficial Dominion championship last year, Dales have made no plans to defend their title.

Dales piled up 265 yards rushing and fourteen first downs to Winnipeg's fifty-seven yards and three first downs.

Dales twice marched down the field in the first quarter as they made six first downs, but they were held on the Winnipeg one-yard line in the final drive and the quarter was scoreless.

Early in the second quarter, Bill Fogarty unleashed a 50-yard punt and Norm Geller was rouged for the first point. Hebrews threatened a minute later as Irwin Wagner recovered a fumbled punt on the Rale Fifteen, but the Manitobans could make no headway and Fogarty ran Geller's attempted field goal out of the end zone.

An intercepted pass, which Doug Potts ran to the Winnipeg twenty, set the stage for the final score early in the third quarter. Ken Sharlton attempted a field goal that went wide and Norman Morrison was rouged.

PRO PUCK PERSONALITIES

EARL ROBERTSON
N.Y. Americans

Last season National league sharpshooters scored more goals against the Americans with Earl Robertson in the nets than against any other team, but you'd have a hard job finding anyone who thinks he's the worst puck-stopper in the loop. In fact he was chosen on the alternate Canadian Press all-star team! Earl is going into his third full season with Red Dutton's boisterous crew after breaking into the big time picture in an unusual way. Normie Smith, regular goal-keeper for Detroit Red Wings, was hurt in the Stanley Cup finals of three seasons back, and Earl went into the nets as a sub—and scored shutouts over the Rangers in the last two games of the series as the Red Wings took three of the five games played. He's listed in the books as being 28 and first saw the light of day at Bengough, Sask. Turned pro with the Victoria team in the Pacific Coast league 11 years ago and for years drifted around the minors—San Francisco, Tacoma, Edmonton, Windsor, Pittsburg. Bigger than most goalies he is agile on his feet and puts on many an acrobatic display during games, something he's received many opportunities to do keeping rubber out of the Amerks' goal.

A Standout By General Agreement

Closest to a unanimous choice for the 1939 edition of the Big Four all-star team was Bernie Thornton, ABOVE, outside wing with Toronto Argonauts, who coralled 25 out of a possible 28 votes, to make the mythical team for the second year in a row. Last year he tied with Ottawa's Tony McCarthy for one of the outside positions, the other going to Wes Cutler, but this year there was no competition for Thornton and McCarthy as they each took one. Thornton starred in the intercollegiate for Queen's before joining Argos and before that had played in the Big Four with Hamilton Tigers.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Down Port Hope way—on one of the good gridirons at Trinity Collitch school—P.C.I. copped a 16-14 nod over Belleville Saturday to clean up on all senior school football teams in Central Ontario. Haven't heard definitely what team comes next, but should hear in another day. A big crowd of Peterborough rooters swelled the crowd and it looked like a local Old Home Week down the line. Some fans from Belleville, too. Oh, yes, and some from Port Hope. Well, the folks saw an exciting game. Good and bad football—but a very open and interesting joust. A bit too close for comfort, yes, but a neat tussle, nonetheless. And now the Bamforth band are ready to take a crack at provincial honors once more.

* * * * * *

Can't slip down too far in this column without tossing a big bouquet to the boys of Bella Villa. These lads aren't supported by their school — which specializes in inter-form rugby of the six-man variety. They raise the necessary dough on dances or what-not, and had only one other club in their group this season. Yet they extended the Petes till the latter lads were almost back on their heels in the second half. A big black-haired boy named Clare carried the main burden for the Quinte crew and is one swell gridder in all departments. He was nearly crying coming off at the finish in disappointment. It would be most unjust to say he was a one-man team, as the other Belleville gallants did their share, but he was tops.

Warmish Ere The End

Well, sir, neither side could do anything but muck around mid-field the first quarter. The Garnet and Gray got rolling the second quarter to tack up two touchdowns, Harle and Scriver doing most of the leather-lugging, and a long Scriver-Hamilton forward aiding muchly. But the third quarter saw Belleville edge the locals and threaten throughout. They got a semi-lucky major count when Sword speared a local lateral and rode 40 yards for a try, but ya can't call that luck altogether. Clare also hoofed a neat placement. P.C.I. got a touchdown on a swelegant forward from Scriver to Smith in the end zone. And in the fourth, the Bellevillains tramped up the field twice to make things quite warmish ere the end.

* * * * * *

Yep, it was a relief when the final whistle cracked the chill air on the imposing T.C.S. grounds. The P.C.I.-ers looked a bit better—despite some faulty defensive work in spots—but they were facing a game gang of battlers the last half. All the Petes worked hard and turned in a pretty fair chore. While Harle and Smith counted touchdowns, the honors were spread around on the squad. Kicking was okay and Scriver tossed some fine passes. Foster was dressed but sat it out, seeing if he should be needed. And he nearly was. Clare, Pigden and the McBrides sparked the losers along. Game was hard but clean enough, practically hygenic, as someone remarked afterward. P.C.I. fans whooped it up plent through the melee and downtown after hostilities ceased. Congrats, P.C.I., and tough luck, Belleville.

A Great Athlete Dies

Older fans will be shocked to hear of the death of Dr. A. W. McPherson, M.C., here. Former grand footballer in Peterborough and for Varsity—he was playing manager for Varsity when they won the Dominion grid title back in 1905—as well as star lacrosser and soccer player, the "Doc" was a great athlete. And a gentleman. He was O.H.A. treasurer from 1903 to 1907 and served on many sports' executives in Peterborough. They used to call this mighty gridder (who weighed barely 150 pounds) "Fighting Mac" and he was getting up in years but as fine a player as ever when he finished his active gridiron work in '09. Two of his sons, Doug and Don, have carried on the rugby tradition at P.C.I. Our sympathy to the family.

Montreal Westmounts ran into stiff opposition Saturday in Sarnia, the Imps once again proving they are bad medicine to rivals on their own lot. The Massucci men tore through the older Westmounts for a 13-1 count and will carry the 12-point margin back to Mo'real next week-end in the return senior O.R.F.U. playoff. Sarnia hasnt lost at home since '33. Imperial linemen smashed through to break up three Montreal hoofs while Hank Galloway was kicking 'em high, wide and plenty handsome. France and Woodcock scored touchdowns after kicks were blocked, Moroz converting both and adding a single point again. Mullins kicked the lone point for the Foran Legion. It kind of looks from this distance like (ho-hum) another Ontario Union title for the Oilers.

Petes Drill Again

Puck-chasing Petes percolate down the highway again tomorrow eve for a workout in the Oshawa arena. There'll be about 20 taken this time and the boys will work up a real sweat as the drills get harder. Pretty much the same squad as last week will take in the practice, plus Jimmy Ellis and Les Burton. The gang will leave Playmors sharp at 5.30 o'clock and everyone is requested to be there on time. The Petes will drill again later in the week and have an exhibition joust with the junior "A" Generals there next week.

Reports drifting in from the Trenton Airport indicate that the Fliers so far this season have a powerful defence on ice but lack scoring punch in the front lines. The pick of the snipers appear to be our old pals Legris, Baldwin and McNabb—and not one of these is a McNeeley, Lecompte or Lowrey. However, we're told the Airmen have some husky and experienced guardians of the blue line in Mush Higgins, Red Cameron, Dryer and Vinnicombe. The latter is from New Brunswick and resembles big Johnny Lalonde with a sweeping check. Coach Toots Holway is working hard to round up the pick of the Fliers for their VanHorne Cup series before the O.H.A. senior "B" season commences. Gibson is likely to be back in goal again for the team, though there is another net-guardian at the camp now, too.

Take 16-14 Win Over Belleville In Hard-Fought Tussle Before Fine Crowd At Port Hope

P. C. I. senior gridders hurdled the Belleville obstacle by a 16-14 score in a sudden-death school football game Saturday to take Central Ontario honors and advance into provincial playoffs. The fray was staged at Trinity College School grounds in Port Hope before a good-sized crowd of fans, most of them from Peterborough.

Taking an 11-6 first half lead, after a scoreless opening frame the Bamforth band staved off a battling Belleville finish to cop the narrow nod in an exciting scrap. Belleville Collegians had an 8-5 scoring edge in a rousing third period and threatened all through the scoreless fourth. Led by their starry backfielder, Clare, the Quinte crew crowded the Petes plenty the last two quarters.

Bill Harle plunged over twice for touchdowns in the second heat, one being converted, while Pidgen counted a converted touchdown for the Belleville bunch. P. C. I. took to the air in the third to tally a major score on a Scriver-Smith forward pass, but the convert missed. Sword broke through the local line to intercept a lateral and race for a try for the Quinte gang, the convert failing. They edged closer on the score-board the same period when Clare kicked a placement.

An Open Game.

It was a fine football playoff, with lots of running and passing plays keeping the crowd yelling. P. C. I. looked better the first half and always appeared like winners, but had to fight hard the last half to hold off a gallant gang of opponents. The Peterborough rubyists chalked up 12 first downs to Belleville's 10 —their big margin being the first two quarters—and completed four out of nine forwards (all long ones) to one in three for the losers. Clare edged McPherson slightly in kicking.

While Scriver and Harle were the most consistent ground-gaineds for the visitors, there were no individual standouts. Scriver threw some fine forward passes to Hamilton, Smith and Taylor, and the local line held up well against some hefty plungers While the secondary defence wobbled at times, the P. C. I.-ers earned the win with a good game. Clare was brilliant in all departments for the losers, and Pigden and the McBride brothers also stood out.

Both sides fumbled early in the game and Clare kept the Petes out of danger with long kicks with the wind at his back. Play ranged around midfield most of the initial inning. A Scriver-Harle lateral netted five once and later Harle on a reverse end dash knocked off five yards. On Clare's long kick, Moldaver toted it back 14 to his own 35 and Scriver and McPherson bucked to move the sticks. The latter later ran a boot back eight when the Quinte crew blocked and forced to hoof it, following the Petes' kick. Hamilton crashed through the middle for eight and McPherson nicked two for yards to Belleville's 50-yard chalk as the quarter ended.

Open Scoring.

B. McBride tore back 12 on a kick and then Scriver ran one back six to Belleville's 45 in the second frame. A Harle-Scriver extension gained 15 and Harle bucked six. Ainsley plunged for five and then Harle tore over for a try, which was not converted. Cavanaugh went off hurt for the Quinte outfit and Scriver blasted through the line for 15. He got yards again on a fake kick and end run. Scriver hurled a 20-yard forward to Hamilton, and then Scriver skirted end for five. On the next play, Harle bucked over for another major tally. It was converted on a Scriver-Taylor forward. Scriver plunged eight later and after the kick, Clare raced back 20. A Clare-Watson pass was good for eight and the quarterback sneak moved the sticks. S. McBride and Clare bucked for yards to the Petes 30 and Pigden got a first down through centre. S. McBride bucked twice for yards again and then Pigden plunged over for a try, Clare kicking the convert.

Scriver bucked 10 in the third and then tossed a 15-yard forward to Smith to Belleville's 20-yard strip. On a fake placement, Scriver hurled a forward to Smith in the end zone for a touchdown, the convert failing. McPherson ran the kick back 10 to the P. C. I. 40 but on the next play, a lateral by P. C. I., Sword knifed through to scoop the ball out of air and keep running for a touchdown as the crowd roared. It was not converted. Clare galloped back 15 on a kick and both sides were penalized in a row The Quinte crew rolled up again with Clare, Pigden and the McBrides carrying the mail. They were stopped only a few yards out. On a short P. C. I. kick, they crowded close again, an extension netting 12. Scriver ran out the kick but again the P. C. I. kick was short and Clare made yards around end. A forward failed and then Clare kicked a neat field goal to make the count 16-14. Harle got 10 around end at the close.

Still Fighting.

A Scriver-Hamilton forward clicked for nine in the fourth and they made yards. Another pass missed fire and the kick went to S. McBride on the Belleville 10. After a short Quinte march, Clare toed it down to the Petes' 40 but Moldover ran it back to midfield. An extension netted eight but they lost on downs. Pigden slipped through a hole for seven and Clare bucked for yards as they started to roll once more. Clare and S. McBride bashed their way through again to move the sticks and Pigden got six more. A forward failed as the situation was getting serious, following a local penalty, and then a Belleville fumble was grabbed by P. C. I. and the danger was averted. Harle bucked for five and Scriver got yards as they approached midfield at the finish of the fray. The teams:

SARNIA WHIPS MONTREAL WESTMOUNTS IN FIRST GAME 13 TO 1

Before Crowd Of 12,000 Rabid Fans Argos Are Whipped 11-0 To Give Riders Long Lead In Finals

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Everything pointed towards another historic Canadian senior football final as four teams sought the right to combat the champions of the West, Winnipeg's fighting Blue Bombers, somewhere on the Eastern front Dec. 9.

When the Blue Bombers hurtled to a 28-7 victory over the Bronks at Calgary Saturday, they removed all doubt what team or what kind of team the West should send to strive for the Dominion title. Winnipeg, with a club apparently entirely eligible for the national final, won the Western Conference championship by 35-20 on the round after losing 13-7 at home to Calgary.

Until that brilliant comeback, there had been doubt about the West's representation, for a good part of the driving Calgary club was ineligible under the Canadian Rugby Union rule which requires a player to have been a resident in Canada a year. There even had been talk of letting Winnipeg go East regardless of Saturday's result.

But the Bombers, almost exactly the team that lost to Toronto Argonauts in the 1938 Dominion final, settled all that through the flying feet of Fritz Hanson and the accurate toe of Greg Kabat. They tied the round in less than a minute despite the absence of such stars as Bill Bolvin, Wayne Sheley and Bud Marquardt through injuries.

Whether they will meet the Argonauts once again became extremely doubtful. Before a howling crowd of 12,000 at Ottawa, the Rough Riders downed the Argos 11-0 to take a long lead in the Interprovincial Union finals that end next Saturday at Toronto.

Sarnia Imperials, champions of the Ontario Union the last eight years, took long strides towards representing that league in the Eastern final again by whipping Montreal Westmounts 13-1 at Sarnia in the first game of their total-points round. That result, almost as surprising as the way Winnipeg kicked the Bronks around, maintained the Imperials' record of no losses at home since 1933. They never have lost an O.R.F.U. senior game in Sarnia.

Representatives of these four units will meet next Sunday at Toronto to decide upon the locale of the Eastern final Dec. 2, announcing the meeting, President Ernie Hamilton of Big Four practically ruled out any possibility of adopting a suggestion, advanced some time ago in the West, that the Western winners meet the champions of either Eastern Conference in a semi-final battle.

The Riders took to the air for the touchdown that set the Argos back on their heels in the first quarter, Orville Burke passing 45 yards to Tommy Daley in the end zone. They fought for their other score along the ground and Tony Golab plunged 10 yards to get it in the last period, Tiny Herman converting.

With Bill Stukus pitching through the middle for 10 completed passes in 21 attempts, the Scullers struck frequently. But when the goal-posts loomed up they lacked power to finish.

An amazing Sarnia wingline blocked three Montreal kicks and turned two of them into touchdown to set back the Westmounts, who figured to have an edge along the front wall.

Red France fell on the ball behind the goal-line for the first touch and Joe Woodcock picked it up to run 22 yards for the second when the Sarnians crashed punt formation against in the third.

Bernie Moroz converted both times and added another point on a wide field goal attempt, while Ray Mullins got the Montreal point the same way. Any other time the Westmounts threatened the Sarnia forwards firmer, the outside wings broke through to break up plays and young Hank Galloway kicked the Oilers out of danger.

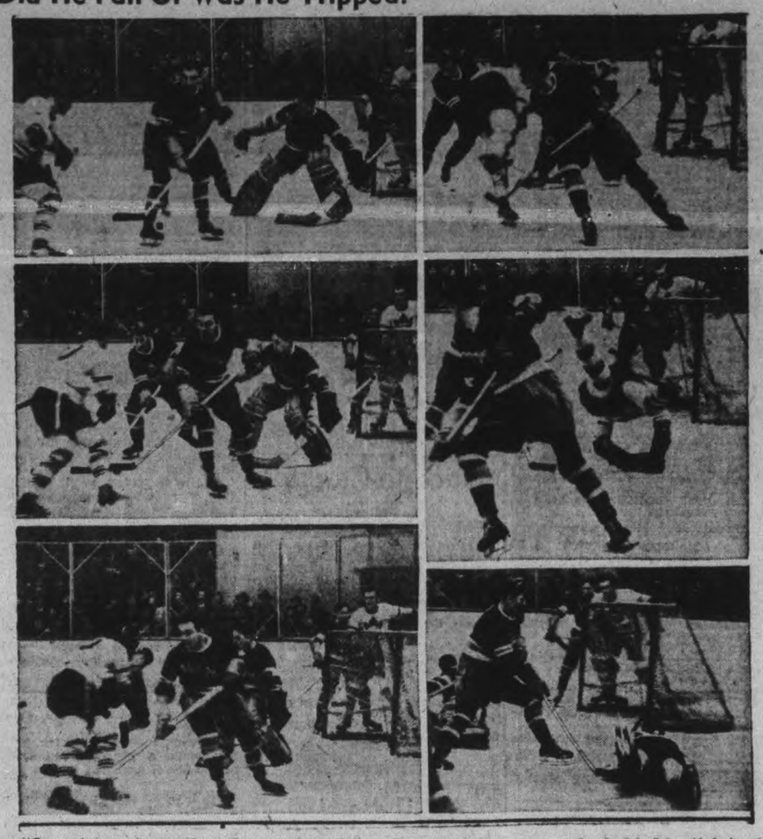
WON'T SEE FINISH

LONDON—(CP).—Britain's sporting motor cyclists won't see a 1939 championship decided. The Speedway Board has announced there will be several more meets this year, but no final.

WIDELY ACCEPTED

DENVER, Colo.—(CP).—Tom O'Hara, veteran caddy master at the Denver Country Club, has laid down 25 rules for bag carriers which have been copied in a French sporting magazine, he says.

Did He Fall Or Was He Tripped?



"One picture is worth a thousand words" is an old Chinese proverb and while sometimes deceptive, pictures more often than not can tell a story very well. So letting the camera tell its own story, we offer an interesting incident in an N.H.L. game between Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers. Chief characters are Syl Apps in the white sweater, going in after a puck in front of the Ranger goal; Babe Pratt, Ranger defenceman, who holds his stick in a convenient position throughout, and Ott Heller, behind those two in all pictures except the last, when he appears near Apps, by then on the ice, as Pratt's leg disappears in the corner of the picture. Dave Kerr is the Ranger goalie, and the two figures behind the goal are Dutch Hiller (dark sweater) and Gord Drillon (white sweater).

N.H.L. STARS

By The Canadian Press.

Walter (Turk) Broda, Toronto, scored his third shutout of the season as Leafs beat Detroit 3-0 Saturday.

Gordon Drillon, Toronto, got goal Saturday and two goals and an assist last night when Leafs downed Red Wings 7-1.

Mac Colville, Rangers, score twice to lead them to 3-1 victory over Americans Saturday.

Leafs Take Two Week-end Games From Detroit Red Wings While Canadiens Down Rangers

(By the Canadian Press.)

Canada's two National Hockey League clubs, Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, rode high without a defeat on their records today and people began to get steamed up for their meeting at Montreal Dec. 7.

This situation was hardly expected before the opening. The Leafs brought in more inexperienced players this year than any other club and the Canadiens put more reliance on aging veterans than the rest. Yet torrid Toronto has won four of its five contests and tied the other, while the Flying Frenchmen have scored three victories and a tie in four starts.

The Leaf rookies continued to fly in two overwhelming weekend wins over Detroit Red Wings, 3-0 at Toronto Saturday and 7-1 at Detroit last night. Jack Church, up from the old Syracuse farm, scored the goal that started the Saturday sweep and Lex Chisholm and Don Metz, both just out of amateur ranks, potted the first two in the Sunday rout.

The twin success put Toronto two points up on the second-place Canadiens, who kept moving with a brilliant overtime triumph against the Rangers before 12,000 persons at New York last night. Polly Drouin got the winning goal—his second of the night—with less than five minutes to go in the extra period.

But Goalie Turk Broda of the Leafs continued to be the league's individual star with his third shutout of the season. He has been scored on only twice.

He and the veteran Tiny Thompson duelled in the nets at Toronto until Church stepped from the penalty box late in the second chapter, took a pass from Bob Davidson and closed in to pull the Detroit goalie to one side before hitting the net. Sylvanus Apps and Gordon Drillon scored in the third.

Don Metz made his first showing of the campaign at Detroit and immediately whipped in the first goal of his big-league career with the aid of the other members of his freshman line, Billy Taylor and Red Heron. Apps, Drillon and the battling Chisholm got the other Toronto goals with two apiece, while Kenny Kilrea spoiled Broda's attempt for his fourth shutout.

The Canadiens had to come from behind to win after Alex Shibicky punched a power-play goal while Captain Walter Buswell of the Habitants served a penalty. Drouin sank Toe Blake's pass in the third period to even the count and sailed in alone to catch Goalie Dave Kerr out of position for the winning goal.

The Rangers broke even on the weekend by outscoring their fellow-townsmen, the Americans, 3-1 at Madison Square Garden Saturday night. Mac Colville scored twice and his brother Neil once, while Tommy Anderson snatched the Americans' counter as the teams packed all the scoring into the third period.

Boston Bruins and the Black Hawks couldn't score for two periods at Chicago last night, either, but Roy Conacher and Milt Schmidt potted goals in the third to pull the Bruins out with a 2-0 victory.

Tweed Boys Win Second Game But Lose Round

TWEED, Nov. 20.—(ENS).—Tweed High School rugby team whipped Madoc High School 6-5 in the second game of the play-offs for the C.H.H.S. championship, but lost the round 12-11, having fumbled the first battle 7-5.

Madoc had Tweed outplayed at every turn but were heavily penalized in numerous counts. Tweed took advantage of every break and proved a real threat to Madoc's stalwarts. In the first half Tweed scored a single point. In the second half Madoc worked their way down the field and McCoy scored a touchdown from Tweed's fumble behind the goal line. In the next five minutes Tweed completed a long forward pass and then bucked their way over the line for a touchdown.

Stewart and Harris brought the spectators to loud cheers time and again with their broekn field running. Wagar of Tweed was a real match for Munro and Keller of Madoc who excelled for their tricky dodging.

Joe DiMaggio Weds Dorothy Arnold

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio, the San Francisco fisherman's son who batted his way to baseball fame, was off on an automobile honeymoon tour today with his actress bride, the former Dorothy Arnoldine Olson.

One of the biggest crowds ever to attend a wedding here jammed St. Peter and Paul Church and the street and park outside as the two were married yesterday by Father Francis Paroline.

The bride, known in New York and Hollywood as Dorothy Arnold, went to the altar on the arm of her father, V. A. Olson of Duluth, Minn.

Joe met Miss Olson two years ago in a New York film studio.

Tennessee Has Won 13 Games Without An Enemy Score

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—(AP) — That late-season victories can offset early-season defeats was the chief plank in their platform today as a survey of the United States College football situation found Missouri, Iowa, Duke, Georgia Tech, Holy Cros sand Ohio State campaigning for recognition and offering solid evidence to support their claims.

Missouri's Tigers, October victims of Ohio State, are assured of at least a tie for the big six title after knocking off Oklahoma Saturday 7-6 for the Sooner's first regular-season defeat in two years. Iowa, badly beaten by Michigan a month ago, has charged back into the picture with 60-minute-man Nile Kinnick marshalling the Hawkeyes to a 13-9 triumph over Minnesota.

Duke belted North Carolina out of the unbeaten brigade 13-3, Georgia Tech 6-0. Ohio State was 21-0 conqueror of Illinois.

These six teams made notable advances, but there were challenges from other sectors as well. Cornell continued unbeaten and untied after routing Dartmouth 35-6; all-winning Tennessee shut out Vanderbilt 13-0 for its 13th game without an enemy score; Texas A. and M. continued in the "perfect" class by walloping Rice 19-0.

Together with Georgetown, which came through its 16th game and second season without loss by handing New York University a 14-0 lacing; unbeaten and untied Duquesne, which was idle; unbeaten Southern California, which rested up for next Saturday's four-star special against Notre Dame, and the Irish themselves, who trimmed North-Western 7-0, the class of the country is pretty well wrapped up in those teams.

12 Veteran Teams In "Six-Day" Race

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(CP)—The 66th international "six-day" bicycle race gets under way at Madison Square Garden tonight with a field of 12 veteran teams.

Canada is well-represented by the Peden brothers, Torchy and Doug of Victoria, B.C. and by Judes Audy, blond racer from Montreal who paired with Bobby Thomas of Kenosha, Wis., to make up a Canadian-American duo.

The race has been 'streamlined' —shortened to five days. Previous bookings in the Garden necessitated the chopping off of one day from the fixture. The riders will be on view for six days but the total time they will race will be only two hours over five days.

DOROTHY DIX

Love Seldom Strikes Like a Bolt From The Blue But Is Usually a Very Prosaic Commonplace Desire To Be Near And Help Another.

THE most difficult problem for young people to solve is whether they are in love or not. They virtually spend their time taking their temperatures and with their fingers on their pulses trying to count their heartbeats, and yet despite their every effort to arrive at the state of their affections they cannot tell if what ails them is a fatal case of the grand passion, or just a slight attack of passing fancy that will all be over in a day or two.

The thing that keeps boys and girls all hot and bothered is not what some member of the opposite sex is thinking about them, but what they themselves think about the party of the other part. Every mail brings me dozens of letters from these bewildered youngsters who want to know how they can test out their emotions and tell whether what they feel for Sam or Jenny is the genuine elixir of love, brewed by old Dr. Cupid himself, or just some fake nostrum with which they are being gyped.

"I have been going with Sally for five or six years," one of these boys writes, "and I know she loves me, but I don't know whether I am in love with her or not. She is as fine as they come—intelligent, loyal, tender and true. She is a good pal, interesting to talk to, and even just going to the movies is twice as much fun if she is with me.

"Just to be near her gives me a satisfied feeling, but she doesn't fill me with romantic yearnings and I don't get hot or cold every time I think of her, and I didn't know the first time I saw her that she was my predestined fate, so I don't know if what I feel for Sally is friendship or love."

Mary is equally unable to make her sentiments jell. She writes: "Tom and I have known each other ever since we made mud pies in kindergarten together. And now he wants to marry me. He is the grandest somebody you ever saw and the girl who marries him will never have to lie awake at night worrying over the "other woman," or wondering where her next car is coming from.

"Somehow I can't think of life without Tom, yet I don't thrill over him and I don't have heart palpitations when I see him coming down the street, and I don't swoon when he kisses me, and I don't know whether this sort of everyday love is enough to marry on or not. It is so unlike love in the movies."

When I get these letters I am tempted to wish that novelists and playwrights had less imagination and more common sense, for they have set up a standard of love against which millions of unromantic and practical men and women measure their honest devotion and find it wanting. They are the sort of people whose feet are on the ground and who haven't a drop of hysteria in their whole system.

'Art of Letter Writing Is Easily Learned

Use Friendly Expressions

Some people write such charming letters How do they do it, you wonder, as you struggle for hours over a note—and then turn out one that's cold as ice!

Charming letters, you'll find, are full of friendly expressions, little touches—but all these tricks you can easily learn.

To make your invitations sound more cordial, spontaneous, just change that stiff "hope you'll attend" to "do come!"

Do you write a trite "congratulations" to the fellow club-member who's won a fine job? Write instead "I am so happy to hear—" and sound natural, sincere!

And how much more flattering are your letters to friends if you don't harp always on "me, myself and mine"—but write "I'm thinking of you" and "tell me about yourself."

Knowing correct forms, too, helps you make a pleasing impression. Stationery of white or a very pale tint is always in good taste. Address a widow as Mrs. Henry Jones, not Mrs. Mary Jones.

How to write letters of application, sympathy, thanks? Our 32-page booklet gives samples of these and many other letters to help you make your own successful. Has pointers on vocabulary, correct forms.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of GOOD LETTER-WRITING MADE EASY to The Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Never by any chance can they be great lovers, but they make grand husbands and wives.

The world is full of old maids and old bachelors who never married because they waited for some emotional experience that could never possibly come to one of their temperament, or who wasted the years waiting for some glamor girl or Fairy Prince to come riding down their street and bear them off to some romantic heaven of connubial bliss.

Perhaps there are people who are shot down suddenly by love as by a bolt out of the blue, but these instances are rare, and statistics show that of the love-at-first-sight marriages fewer than one-half of 1 per cent endure. For the most part, however, love isn't an accident. There is nothing spectacular about it. Nothing that changes us from just prosaic workaday people into poets and tenors. Our temperatures will always stay at normal and it is no sign that we don't love Tom and Mary because we are not running a fever.

We must love even as we are built, but this homespun love will still be wearing well and standing the strain of marriage long after the pink chiffon romance is rags and tatters.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been going with a boy who insists that I prove my love for him by becoming his mistress. I have refused and he says that's good-by for him, that he won't waste his time on a girl who is so old-fashioned. Are all boys like that?——HEARTBROKEN.

ANSWER:

What are you heartbroken about in losing such a cad as this boy is? You ought to be down on your knees thanking heaven that you have escaped from a villain who planned to do you the deadliest wrong that a man can do a woman.

If you were not so young and ignorant of life you would know that for a boy to tell a girl that she must prove her love for him by giving herself to him, is the line of every seducer. If the girl refuses, he reproaches her with not trusting him and he plays upon this sting until he breaks the poor little silly creature down. And so blinded is she by love that she does not demand to know of him why he does not prove his love for her by respecting her, nor ask why should she trust the man who does not offer her marriage but a clandestine and disgraceful relationship.

No man who really intends to marry a girl or who really loves her drags her down into the gutter. He does not despoil her good name. And so you will be wise if you always say "no" and keep saying "no" to the boys who demand your honor as the price of their attentions. And don't think you will be left dateless. There are plenty of decent boys still left in the world.

DOROTHY DIX.

Round Robin Held At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 20—(ENS)—Enid Malcolm and Archie Crosier were declared the winners of a round robin tourney the first to be held here since the Badminton Club was organized last month. J. A. C. Allan, W. Kingston, Allan Raymond and Archie Crosier were the ones with the top score and the latter won the gentleman's prize on the lucky draw. At the close of the playing, Mrs. E. C. Roberts and her committee which comprised Mrs. J. Fink, Mrs. George Ralph, Miss Elizabeth Free and Viola Couch served refreshments.

Results of the two rounds were as follows:

E. Free and Allan Raymond defeated Mrs. F. Hopping and C. Banks 15-5; L. Henson and J. A. C. Allan defeated V. Couch and E. Sloggett 15-2; L. Smith and A. Crosier defeated Mrs. J. Fink and Mrs. G. BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

RISKS NECESSARY

THOSE WHO like to make No Trump games—and who doesn't—must take a certain number of risks in the bidding. If you have plenty of strength in three suits, counting that which your partner has shown, and no particular shortness in any suit to produce ruffing values, you are usually better off to try for a No Trump game than a minor, depending on your partner to have some kind of stoppers in the fourth suit. Unless you are willing to do this upon occasion, you will see some nice games lost.

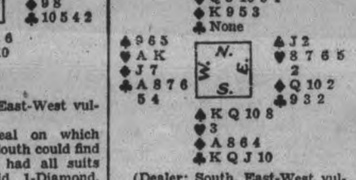
(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

Here was a deal on which neither North nor South could find out that the side had all suits stopped. North bid 1-Diamond, South 1-Spade, North 2-Diamonds and South, with enough strength for another bid, could find nothing sound to say except 2-No Trumps, unless he wanted to raise the diamonds. Since he had three cards in the unstopped Clubs, he bid 2-No Trumps and North took him to 3-No Trumps.

West led the heart 3 to the K and A. As it happened, every possible finesse worked and so South, who tried them all, made 6-No Trumps, losing to only the spade A. An examination of the situation shows that not even the game could have been made if West held East's cards and vice versa. A club lead would have held South to five tricks in diamonds, one in clubs and one in hearts, putting him down two tricks. But if either the spade or heart situation was favorable, game was in the cards and should be bid.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If West makes a Club overcall here, later doubles six spades, leads the heart A, then switches to the spade 9, how should South play for the contract?

Turkeys Hold At 25 Cents In Big Market

More turkeys than usual were noticed on the farm produce market Saturday, the increase in number possibly accounting for a slight slip in price to less than 25 cents for the first time this season. Most of the big birds were tagged at 25 cents, but along toward noon hour you could get them at a lower figure.

The badminton market seemed as busy as ever with a large attendance on both sides of the aisles. And according to George Fife of Otonabee, somebody should use a little sense and either leave the arrangement of the tables the way they used to be, or at the very least, widen the side aisles, those running north and south into which people crowd as they move in and out of the short aisles that grid the hall.

Mr. Fife's suggestion was simply a little more sharply pointed than others finding fault with the narrow alleys that should be avenues along the east and west walls.

Big Wood Market.

For the first time since the weather started to cool off the outdoor market looked more like a market square and less like a parking lot. The supervisor, Jim Brown, managed to shoo away a lot of the cars out to the street lines where the police might get them, with the result that the wood producers had more room to show their wares. And they had a lot to show, the biggest offering of wood the market has presented this season.

W. N. Doxsee of Coe Hill, was one of the remoter farmers who made the trip with a truck load of three cords of four foot hardwood selling at $7.50 a cord. He lives five miles this side of Coe Hill.

The four foot length is mentioned because the usual season argument about wood measurement and standards has cropped up again. One man brings in a load of four foot wood, another cuts his at home into stove lengths, and the question has been argued again of late, should a cord of the unsawn wood sell on the same basis of price as the four foot length wood.

Farmers say that the four foot wood will shrink from 128 cubic feet to 110 cubic feet in sawing, and for that reason a load of short cut wood measuring 110 cubic feet should be regarded as the equivalent of 128 cubic feet of the four foot wood.

Apparently Mr. Brown measures the wood "as is," and marks the load accordingly. At any rate the wood men had a chance to do some business, and Mr. Brown declares there will be more room for them next Saturday.

New Cider Arrives.

At the risk of offending the apple men, it may be remarked that the cider mills are turning out the same priced sweetness as last fall when there was no war and no immense backwash of apples from the export shipping ports. The price a gallon Saturday was 35 and 40 cents.

A dollar bill brought just about the best hamper of apples on the market, including a grand sample of Northern Spies and McIntosh Reds. Some of the morning's stock, although not the best, sold down to 75 cents and 80 cents a bushel, and suggested a heap of apple value for that price.

Norman Moncrief had top quality Baxters at 80 cents a bushel; Snows $1; Reds $1.25 and Spies $1.25. Fred Watt of the Port Hope area priced his at 90 cents for a hamper of Snows; Scarlet Pippins $1; Spies $1; Winter St. Lawrence $1.25.

Vic Boundy from the Cobourg country tagged a hamper of Russets at $1; Ben Isaac of Warwoth was asking $1 for his McIntosh Reds. P. H. Johnston of Bailieboro, sold Talmans at 20c the six-quart basket, Baxters 25 cents, winter pears 30.

Butter 27 to 30 Cents.

The basket market up in the hall was a routine affair. Mrs. W. Walsh, the only woman on the market who tags her poultry with her name and address, just as the merchants on the main street do in a vastly bigger way, was asking 23 cents for chickens at 11.30 o'clock, but the price spread out from that market to 20 cents, 18 and even 16 cents.

Butter was 27, 28 and 30 cents; ducks 21 to 25 cents; turkeys 25 and 23 cents; geese 20 cents. One woman was asking $2 for a goose that weighed 10 pounds 2 ounces.

Eggs ranged from 35 to 40 and 42 cents, and seemed to be selling freely.

Plymouth Rock chickens weighing four to six pounds were priced at 18 cents. Mrs. R. Perrin of South Monaghan had seventy-two dozens of eggs when the market opened, and they were nearly all gone at 11.45 o'clock.

No More "Glads."

Mrs. T. Byers of North Monaghan, told the Examiner that the last of her gladioli were sold a week ago, and for the first time in months she had no flowers for her customers.

Four or five lots of pork sold at 14 and 16 cents; Alex Gordon's lamb was 18 and 32 cents.

Yellow Danvers onions sold at $1 for 50 pounds, quoted by H. Strong and carrots at 65 cents; cabbage 50c a dozen. Herb Doig's Cobbler potatoes were $1 a bag; turnips three for ten cents, Yorkshire pigs nine weeks old were $11 a pair.

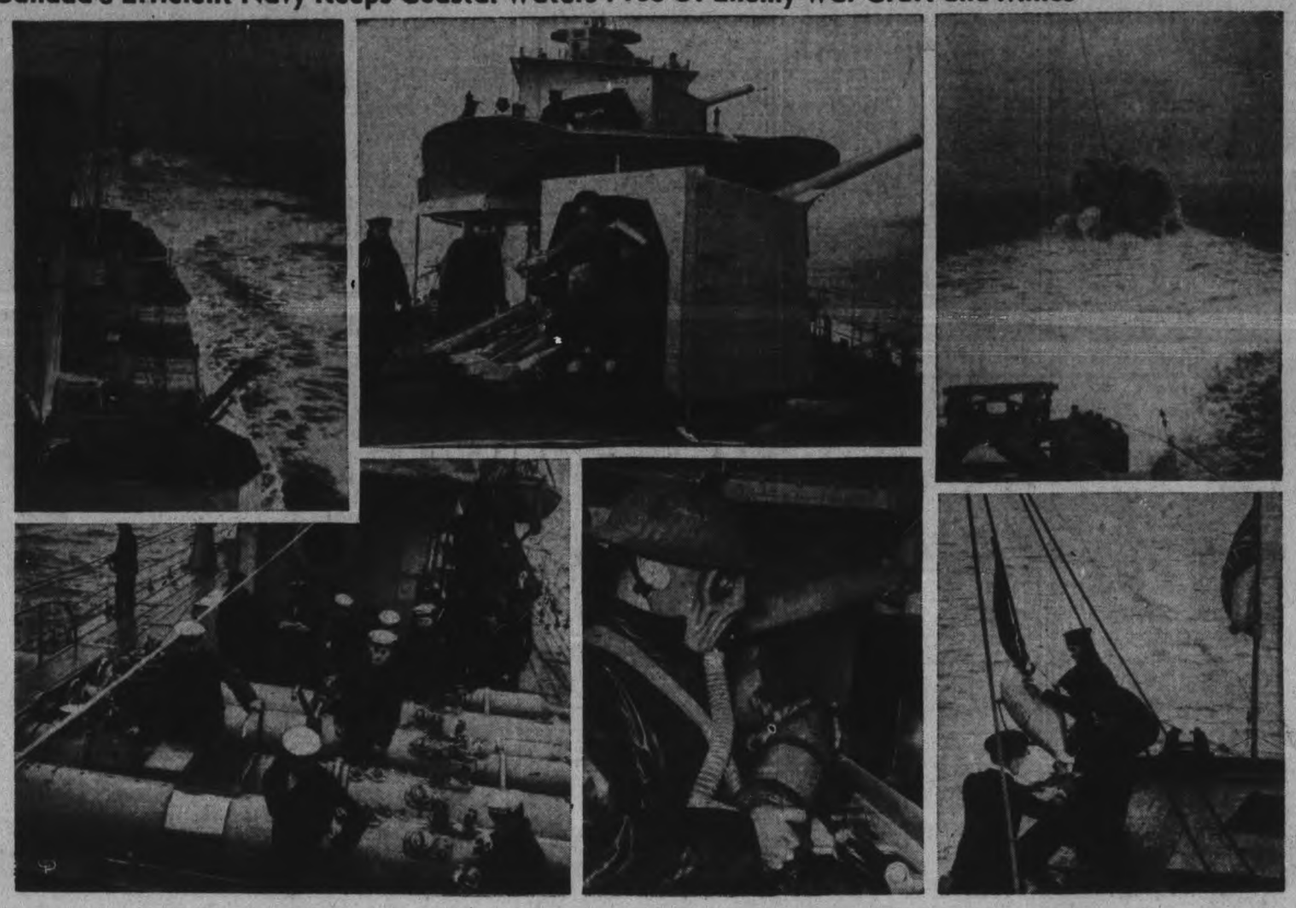
Canada's Efficient Navy Keeps Coastal Waters Free Of Enemy War Craft and Mines



An efficient arm of the British sea fleet, is the small but powerful Canadian navy, which is at present patrolling the coastal waters of the Dominion, convoying ships, patrolling for enemy submarines and keeping Canadian harbors free from enemy mines. These latest pictures of the activities of His Majesty's Royal Canadian Navy were taken with the co-operation of Canadian naval authorities. Destroyers of the Royal Canadian Navy are shown, UPPER LEFT, surging through coastal seas on their ceaseless patrol against enemy shipping. Equipped with four 4.7 guns, one of which is shown, UPPER CENTRE, as well as a battery of two-pounders, the destroyer's most deadly armament is its complement of torpedo tubes, LOWER LEFT. The nemesis of submarines are the deadly depth charges, one of which is shown exploding; UPPER RIGHT. The gas-masked sailor, LOWER CENTRE, standing ready to reload one of the guns aboard the destroyer to which he is attached, is just as at home handling one of the deadly torpedo tubes as he is manning the gun itself. He also knows how to rig a paravane, LOWER RIGHT, which is used to locate and cut hidden mines from their moorings. When the mines are freed from their moorings they float to the surface and are readily destroyed by gunfire.

Little Body Thermostat Controls Your Appetite

TORONTO, Nov. 20. — The thin man and the fat man, or the man or the woman with the perfect figure, all have a little mechanism that sets their eating habits. It is the human thermostat, and it controls the level of the furnace and hence the appetite.

The naturally thin man deserves no credit for keeping his waistline. His thermostat does it for him.

But there's a catch to this otherwise comforting theory of blaming something over which the fat man has no control and goes on eating.

Doctors say he can and should disregard the signals for more fuel on the furnace.

While he may have had nothing to do with setting the thermostat, he can by persistent habit change the controls, even though it is sure to be a long and hard struggle.

Problem Either Way.

Medically, there isn't so much to choose between the problem created by being too fat or too thin. The emaciated man may be a prey to infections. He is more likely to catch any communicable disease which is going around.

But the fat man has a much heavier overhead to support. The heart and other organs have to work harder to keep a greater mass functioning. The bigger the mass the more food required to keep it big. Fat men are rejected for the army; thin men are not.

If food supplies were cut off, the fat man could live longer on his stored-up fat, but stored fat needs some kindling to make it burn easily in the human furnace. Orange juice is excellent to pep up the fires. Nowadays, however, the problem of preparing men to go without food does not exist.

In any group of people there are some whose bodies make more efficient use of fuel than others, in the same way that ordinary furnaces vary in the amount of coal they consume for the heat given off. But this difference is not sufficent to account for the spread in the weight of extremely fat people.

The formula doctors say governs weight is simple. A man eats 4,000 calories a day. He expends 2,000 in keeping the body temperature normal and in going about his daily tasks. That means he has a surplus of 2,000 a day or 14,000 in a week. He ends the week four pounds heavier.

To stay at the same weight he must increase the expenditure of energy in work, which is almost impossible for the office employee to do, or he must cut down his food until the number of calories burned equals the number used. There is no way yet known of teaching the body not to be thrifty. Any food not used is stored away in the tissues and when the stores get large, so does the paunch.

Doctors who have been assured by patients that the little bit they eat would never put on fat, have a way of proving their point. A few weeks in hospital where the calories can be absolutely regulated, where the patient cannot do any cheating between meals, has always proved convincing.

Make It Up Later.

People who eat small breakfasts and small lunches and then feel they deserve a good dinner, have no trouble in more than making up the calory deficiencies of earlier in the day. Many reducers shy away from milk as fattening and drink ginger ale to stay slim, but some kinds of ginger ale run around twelve calories to the ounce, which is more than half the twenty in an ounce of milk.

The common belief that certain diseases are wasting, that patients lose weight regardless of what they eat, is also attacked. Recent checks have shown that the same rule holds with people with cancer or tuberculosis: their weight varies directly with the amount of food they eat and the amount of exercise they are able to take. The disease itself has little effect other than its effect on the intake of food.

To reduce weight or to gain weight boils down to a simple matter of will power and persisting with the normally healthy individual, a matter of changing the habits set by the human thermostat.

OMAAHAA, Neb., Nov. 20 — (AP). —Red indeed were the faces of 60 Omaha University students and two professors when they read the school paper. It told how they had signed a petition promising to cut off their own heads. The paper's editor, Henrietta Keiser, said the decapitation clause was buried in the whereases and wherefors asking two Thanksgiving Day holidays.

BRITAIN TO RETALIATE IN "DRIFTING MINE" WAR

Shortage Of Good Officers Foiled German Push French Chiefs Convinced

Tips Leak Out As Berlin Eases Qualifications To Fill Staff With 17,000 Leaders As Troops Stand Poised Along Three Fronts

PARIS, Nov. 21—(AP).—French military experts said they believed a German offensive had been delayed partly because of a lack of trained officers in the German army.

The French general staff now has information confirming that the German high command had decided on a big offensive in the West, including a drive through the Netherlands and Belgium, between November 12 and November 14.

The reasons for postponing or cancelling the plans for this offensive are not known yet, but French military men believe the lack of trained officers played a big part in the decision.

German troops remain massed along the Reich frontier from the North Sea to Switzerland, ready to attack if the original plan is put into operation. This plan, according to reliable indications here, provided for an attack not only through Belgium and the Netherlands but also against French positions in Alsace and Lorraine, accompanied by attempts to cross the Rhine where it forms the Franco-German border.

Ontario's Guard Switching Costs $240,000

TORONTO, Nov. 21.—(CP).—The cost to Ontario will be approximately $240,000 a year to effect replacement of Royal Canadian Mounted Police guards at Niagara Hydro plants with provincial police.

Attorney General Gordon Conant said to-day that 164 additional men have been employed for protection during war-time of the Niagara properties and that price of equipment for the men has gone up recently.

Liberal Party Again Rules New Brunswick

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Nov 21 — (CP)—Returned to office for a second term, Premier A. A. Dysart and his Liberal administration were confronted today with an opposition more than four times as strong as they faced in the last session of the Provincial legislature.

New Brunswick voters gave Mr. Dysart and his supporters victory yesterday by electing 27 Liberal candidates to the legislature. At the same time 21 Conservatives won seats in the 48-seat house, compared with five members of that party who were successful in the 1938 election.

The Premier and the opposition leader, F. C. Squires, were returned in their constituencies but three of Mr. Dysart's ministers went down to defeat.

The Premier described the result as "a vote of confidence in the Government," and said that "although the majority has been reduced that fact will not hamper the Government from going forward with its progressive policies.'

Mr. Squires said the vote showed conclusively that the people at least appreciate our efforts, even if we did not catch their full support."

"Let us make another start from such a strong vantage point and it will not be long before ultimate victory will be ours," he said.

Tories Got 16 Seats.

Conservatives gained 16 seats from the Liberals who elected 43 members in the 1935 election. Standing at dissolution of the 38th legislature showed 39 Liberals, five Conservatives and four vacancies.

Suspect Nazis Are Using Magnetic Mine

LONDON, Nov. 21—(CP Cable).—A theory that Germany is using a magnetic mine was being widely discussed today in naval circles and newspapers following the sinking of the liner Simon Bolivar and other vessels.

Expressed views of naval experts ranged from the blunt statement that this is Adolf Hitler's "secret weapon" of which he boasted two months ago, to the derisive comment that such a mine belongs to the realm of fantasy.

The concensus, however, is that such a weapon is possible but that the Admiralty is fully aware of all recent developments in mines and is working on ways to deal with them. If a magnetic mine exists, the view was held it will not be effective for long.

Speculation began when the captain of the Danish steamship Canada, giving evidence at an inquiry at Copenhagen into the loss of his ship, insisted she sank after an explosion caused by a magnetic mine. So far there is no official confirmation of his statement.

A number of naval writers said such a mine would rest on the sea bottom, out of reach of minesweepers, until the presence of the steel hull of a ship brought delicate mechanism into play and the mine was drawn up against the ship's bottom. No further details were offered.

Those who scoffed at the idea said the strength of a ship's magnetic field certainly is not great enough to attract a mine which is more than a few yards from the ship's hull.

Red Fleet Uses New Ports, "Masters Of The Baltic"

MOSCOW, Nov. 21—(AP)—Russia disclosed today her Baltic fleet is holding manoeuvres from newly won bases in that area. At the same time she warned Finland that "nothing will ever break our decision to establish a strong peace all over the Finnish gulf."

The warning was voiced by Admiral V. Tributz, commander of the Baltic fleet, in an article in the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda; organ of the Communist Youth League.

Tributz declared the Soviet fleet now in command of the Baltic with the acquisition of bases from Estonia and Latvia. He said the Baltic fleet, previously landlocked in the Gulf of Finland by winter ice, now could navigate throughout the year.

(Russia asked a naval base on the North coast of the Gulf of Finland, a strip of territory north of Leningrad and concessions in the Finnish arctic. In return Russia offered Finland a larger section of Soviet Karelia.)

Admiral Tributz said Soviet ships now were making cruises from their new Baltic bases into the open seas for gunnery and target practice. The Russian admiral expressed "the regret of Soviet Baltic sailors" that Finland refused the Russian offer. He added:

"In Finland we hear but the rattling of arms and the call to war with the U. S. S. R. The dark game of Finnish ruling circles favors incendiaries of war who aim to use Finland as a base for hostile plots.

"No obstacle will ever break our decision to establish a strong peace over the Finnish gulf to safeguard Soviet borders, the great city of Leningrad and friendly Baltic countries. The red bannered Baltic fleet is ready at any minute."

Bata Deal Off

Boston, Nov. 21 (AP)

BECAUSE Jan Bata, Czecho-Slovak shoe manufacturer, refused to agree to refrain from hiring foreign labor, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has returned a deposit he paid on the Leominster Mills and "the whole deal is off," John J. Hagerty, New England R.F.C. manager, announced today.

Bata had intended to use the former woollen plant to manufacture slippers.

"We had been trying to get Bata to agree not to hire foreign labor, and when he would not do so I recommended to the R.F.C. board to call off the deal," Hagerty said.

Britain Issuing Savings Certificates

LONDON, Nov. 21—(CP Cable).—The Treasury will issue tomorrow national savings certificates and defence bonds for sale to the public to help finance the war, Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced in the House of Commons today.

The purchase price of the certificates will be 15 shillings ($3.33). They will have increased to 17 shillings six pence in five years and to 20 shillings six pence in 10 years.

The defence bonds will be purchaseable in units of £5 issued at par with interest at three per cent. They will be repayable in seven years from date of purchase at a premium of one pound per cent.

"The date has not yet arrived," the Chancellor declared, "to issue a loan on the open market."

The purpose of savings certificates and defence bonds was "to enable all citizens, even of small or very moderate means, to make their contribution."

Individuals will be restricted to the purchase of 500 savings certificates because of their freedom from income tax.

Interest on the defence bonds will be subject to income tax but an individual will be limited to £1,000 of the new bonds.

A treasury official, when asked how many savings certificates and defence bonds were expected to be sold, said there was no limit.

"We will sell just as many as we can," he added.

Britain started to use the savings of the people to finance the war in February, 1916. From then until November, 1918, the Treasury sold £280,000,000 in savings certificates and continued the scheme during peace.

No Warning To Sub Victims

DUBLIN, Nov. 21—(CP). — Survivors of the 4,915-ton British freighter Arlington Court said today a U-boat, firing two torpedoes in quick succession, sank their ship without warning last Thursday, 200 miles off the Irish coast.

Twenty-two crew members were landed by the Netherlands rescue ship Algenib. Nineteen of them were taken to hospital. Eleven members of the crew were missing and an officer was dead.

Claude Boothby, second officer of the Arlington Court, said he was chatting with the radio operator on Thursday afternoon when an explosion rocked the vessel. The crew had time to lower the lifeboats and get into them. Ten minutes after the first blast the U-boat, which remained throughout at periscope depth, sent a second torpedo into the vessel. The ship sank 30 minutes later.

Boothby said the sea was heavy and he and his companions had to row all night to keep the lifeboat afloat. The chief engineer, H. Pearson, died of the cold on Sunday.

Last Minute News Flashes

ORILLIA.—(CP)—Firemen ran a ladder up to the roof of the $30,000 Royal Hotel on the main business thoroughfare today and rescued Frank Suter, 17, son of the manager. Thirty guests were forced to the street, as the hotel was partly destroyed. Tenants of nearby apartment buildings left their suites while the entire town firefighting force concentrated on keeping the blaze from spreading. Loss was estimated at more than $20,000 for the hotel alone.

WASHINGTON.— (AP) — Great Britain, through the British embassy here, announced a system of preshipment investigation of American exports which is designed to expedite American trade with European neutral countries. The embassy said that initially the system "will apply to all shipments from the United States to the following countries—Belgium, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Iceland, Latvia, The Netherlands, Norway and Sweden."

Orders Nazi Exports Seized Upon High Seas As Drifting Bombs Sink 3 More Ships Latest A Japanese Liner, Off English Coast

British Move Reverts To Tactics Used In Last War

LONDON, Nov. 21 — (CP Cable).—Great Britain will retaliate against German "violation of international law" by seizing German exports on the high seas, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today.

As a reprisal for Germany's indiscriminate mine-laying, Britain will tighten her economic blockade on the Reich by intercepting German exports in the same way the Royal Navy, together with French naval units, has cut off German imports.

This will mean a concentration on neutral shipping because Germany has practically no ships at sea.

During the last war, Mr. Chamberlain recalled, exports of German origin or ownership were made subject to seizure on the high seas as reprisal for submarine attacks on merchant shipping.

Violation Of Her Word.

He said that the wholesale sinking of ships since the beginning of the week-end, many of them neutrals, was the result of German laying of mines in violation of The Hague convention which the Reich signed.

Mr. Chamberlain made his statement in reply to private notice of a question by Major Clement Attlee, Labor Opposition, as to whether the government proposed to take any action as a result of the laying of mines.

Explaining that if unanchored mines were used they must become harmless one hour at the most after those who laid them lost control over them, Mr. Chamberlain said that none of these provisions were observed by Germany in laying mines resulting in recent ship losses.

Heavy Toll In 3 Days.

In announcing the government's intention of seizing German export, Mr. Chamberlain said

Gift To Goering

New York, Nov. 21 (CP)

THE small rabbit that British officials said was the sole casualty of a recent German raid on the Shetland Islands has been flown to Germany as a gift to Air Marshal Goering, according to a London special cable to the New York Herald Tribune today.

A member of the Royal Air Force dropped the prize and an explanatory note during a reconnaisance flight over the Reich, the dispatch said.

Four German planes loosed a dozen bombs in the vicinity of the Shetland Islands, off the Scottish coast, Nov. 13. While the Germans claimed two flying boats had been sunk and a warship damaged, British officials said a tiny rabbit was the only casualty.

Lindsay Man On Freighter Sunk By Mine

LINDSAY, Ont., Nov. 21.—(CP)—Lawson Blakely, of Lindsay, Ont., was aboard the ill-fated "Pensilva," British freighter sunk by a German mine yesterday, it was revealed today. Having served as wireless operator on several British ships for the past two years, Mr. Blakely was returning to Scotland on his last voyage in this capacity before sailing for Canada to enlist with the Royal Canadian Air Force in similar work.

Naturally concerned for his welfare, although reliably informed that all members of the crew had been saved, a cable was despatched to the Marconi Company in London early yesterday, a reply being received at 5 p.m. confirming the earlier report that Mr. Blakely, along with other members of the crew, had ben picked up by another freighter standing by.

Mr. Blakely was born in Madoc, being educated there and at Lindsay Collegiate, before taking up

R.A.F. Shoots Down Nazi Plane Over East Coast

LONDON, Nov. 21—(CP).—Destruction of three British mine-sweeping trawlers, sinking of a Japanese liner and downing of a raiding German plane today was annonnced by British officials. Previously the 276-ton British trawler, Thomas Hawkins, was sunk by a submarine.

The Air Ministry said that the invading aircraft was shot down in an engagement with Royal Air Force planes over the East coast.

Third Loss in One Day.

The 11,930-ton Japanese vessel was the 14th vessel to go down since the week-end, either by German U-boat action or by striking unchartered mines which Britain charges the Germans placed in shipping lanes in contravention of international law.

Sinking of the Japanese liner brought today's losses to four. Previously the British minesweeper Mastiff, 490 tons, and the British steam trawler Sea Sweeper, 329 tons sank after they struck mines near British shores.

The sinking Japanese liner, which could be seen from the shore, carried a crew of 180 and 26 passengers, one of them British. A lifeboat and other craft went to the rescue, and some survivors were brought to shore.

Offices of the ship's owners said they had received no word of casualties and believed no lives were lost.

One man was killed and five others were missing in the sinking of the Mastiff. The trawler exploded against one of the mines it was seeking to clear from the seas. The crew of the other minesweeper lost during the day was landed at a northern Ireland port.

Planes Over Kent.

German planes flew over Kent, the east coast and northern Scotland and the Orkneys. Royal Air Force pursuit craft brought down the German plane which approached the east coast, while the others were driven off.

The 5,055-ton German freighter Rheingold, captured by British war vessels, was brought into a Scottish port. She was carrying a wheat cargo.

Destroyer Escapes.

The Admiralty announced Nazi air raiders had made "an unsuccessful bombing attack on a British destroyer in the southern part of the North Sea."

Officials said the trawler Mastiff sank after striking a German mine.

One of the Mastiff's crew was killed and five were missing, according to a preliminary casualty list issued by the Admiralty. The trawler was worth about $200,000.

Loss of the trawler came on the 21st aniversary of the German fleet's surrender after the last war. The fleet was interned at Scapa Flow, but was scuttled by its German crewmen on June 21, 1919.

Subs Bag Only One.

Of four losses disclosed yesterday only the 4,915-ton British vessel Arlington Court was listed as a sub-

Arrested For Defence Law Breach Orono Man Fasts Into 4th Day

COBOURG, Ont., Nov. 21.—(CP).—S. A. H. Hoffman of Orono, arrested last Friday by Royal Canadian Mounted Police on a charge of breach of Canada defence regulations, is still maintaining the hunger strike which he started the day he was brought into jail.

Hoffman told the court in Bowmanville yesterday, when he was remanded for a week, that he had not eaten since last Friday. Hoffman, who is a farm hand, is strong and heavy and for this reason the hunger strike is not worrying jail officials or the jail doctor, for the time at least.

"A big fellow like him can go on for a long time without eating. Maybe he'll eat when he goes hungry for a while. Anway we can't make him eat," said Fred Wright, governor of the county jail at Cobourg.

The jail governor stated also that Hoffman, in refusing food, gives no reason for his action.

The Social Line

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)

SOCIETY GIRLS may warble torch songs in night clubs without risking their blue-blood status, it appeared today, but smuggling trinkets through the United States customs, is taboo.

The 1940 edition of the New York social register, an index of society since 1887, gave the green light to Mrs. Arthur W. Little, Jr., Kay Will and other cafe thrushes who sing for more than their supper.

It dropped the name of Mrs. James Ayer, convicted of trying to slip $14,274 in jewels into the United States without paying a customs tax.

Modern Mine-Sweeping Rig Enables Ships To Stage Lone Hunts For Deadly Sub Eggs

Aboard a French mine-sweeper in the English Channel, Nov. 21 (CP-Havas)—The devices by which minesweepers root death-dealing explosives from their lurking places under the ocean surface were revealed to this correspondent today.

Vessels probing the waters no longer are forced to travel in pairs, linked by a heavy cable. Minesweeping has been modernized so that one boat with a 24-man crew can do what used to require two. All in all, it is much like deep-sea fishing—but a much more dangerous "sport."

As the first step two wooden, steel-lined fins are released from the stern, one falling to the starboard and the other to the port side of the boat. These, acting as outriggers, hold the drag in proper position. When the fins have submerged, they are followed by two torpedo-shaped floats weighing more than 600 pounds, which bob to the surface 150 or 200 yards apart. The area between them is the drag's field of action.

When the drag catches a mine, the float bobs as if a fish had struck the line. The mine's anchorage slides along the cable to a pair of strong pincers, which cut it in two, sending the explosive portion to the surface where it is then destroyed from a respectful distance.

By night the floats carry a light. The light disappears when the float is drawn under water and the man on watch knows he has a "bite." A searchlight then picks out the drifting mine. Often less than 20 minutes pass between the netting of a mine and its annihilation by a minesweeper of a Y type.

Small vessels, perhaps converted trawlers or tugs, carry on the hunt day and night, neglecting their own security to eliminate the U-boat's "eggs" that may hatch at any moment into terrible destruction.

Result Of War

London, Nov. 20 (CP)

HAD there been no war, a court award of £1,500 (about $6,000) to Mrs. Grace Speller, whose husband was killed in a motor-car crash, might have been more.

Justice Tucker ruled: "I have to make allowance for the fact the expectation of life of a man of 32 in wartime is less than in normal times."

Germany Fronts Dutch With Counter Charges

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—(AP).—Authorized sources said to-day that German sources met charges of violating Netherlands neutrality with counter charges of entry into German territory.

The Netherlands' charge d'affaires sought to talk over violations of Netherlands territory by German aircraft.

(A German plane, disabled by anti-aircraft fire, crashed in a Netherlands meadow yesterday. The pilot was killed. Netherlands aircraft also engaged German planes last Saturday and Sunday).

German and Netherlands representatives agreed to continue investigations.

The German foreign office disclosed the German minister in Berne, Otto Kocher, had expressed regrets to the Swiss government that German planes had conducted a "pamphlet bombing" over Switzerland Friday.

1,200 Czech Students Are Interned

Nazis Warn Friends Intervention For Release, Useless

PRAGUE, Nov. 21.—(CP).—Nazi officials today discouraged relatives seeking to intervene in behalf of 1,200 students who, it was announced, have been sent to concentration camps as a result of recent disorders which led to the execution of 12 Czechs.

Such intervention, an official announcement said, would prove "purposeless."

A survey disclosed eight Czech universities and academies were closed on order of German authorities. Dormitories and offices of the closed Prague schools remained occupied by blackshirted members of the SS Elite Guard.

18 Executions

The London Daily Herald in a dispatch from its Zagreb correspondent reported that 18 university students were executed summarily last week, and that subsequent rioting was put down by use of artillery in Prague's streets.

The correspondent gave an unnamed foreign commercial attache as the source of his information, and told this story:—

127 Ships Forced In For Search Germany Boasts

BERLIN, Nov. 21—(AP). — German submarines, co-operating with the Nazi Air Force in the Baltic and North Seas, have compelled 127 merchant ships to enter German harbors for search since the beginning of the war, it was reported today by the German news agency.

Tonnage of the vessels searched, it was said, totalled 245,455. Because the ships or their cargoes were not subject to seizure under prize laws, they were discharged, DNB stated.

In addition, the report said, several hundred other merchantmen were halted on the high seas for search, but released immediately.

The German command, meawhile, reported Nazi reconnaissance planes had "accomplished their tasks according to schedule" in flights over England and France "despite enemy defence."

A communique, which noted only minor activity on the Western front, said scouting assignments had been carried out over Scapa Flow, Scotland, Southern England, and an area North of Paris.

The text of the communique:—

"The German Air Force continued reconnoitring activity against enemy states November 20. In England, Scapa Flow, Scotland, and Southern England, and in France an area north of Paris were reconnoitred despite enemy defence. The planes accomplished their tasks according to schedule."

Parachute Spies Keep R.A.F. Busy In France

With the Royal Air Force somewhere in France, Nov. 21 (CP-Reuters)—Hundreds of square miles of scattered territory are being patrolled by Royal Air Force members because of persistent rumors that German parachutists have landed on French soil.

Not a single landing has been traced, so far, qualified sources say. But every rumor is checked.

The security police of the R.A.F., whose job it is, in co-operation with the French police, to track down these rumors, have dashed across country on many abortive journeys. One "flying squad" spent two days and nights patrolling a thick wood into which parachutists were reported to have descended. They returned covered with mud without a single clue.

Another, sent post haste on motorcycles to an advanced position a few miles behind the Maginot Line, they thought for a moment they had made their first capture of the war. In a clearing to which they were directed they came upon four men actually in the act of struggling with an entanglement of silk in which a few moments before they had been sailing earthwards from a plane.

Around these men stood a group of French soldiers with revolvers drawn and bayonets fixed. The security police advanced to take the men prisoners.

They heard a shout of recognition in English, the "parachutists" were members of an R.A.F. bombing crew ordered to "bail out' when their plane developed engine trouble on its return from a reconnaissance flight over Germany.

Experts Fear First Air Raid Will Show Shelters Weak

LONDON, Nov. 21—(CP) — While Great Britain continues immune from air raids—if not from air raid alarms—controvesy still rages over existing shelter plans.

"Dog-kennel" shelters numbering 1,600,000 have been delivered thus far under the Government's scheme of free protection for small income families. They are estimated to provide protection for nearly 10,000,000 people.

Family shelters for those who can afford to buy them will be available soon at the rate of 5,000 weekly.

Public air raid shelters have been provided in shops and houses of busy streets and in parks in Britain's towns and cities.

The air raid precautions coordinating committee, however, is not satisfied with these plans. It has issued a statement denouncing the "terrible inadequacy" of the shelter scheme and calling for heavily protected shelters.

The official Government view is that deep air raid shelters are not necessary at present. Home secretary Sir John Anderson in a recent statement to the House of Commons commended the activity in providing shelters throughout the country. He said some 15,000 factories were under obligation to protect their employees.

The A. R. P. co-ordinating committee contended if heavy fighting developed it almost certainly would involve intense bombing attacks on densely populated and industrial areas. Air raids would cause huge numbers of casualties in the absence of a properly planned scheme of heavily protected shelters, it asserted.

The committee, composed of leading architects, surveyors, engineers, doctors and scientists, believes "the first big air raid will reveal the terrible inadequacy, not only of the steps so far taken, but also of the whole official shelter scheme."

It said bombing planes probably

Ontario Puts Power Guards Back

Dislike R.C.M.P. Plan Of Watchmen, Guns Replace Billies

TORONTO, Nov. 21 — (CP) — Guards assigned by the Ontario Government patrolled plants of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission in the Niagara Falls area today, instead of guards installed by the Federal Government November 1.

Premier Hepburn and Attorney-General Gordon A. Conant announced in a joint statement here last night that they considered the Federal system of guarding "entirely inadequate and ineffective" and that Provincial authorities have reassumed responsibility for anti-sabotage protection at the Niagara points.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police took over responsibility for protection of the plants from the Ontario Government at the first of the month. Re-transfer of authority was all but completed last night with uniformed men of the veteran's guard, armed with shotguns and under direction of Provincial Police, on duty. Last of the 184 guards take up their positions today.

"The Federal setup consisted of nothing more than watchmen and there appeared to be an entire lack of discipline," Mr. Conant said. "They were not in uniform and were not armed with firearms."

The joint statement said that since the Federal authorities "apparently" did not share the view of the Province that protection of the Niagara power plants" is of the utmost importance in the interests of the Province and of the nation," the transfer of authority was asked.

Inadequate System

"Federal authorities set up a system of guarding which this government on the advice of competent police and hydro officials, regards as entirely inadequate," the statement added in part.

"Inasmuch as instructions from Ottawa were that these men were not to be armed with firearms there was no alternative but to resume the guarding by the provincial police in order that these properties may be fully protected."

Mr. Conant contended there was a marked contrast between the federal system of guarding Niagara as compared with a system of provincial guarding set up at the De Cew Falls plant, "which is outside the area Ottawa took over."

"At the De Cew plant there is a fine body of guards under an able sergeant of the provincial police," he said. "We feel the plant there is adequately protected under our system. It is our objective to set up the same system throughout the entire Niagara area."

A system of plant protection was devised by the Ontario government and put into effect before the outbreak of war. Ontario asked federal officials to take over the duties, a request which was granted following negotiations. Commissioner W. H. Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police later investigated the federal system of anti-sabotage measures in the Niagara area which was followed by an investigation by Mr. Conant.

Hydro Objects

The report added that less than a week after the R.C.M.P. took charge the attorney-general was advised by John Dibblee, assistant chief engineer of the Hydro-Electric Commission that the system of guarding was "entirely unsatisfactory."

Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, was consulted, and on Nov. 17 Mr. Conant sent a telegram to Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, to the affect the Ontario Government was dis-

CONSTIPATED? Help BIG BOWEL

Don't Upset Whole Bowel Tract, Just Move Body Waste Those Last Few Inches

When constipated, draggy, headachy, take a laxative that does its work where the waste has jammed-up. Usually that means the big bowel — marked X in the picture! Doses like calomel start their work more than 20 feet away. Salts flush from end to end. Oils act chiefly on the small intestine.

But CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS concentrate most of their action on the big bowel, where help is generally needed, and do it without upsetting the whole intestinal tract!

That's why CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARETS give such pleasant relief. They contain cascara, said to give "nearest to natural action" of any cathartic. Thus they act to cleanse the big bowel in 10 to 12 hours—moving body waste those last few inches, bringing blessed relief overnight.

Each foil-wrapped CHOCOLATE FLAVOR CASCARET is a gentle, effective dose, pleasant to take because of the milk chocolate flavor. All drugstores, or for free sample write "Cascarets," Windsor, Ont.

could reach their objectives more easily by flying at great heights. The balloon barrage system also would tend to keep them high. This would make accurate bombing difficult and increase the danger of indiscriminate bombing.

The committee urged that a program for provision of blast and splinter-proof shelters be pushed ahead with all speed. It said this would avoid "a large proportion of casualties caused by falling debris and by splinters."

These would not be a substitute for heavily protected communal shelters, but it might be possible to build them so they could later be converted into heavily protected shelters.

Stress Quality As Dairy Key

TORONTO, Nov. 21.—(CP). —E. G. Hood, chief of the Dominion Department of Agriculture's dairy research division of science service, told the opening meeting of the Ontario Creamery Association's two-day convention here to-day that the problem of stimulating butter consumption and of negotiating repeat orders is largely a problem of satisfying the consumer's taste.

He said that due to industrialism and to centralization of industry the great mas sof the consuming public is located at a considerable distance from the seat of butter production. In Canada a large tonnage must be carried over annually from the time of surplus production in summer to the time of shortage of supply in winter.

This emphasized the need for the manufacture of high quality butter.

Mr. Hood discussed some phases of butter making, stating there could not be quality butter without quality cream.

Lloyd Tenny, business manager of the Chicago mercantile exchange, is one of several speakers scheduled to address the Association to-day. The convention concludes to-morrow night.

Mr. Tenny will speak to-day on "the place of the speculator in the butter industry." Other speakers include Frank Singleton, Ottawa, associate director of marketing for Canada; C. E. Lackner, of Toronto, director of dairying for Ontario, and Prof. W. H. Sproule of the dairy department of Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph.

Mr. Lackner will speak on the creamery industry in relation to the present war, while Prof. Sproule's subject will be "The high value of butter as a food commodity."

Wednesday, the convention will split into two division sfor a conference of butter makers and managers.

ber of German divisions held ready to strike. It is learned, however, that, in addition to the divisions already set up, the Reich has a huge mas sof soldiers not yet organized beyond the regiment stage. These troops are distributed in regional camps. They are being trained and apparently are to be formed into divisions when staff officers become available.

Dispatches from Berlin reveal the Reich has relaxed the qualifications for the officers' corps and that differences between active and reserve officers have been diminished. To make up the lack of training material in the officers' corps it is said the Reichswehr needs 17,000 more officers.

On the front the quiet was disturbed in two areas last night, the regions south of Saarbrucken and north of Bitche. Patrol activity was marked in these two sectors and was accompanied by artillery fire on both sides.

In Alsace the further rise of the Rhine forced both the French and the Germans to take precautions along the river banks.

Northern France experienced a two-hour air raid alarm to-day.

The alarm, given at 10.45 a.m., was ended by an "all clear" signal at 12.45 p.m.

River Tragedy?

MATANE, Que., Nov. 21.—(CP)—Far out on the St. Lawrence River, a red glow which they thought might be a blazing ship was reported yesterday by Philippe Smeltzer and Rodolphe Otis.

Smeltzer and Otis said they saw the glow from this south shore town 200 miles below Quebec for about a half-hour early Sunday. It disappeared as suddenly as it lit up the sky, they said.

Orders Nazi

"The House will be aware that during the last three days upwards of 10 ships — six of which were neutrals—were sunk, with a very serious loss of life, by German mines.

"The Hague convention, to which Germany is a party and which she announced her intention of observing as recently as September 17 last, provides that when anchored mines are used every possible precaution must be taken for the security of peaceful navigation.

"This is the very essence of the convention as a mine cannot discriminate between a warship and a merchant ship, or between belligerent and neutral.

"The convention particularly requires that the danger zone must be notified as soon as military exigencies permit.

"If unanchored mines are used, they must become harmless one hour at the most after those who laid them have lost control of them.

"None of these provisons have been observed by the German government in laying the mines which have occasioned the losses I have mentioned and this fresh outrage is the culmination of a series of violations of agreements to which Germany has set her hand.

Athenia An Example.

"I need only recall the sinking of the Athenia, with a loss of 112 lives, and the subsequent destruction of British, Allied and neutral vessels by mine, torpedo or gunfire.

"These attacks have been made often without warning and to an increasing extent with complete disregard of the rules laid down in the submarine protocol to which Germany subscribes, or of the most elementary dictates of humanity.

"His Majesty's Government are not prepared to allow these methods of conducting warfare to continue without retaliation.

"I may remind the House that in the last war, as a measure of justified reprisals for submarine attacks on merchant ships, the exports of German origin or ownership were made subject to seizure on the high seas.

"Many violations of international law and the ruthless brutality of German methods have decided us to follow a similar course now, and an order in council will shortly be issued giving effect to this decision."

Cheers greeted the statement.

It was 1915 before the Allies decided to seize German exports in the First Great War as a reprisal against unrestricted submarine warfare.

Hard Blow to Reich.

The British Government believes Germany will be hit a severe blow by the confiscation of her exports. Germany's gold reserves are depleted and she has led a hand to mouth existence in so far as foreign exchange is concerned. Only by exporting can the Reich buy Rumanian oil, Swedish ore, and other essential products of which she has depleted supplies.

The British Government's decision to confiscate German exports will be aimed chiefly at the shipping of Holland and Belgium and to a lesser extent the Scandinavian countries. The neutral countries are almost sure to lodge protests, but Britain feels she must take that risk.

It was impossible to estimate here the volume of Germany's seaborne exports since the war started, but they are believed to be considerable.

One possible effect of this industrial blockad of Germany is to force her to rely more than ever on Russia. Sources close to the British Government believe Germany at present is not receiving vast quantities of war essentials from Russia, because the Soviets are not anxious to accelerate this trade beyond normal proportions and also because communications between the two countries are poor.

Machinery for enforcing the new blockade has not been set up and it could not be learned whether German exports would be confiscated or impounded until the end of the war.

Council Plans To Review Grand Juries

COBOURG, Nov. 21.—(Special)—Value of the grand jury system to an already-overburdened taxpayer will be studied by the Legislative and By-law Committee of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council, it was decided at the opening of the fall session of counties council here yesterday afternoon. Warden T. A. Reid presided. The Warden expressed his pleasure at the fact that all the members of the council were present for the opening of the session and hoped that they would continue as such. Council also indicated that the recent ruling of the Department of Municipal Affairs in regard to extension of the time in which elected bodies would hold office when elected next year, would not be accepted without comment and referred it to the legislative and by-laws committee for consideration.

Bazaar Is Held By Bethany W.A.

BETHANY, Nov. 21 — (ENS). — The annual bazaar sponsored by the members of St. Paul's W.A. was held on Saturday and proved very successful. Up to date the returns amounted to over $80, with several outstanding sales on the books.

The room was tastefully arranged for the occasion in a color scheme of red and white. The dining room, partitioned with lattice work, trimmed with evergreens, presented an alluring picture and was well patronized for the excellent meat supper and hot scalloped potatoes and all the extra dainties.

The candy table presided over by Yvonne Rowan and Mrs. Bruce Smith did a thriving business. Miss Laura Morton conducted the rummage sale which was a highlight of the evening, requiring many helpers. Mrs. William McCartney and Miss Annie Sisson took charge of the farmers' table, which presented in a small way the Peterborough farmers' market with its fowl, eggs, vegetables, butter and home-made cooking.

Fancy work booth was in charge of Mesdames Kennedy and Reynolds. Across the stage pit the table of staple goods, working aprons, flannelettes and knitted wear, which was completely sold out, was in the care of Mrs. O. H. McGill and Mrs. G. Foster.

The fish pond was a most attractive feature for the young people. It was in charge of Mrs. Walter Rowan.

Mrs. Clara Armstrong did a thriving business at the suprise package and white elephant table. Altogether the W.A. ladies were quite pleased with their effort and very grateful to their kind visitors who attended once again their annual bazaar.

Bookies' Trade Back On Feet

TORONTO, Nov. 21—(CP).—The bookie trade was back on its feet and quite normal here today after being staggered slightly by cessation last week of M. L. Annenberg's nation-wide racing news service in the United States.

A new and somewhat mysterious service has replaced the nation-wide and the bookies are now receiving by phone from a central bureau the flash on the winners, followed by more complete details on place, show and what the horses paid.

The present service, however, provides no description of the running, as the nation-wide did, and has not yet been able to provide the switches in odds from the track. A "morning line' of expected odds is furnished and just before race time another line of odds comes in, but this latter is not official. It is just a good guess and makes the bookies' trade hazardous.

If a horse is quoted at 3 to 1, he may pay off 2½ or 1 or 40 to 1, according to one observer. This is the main weakness of the new service. But business has not been curtailed here by the switch.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Nov. 21 — (CP). — Operators on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange took their cue from the price-trend at Chicago again to-day and held wheat futures prices here at slightly higher levels most of the season. Quotations closed ⅛ to ¼ higher levels most of the session. Quotations closed ⅛ to ¼ higher, November 70½, December 70½, May 75¼, and July 76⅝ cents.

Trading remained dormant for long periods, and only minor purchases by milling interests and seaboard houses prevented the session from registering a blank in actual deals.

Cash wheat operations were slow. Farmers of Western Canada delivered 1,342,000 bushels of wheat to country points yesterday. On the same day a year ago Prairie producers unloaded 639,000 bushels.
